CATECHESIS Q & A: DEEPENING OUR KNOWLEDGE

USCCB: POSTURE DURING THE EUCHARISTIC PRAYER AND THE OUR FATHER

Should people stand or kneel during the Eucharistic Prayer?

This is answered in the General Instruction of the Roman Missal (GIRM), number 43:

In the Dioceses of the United States of America, they should kneel beginning after the singing or recitation of the Sanctus (Holy, Holy, Holy) until after the Amen of the Eucharistic Prayer, except when prevented on occasion by ill health, or for reasons of lack of space, of the large number of people present, or for another reasonable cause. However, those who do not kneel ought to make a profound bow when the Priest genuflects after the Consecration. The faithful kneel after the Agnus Dei (Lamb of God) unless the Diocesan Bishop determines otherwise.

Some people hold hands during the Lord's Prayer, while others hold their hands out like the priest. Is there a prescribed posture for the Our Father?

*No position is prescribed in the Roman Missal for an assembly gesture during the Lord's Prayer. However....

Jimmy Akin's book Mass Confusion, available at shop.catholic.com, is an excellent resource for questions like this. Concerning holding hands during the Our Father, Jimmy states, "The Holy See has not ruled directly on this issue. In a response to a query, however, the Holy See stated that holding hands 'is a liturgical gesture introduced spontaneously but on personal initiative; it is not in the rubrics' . . . For this reason, no one can be required to hold hands during the Our Father" (161). Jimmy describes the practice as "discouraged."

A different case is the practice in which some people adopt the "orantes" posture during the Our Father, praying like the priest, with hands extended. In some countries, Italy, for example, the Holy See has granted the bishops' request to allow anyone who wishes to adopt this posture during the Our Father. Usually about a third to one-half of the assembled faithful choose to do so. Despite appearances, this gesture is not, strictly speaking, a case of the laity trying to usurp priestly functions. The Our Father is the prayer of the entire assembly and not a priestly or presidential prayer. In fact, it is perhaps the only case when the rubrics direct the priest to pray with arms extended in a prayer that he does not say alone or only with other priests. Therefore, in the case of the Our Father, the orantes posture expresses the prayer directed to God by his children. The U.S. bishops' conference debated a proposal by some bishops to allow the use of the orantes posture while discussing the "American Adaptations to the General Instruction to the Roman Missal" that year. Some bishops even argued that it was the best way of ridding the country of holding hands. The proposal failed to garner the required two-thirds majority of votes, however, and was dropped from the agenda.

"Unless the Office of Divine Worship or the Synod of local Bishops comes out with a clear statement of where the congregation's hands should be, than no official way can be prescribed or imposed. Historically, liturgical prayer, although it has maintained unity in its varied liturgical expressions, has never accomplished a strict uniformity because of the context in which the liturgy is celebrated within the Roman Rite." - Fr. Leonel

"The Our Father is part of the Communion Rite - it is given to us by Holy Mother Church as a preparatory prayer for the reception of Holy Communion. It was never intended for fellowship. The fellowship takes place during the sign of peace". - Fr. Barnard Perkins

The Sign of Peace is a quiet time to offer peace to the souls of those just directly around you. It is not meant to be conversational, social or a distracting time. It is not only meant for peace in the world or one's life, but for peace of one's soul.

Pope Francis has named Father Robert Barron, Msgr. Joseph V. Brennan and Msgr. David G. O'Connell as auxiliary bishops for the Archdiocese of Los Angeles.

The three bishops will join Archbishop José H. Gomez, other auxiliary bishops, priests and deacons in serving the largest archdiocese in the United States. Msgr. Brennan and Msgr. O'Connell are priests already serving in the archdiocese, while Father Barron is rector of Mundelein Seminary in the Archdiocese of Chicago and founder of Word on Fire, a global media ministry.

Msgr. Brennan has been serving the archdiocese as vicar general and moderator of the curia since 2012, while Msgr. O'Connell just began serving as pastor of St. Frances X. Cabrini Church in South L.A. ~ "It was a complete surprise," Father Barron said in an interview with The Tidings. While the priest is a sought after speaker and offers Catholic commentary regularly on television, he said his main responsibility will be to serve as auxiliary bishop. "I have to be present to the people of the archdiocese," he said. The appointment came as a surprise to Msgr. Brennan as well. "It was like a punch in the stomach," he said. "I had an immediate gut reaction that my life was going to be very different. We make our plans, but God has other ideas." Msgr. Brennan, who identifies mostly as a pastor, has brought that pastoral sense to his role as vicar general. "It's a laying down of your life on a daily basis," he said. "I think this episcopacy will be the same." Msgr. Brennan said he, like Pope Francis, makes it a point to bring joy into his ministry. "I try to bring a real sense of gratitude for the day," he said. "Even in the midst of difficult decisions and the problems and situations that need to be dealt with, without being flippant, I try to be joyful. I try to bring some humor to it." Msgr. O'Connell, who has been serving in parishes in South L.A. for more than 25 years, has ministered to communities that have suffered through gang violence and drugs. "I do believe what's really important is for us to be out in the neighborhoods, to be out with the people," he said, explaining that his parishes always did Posadas and Stations of the Cross in the neighborhoods, not on church grounds. "That's how we can change South L.A. is to be out there and work with the people in the neighborhoods," he said. "I've always loved them. I've always loved being in these parishes." Msgr. O'Connell, who serves on the Archdiocesan Finance Council, works with community leaders and law enforcement on gang intervention efforts.

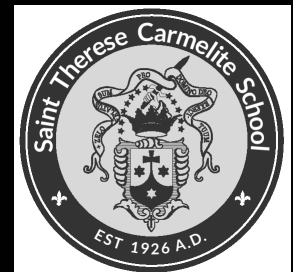

While a date hasn't been set, Msgr. Brennan, Msgr. O'Connell and Father Barron are expected to be ordained bishops this fall.
