Thinking Green

Ashley Prince, a pupil in Mrs. Atkins's English class, wrote this poem:

Oh, so happy was the tree,
Swaying in the breeze.
I never thought I'd envy,
A tree with birght red leaves.
Outside it's lightly raining.
What bliss it truly must be
Never for grades it's strugging
How great to be that free
But soon its leaves will fall
And wind its skin will beat
With no comfort at all,
Surely, its spirit will tear
But oh! the spring will come
And lifts its sorrowed spirit
Sitting here I will hum
A tune and it will hear
Rejoicing its new growth
It will dance within the air
This warm day it will sing
And know that it's all right

New Beta Students Get Inducted

The CCHS Beta Club, a service organization, is a very active club at our school. They have multiple service projects to benefit the community and work with various organizations. Mrs. Anna Picard and Ms. Pat Nelson are the sponsors, and there are six officers including a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, historian, and communications officer. All were in attendance on Monday, November 9 for the annual induction of the new members. Generally, new members are sophmores, but this year there were also a few juniors and one senior. Formal attire is worn to the event. Each officer speaks at the ceremony, and Gregory Maxwell accepted the challenge of entering the Beta club for the new inductees. Anthony Lentscher, the president, brought a candle to the first inductee, lighting her candle. In turn, she lit her neighbor's candle, and so on. Nick Donathan, a new Beta student, commented, "It was pretty scary because we had to hold a candle, and I thought I was going to drop wax on myself."

Part of the Team

Victoria Davis and Bailey Burgess were the varsity football managers this year. Sometimes, managers are overlooked, but managers contribute a great deal to the team. Victoria stated, "Being a football manager helped me to learn more about injuries, which is beneficial because I want to be an athletic trainer. Some of the jobs I do are taping the ankles and wrists of injured players and keeping an eye on the water."

Power Aides

At CCHS, we offer many interesting opportunities to teach students useful skills that they can use in their future jobs, like agriculture, machine shop, and photography. But one other special training area most people don't even think about is office development. As an office aide, students are allowed the unique chance to work in an office, learning secretarial skills that they can use in the real world. Among other tasks students must complete are delivering packages, filing, getting students out of class to leave, showing new students around the building, taking parking passes, running errands, answering phones, and filling out important documents. Chris Singer, an attendance office aide, said, "There are lots of reasons why I enjoy being an aide, but I have got to say that I love to see freshmen's faces when I give them uncused tardies." Samantha Keeton, shown filling out a tardy excuse, commented, "Being in attendance with Brandi and Chris is grand. Also, getting to stare at Marshall the whole time, bothering him in the bookkeeping office and getting to complete my trigonometry homework is great, too." Brandi Patton, next to Chris, mentioned, "One interesting aspect of office aide is that we get to watch all that goes on in the lobby. There are some strange events that take place, and we never know what's going to happen."

Donning a Hat to Help Cancer Patients

On Friday, November 13, students all over the school decided to make a difference. The student council came up with the idea of allowing students to wear a hat to school if they would bring a dollar to support cancer patients. Carl Kessler said, "My grandfather died of brain cancer, so I know how it is to lose someone to cancer. That is why I donated a dollar to wear my hat." It was good for our school to learn to think of others before ourselves, and it was fun for students to get to break dress code and wear their hats. The day was a success because the student council raised almost three hundred dollars for a local cancer organization.

Killing My First Deer

By AMANDA SERVER

Killing My First

By AMANDA SERVER

All throughout my years growing up, I have never gone out hunting with my dad and sister. I have just never been the hunting type. Dad would always tell me that I needed to at least kill one deer to just say I have. Well this is how I killed my first deer....

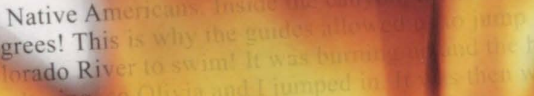

I was driving home one night from who knows where and it was super foggy and dark. I could barely see what was in front of me, and I was sorta speeding. Haha. All of a sudden I see this huge deer dash out in front of my truck, and then I hit it going sixty-five mph. It scared me so bad! I started crying and called dad at home. I told him that I was only a half mile from the house, and I wasn't sure if the truck was even driveable, but low and behold it made the rest of the way in. Dad came out with a flashlight, and we took a look at my poor truck. It looked pretty rough. Dad then decides to not waste a perfectly good deer, so we go find it. It was a GIGANTIC, five point buck. Dad had a little bit of a problem getting it into the back of his truck, but he managed to do so without my help. I wasn't touching that thing! Well the next day I found out that the car expert dudes claimed that my truck was considered totaled, since I had caused more damage than it was worth. A few weeks later my dad buys my totaled truck back and fixes it up, bought my mom a new jeep, and I got her old jeep. Everything worked out swell in the end.

Out West

By AMELIA McCOY

By AMELIA MCCOY
This summer my family and I took our motorhome on a three week trip out west.

To begin our journey, we started off early in the morning and drove over the Mississippi River, through Arkansas and ended our first day in Oklahoma City where the temperature was one hundred and twelve degrees. The next day we started, and drove through New Mexico and into Arizona. In Arizona we went to the Petrified Forest and the Painted Desert National Park. It was really neat, and it looked so colorful and vibrant. Our next stop was the Grand Canyon National Park. We stayed in that park for three days! The canyon was so big. It was absolutely gorgeous, and it looked out of this world. One day we stayed at the Canyon, we took a boat trip down the bottom of the canyon, which is where the Colorado River is. It was just as beautiful as the top of the canyon. The canyon's walls were super tall and the sunlight shone through, radiating various colors and rainbows. We were eventually able to get out of the boat to see some pictographs along the canyon walls. A pictograph is a drawing that has been painted or made long go by Native Americans. Inside the canyon, it was about 40 degrees! This is why the guides allowed us to jump in the Colorado River to swim! It was burning hot and the heat was sweltering, so Olivia and I jumped in. It was then we discovered the water was frigid at 40 degrees! Next, we hiked the Big Horn Mountains where it was so cold, we had to wear huge jackets and gloves to keep warm. Even though it was raining through the mountains, the ice was melting. Last, we hiked the Grand Tetons, which was as beautiful, and

Saving Summer

By KAYLI DORSEY

By KAYLI DORSEY

By KAYLI DORSEY
Life is never boring being best friends with Summer Brown. Since the first day we met we've been getting into trouble. Everybody has little inside jokes and funny stories, but our stories are up there with the best. This year Summer and I had an epic battle with Summer's curling iron.

One day over at Summer's I was helping her learn to use a curling iron. She decided to curl my hair. Summer was sitting on a foot stool and when she leaned back, she fell over. Summer's curling iron fell under her.

I heard Summer scream and jumped to grab it. Of course I grabbed the curling iron by the barrel. I immediately dropped it. I then realized it was burning her again. So I grabbed it again by the barrel and held on while I tried to figure out what to do with the stupid thing. I finally found somewhere to set it down. Later on while Summer was curling my hair she randomly shouted, "Is this your skin on my curling iron?" It really was my skin! I had burned my hand pretty badly saving Summer's behind.

Life, Love, and Laughs
By KRISTIN GALLOWAY

By KRISTIN GALLOWAY

As human beings, we feel the need to belong and feel connected to something. Friends are the something, the glue that help us do that, stick together, or to find laughter in everything we do.

Our friends give texture to our lives. They are our truest treasures. Like armor, good friends make us almost invincible, capable of warding off the blows life occasionally deals us. Because of their steadfastness, we see setbacks for what they are: temporary.

A friend is among the few people who never fails to accept us rather like we are. They never come into our life expecting a change in us, or in themselves. They are the handymen for our sensitive hearts. Friends provide us with that extra "ummph!" when we need it. They're a shoulder to lean on, and sometimes to simply dampen. A true friend gives us support, even when we may not deserve such.

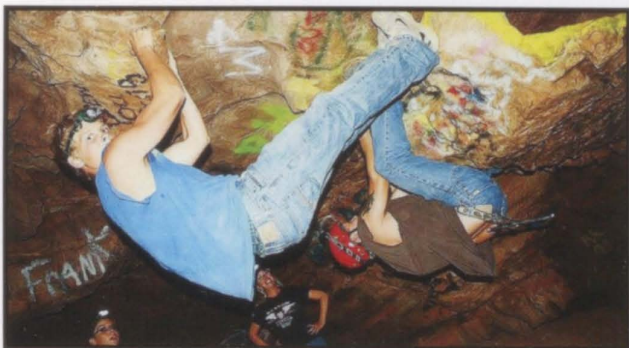

Friends find happiness in our success. They are also the inspiration for us to recognize and improve our faults and failures.

Friends never expect anything more than a friend. You. Our compatibility, our glue, our lives are filled with love and laughter because of friends.

Summer Vacations

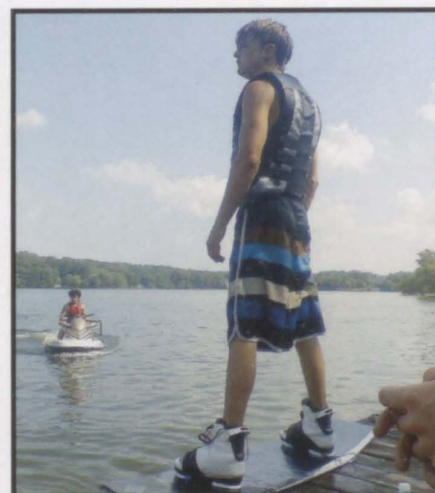

Most students wait for this time ever since school starts back up. Some people leave the city for vacation, while some people spend their summers finding things to do in their own town. Either way summertime is a blast! Summer is the best couple of months out of the whole entire year. No homework, tests, or waking up early. You can be as lazy as you like. From caving to wakeboarding, summers are filled with tons of adventures and excitement. One popular summer vacation is going to the beach. Its always a great way to get away from the stressful lives students lead.

Tailgating is something done young or old. Different organizations tailgate, such as Church groups, and different clubs around the school. Teachers even tailgate on the Soccer Field. The FFA has tried to have two different tailgates with Cookeville and Stone Memorial, and have been rained out both times. Tailgating is just a good time to hang out and catch up with friends, and of course eat! The teachers on F-wing have been tailgating for over fifteen years. They have done pizza, frito banditos, fried chicken, hot-dogs, and hamburgers in the past to fill up the students, teachers, and anyone else who wants to join. Some students and teachers even tailgate at away games. They get out and throw the football and just have a good time, and Support The Jets!

LIVE~LOVE~LAUGH

Family and friends are one of the most important things in a person's life. Friends stick together until the end, through thick and thin. Everyone can have their ups and downs, but no matter what, they will always be there for you. When you're best friends with someone, you can just randomly start laughing about nothing and for some odd reason you both will know what it is you are both laughing about. As you get older and move along you might fade away from friends or family, but in the end you can always count on them being there. You should always cherish every moment that you have with them. Friendship isn't one big thing. It is a million little things.

Fair Time

Welcoming autumn into season each year, the Cumberland County Fair comes to Crossville. The fair is plenty of fun for everyone in town—from young children to teenagers to parents and even grandparents. People go for all sorts of entertainment. The Cumberland County Fair is always packed with friendly animals, roaring rides, rich food, and tricky games. "Win a prize everytime!" the scary carnies say. Bring five dollars of your hard earned cash and you will surely win something, perhaps a gold-fish! The tractors are always a big hit at the fair. You can submit photographs, paintings, sewn blankets, or tapestries, and much, much more to win cash prizes. And for those with appreciation for creativity and hard work, all of these pieces of art on display for everyone to see and enjoy. The Cumberland County Fair is always good clean fun for everyone. TEEN WORK FORCE

To survive in this world you have to have money. It would be impossible to make it otherwise. That is why you have to get out there and make something of yourself. Kelly Miller says, "She has responsibilities like paying for her own things, such as gas and her food expenses." In order to make money you must have a JOB, and there is nothing wrong with having one at a young age. "Getting to work at Sonic at the age of seventeen pays off", stated Sierra Brewer. Having a job teaches you responsibility, how to manage your money, and allows you to get a taste of the real world after high school. Krystal Blouin knows all about taste, keeping the Hot and Ready Pizzas ready day after day. Pressure for a teenager to work and get good grades is very high today. Holly Baldwin said, "Keeping good grades is very important to me, but it is hard maintaining those grades while having a job." Parents expect a lot out of their children, and for one to have a job and keep up with good grades, shows well defined character. Jobs keep kids busy and active. Kendell Yates stated, "I have a very busy life, and having a job just adds to it but it has prepared me for the future." Jobs teach teens to have respect for authority. Cassie Dick said, "In order to get respect you have to give it, and a job has helped me learn that." Having respect for others will get you very far in life. In order to achieve something you've never had, you have to do something you've never done. So if at all possible get a job, and it will pay off.

Down and Dirty

What is the coolest part about working on cars at this young of an age?

You learn things that will benefit you later in life. It is not just about hanging out with the boys. You learn important things and better your knowledge.

-Tyler Blaylock

Working for the Business

What is the coolest part about working at the 102.5 radio station?

Not many kids my age get to work at a radio station. It is a fun place to work.

-Alexis Lewis

Keeping Organized

Do you think that filing papers and keeping your work organized helps you stay more organized at home and other places?

It does help me stay more organized at home, but if I had a choice of filing papers or dealing with the money, I would pick the money.

-Caitlin Evans

Bagging For Cash What is the best and worst part about working at Save-A-Lot?

The best part is getting paid, and the worst part is making buggie runs.

-Trista Christmas

Customer Service

I have worked for French's Shoes and Boots LLC. since August 2008. The shoe store location is where you will be able to find me. I have dealt with "Mean Old Ladies" but with my mature business smile and my natural sense of customer service the "Mean Old Ladies" always leave calm, happy, and stress free after their fantastic shoe buying experience and they will always return as loyal customers.

- Chris Singer

Early Mornings

What is your favorite thing about getting up early on the weekend to work at the Big Kmart?

It's not the easiest thing getting up early after a Friday night game, but it's fun hanging out with Big Meg.

-Andrew Phipps

Serious Work

Does working at Vanity Fair Outlet get stressful?

Working at VF doesn't get to stressful except, when it gets busy or any of the top managers come in from out of town to inspect our store.

-Stacie Moerdyke

In the middle of the chilly month of November, the Special Olympics were held at Homestead Elementary School. The event was rescheduled twice before. Normally, it is held in a large field, with enough room for many activities, including racing, baseball, and basketball. This year at Homestead, however, the activities were held in the new gymnasium, and in various hallways. This challenge did not discourage the students, teachers, and parents. The participants were overjoyed with the thrilling ribbon and being torchbearers. They remembered how the air was filled with love, joy, and compassion. The athletes' eyes were bright all day. This year's Special Olympics in Cumberland County were the 30th Anniversary for this magical event. Everyone felt like one big family, laughing and having fun with each other, whether they knew each other or not. All ages are able to be involved, whether to be an athlete, a hugger, or a helping hand. Many high school students were present to support their school.

The Cross Country Family

BY AMELIA McCOY

The Jets and Lady Jets cross country team made strides of improvement this year thanks to the coaches Pat Koehl and Louie Delorenzo. With many new freshman and other new comers, the team has once again broken many records and gained respect from other schools. At the 3AAA Regional meet, the Jets placed fourth and the Lady Jets second, sending them to state for the third year in a row.

Although the ladies had hoped for a perfect race, it turned out to be more of a disaster. After being stuck in traffic for two hours on the way to Nashville, the Lady Jets finally arrived onto the street for the meet with ten minutes until gun fire. Andy determined the girls would have to do the stretches on the bus, and run a mile to the starting line along with their Coaches and parents. They were literally feet away from the starting line when the gun fired. The Lady Jets gave it their best try even though they were all askew and were running with their numbers in hand. This just goes to show all of the love and dedication that Jet athletes have for their sport and their school.

Next year both teams are planning on going to state. Both teams are a tight family with tons of love for each other. The crosscountry team would love to see their family continue to grow. The team is always open for new runners, as this is an extremely rewarding sport. Congratulations to all the crosscountry runners and good luck in your years to come!

Volleyball

BY KARLI THOMPSON

The Cumberland County High School Volleyball team had a good year this season, breaking records for the varsity team and a combined record for the JV and Freshman teams. The team started practicing in mid-June to get ready for the season. With a team of 5 Freshman, 3 Sophomores, 2 Juniors and 4 Seniors, the team was very well-rounded in the grade levels. The 4 Seniors that will be leaving, Danielle Lamer, Jesse, Abigail Patton, Caroline Graham and Rachel Rich are going to be greatly missed. Coach Beth Barnes and Assistant Coach Kari Polston taught the girls a lot this year and had fun at the same time. The late night bus rides home after games are memories that each girl will cherish for years to come. The Jets honored their Seniors with a ceremony between the JV and Varsity game against Livingston Academy in the last home game of the season.

The upcoming team is excited about the new year and is ready to do the graduating seniors proud.

BY KARLI THOMPSON

The season was a success for the lady Jet's team. They went to the regionals. We worked extremely hard preparing for the season during the summer. We had a soccer trainer, A.R., who played professional soccer, come do a three day training camp with us. He brought along Kat Nigro who is #26 in the nation to help. During the season we had eleven girls injured and eight of them were starters, so the ten new girls had to really step it up and work hard. Kendal Yates was one of the girls injured and only got to play in a couple of games, because of her broken leg. She came to all the games and cheered us on, but we really missed her on the field.

I <3 Bowling

BY: SUMMER BROWN

Bowling is one of the most awesome sports ever! People have no idea how hard it really is. So much practice has to go in to it. I practice Monday though Wednesday and on Saturday. Bowling isn't all in your arm, you need a lot of strength in your legs to get your momentum up to get that perfect release. Bowling really is just so much fun and I really have just fallen in love with the sport. I see myself bowling for as long as I possibly can. I'm hoping all my practice really pays off and I get to go far with this wonderful sport.

Riding the Rollercoaster

BY PATRIC ALLRED

This years season was definately a rollercoaster type season. We had our high moments and low moments. We started out the season facing adversity with having very young and inexperienced players to the high school level of play. Our upper classmen did a wonderful job with familiarizing underclassmen and getting them prepared with the higher level of play. In the long run, it earned us our first team bid the the region tournament in four years. Junior Bo Davis, always kept the team laughing. He had his moments for sure. Sophomore Johnathon Masters will be a key to success next year. He will improve consistantly. Johnathon definately has a lot of talent. Freshmen Spencer Scarbrough and Taylor Houston were huge additions to our team. They came in and immediately contributed to the team. They both have very bright futures. The three years being a part of the team has not only been a great experience, but also taught me valuable life lessons. I wish the best of luck to the whole team and would like to thank Coach Herring for being a great coach and role model.

Band 2009-2010

Always & Forever

"Band is so much fun. There are many inside jokes that will last forever, such as Biscuits, and guards will always be better than the drumline!"

-Heaven Moss

I remember how excited the band was to find out we won first place in our division at one of our competition! We sang and jumped all around and were extremely happy! We couldn't believe how awesome we were. All of the band did a great job, and Mr. Squire was very pleased with our performance. We also managed to get first place in all of the other areas which includes drum major, colorguard, and percussion. Kaley Palmer, our drum major, is a great drum major and was extremely proud of her first place. Heaven Moss, the colorguard captain, was pretty surprised about their first place. She was also quite impressed with the colorguard's performance. Nathan Cardwell, the drum captain was extremely proud of our drumline this year, and especially our new freshman who managed to pull off an amazing performance in everything they have done this year. In a few years, with a lot of hard work they will be the future leaders of the Cumberland County High School Band.

Smile!

"Band had always brought a smile to my face when we perform. Our endless hours of practice has really helped our performance."

-Lydia Emery

Got It!

"Band has always been what I've been good at. I love every second of it. Being Drum Major has been my favorite high school experience and I will remember it forever."

-Kaley Palmer

"Band is an explosion of magic. It's especially awesome. The end!"

-Nathan Cardwell

Inside Jokes...

"Band has a million inside jokes, like 3:30 and biscuits just to name a few of our jokes. Each game we had just added more to the list. It would take me forever to name them all!"

-Garrett Davis

Justin Piercy #43

Following the 2008 football season, the Cumberland County Jets were in a bind. Over half of the starters had been seniors and were no longer with the team. Adding to the chaos, the "Big Blue" was without a head coach. Things were not looking well for the Jets until one February afternoon when Athletic Director Jon Hall and Principal Janet Graham made the decision to make Russ Partin the head coach. Coach Partin was able to put together an excellent coaching staff, bringing in Ted McCaslin, Darrell Brown, Wayne Stiles, Blake Allen, Michael Greene, and Donald Smith.

Coach Partin wasted no time in getting his players prepared for the upcoming season. Through the spring and summer, the Jets worked harder than they ever had before, by winning nearly every scrimmage they had. The sky appeared to be the limit for the new, and much improved, Jets.

The season opener kicked off with a loss to Marion County, who happened to be ranked third in the state. The following week, the Jets experienced their first win of the season at Meigs County, with the offense looking exceptional under Partin's scheme. Through the next few weeks of the season, CCHS would suffer a series of heartbreaking defeats. Many of these games would come down to the final minutes, sometimes the final play.

Later in the season, the Jets made history by being the first team to beat their arch rivals, Stone Memorial High School, which is perhaps the biggest win in the school's existence. In the final weeks of the season, a chance at making the TSSAA Playoffs became a possibility. It came down to the White County game . . . the winner would advance to the playoffs. Unfortunately, the Jets came up one yard short of scoring the game-tying touchdown, and one step short of becoming only the fifth team in school history to clinch a playoff berth.

The Jets finished the 2009 campaign 2-8. Despite having a losing record, the Jets made unbelievable strides and improvements on both offense and defense. In just one year, the Jets underwent a complete metamorphosis. Expect big things from the Jets of the future, led by Coach Russ Partin and his staff.

Growing as a Person

"I've come to really enjoy bowling this year. Bowling is so much fun and has helped me grow as a person. We had an amazing season and I'm sad that it's over. I'm looking forward to next year."

Whitney Aytes

First Year

"This is my first year on the team, but my cousin, Summer, has been on the team for three years and I have learned a lot from her. She helped me pick out my first hooking bowling ball."

Kendra Brown

Under 1st year coach Craig Taylor, the CCHS bowling teams enjoyed a successful season.

Co-captains Chris Graham and Clint Jay led the Boys team to a 5-8 record and a place in district playoffs. At year end, Chris was named to the 1st Team District All-Star, and Clint to the 2nd team. New team members for the 2009 season made significant contributions. First year starters for the boys team were Jake Calvert (senior), Tyler Walton (junior), Dexter Pelfrey (junior), and Andrew Waldo (sophomore).

The Blue Angels, Team was led by Captain Summer Brown. A two year starter, Summer led the ladies to a 3rd place finish in the Districts with a 5-5 record. As well Summer was named to the 1st Team District All-Star Squad. Competing for the 2009 ladies squad were Destine Young (senior), Heather Ewing (sophomore), and Sarah Damron (sophomore).

Both the Jets and Blue Angels are talented teams who will only continue to improve over the next few years. Congratulations and good luck to both teams!

High Back Swing

"I have put a lot of back swing to give more revolutions on the ball so it will turn quicker to hit harder in the pocket. This year has been really good for me. I'm proud of myself for making 1st Team District All-Star Squad. It's been a very memorable senior year. STRIKES"

Practicing with Kickboards

I really enjoy getting to practice with my kickboard during practice. Kickboards are a ton of fun. Everyone should own a kickboard.

Annalee Jacobs

The CCHS swim this year has a big enough team for boys and girls. There are seven girls and three in training. For the boys there are also seven so they have a pretty large team all together. Every Saturday morning they have to get up at eight o'clock in the morning just so they have enough time to drive all the way out to Fairfield Glade. Coach, Vicki Presson is working them hard this year and stepping it up. Sometimes they have to get up earlier than that because they drive all the way down to Cookeville to practice. Their practices are not easy. Just because they are a swim team doesn't mean they only practice in water. They have hard core practice in and out of the water. Swimming is one of the hardest and most competitive sports in the U.S. Kyle Presson shown in this picture is an amazing swimmer and went to state last year. Both Kyle Presson and Sean Lachance are expecting to go back to state. The boys and girls swim are both very good, and I'm sure Lee Presson will be following in his brothers foot steps. The CCHS Swim Team will go far this year with such a large and skilled team. Go to state and regionals, take the CCHS Jets far this year and make us proud!

Soccer is a fall sport, but our dedicated Lady Jets start conditioning before summer break even starts. During the summer the Lady Jets attended Carson Newman soccer camp and had AR, a coach in Cookeville, come to Crossville for a week long open field camp. The Lady Jets showed the high level of class that Cumberland County, the CCHS athletics program, and the soccer team itself have when they not only invited Stone to this camp but teams from all over Tennessee. Unfortunately at the start of the Lady Jets season the team suffered many injuries. Despite the hardships of losing several seniors and having several girls on the bench, the soccer team finished second in the district. They beat Warren County three to two to secure their place as second in the district. The Lady Jets have not done this in over six years. The Lady Jets then advanced to the first round of regionals. It was an amazing accomplishment they rightly deserved after months of hard work. The Lady Jets also beat Stone, for the fourth year in a row, one to nothing. The Lady Jets success is due not only to the hard work and dedication of the girls, but also of the coaches.

Congratulations to the Lady Jets soccer team!

Volleyball 2009-2010

Hopeful Players

Kaitlyn Mathis, #2 and a sophomore at Cumberland County High School, cheerfully exclaimed, "Playing volleyball at CCHS is the bomb! We have such a great time working hard and learning from each other. We will miss our seniors, and what amazing leaders they were. I cannot wait to see what next year's season brings. Long live the unchicken caper!"

The Cumberland County Jets volleyball team is like family. Macon County is a two hour trek away. As they rode along, the view out of the window was of dozens and dozens of fields of beans and beautiful farmland. Although long, the girls were entertained the entire ride. They sang and danced all their nerves away.

Danielle Lancianese remembers vividly Abigail Patton dancing to various rap songs, and Rachel Rich laughing so hard she cried tears of joy.

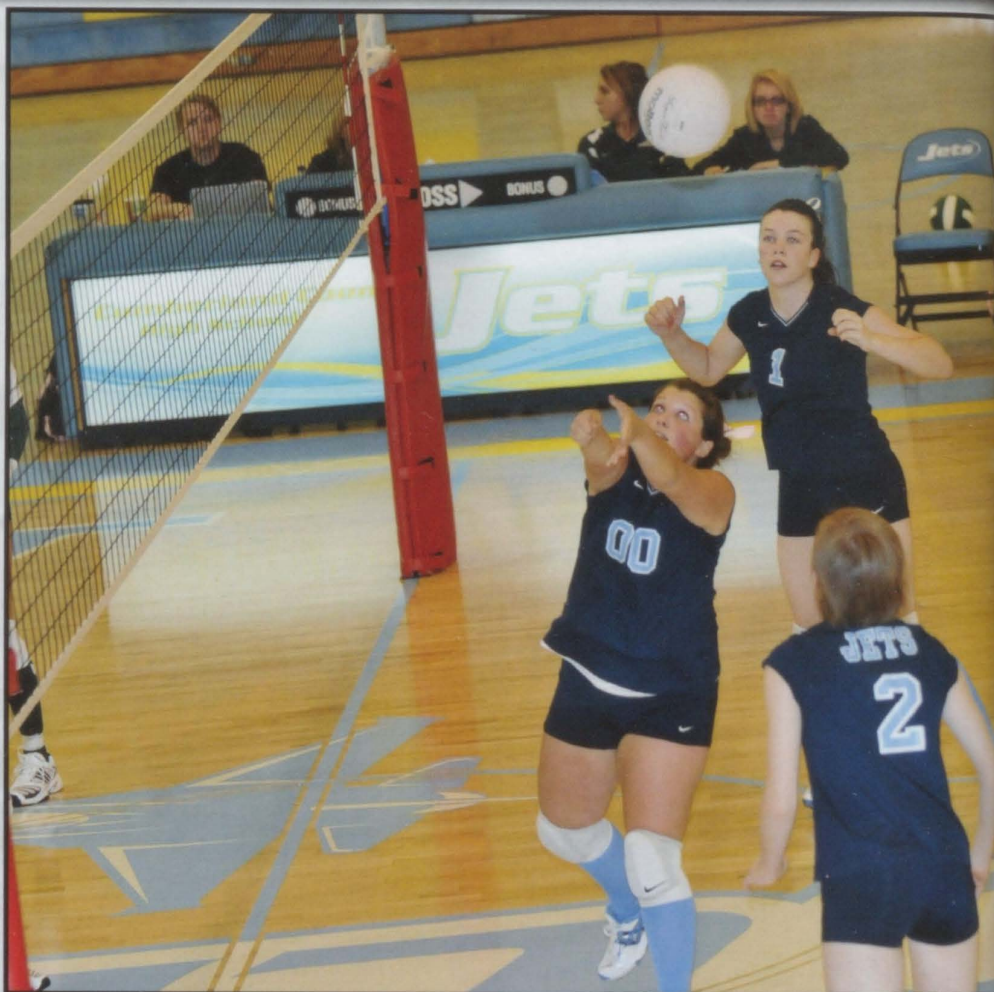

When they arrived at Macon High School, they were greeted by the aroma of a hot cup o' joe. The seniors were all wearing matching neon hair ribbons; the younger players wore white ribbons. Kneepads on and socks pulled high, the girls began a game full of aces, spikes, and killer serves.

Kaitlyn Mathis commented on the freshly waxed court, "We slid on the floor so smoothly. We never missed a dive."

As the final bell rang, the girls cheered about their victory. They had won first place in their district tournament! The ride home was happily interrupted by a stop off at the team's favorite restaurant, Bojangles.

The team's memories will be relived often and never forgotten.

Lots of Love

"This year has been so much fun! Cheerleading is really important to me. I have really enjoyed it and plan on cheering for as long as I can. I love all of my teammates and the friendships I have with them. I know that the bonds we have made will last a lifetime. These girls are the best and I'm proud to be a part of this team." -Alyssa Kerley

"In years past there wasn't a junior varsity squad. There was only a varsity, and a freshman squad who only cheered at freshman games. There was no one to cheer for the junior varsity teams which didn't look very supportive. This year they decided to let the freshman cheerleaders to cheer for the junior varsity games which allowed them to have more games to cheer for, and also made the junior varsity teams feel more supported. The JV squad has been very hard working, and determined to get the job done. As many squads have clicks this squad is one of few who include everyone, and don't leave anyone out. These girls started out with some confusion on how things work, but as the year has gone on they worked very hard to learn everything they needed to know about cheerleading. Many of them will move up to varsity, and new comers will come in and restart the program. With this in mind for years to come we hope we can keep cheerleading a successful program."

JV Football 2009-2010

A Great Season

This season has been a really great one! I've really enjoyed playing football this year. I'm really looking forward to next season.
Anthony Giattino #84

The J.V. football team is looking towards a bright future with the new coach Russ Partin, and the rest of the coaching staff. They put in the same hours as the Varsity team, and paid the price in the weight room, as well as on the practice field. There is plenty of potential in the young players and they are as valuable as anyone else on the team. They work the varsity in practice during the week to make sure they are prepared for Friday nights, either cheering on their teammates or waiting to get some playing time themselves. They're the future of the football team. With their hard work and dedication, the Jets are sure to be flying high as the J.V. players make a jump to Varsity.

This year started slow in the beginning of the season. By the end of the season not one of the JV players had not improved and become better players. Even though we only won one game we learned not only to take a loss with good sportsmanship and pride, but also how to win and give it everything we have. There are two games that we will all really remember, the game against Stone and the game against Warren County.

The first game against Stone was a hard fought battle, but we played both sides of the ball well. Our offense was a little unsure of themselves but our defense came to play. We had huge plays, one right after another. When we stepped off the field, although we had lost, we could be proud of how we played.

The second game when our JV played their varsity was an amazing game. Our players played their hardest and left it all on the field. Our offense played extremely well. Our offense got our only points of the game. Our defense played hard in that game as well, despite the score.

The Warren County game is what I feel was our hardest fought game of the season. Rain had been pouring down that night while we played. We were back to back with Warren County the whole game. At the end of the night the score reflected how hard we played, but not how bad we had wanted to win.

After everything we've been through this year and all we've learned, we are looking forward to next year. I hope with the new coaches coming back to coach their second season we can have an even better year. I'm looking forward to doing our part to improve the football team's reputation and record. Our seniors did a wonderful job, and now it's our turn.

Preparing For The Future.

The J.V. team is preparation for Varsity Football. Jets will always beat the other team across town. That's the way it is and the way it ought to be.

-Coach Brown

Take Them Down

I had so much fun pummeling our cross town rivals into the ground!

-Frank Lancianese#33

Let's Go, Defense

Even though Stone beat us in this game, our defense BOSSSED it up all day, they couldn't handle us.

-Cory King #85

Well Done

It was a hard fought game against the Panthers, everyone played well. I wish we could have came out on top.

Varsity Cheerleading 2009-2010

Old School

"Cheering for four years has been quite the experience. We have all seen some losses and some wins. As our third and fourth year of cheering has come around there has been a lot of improvements with the sport teams. The seniors of this cheerleading squad feel privileged to be apart of the "Old School", and will always want to be remembered as a Jet. -The Seniors Cheerleading started off this year when we had tryouts back in March of 2009. It is a stressful week for those who try out. In most sports it is okay for one to miss a lay up or a pass everynow and then, but in cheerleading if you miss a motion or a stunt falls it is judged as a bad squad. Cheerleading isn't just about making new friends and being loud. It is more stressful than one gives it credit for. No, cheerleaders don't have a ball or win any games, but cheerleaders have the responsibility to keep the crowd entertained and involved. In order to win the crowd over and to be considered successful no mistakes are to be made. So when thinking about cheerleading it's not a joke it is to be taken seriously. This year has been a fun year, and as one of the four year seniors I have to say I do love cheerleading. It does take up time and sweat, and is not just for fun although you do have fun being a cheerleader. You do work hard, and is an amazing sport to be a part of throughout your high school career."

Staying Sharp

"It's important to stay sharp while cheering because you always want to look your best."
-Stacie Evans

Goals

"Being loud, sharp, smiling, and keeping the crowd involved is my main goal."
-Stacie Moredyk

Stunting Like Cassie

"Stunting is my favorite part about cheerleading, and stunting for four years has allowed me to learn new stunts. I love showing them off at the games. I hope to continue to cheer and stunt in college."
-Cassie Dyer

Last Time

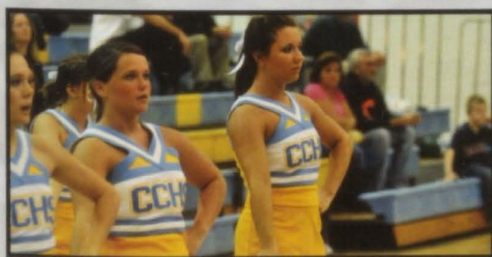

"Cheerleading has brought me to find my closest friends, and it has kept me occupied throughout my highschool years."
-Julia Wood

Keeping Positive

"I think it is important to stay pumped for my team. Win or lose my purpose of cheering is to keep my team feel supported."
-Taylor Davis

Keeping it Fun

"If cheerleading wasn't fun I wouldn't do it. I try to make everything I do fun, and that's what I do with cheerleading."
-Cassie Judkins

Focused

"While cheering I usually think about everything but the game."
-Chelsea Reed

Pumped

"I love pep rallies, they get me pumped up, and ready for the big game coming up."

Special Olympics 2009-2010

Family Game Night

One of the activities at the Special Olympics this year was the beanbag toss. This event was the favorite of many athletes, including Nicole Noe, a junior at CCHS. She happily claimed, "I've never played beanbag toss before, but it was so much fun. I know I'm going to show my family how to play so we can all play together at home."

In the middle of the chilly month of October, the Special Olympics were held at Homestead Elementary School. This event was rescheduled twice before, due to weather. Normally, it is held at a large football field, with enough room for events such as racing, baseball, and basketball. On this day at Homestead, however, the competitions were held in the new gym, the old gym, and in various hallways. This small challenge did not discourage the group of students, teachers, and parents. The participants were overjoyed with the thrill of winning ribbons and being torchbearers. The huggers remembered how the air was thick with love, joy, and compassion. These special athletes' eyes were bright all day. This year's Special Olympics in Cumberland County were the 30th Anniversary for this magical event. Everyone felt like one big family, laughing and having fun with each other, whether they knew each other or not. All ages are able to be involved, whether to be an athlete, a hugger, or a helping hand. Many high school students were present to support their school.

Shooting Hoops

"My favorite event was the basketball toss with my dad. He was the best hugger to have."
-Grayson Witt

Beanbag Toss

"I always try my hardest at the beanbag toss. It's my favorite. I also enjoyed playing basketball. When everyone was cheer for me after I made the shot, I felt very happy inside."
-Angel Kessler

-Cody Staggs

Thread the Needle...

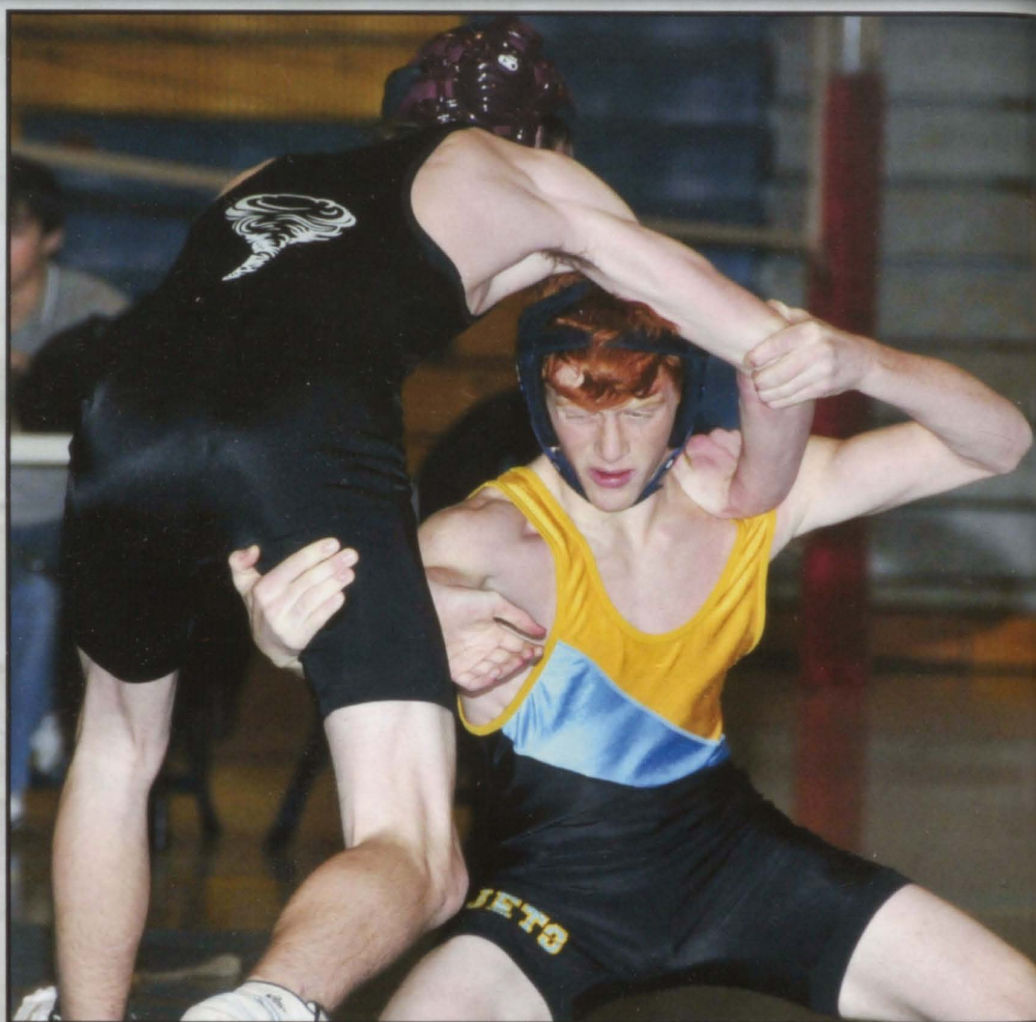

"The Kid I was wrestling, I pinned him with a thread the needle in the second period."

- Josh Murner

One of the Finest Seasons...

The wrestling team has worked up, as well as over, to make this season a great success. They have worked hard and have gone beyond maximum effort in creating thirty wins overall. They are excited that it has worked out so well this season, and they look forward to the next. Even though with graduation taking away the valuable seniors our wrestlers hope to make next season better than this one. One of their astonishing events was in Lookout Valley in December, when they went against nineteen other teams and took away first place. They have shown their hard work to others. They have given their all in addition to much more in making them the best of the best. In the Whitley County Kentucky Duals, Andrew Eller took a remarkable score of 5/0. In most of the wrestler's matches, their overall score is more than a twenty over the other team's scores. The wrestlers have looked this season straight in the face, and have accomplished the utmost in their triumph over their opponents.

Wrestling

Its My Favorite...

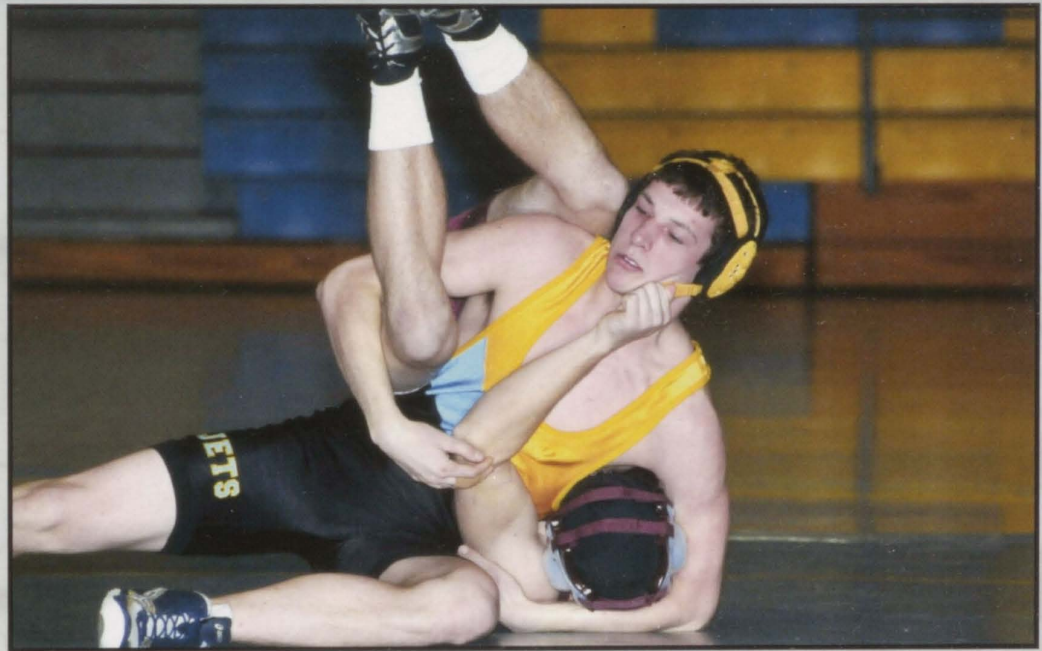

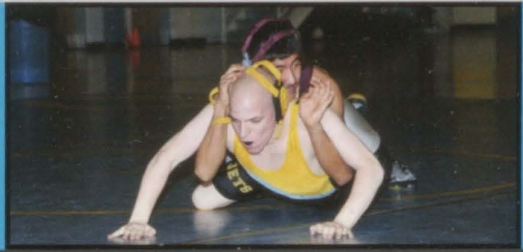

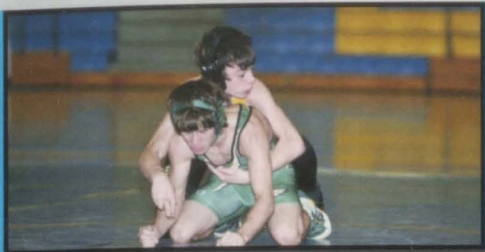

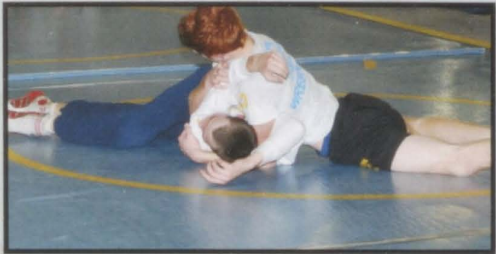

"I love wrestling. It's my favorite sport. I've been doing it for 4 years, and its only the beginning of my high school experience. I hope to keep winning for years to come."

-Cody Caruthers

All three rounds...

"I went all three rounds, and beat him 18-4. It was an awesome feeling."

-Anthony Giattino

Keepin' In Shape...

"I enjoy everything about wrestling, especially the fact that it keeps me in tip-top shape, and I get to beat up on people. It helps blow off some steam."

-Andrew Eller

Pinned In 16 Seconds...

"I was wrestling someone in a 152 weight class, and pinned the kid in 16 seconds. Right On!"

- Anthony Barnes

Slamming down...

"I like wrestling because I'm an aggesive person, and slamming people down on the mat makes a really cool sound."

- Shane McGonigle

The Advantage...

"The kid I was wrestling made lots of mistakes, which was why he got pinned so fast. We all know who's the best."

- Jeremy Aytes

Scholarship Money...

"Wrestling is great because it keeps me shape for track, and I think if I stay with it, I might get a scholarship for college."

Team Ambition ...

As of this writing we are having a good season. We're hoping to be district and state champions.
-Troy Stickler

Good Season...

The team should have a great year with good players and several seniors. Hopefully we shall win districts.
- Josh Sanders

The 2010 Jets added to the recent successes of the program over the past few years. This group was in the mix for a district title with the move to District 6-AAA. A strong senior class composed of Matt Jones, Byran Woodlief, Daniel Forte, Justin Davis, and Chris Capps led the jets along with junior Bo Davis and sophomore John Bilbrey. 2010 was exciting year for the program. Go Jets!

The future of the team looks bright as the senior class leaves behind not only their legacy, but also more leaders. Bo Davis and John Bilbrey have grown as athletes and leaders. These gentlemen will help to keep the success of the team continuing through the future years. Good luck to the baseball team and once again GO JETS!!

Lifetime wellness is looked forward to by every freshmen. In lifetime wellness students get to play sports, learn about being healthy, and take field trips to the bowling alley. Everyone enjoys the field trips to the bowling alley. Students look forward to the snacks and sodas they can buy while bowling. Lifetime wellness has always been considered an easy class. This year freshmen got a major shock when Ms. Lay started teaching lifetime wellness. Freshmen were already in awe of how intelligent she is, and how difficult her honors science classes are. But this year we learned how dedicated she is to living a healthy life. Ms. Lay's lifetime wellness class wasn't about digesting cookies anymore! The freshmen who were in her class learned a great deal about the body and keeping it healthy. Although lifetime wellness class is considered a freshmen class, the other grade levels participate in team sports and weightlifting. The physical education program at Cumberland County High School educates the students, and really motivates them to be more physically active.

The 2010 CCHS soccer team has been an awesome group to be a part of. I have played soccer at CCHS for two years now. Both years have been an amazing experience. Coaches Daniel McInerney and Shay Keyes show tremendous patience while working with the new players. They also challenge the older players with more challenging drills to improve their skills. Practices are long and sometimes hard, but it has to be if we want to be an amazing team. Our team is like a big group of brothers, sometimes we argue, but once we step on that field, it is all behind us. We all strive for a common goal when we play, work hard and win.

Cross Country 2009-2010

My First year

"This was my first year doing XC, and after running in the first meet, I wish I'd started sooner. It was great, and I really like the coaches." -Phillip Wagner

Cross Country in the beginning, was my way of spending more time with friends, improve my physical shape, and it gave me the capability to eat more(which I love). In the end, however, running gave me so much more than that.

In musical theater you rely on your fellow cast members to remember their lines, give one-hundred percent, and to stay healthy enough to provide a good performance. In cross country, it is much the same way. I learned of two strategies a team can have, and how each member can affect it. This strength led the girls on to state and brought the guys one place away from being the top three team In the region.

Not only this, but running helped me view myself more as an independant and strong woman. I learned how to push myself in ways I never thought I could.

Trying your best is being your best, and I thank my team, my best friends, my coaches, and this sport for allowing me to grow and belive in myself even more than I did before.

Tennis 2009-2010

Serving Aces

"Serving an ace is the best part of tennis. You feel so in control of the game, even if that ace only got you one point. Tennis may only be a game, but winning is a great reward." -Sydney Delters

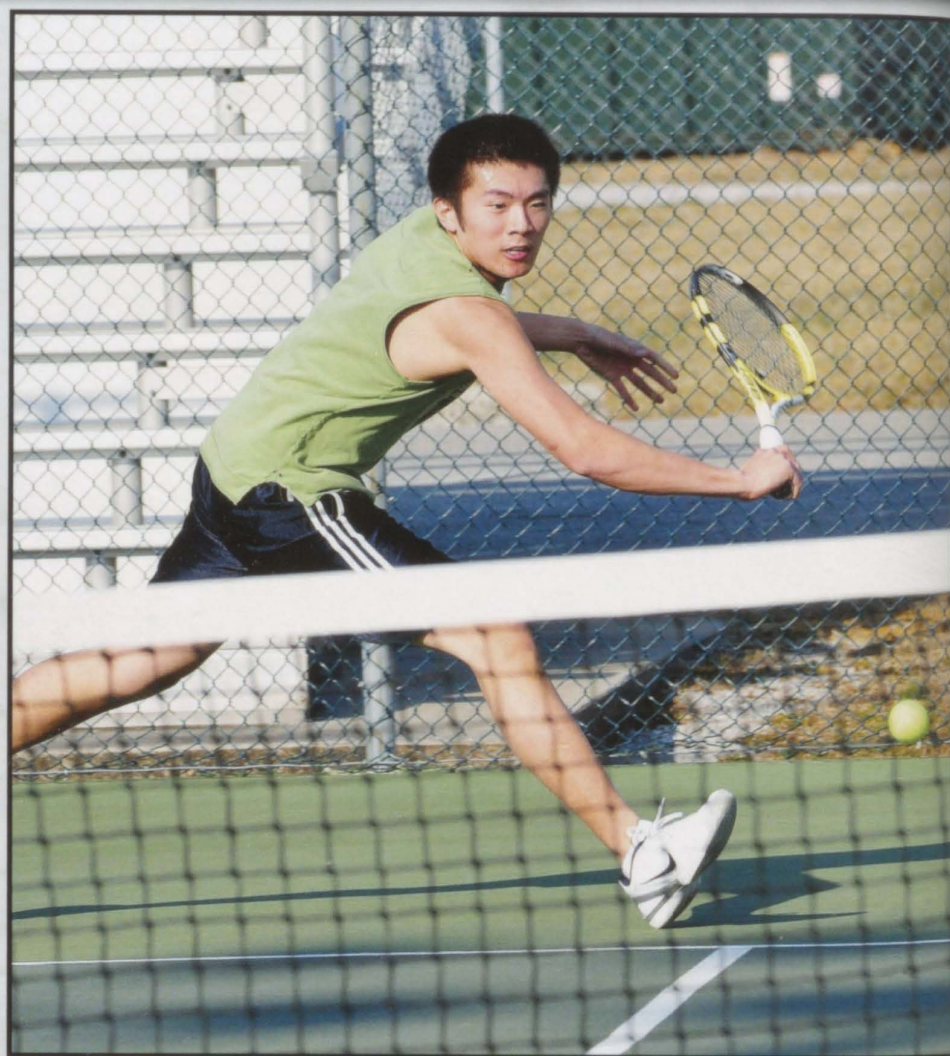

Tennis is a sport of intensity and reflexes. Serves can reach a top speed of over 125 miles an hour! Matches can last anywhere from ten minutes to over two hours, depending on the stamina and skill of the players involved. Not only this, but players are rarely allowed breaks between games within matches, because of the time needed to finish a tournament. These factors, however, don't seem to keep strong-willed players off the court.

Various tricks such as top spin and lobbing are often used by the Cumberland County High School Jet tennis team. Gary Lau, who is famous for his top spin, is always eager to teach it to the other players. It's his signature move. Clint Jay commented, "I love learning new moves and new grips to use during a game. It's a lot of fun to try out new plays. Winning a game after using these new plays is my favorite part."

Trust is the most important part, apart from skill, when playing doubles. A player has to count on their partner to cover the base line or net, or any other area that is a "dead man's land". If one partner cannot play well at a certain part of the court, the other must switch with them in time to win the point. Peyton Zeino quoted, "My weakest point is at the net, but I'm working hard to improve it."

Hard work and dedication always lead to victory in a sport where love means zero!

Softball Family

"I really enjoy playing softball. Even though we don't always win, everyone tries their hardest and really plays like a team. We are almost like a family."

-Chelsae Hinch

Softball is a really hard sport. Unlike most sports, you don't just play one position or learn one skill. In softball, you have to bat as well as play a field position. Several of the girls on the Lady Jet Softball Team can play more than just one field position, also. Every year we work extremely hard to prepare for the season and make it better than our last one was. We don't always have the most wins at Cumberland County High School, but we have just as much love for our game as the other athletes. All of the girls get along well and support each other. This is what makes us as good as we are. At the end of the night we know no matter what the outcome of the game everyone has each other's back. We're all here for each other on and off the field. Another aspect of the team that makes us so close is our wonderful coaches. They work hard and push us to do well, not just in this sport but in everything we do. They are great role models for us as well as friends. All of our seniors will be greatly missed. We have high hopes for this season and when its over we'll step up and be the leaders our seniors were for our team.

The talent to be a great runner is a gift. You have to put effort into it, and have a good work ethic to truly be a great runner. Every runner has their own excuses, but champions never use them. Track and field provides an outlet for personal growth, and opportunity to make one's strengths greater, and to improve one's weaknesses. It is a true test of not only stamina, endurance, and athleticism, but also sportsmanship and courage. I've only been able to participate in track for one year, but still it has been a privilege to learn so much during my last year. Whether running, jumping, throwing, hurtling, or jousting, track and field is a physical, mental, and emotional journey. Win or lose there is always victory.

Girls Basketball 2009-2010

Advice

"Playing basketball at CCHS has been awesome! One thing that I love the most is the advice given from our coaches, whether about the game or our own lives."
-Erica Lane #3

Being a Lady Jet at Cumberland County High School is not just being a part of a team, but of a family. Unity is key. If one girl is feeling down, whether it relates to the game or not, her teammates are there to cheer her up. Sticking together helps the girls play better.

The goals the players and coaches set at the beginning of the season are high, and seem almost unreachable. Many long, hard hours of practice are spent by these ladies. "Staying in shape is important," commented freshman Kelsey Daugherty.

Many of the Lady Jets have been playing basketball for over ten years. Brandi Green, who has been playing basketball since she was five years old, has undeniable talent. At Pleasant Hill Elementary School, she was warmly welcomed to the varsity team in the fifth grade, which is about two years early for most players. This love for the game inspires her to continue to play in college, and she's hoping that college is Duke University, home of the Blue Devils!

Years of being on a team shows a certain sense of pride, loyalty, and strength. Whether it is the physical strength to run many miles, or the mental strength to not be intimidated by the vicious athletes faced during a game, courage is shown.

Watching the Ball

"Playing basketball was a little hard at first, but hard work does pay off in the end. Coach Whitson always jokingly asks me if I'm watching the rim or the ball when I play. He's a great coach. I want to play basketball through my high school career." -Caylin Griswold #20

The Cumberland County High School Jets junior varsity basketball teams are each full of diverse and talented individuals. These players bond with not only their teammates, but also with the coaches. When Lady Jet, #12, Kelsey Daugherty was asked what she is commented most often on in practice, she says with a laugh, "Coach Whitson always jokes around and tells the other girls that they pulled a 'Kelsey' by not using their left hand." Spencer Scarbrough, Jet #33, commented, "Coach Moore is a great influence. He knows how to discipline us, but also how to reward us. I'm looking forward to many great basketball seasons with him in the future."

Playing sports has many advantages. Alexis Carter, Lady Jet #25, stated, "I love playing basketball because it keeps me out of trouble and in shape. I enjoy being competitive with other people, so being allowed to be mean on the court makes me play much better." Cameron O'Rourke and Gary Frady were asked what they liked best about playing high school basketball, and they agreed, "We like being able to have fun with our friends. At school, we aren't allowed to be loud, run around, and be aggressive for the most part, so having a sport to play after school is great." Also, college enjoy seeing students who are involved in activities, such as sports. Sharon Ulloa commented, "When I go to college, I'd like to play basketball there. Playing in high school can only better your chances of making the college team. It shows dedication, discipline, and courage."

Coaching for more than one sport can seem like a challenge. Coach Cub Whitson coaches Lady Jets soccer, Lady Jets junior varsity basketball, and Lady Jets varsity basketball at Cumberland County High School. He does not seem to be overwhelmed by these titles, only honored.

The huddles are always intense, keeping our focus towards victory! We're the Jets, and to us every game counts. One by one, we give it our all!"

Caleb Parsons

This year's team has shown determination and pride since day one. After losing our coach, our team became a much closer group, and knew that we would have to prove ourselves to the new coaches. Will foster, who played his high school basketball for CCHS and returned to the program three years ago, has continued to keep our program on the rise along with Blaine Moore. With alot of heart and great coaching, this team is on pace to accomplish great things. Giving it our all every-day, finally paid off as we became District Champions, after twenty six years, in the game against Cookville for this year. Caleb Parsons and Derek Hankins recieved all district awards for their great performances in the 6AAA district tournament! We are proud to be part of the Cumberland County High School basketball team's legacy.

Bird!

BY KARLI THREET

In Advanced Placement eleventh grade English with Ms. Phillips, our class is required to read certain books. The first for the first semester was The Crucible. Our class got a great kick out of a certain scene in the book. The book deals with the Salem Witch Trials and young girls that fatally accuse innocent people of being "witches." The scene that the class liked was where a young lady named Abigail falsely accuses Mary of sending out her spirit as a yellow bird. After that chapter was finished and the class stopped for discussion, some students decided to play a trick on their history teacher, Mrs. Akins, the following day. The students re-enacted the scene as she unknowingly watched with a humored look on her face. Marshall Pickard acted like he had no clue what was happening and freaked out when Sadie Shadden started screaming "BIRD!" Everyone got under their desks and repeated everything that Marshall said to further confuse and infuriate him. We then explained everything to Mrs. Akins after she asked what in the world was wrong with us. She called us "silly goobers" as she always does when we do something silly to amuse her. Before the whole scene started, Frances Marasigan set up her camera in the back of the classroom to record. The video that resulted was quite hilarious when we all watched it on Facebook later that evening.

Twilight Fans Abroad

BY MEAGAN HOLT CAMP

The Twilight series by Stephenie Meyer has been a huge hit at Cumberland County High School ever since it came out. If one were to take a poll on who has read the books, it is quite possible that 75% of the student body has read them. The books are about a romantic love story. Even though most people would shy away from a book about vampires and werewolves, it makes a story that much more interesting. Once a person reads the books, they usually pick a side, Team Jacob or Team Edward. Jacob and Edward are both great characters, and they are what makes the books and the movies that followed interesting. When the movie Twilight came out, it was very popular in Crossville and across the United States. Although Twilight was a big hit, New Moon attracted more people. Most guys scoffed at the books but by the time New Moon came out as a movie, they were going to watch it too, and actually enjoyed it. Every girl that watches the movie or reads the books instantly falls in love with everything that Edward does and he is thought of as the perfect guy. To many girl's dismay, it is only a movie. After reading the books or watching the movie, it is as if one of the times that they feel that it is fiction. The Twilight series is a great way in which every girl would love to be a part of.

Gym

BY LEA

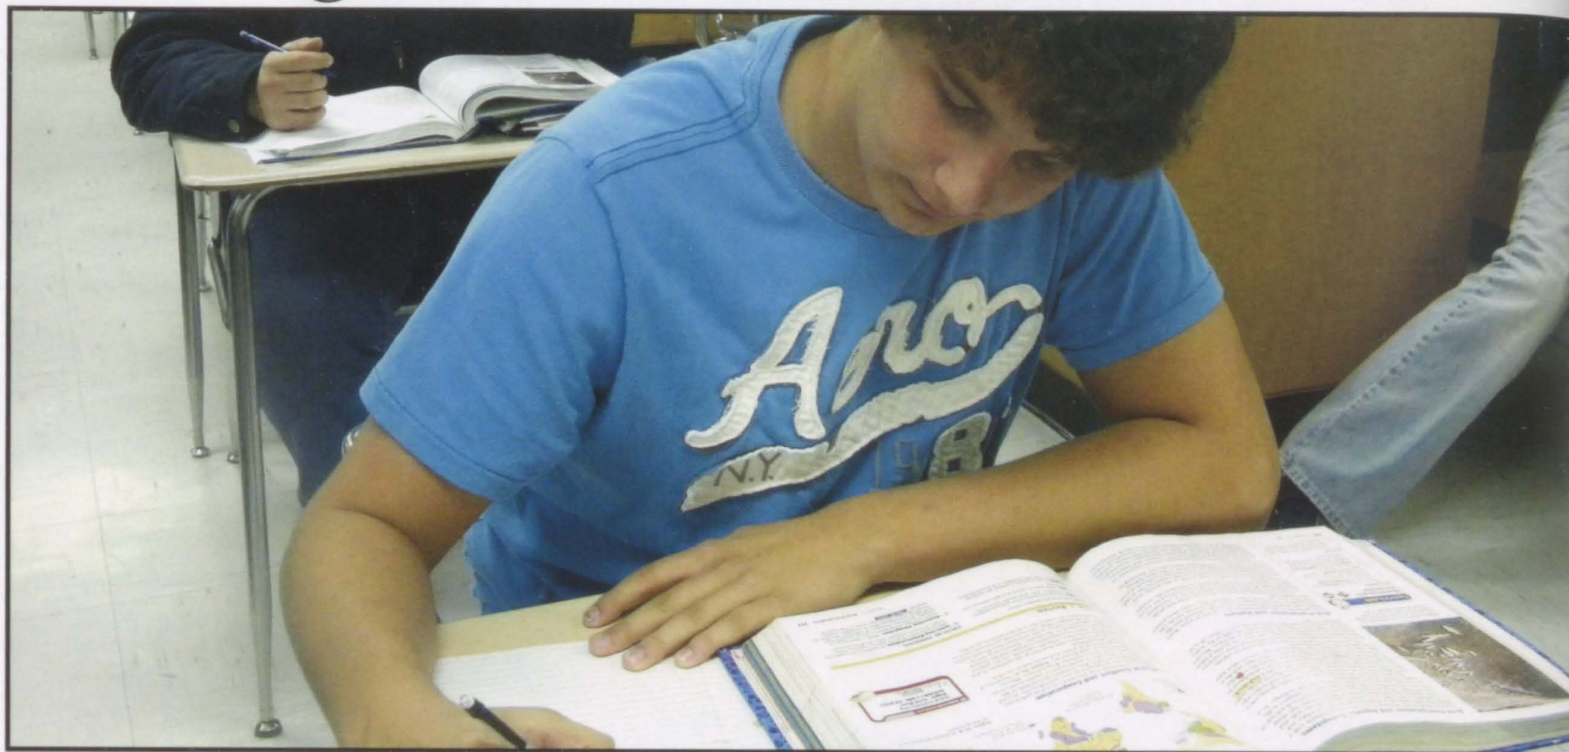

The terror of gym drills... The terror of gym drills... that's right, it's gym. Some people participate for sports that they are in, some participate to get the required credit to graduate, and some participate to get stronger. At some point, everyone has to take a physical education class during high school. Even though most do not enjoy having to get changed everyday and work out for a grade, they will learn healthy habits and living styles. Everyone can benefit from these. Students can also see how to exercise the correct way. Get ready for gym class, because it's not a waste of your time!

The Joys of Learning Foreign Languages

BY MARSHALL PICKARD

At CCHS, there are two interesting foreign languages to take. French is taught by Mrs. Robbins (Madame). She is fun and exciting, and French class takes part in many enjoyable activities. Mrs. Robbins always dresses up for National French Week, and she dedicates a week of instruction to teach her "Frenchie" about places in France and the history of France. Select students also take the National French exam second semester, which they always do well on. The French classes have a Mardi Gras party and a Christmas party where they sing songs in French and do dances. Spanish is also a good experience. In Mrs. Shannon's class, students play bingo. In Mr. Alva's class, pupils watch Spanish films that help them learn about Spanish culture. Mrs. Hall uses other attention-grabbing activities to teach her students. They all celebrate Day of the Dead. Foreign language kids, who have good enough grades, get to go on a fun field trip. They go to the Palace Theatre to watch movies in Spanish and French (with subtitles). One year, the Spanish movie will be a comedy, and the French movie is a drama. Then the next year, they change places. After that, the students get to go to eat. It is a fun trip that rewards students for working all year round. CCHS might not have many foreign languages, but the ones we offer are very exciting!

Fueling the Fire in Science

Journals in Environmental Science

I inquired of Troy Stickler what was the best part of being in Mrs. Staci Smith's environmental science class. He replied, "I enjoy doing journals everyday in her class. I really wish I had them in every one of my classes."

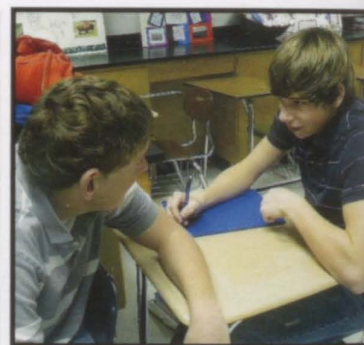

Working for Mrs. Smith

Andrew Hamby was also asked how he felt about Mrs. Stacy Smith's class. He stated, "Mrs. Staci Smith's class is always a lot of fun. I love every bit of the homework that she hands to us everyday."

Mr. Patton's Physical Science

Samantha Howard is seen above working on a worksheet with a friend for Mr. Patton's science class.

Mrs. Brewer's Environmental Science

Trent Lewis is seen conversing with a class mate about the assignment they had just received from Mrs. Brewer.

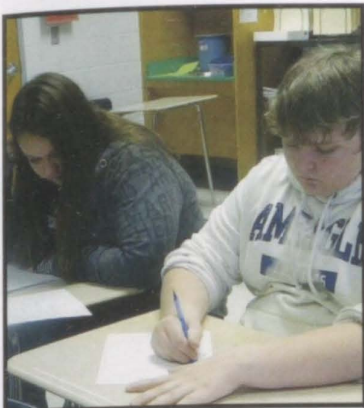

Working Hard in Science

Amanda Ball and Ryan Bedgood are seen working together on a worksheet for Mr. Patton's physical science.

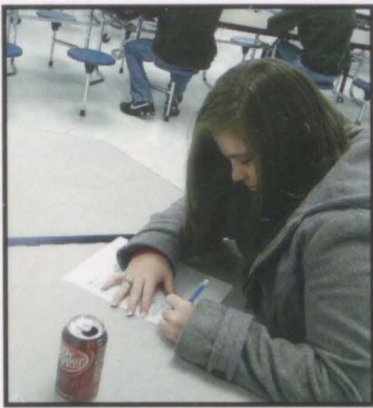

Tests in Chemistry

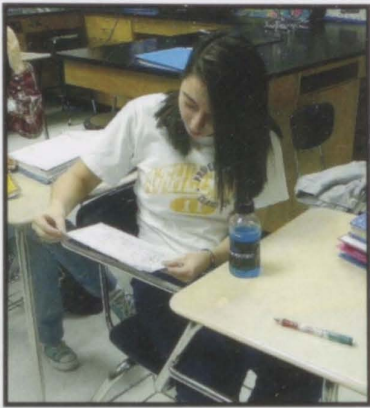

Erin Bailey is seen here trying to complete a test for Mrs. McDuffee's honors chemistry class.

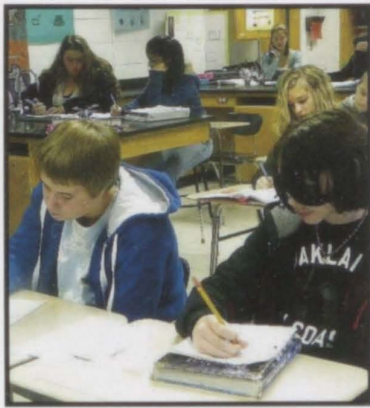

Physical Science with Mr. Patton
Barbara Gibson and T.C. Crillo are seen here working diligently on a worksheet for Mr. Patton in physical science.

Mrs. McDuffee's Tests in the Cafeteria
Kelly Walker was asked what she was doing in this picture. She stated that Mrs. McDuffee took her class to the cafeteria to take a test. She also stated, "I am pretty sure I bombed it."

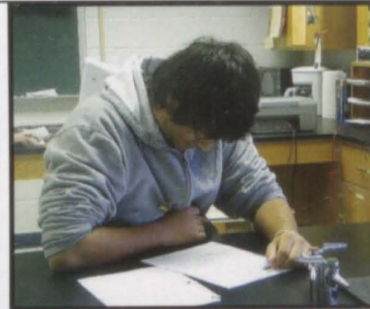

Asking For Help in Science
Bre Cotter is seen above turning around in her desk to ask her fellow classmate a question about the worksheet they were working on in Mrs. Laura Brewer's physical science class.

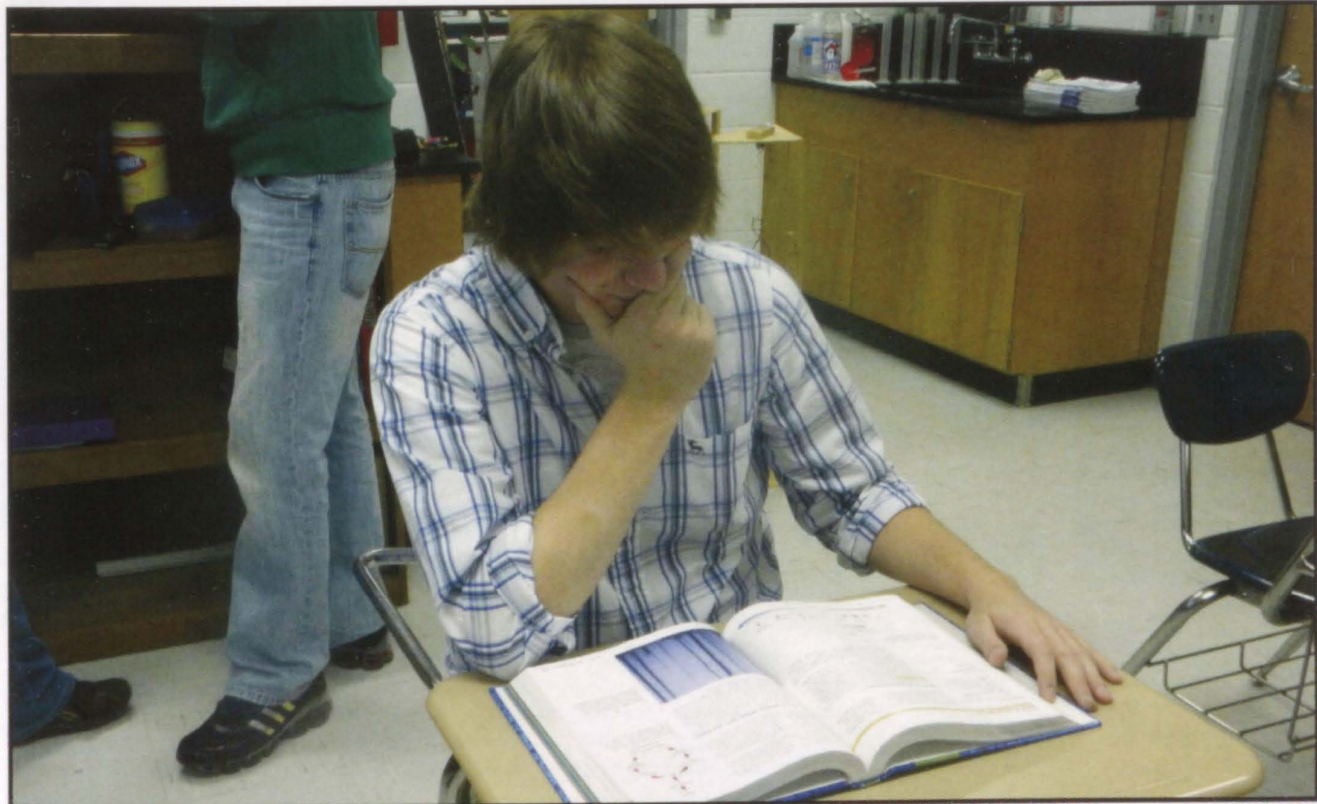

Work Work Work!
Jerry Cannon and Derick Brewer are seen above working together on a worksheet in Mr. Patton's physical science class along with the rest of their classmates.

Cool Environmental Science
Jon Masters, seen at the right working on a journal for Mrs. Staci Smith, was asked how he felt about environmental science, he replied, "I have come to find out that environmental science is almost cool, but only when Mrs. Smith is having a good day."

Worksheets for Science
Roger Gentry is seen above working intently on a worksheet for Mr. Dean Patton's Physical Science class.

The Bee's Knees of Science
When Joey Bynum was asked of how he felt about environmental science class with Mrs. Staci Smith on C-wing, he replied, "Every morning right when I wake up, even before my daily bowl of Cheerios cereal, I think to myself hmmm... I wonder what I will learn in environmental science today. Knowing Mrs. Smith, it is going to be something great! Environmental science is hands down, the bees knees!"

THEATRE ARTS & FIELD TRIPS

TURN UP THE HEAT!

Jet Theatrix...

Theatre Arts is a fun, but crazy, class to take. No shy ones here! Mrs. Robbins, the Theatre Arts and French teacher, teaches her class all about acting in the theatre. She also has an after-school club called Jet Theatrix, which is open to all students, not only the students in her Theatre Arts class. From the classroom to the stage, from the first read-through to the dress rehearsal, and even the final production, Theatre Arts can be a terrifying, exciting, and wonderful experience for the students. Audience, be ready for a wild ride with these talented students!

Part of the Act...

Kathleen Lambert, a senior at CCHS, is a member of the theatre arts class this semester. When she was asked about what she likes about the class, she stated, "Madame Robbins is my favorite teacher of all time. There is never a dull moment with her in the room and I will definitely miss her and the theatre arts class when I graduate in May."

Tough Act To Follow...

Katie Warren, a great actress and a senior this year at CCHS, was in the theatre's production of "The Trial of Goldilocks." When she was asked about being a part of the theatre, she said, "Theatre has been a wonderful experience, and having the opportunity to be in The Trial of Goldilocks and Stone Soup have both been wonderful as well." Alma Lopez also likes being in her theatre class. She especially likes her theatre teacher, saying, "Mrs. Robbins is probably the best teacher I have ever known. She is really fun in class, and it's so super easy to learn everything there. She's amazing!" Ask anyone that has taken theatre or French classes about Mrs. Robbins, and they will probably say the same thing about her; that she is a very humorous and wonderful teacher to have.

Giving, Giving...

Right around Christmas time, Kaula Bolin got to go to Martin Elementary with her class. She stated, "Giving to the less fortunate was a fun and good experience." Thank you for helping out our community!

Serving It Up...

Serving the ball is Cheyenne Freeman. When she was asked about what she was doing in this picture, she stated, "They told me I needed to slowly hit the ball, so that's what I did. If I wasn't taking pictures, then I was dancing all crazy-like. What a great day that was!" Kimber Falls also liked this field trip, along with all of the others, saying "Mr. Sanderson's class was fun. It seemed like we went on aimless field trips, but the places made sense because we brought cameras and wherever we went, we learned about taking different kinds of pictures."

Meet The Mayor...

The American Business and Legal Systems classes got the chance to go to the courthouse and meet our mayor. Jennifer Phillips, a senior this year at CCHS, said, "Mrs. Harris' legal systems class was fun. She took all of the boring topics and made them so much more interesting. It was really fun going to the courthouse and getting to meet the mayor."

Serious or Silly?

Some field trips at CCHS are expected, but very fun to go on. Patric Allred, a senior this year, got to go to the flowers bakery with his classmates to explore the factory. "Flowers Bakery was a cool trip. The hair net was definitely a little different, but we got snacks." Tyler Selvage also has fun on a field trip, even if it was more serious. He got to give flowers for Christmas with his class. He said, "It was very fun and enjoyable and a really good experience." Timmy Springer is also shown above lending a helping hand and cleaning up some brush.

Having a Field Day...

Everyone loves a good field trip to get out of class for a day, or even a class period. There are many classes that you could take to have just one opportunity to go on a field trip. From photography to business classes, teachers enjoy field trips just as much as, if not more than, their students. Whether you are helping out the community or going for the exploration, enjoy the field trip while it lasts.

Out on the Field...

Jake Calvert, a senior this year at CCHS, loves getting out of class for field trips. He says, "Field trips are great, especially in photography. You get out of your classes for part of the day to go hang out with your classmates. Mr. Sanderson took the photography class to Centennial Park to play volleyball and take a bunch of pictures one day when it was really nice weather. I was an awesome volleyball player, if I do say so myself! Plus I took some really cool pictures of everyone that was playing." Mr. Sanderson teaches his class to fill the frame of the picture to make for better photographs. Also, he shows the class just how hard it can be to take a great sports picture, or pictures when everyone is moving around which causes the pictures to become blurry.

The Stories of the Past Ignite the Classroom!

Amazing Presentations

Jessica Thoma, a junior, was asked what her favorite part of American History is this year. Jessica replied with, "I love learning about the past. History interests me because everything that happened has affected our lives today." Brian Young was asked how World History varies from previous classes in elementary school. He replied with, "Mr. Foster strives to make everyday both fun and challenging."

Presentations: Good Public Speaking Experiences for Students

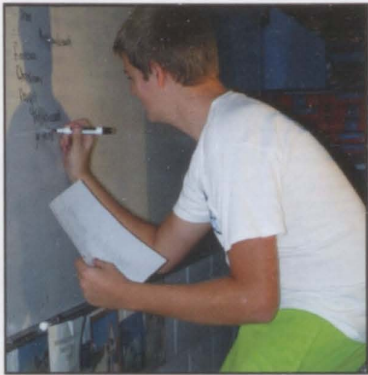

Sarah Hall was asked, "What is the best part of Mr. McClaslin's class?" She stated "Well, I love it when we do class presentations. They help me to overcome my fear of public speaking and really makes me less shy. Mr. McClaslin's class is a very fun class that I have learned a lot of interesting stuff from. It's my favorite!"

Seniors Look Ready For Christmas Break

LeighAnn Kerley and Anthony Lentscher were asked, "What is your favorite part of Honors Economics with Mr. Brock?" They replied with, "This class makes our senior year here at Cumberland County High School the best year yet. Mr. Brock keeps our class alive with his 'funny jokes.' We consider this the best class we have had thus far. CCHS will be missed quite terribly."

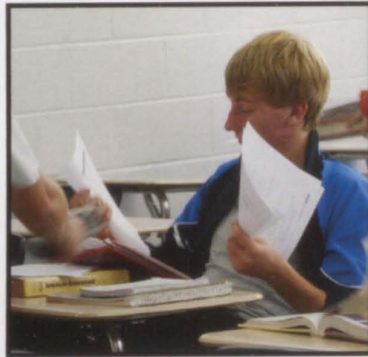

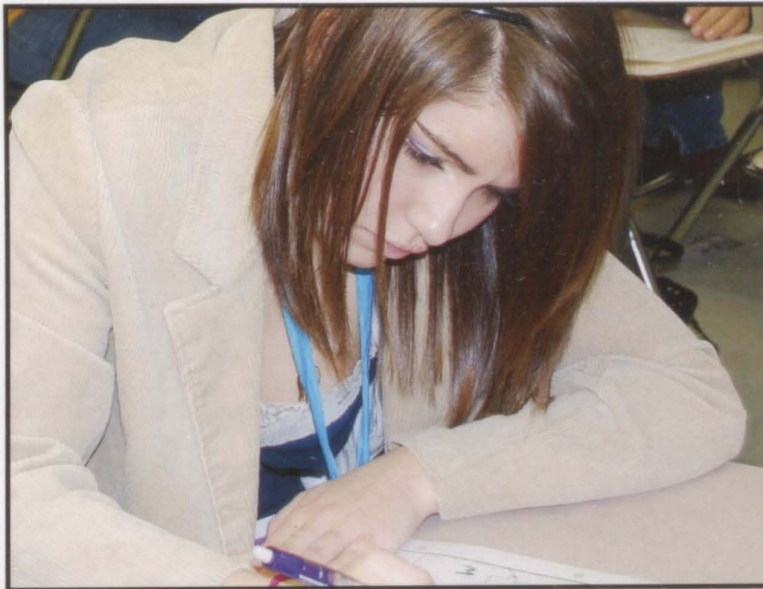

Oh the Joy of Second Block!
Skylar Goodwin and Abigayle Claflin were asked what their favorite parts of their second blocks were. Abigayle Claflin replied, "Well, I love when we take the class to a new level by dancing or doing something on the board."

Skylar Goodwin answered, "I love writing my answers on the board. It makes me feel like my hard work and dedication payed off, and I get to display that in front of my class."

Tests, Tests, Tests, Maps, Maps, and Maps

Ana Laredo was asked, "What is your favorite part of Mr. Brock's class?" She replied, "My favorite part of my second block class is when we use maps. I love being able to see what we're learning visually. Mr. Brock is a funny teacher, and I learn a lot more from teachers like himself." Also, Danielle Gerardi was asked, "Overall, what is different from Mrs. Akins' U.S. History and Mr. Foster's world geography class?" Danielle replied with, "In Mr. Foster's class, we focused on the entire world in economic, political, and social ways. In Mrs. Akins' class we focus on just the United States. I love it. It is my favorite class."

Fun, Fun, Fun in an Instant
Ernest Retzer was asked, "What is your favorite thing thus far?" He replied with, "Well, I love to randomly sing the lottery theme song..."

Studying U.S. History Makes Me...
During United States History, Ryan Edwards was asked, "What do you do while the teacher isn't looking?" Ryan replied with, "Well, you can usually catch me turning around to talk, but shh... don't tell him."

Fire Burning in English Class...

If You Can Read This, Thank A Teacher..

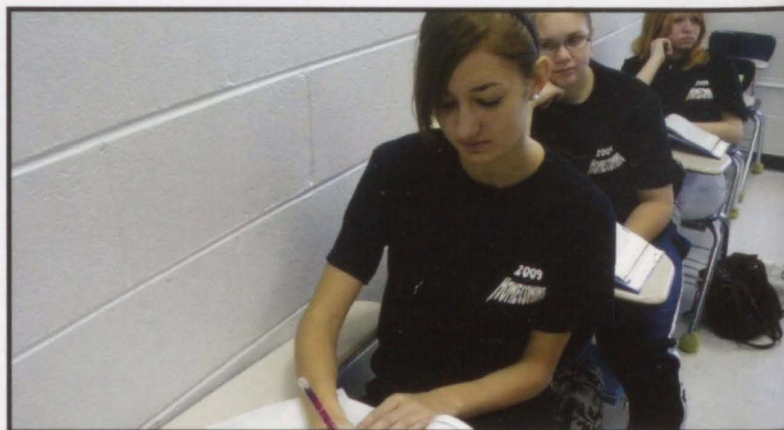

Mrs. Filler is very passionate about teaching. She stated that "everyday when I leave my job, I know that I've helped someone out, and to me, there's no better feeling in the entire world. My son tells me that he's so proud that his mommy is a teacher because he gets to see me help out students.

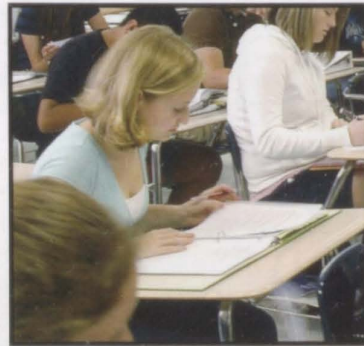

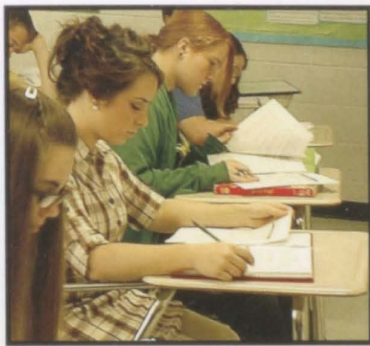

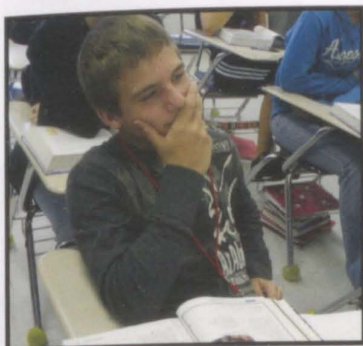

This makes my job even more pleasureable." Caylin Griswold stated that her favorite part of Mrs. Filler's English 10 class is doing research on the computers. "I love looking up information. It adds fun to the classroom setting, and who wouldn't love that?"

My Dog Ate My Homework..

Kelsey Scarborough and Tiffany Hassler were asked, "What's the best homework excuse that you have ever used?" Kelsey says that she sticks with the traditional "my dog ate my homework" excuse because it's just kind of funny, and then the teacher gives you an extra day just for making them laugh. Tiffany says that she pulls the ole "it's in my locker." trick. "It ALWAYS works.

Romeo, Romeo, Oh Where Art Thou, Romeo..

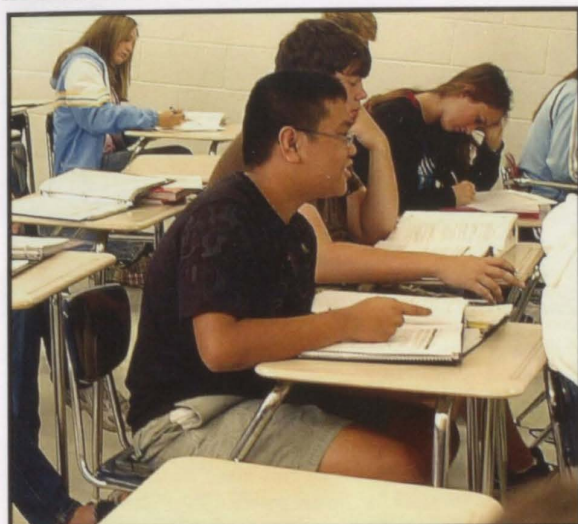

While sitting in Mrs. Pickard's class, Joshua Murner was asked if he enjoyed Shakespeare. He replied, "Yes, I do. As a matter of fact, I am Romeo." Josh also enjoys reading Edgar Allan Poe's short stories such as "The Tell Tale Heart." Brianna was asked what her favorite part of

Mrs. Pickard's Honors English 9 class was and she replied, "My favorite part of English class is when we diagram sentences on the board. It is a challenge for me to put everything in its proper place, but with Mrs. Pickard's help, I always get it right."

Why Can't Edward Be Real..

Abigail Claflin was asked, "If you could make one character in your favorite book an actual person, who would it be and why?" After no time at all, Abby declared, "Edward Cullen of course! I would make Edward a real person because I believe that every girl in this school would love it. I wish my English teachers would consider making the Twilight series part of our required reading for the semester. That would be dreamy. I can't wait for New Moon to come out on November 20th."

Its A Brother and Sister Kind of Thing..

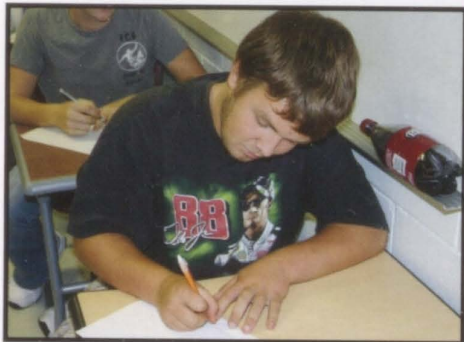

Francis and Frances Marasigan enjoy English classes the most at CCHS. Francis says that he enjoys the grammar and mechanics aspect of English the most, but he also enjoys reading short stories and Shakespeare's plays. Frances stated that she enjoys her AP English class the most out of all the English classes she's had thus far. "TP makes our AP class extremely exhilarating, and it is never, ever banal. We have new vocabulary tests every week."

There Is No "I" in TEAM..

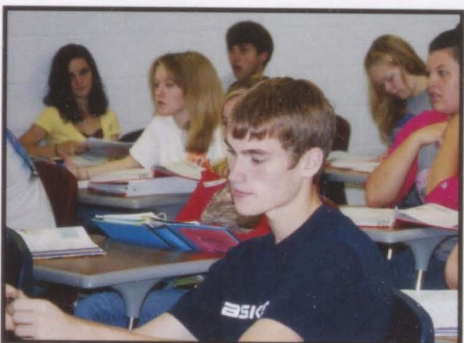

Colin Sloan and Zack Smith were asked, "What is your favorite thing about Mrs. Atkins's English 11 Class?" Colin replied, "My favorite part is when she gives us the chance to do the assignment with a friend." Zack's answer was the same but he also added, "I especially love working with a partner because I get more out of the assignment, and it's not as boring when it's done with a friend."

Students on Fire to Learn Foreign Languages!

Hard at Work

Spanish students often take oral quizzes to prepare them for their tests. Tyler Walton, pictured above says, "Spanish class is the place to be! I enjoy coming to class everyday." Students are expected to gain a general knowledge of the language, as well as learning various cultural differences.

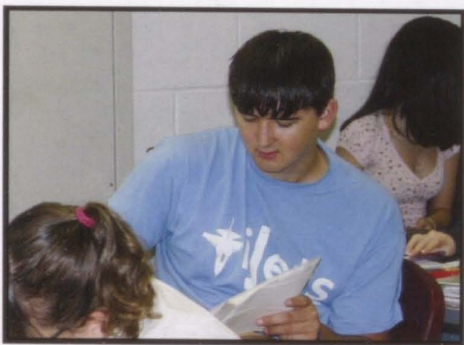

Fun and Games

When asked what is your favorite part of Spanish, Donovan Orourke says "I love playing games and winning candy."

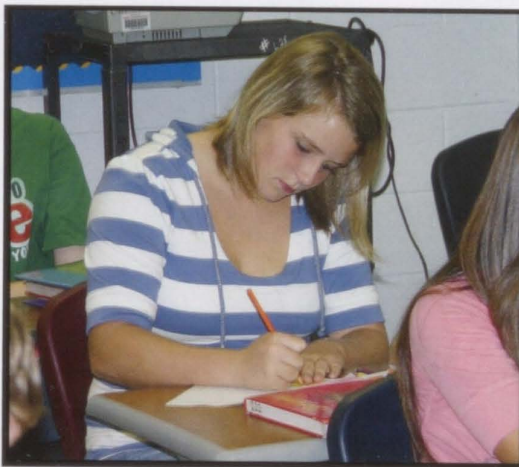

Muy interesante

"Spanish is a very interesting language. It is a lot of fun to learn. There are many similarities between Spanish and English because they are both Latin based languages," says TJ Barnes (pictured below). Spanish students have a great time learning by singing, listening, and learning Spanish songs.

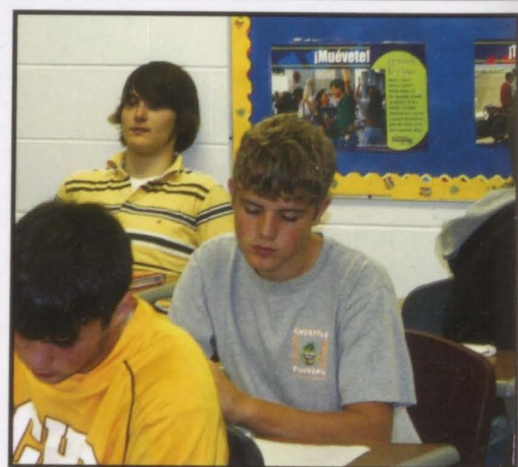

Me Encanto la Clase de Espanol

Danielle Gerardi is pictured above in Mrs. Hall's Spanish class. She tells us, "¡La clase de espanol es magnifico! It is a lot of fun to learn a whole new language. It could be very useful one day." In Spanish class, students are taught the basics of Spanish, verb conjugations, and common phrases. When it's all said and done, they're able to carry on conversations and write in complete sentences with correct grammar. This is no easy task. Watching videos, playing BINGO, taking notes, and daily quizzes help prepare the students for the upcoming test. Students also get to learn some Spanish songs and poems.

In Plain English . . . Sort Of

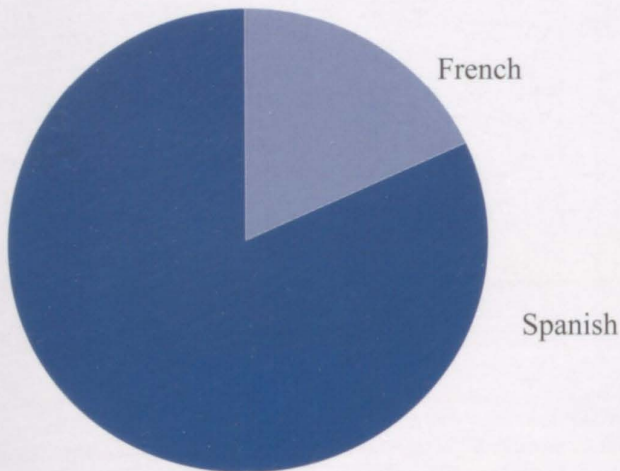

When asked why she likes Spanish, Shalee Sapp, replied, "I like Spanish class because we get to do a lot of cool things. Playing BINGO is a fun way to review for our tests. I've never had another class like it. ¡La clase de espanol es estupendo!" She is pictured above in Mrs. Hall's Spanish 1 class getting ready to take a quiz.

Food for Thought

Chris Davenport tells us, "¡La clase de espanol es mi clase favorito! I like watching the Spanish videos, and of course the food." In the Spanish culture, food is a large part of family and social gatherings. Because of this emphasis on the food, a lot of thought and preparation goes into making it.

Number of French Classes to Spanish Classes

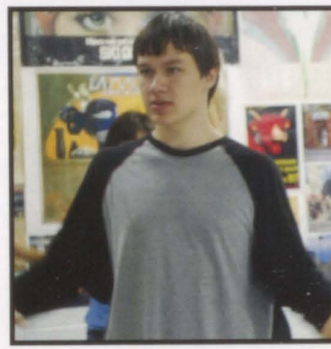

And Your Head

Justin Rimes (pictured below), also known as "Jean", says, "I love French class because it always helps me start my day."

The Real Thing

Students say that French is a great experience complete with singing, movements, and other interactive teaching methods. Everybody gets to pick a French name to be called. In the picture above, Erin "Genevieve" Curry claims, "You can't be in a bad mood in French class. That was pretty much the fakest smile I could put forth. But by the end of 'Alouette', I'm pretty stinkin' sure it wasn't fake anymore." Most would agree, that this is a mutual feeling among the "Frenchies" of Madame Robbins. Everyday is something new, which never allows students to be bored.

Never a Dull Moment in French Class

"Sometimes it's hard to keep up with all the movements but we are always singing about something. It's the best to start your day," says Cheyenne "Claire" Jones (pictured on the far left). She is having fun singing in French class. As you can see, it is not just the students who enjoy the singing. Madame Robbins, seen above, says "Je te plumerai le cou!" or "I shall pluck your head!" These are the movements to those words being sung in "Alouette". Everybody gets very involved and has a wonderful time. In order to truly understand the French class experience, we decided to go straight to the students. When asked what French class is like, Johnathan "Alfred" Foust (pictured on the far right) replied, "Mrs. Robbins is really fun. It's nothing like any other class. Everybody should join French. At first you are kind of shy, but then you get into it." It sounds like a one-of-a-kind, exceptionally unique class, not to mention a great workout.

Et Les Ailes

Students, left, singing "Alouette", Stuart "Guy" Gilbert tells us, "Flapping around like a bird is a pretty average thing in here." "Alouette" is a popular French song about torturing a lark. It teaches students various body parts as well as allowing them to work off some energy with the corresponding movements.

Fit Right In

"We all feel out of place but when we all do it, it's kind of normal," said Isaac "Xavier" Parks, when asked about singing in French.

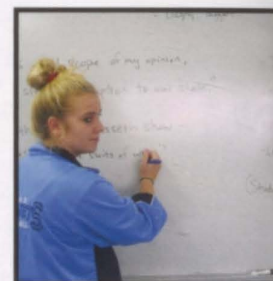

It's Not Time to Panic, You Bunch of Goobers!

AP History demands a lot of reading. Emily Scarbrough commented about the book of women's history in America she was reading. "Mrs. Akins calls this book the 'weaker vessel' book. She calls it that because women were viewed as weaker in colonial society. It is interesting to learn about women back in the day and how they were treated, as well as other cultural facts normal textbooks don't tell you." Tyler Janow, at the map, mentioned, "Mrs. Akins's class is the best! She always says, 'Maps are your friends,' and she is so very right. Her 'interesting' drawings also prove to be good visual aids. History classes have attained a reputation of being long and banal, but learning with Mrs. Audrey Akins, the fountain from which all knowledge flows, couldn't go by faster!" Erin Bailey, shown with Mrs. Akins, remarked, "Mrs. Akins always calls us goobers when we don't know the definition of a word that we should have looked it up in our reading. She also tells us it isn't time to panic yet. I wish she would put a clock in her room that would count down till time to panic. Then, I could know when to worry. That class really makes me stressed, but Mrs. Akins is always willing to help me. I am learning so very much!"

CCHS TURNS UP THE HEAT WITH AP AND DUAL CLASSES!

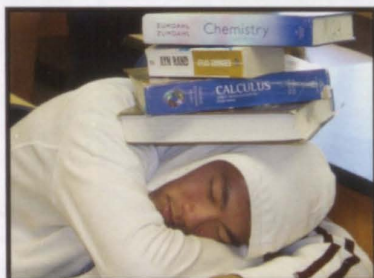

Judge Judy and the Vocab Game

This year, juniors who want to take AP US History and AP English 11 go to history one day and English the next. AP English requires a lot of essay writing, but there is some fun involved, too. Judy Tuohy, pictured reading with Terra Votaw, said, "Terra and I love reading The Crucible out loud in class. I am a judge in the book, so they call me Judge Judy. Not to mention, it is fun to take a break from essay writing to read some fiction." In Ms. Phillips's class, students also play the vocabulary game every other week to review for their intense vocab tests. "The vocabulary game really helps you refresh your memory. It is a joy to everyone in the class!" stated Tia Ewing, raising her hand, answering a vocab question. Kat Kerr always gets to be the scorekeeper for the game. She said, "TP's class is definitely not boring. Team Awesome (Team 1) always dominates over Team 2. Her vocabulary tests are pretty challenging, but I am adding so many big words to my vocab, like behemoth and abhor."

College Class Overload

"Don't make fun of me because I am tired," said Gary Lau. "I have too many hard AP and Dual classes, like statistics, calculus, English, and chemistry. Plus, sleeping is a good study method cause the knowledge diffuses into your brain. See I know my science. Mrs. McDuffee taught me well. I'm smart!"

Elements of AP

Brandon Fehr, shown here busy working, said, "Mrs. McDuffee makes us earn our grades in Chemistry 2. The material is challenging, the eight-page tests are difficult, and the labs are complicated, but in the end, it is all worth AP credit. Besides, Mrs. McDuffee has incredible teaching skills and a really nice personality."

Early Bird Gets the Worm

For Dual Statistics, students must show up at 6:15 in the morning. Getting up in time to come to school is no easy task. Adding a fifth class to a busy schedules complicated, too. Anna Hill, shown here with Sadie Shadden, said, "Even though I have to get up early for statistics, I really enjoy it. Mrs. Buck is a great teacher, and because it's college credit, it totally pays off." "It is so hard to be on time," said Hanh Tran, "and I have been late twice! Getting to have breakfast in class is enjoyable, but going to school in the dark isn't."

Conquering College Calculus

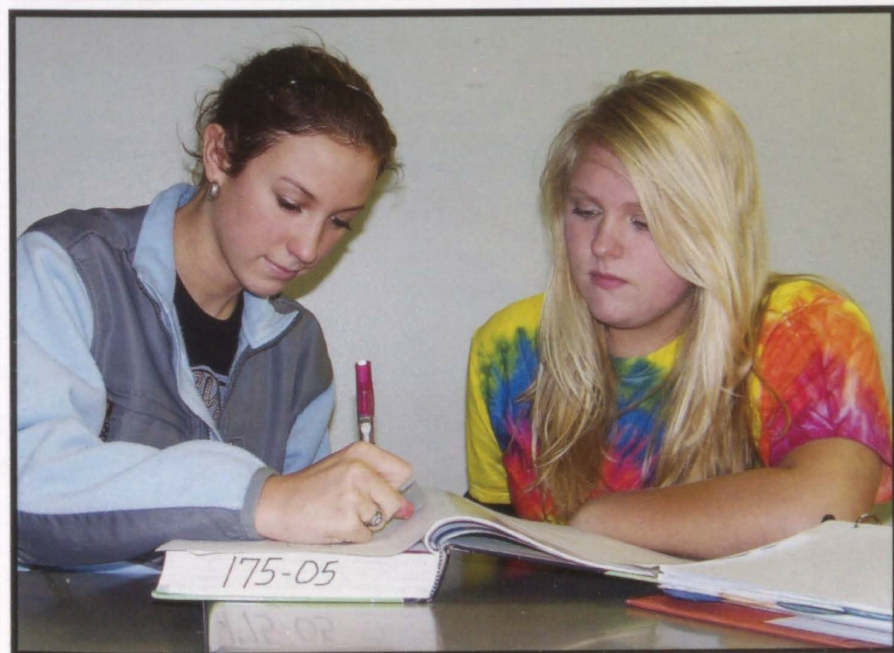

"Calculus is not as hard as I thought it was going to be. It is still a challenge, but I have always liked math. I love Mrs. Buck because she is dedicated to her students. Plus, I am very glad I am getting this class over now rather than later," spoke Brittini McClellan. "Wow! This problem is incredibly long and hard, though."

Hard Core English

Dual classes aren't limited to math. "I am so glad that I decided to take Dual English 12 for my senior year," commented Amanda Server, getting help from Ms. Phillips. "Even though it's hard, it's going to give me a head start in college classes. Not to mention, Ms. Phillips is an AWESOME teacher, even though she makes us read Atlas Shrugged."

A Sense of Accomplishment

Dual Calculus with Mrs. Herring isn't always a walk in the park. "Calculus is a struggle. Then again, I enjoy the difficulty of the problems because it makes me feel accomplished, and being in class with all the guys helps me too," said Andrew Cravens. "Mrs. Herring is a fun teacher, but she can give some hard problems."

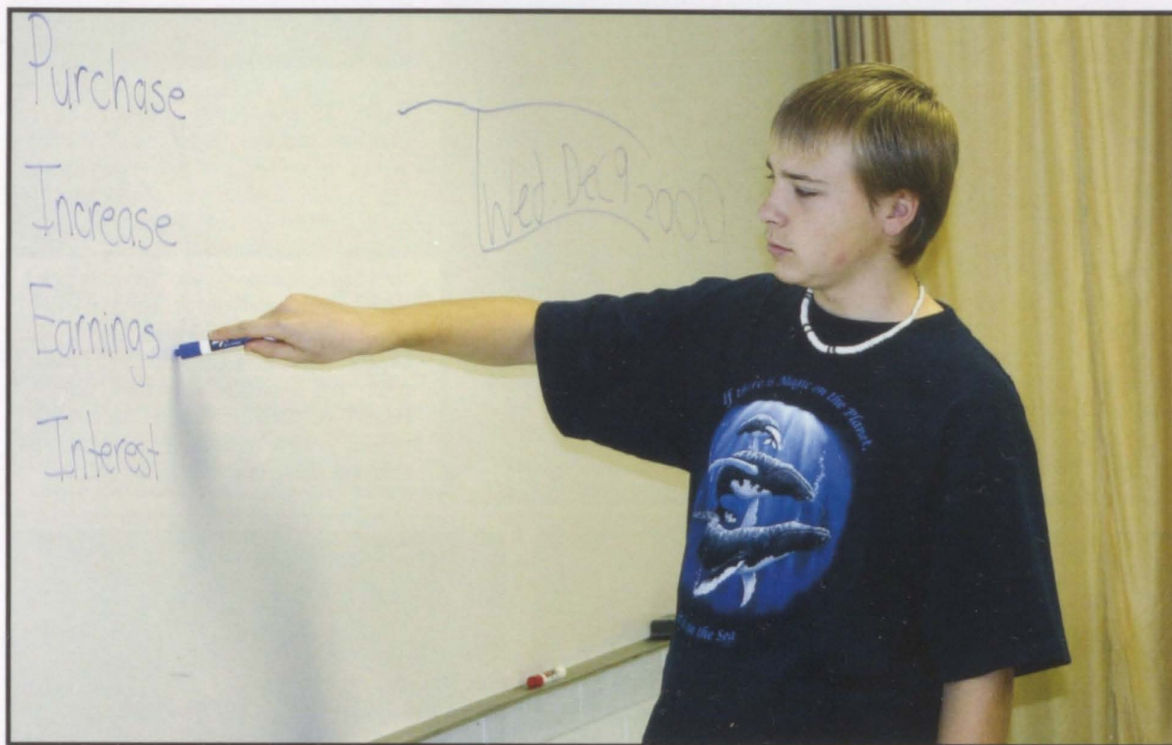

Successful Students Prosper in Pre-cal

Some students go beyond their required math classes to take Dual Pre-calculus. "We love working together in pre-cal!" said Sierra Brewer, with her friend, Hayley Melton. "Hayley and I believe that two is always better than one when working with math. We can get more accomplished when we put our heads together." But advanced math isn't always a breeze in this spring semester class. "Pre-cal work is quite a challenge because the math is so advanced. It's nothing I can't do with some effort, though" said Houston Vincent, working on a challenging problem.

Shown above, Anthony Scott and Ben Hardt enjoy converting augmented matrices into reduced row-echelon form during Mrs. Buck's pre-cal class.

LRE is Hot as Fire This Year

All About the Money

Randall McBroom is shown on the left pointing out words in Mr. Kington's class. He likes learning about money and finances. Below, the class takes a group picture before starting their daily work for Mr. Kington.

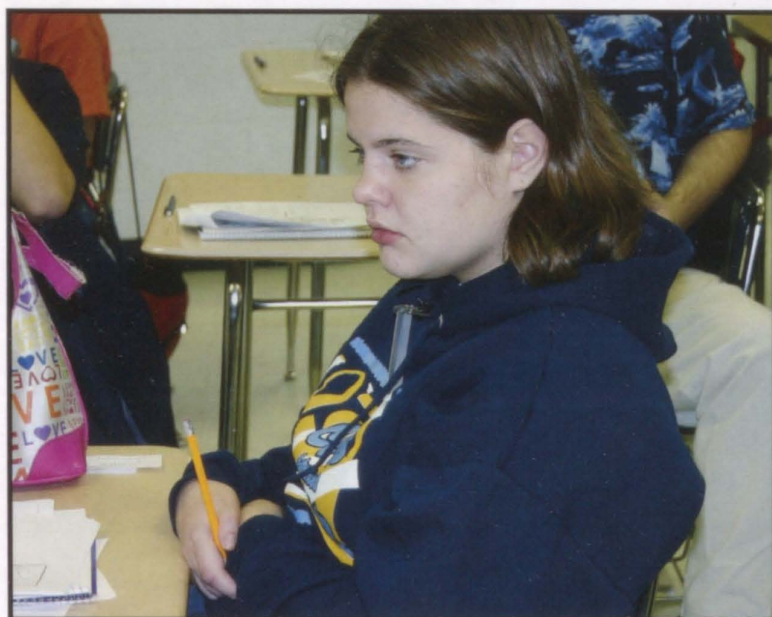

Skill Aquirement

The LRE social skills course is a specialized classroom where students with disabilities can receive one-on-one help from their teachers. In this class, students can aquire the skills they need to get and keep a job. They also learn how to take care of themselves in their home environment. These students rely on their teachers to help them with their daily routine and to expose them to new things.

How's the Teacher??

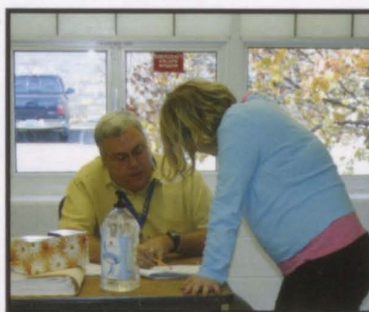

Laura Philpot likes her friends in her class and likes the teacher, Mr. Kington, as well.

Great Students

James Alfred is shown getting ready for his class early in the morning.

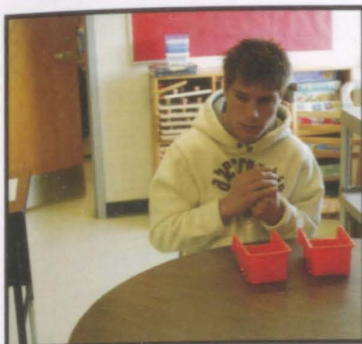

Michael Merrill was looking at the board and listening well to his teacher in order to learn all of his vocabulary words.

Assistance

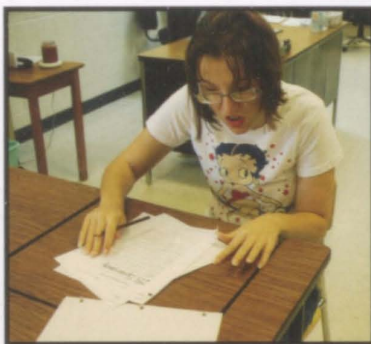

Mr. Kington likes working with his students every day, like Lisa Merrill. He is shown helping her with with new definitions.

Angel Kessler is a great student. She was above showing the class the new words that they were learning.

Hard at Work

Grayson Witt is a hard-working student, even early in the morning. He is shown playing with blocks during a down time in class.

Nicole Noe is also an extremely hard-working student. She is shown working on her writing skills in class.

The "Write" Skills

Bethany Wattenbarger is a very determined worker. She is shown practicing her writing skills in her first period class.

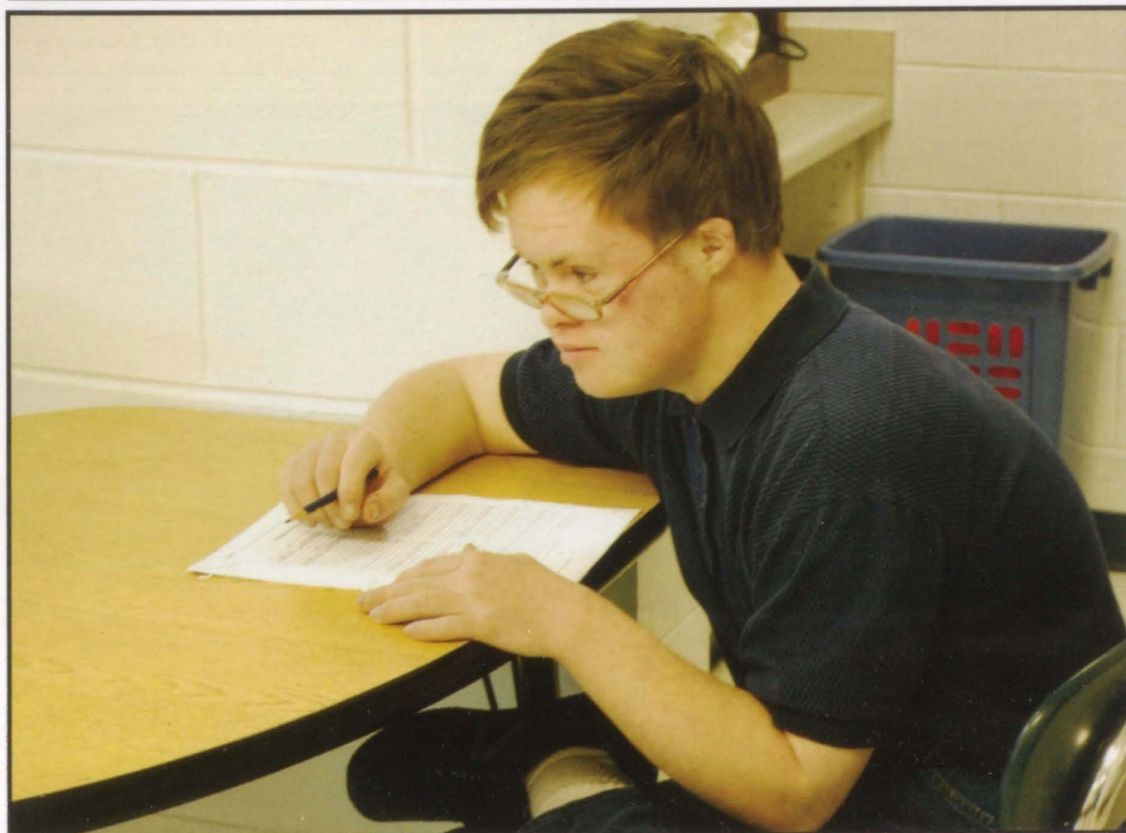

Colton Freitag also like writing in class a whole lot. He is known to work diligently on his writing skills in class.

Peer Tutoring

Other students are also allowed to be in this environment as a high school course. This course, called peer tutoring, allows students to see what the environment is like and helps the students in the LRE classroom with schoolwork. The peer tutoring course is mostly for students wanting to become teachers for these students in the future. Jessica Lewis is shown actively working on her writing assignment in her first period.

A Time For Work and a Time For Play

Joshua Dunaway, shown on the left, likes to play, but he knows he must finish his work first. Meanwhile, Ryan Vandorn, was finished with his daily work, so he gets a reward. He gets to play with blocks before he moves on to his next class of the day.

Adding Fuel to the Fire

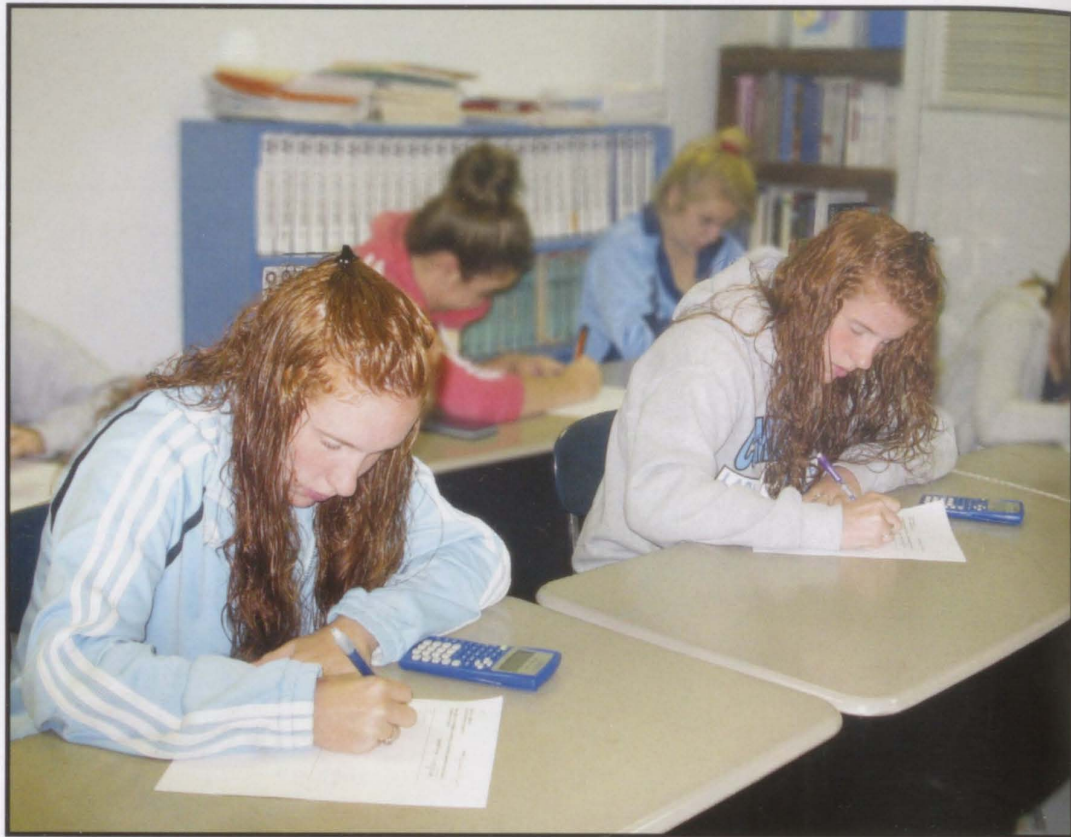

Math is SO Easy...

What is the hardest thing about Mrs. Buck's class? Timothy Hennessee replied, "It is not hard at all. Every mathematics class that I have taken at Cumberland County High School has come easily to me. I even loved mathematics all through elementary school."

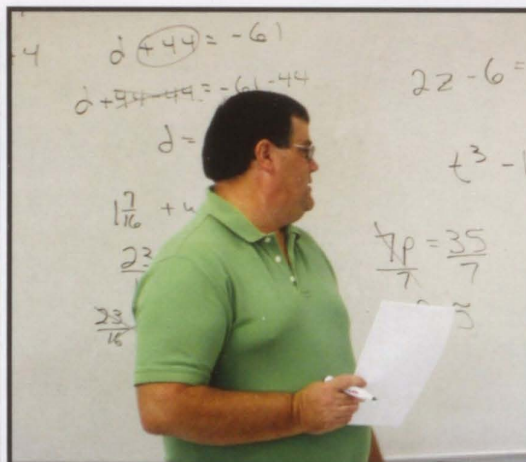

Working Diligently on Trigonometry

Beth Ann Swafford is seen above working on synthetic division and expanding exponential functions with three variables. She was asked how difficult she found Mrs. Buck's class on a daily basis. She replied "I don't have a difficult time with the work because Mrs. Buck does a great job with explaining." Sean Lachance was asked how often he has homework each week. He answered "It depends if I understand what we are doing. If the subject we are on is difficult, then I usually take it home and check what I finished in class so that I can make sure that I understand each concept."

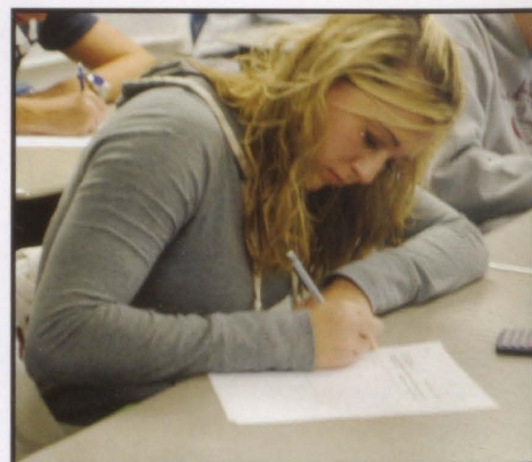

Isn't It Ironic the Twins Would Have Matching Calculators, Identical Pencil Posture, and Did Their Hair the Same on This Exact Day?

During the course of Mrs. Buck's class, Devin and Jordan Davis were asked if they enjoyed sitting beside each other in class. Devin replied, "Yes, because if I don't know the answer to a question that Mrs. Buck asks, Jordan can answer for me, and we can usually get away with it due to the fact that our voices have a similar sound." Jordan stated that she wishes she did not sit by Devin so her sister could not have her answer every question for her.

Teaching Algebra 1 to a Group of Sophomores

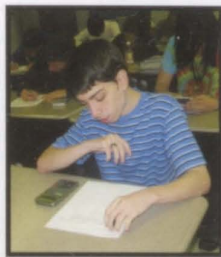

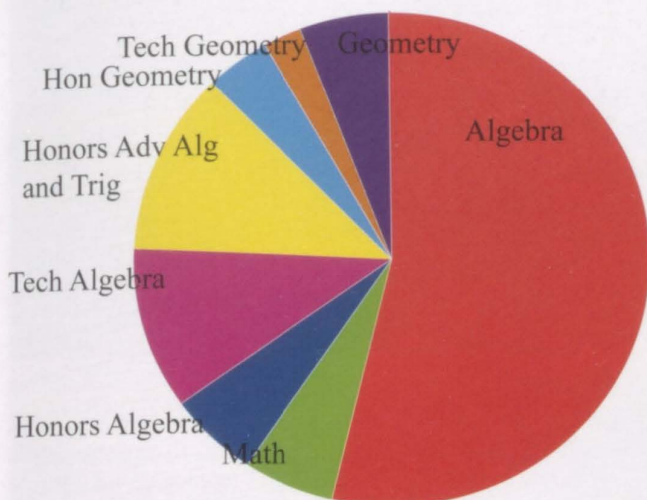

Mr. Cook was asked which students usually are the best students due to their maturity level and age. He stated that "Teaching 10th and 11th graders is much easier than teaching freshman due to the fact that they know what to expect from high school courses and teachers."

Writing Out the Problem

"It is always easier to write out each problem that we are assigned and work from there opposed to having to look back at the book for the original problem so frequently," said Sara Loveday after we inquired what about her habits that she has been taught to improve the quality of her work in math.

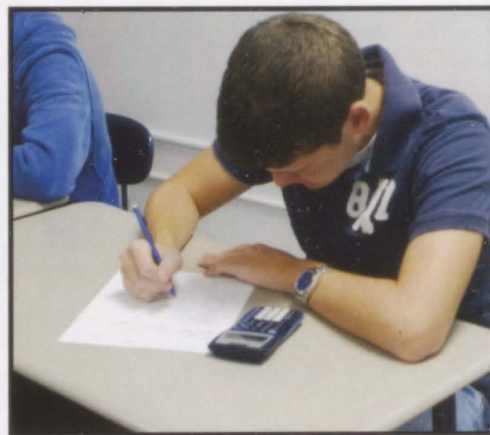

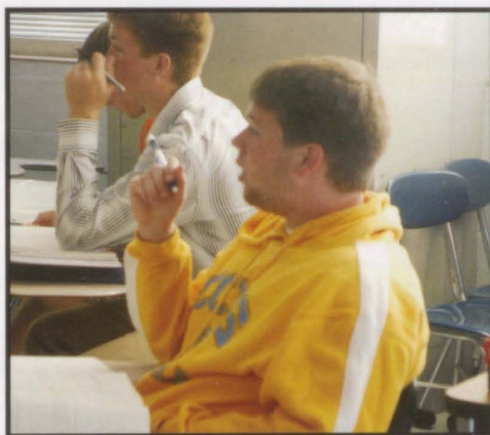

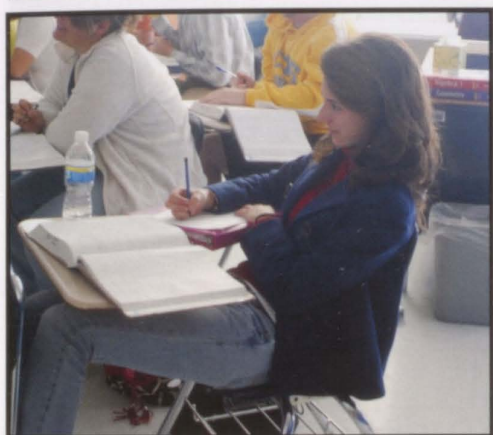

Math Enrollment

Equations
Nicholas Caughron was asked what attitude he used to keep such a positive attitude in his mathematics classes. He stated "Do not perceive life as a tough equation, but as many easy ones." Magen Skinner readily agreed with Nick's statement.

Freezing and Attempting to Work
Alley McClure is seen working on her homework above. When she was asked why she was wearing such a large jacket, she replied "My jacket helps me keep warm and focused."

Three Keys to Success

In every mathematics class that is available at Cumberland County High School, there are three things that can be used on a daily basis to succeed in each class. The first thing that must be done is to listen to the teacher as he or she lectures and take notes, as Brittany Giattino is demonstrating very well at the top left. The second step is to ask questions if you do not understand something that is being taught in the class, like Daniel Forte is doing at the top middle. The last thing that you must do is work out each problem with extreme care, as shown at the top right by Tyler Music. Even though each mathematics class is different in the material that is taught, you must do these three things to insure your success as you work your way all the way from Algebra 1 to the more advanced classes. These three principles can be used in every aspect of education to insure success academically.

What Happens in

Mrs. Herring's Class

Matt Johnson was asked what encompasses his daily activities on a regular basis in Calculus 1. He replied, "Well on this day, you amazingly caught me with my head up and paying attention to Mrs. Herring while she lectured. This is a very unusual occurrence." Danielle Lancianese was asked if she was doing well academically in Mrs. Herring's class. Danielle stated, "If it wasn't for Eric Fitzgerald, I do not know how I would make it through this class. He always helps me on my work when I do not understand something, which happens almost every day."

A Preview for the First Day of School

Every year, the freshmen and their parents and families fill the gym to better understand what is going to happen on the first day of school. On Freshman Night, the night before school starts, the gym is packed with anxious freshmen and their parents. Students get their schedules and meet their soon-to-be teachers. They hear Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Pickard, and fellow students, like

Tyler Janow, discuss the secrets of success in high school and inform them of what to be expecting the following day. This night is to make the freshmen more comfortable in their new school, help them find their classes, prepare them for the next day, and make them less nervous for the start of school. In the crowd, Jerryd Cannon commented, "It was awesome to see all my classes and teachers before school started. It gave me more confidence the following day. Freshman Night was definitely a valuable experience." Trevor Norris, meeting his new English teacher, Mrs. Pickard, mentioned, "I'm glad that I came to Freshman Night because it made it easier to find my classes the next day. I got to further explore the school and see where I needed to be going, so I'm glad that the teachers came and had this night for us."

FRESHMAN ACADEMY PROGRAM: A RED-HOT SUCCESS!

Freshmen Jeopardy

At Freshman Orientation, students played a game towards the end of the day called Jeopardy, that reviewed their knowledge they had acquired from the day. Zach Staggs, on the right with Jimmy Pleasant, stated, "The Jeopardy game had cool buzzers. It helped me recall all the bunches of information I learned that day."

Learning the Ropes

When the Freshman Academy program began three years ago, the Academy decided to revamp the freshman orientation the following year. This is the second year since the orientation was changed, and now students get to meet Academy teachers and their new guidance counselors, who give them insight that they need to know to help them have a more successful freshman year. "I had a wonderful time at Freshman Orientation. I felt so very welcome to be in the school. And I learned a lot of things that I needed to know to start high school," said Ciera Threet. But students don't only learn at Orientation; they also play games to teach students to work together. After playing a game with wooden parts, Landon Crawford commented, "This is one of the very few educational games I have ever liked." Tasha Wyatt, with Julian Falls, got to build a house of cards. "I never really thought building a card house would be that hard. The day was loads of fun, though."

School During the Summer

Mrs. Nelson, though not an Academy teacher, stayed during the summer to be a part of the Freshman Orientation. One of her jobs was working the Jeopardy game. "We had a good time playing Jeopardy, and the students got to demonstrate how much they had really learned during the course of the day. I hope we made them feel comfortable here."

Freshman Jet Pride

One of the goals of the Freshman Academy is to instill in the new students a pride for their school. This takes center stage during homecoming week. There was a good turnout of freshmen to work on their float--the Return of the Jeti. John Dixon, painting the yellow X-wing Fighter Jet in a Darth Vader shirt, said that he thought working on the freshman float for homecoming was quite an enjoyable experience. Megan Williams, on the left with her friend, Meghan Wright enjoyed her first big homecoming pep rally.

Dancing with Spirit

The freshmen did exceptionally well during homecoming week. Usually, the freshmen don't do well in the class competitions, but, this year, the freshmen got second place! Cheryl Barnes, rocking out to the "Cupid Shuffle," stated, "The pep rally was entertaining. It had me dancing around with Jet spirit. Getting involved in pep rallies make them really fun!"

Adventures in Ag Science

Agricultural science has been offered for the first time this year as a substitute for physical science for freshmen. Mrs. Eller teaches this unique class. "Mrs. Eller's class is so fun because we do lots of experiments," said Lacey Turner. "It is a cool alternative to physical science." Austin Radford was of the same opinion. "Agricultural science is a neat science class, so I'm glad I took it."

A Variety of Classes

"At Freshmen Orientation, we went on tours with Mr. Lowe and Coach Foster to learn our way around the school and see some of the interesting classes that our school has to offer. Here, Mr. Lowe is showing us the shop class. We also saw cool agriculture classes, health classes, and even a class with a kitchen in it," said T.J. Watson, on the far right.

Finding Your Place

The start of freshman year can be a really scary time for teenagers. There are so many rumors and horror stories about high school that students have a right to be nervous. But what tends to happen is that students soon find out that the frightening world of secondary school isn't that frightening at all. Cemre Chadwick said, "When I went to Martin, the teachers made high school sound like the end of the world. They told us that we were going to be thrown in trash cans everyday and be tortured. But, wow, did they exaggerate! When I got here,

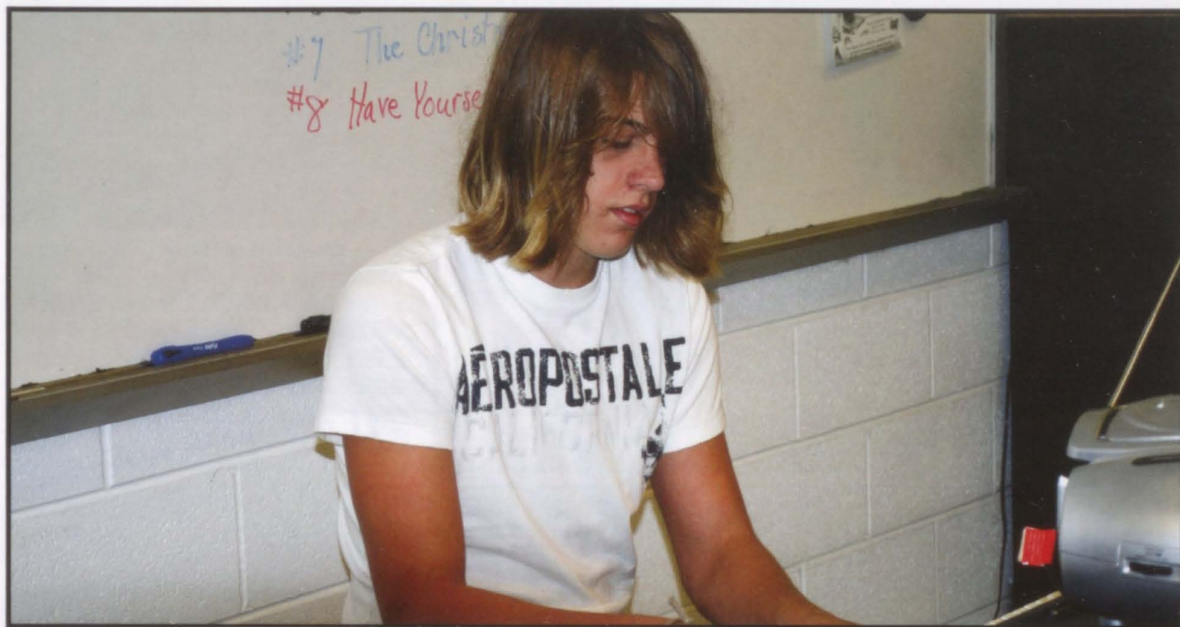

Your Attention, Please

Freshmen at the Freshman Orientation watched a couple different presentations to help them better comprehend their upcoming high school experience. They watched presentations from Mrs. Buck, Ms. Miller, and Ms. Hull.

I loved it. Everything has been great ever since. I think high school is going to be one of the best times of my life, a lot better than elementary."

Burning Desire in Choir and Art

The Best Requirement...

In order to go to college after graduating from CCHS, students are required to have an art credit. Two of the options for art classes are, of course art, but also choir. Through these two classes, students create a "burning desire" to keep going with their artistic sides. Lane Johnston, shown on the left, says "Getting to play the piano is great! It's hard to keep up with everyone though. Sometimes they sing too fast or I play too fast for them. Once you get the rhythm down, it's fun!" Students in choir get to play all sorts of instruments to help them learn more about music. The choir classes have also been learning songs for the holiday season, like "Have Yourself A Merry Little Christmas." They even made songs up like "When You're a Jet You're a Jet All the Way." Good job choir classes!

Singing Isn't Always Easy But Making Friends Is...

For many students, learning how to sing is a form of art in itself, but it is always plenty of fun. For Bailey Threet, it's the same story. When asked what she likes most about Mrs. Lydic's choir class, Bailey replied, "I really like going to choir every day! I like talking, so choir gets the talking out of my system a little bit, and singing fits me since I like to talk. I also like the fellowship with friends in the class. You get to be with your friends and everybody connects with each other." Many students would agree with Bailey's statement. Students at CCHS get to take classes with other students that have the same hobbies, such as choir. They meet new friends in classes and learn many new techniques that they can keep for a lifetime. Maggie Bernabei, a sophomore at CCHS, learns plenty in Mrs. Lydic's choir class. Maggie stated, "We have so many great times in choir! Mrs. Lydic is a very upbeat teacher. She has a very unique teaching style. It's really cool." Choir has always been, and continues to be, a class that students truly enjoy.

Wild Blue Yonder...

Students sing the Jet fight song in Mrs. Lydic's choir class early in the morning as practice for the homecoming parade. The choir students not only learn the words to songs that they sing, but they also learn about rhythm, harmony, note placements in writing music, and how to read musical notes for songs that are written down. Mrs. Lydic, our new choir teacher, says, "As a new teacher here at CCHS, I have discovered that folks are really friendly and always willing to lend a helping hand." Students in her choir classes like her as much as she likes them.

Getting Vocal...

When asked what his favorite thing to do is in his choir class, Kyle Hogsett, a senior this year, said, "My favorite part about vocal music is when we get the chance to sing Big Green Tractor. It's so much fun to sing that song!" Brittany Derrick, also a senior at CCHS, is pictured above. Brittany was asked about her early choir class. She commented, "I like learning the new songs. You get to learn songs that you knew a little bit of, but then learn every word to them. I love going to choir!" Both Kyle and Brittany like making friends in choir class as well.

Learning Ability...

Everyone learns something new with each class that they take, for instance, learning their abilities. "This class was fun this year. I didn't know I could even draw until Mrs. Armes made me try a picture that I never thought I would draw. It's cool to learn all of these new techniques and to see how well I can draw a picture," said Lucas Grant. Taking art seems to be a popular choice with students at CCHS. Rebecca Lewis says, "I love this class because you have fun each day drawing something new and challenging yourself with each picture that you draw. That's what I like most about it, because the atmosphere in this class is very laid back and relaxing, and you have no worries about tests being incredibly hard because you have a long time to practice and study." Rebecca is shown here starting on a new and exciting piece of work.

Making Friends and Portraits

In art class, Sadie Shadden, shown above coloring a new masterpiece, has made some new friends, all while learning new techniques on drawing. "Alile Haha, Tinklemeyer, and Superstar Fanannana will all rule the world!" is one of the inside jokes with her and her art friends. Many art students have made new friends like Sadie, or just have drawn with their old friends in the class. Cheyanne Gunter, a sophomore at CCHS, likes to learn new things that she never knew about before. Cheyanne says, "We just recently started new things, such as landscapes and other stuff. This class has taught me so much about drawing and coloring." Cheyanne is shown above. Students seem to really love going to their art class each day to learn new and exciting things about art, whether it be how to shade an object in a picture, how to balance objects in a picture, or how to color in certain objects to make them stand out.

Just Draw It!

Louis Votaw, shown on the right starting a new piece of artwork, sees art as fun, even with his new teacher. "I like drawing in art class and I really like the new teacher" says Votaw. Kline Willier, shown on the left just finishing a great picture, also likes drawing in this class. "I just like to draw and learn all of the new and useful techniques." Many techniques and talents are used to draw just one amazing piece of artwork in these classes.

Creativity Flow...

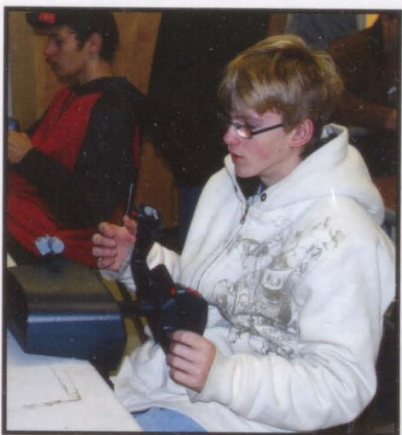

A large part of the CCHS art class is being creative with your portraits. Michael Brady, above, says "I love coming to art class and being artistic. Art is one of the only times I get too be this creative out of all of my classes." Jauscelyn Talford, above, agrees with Michael, saying "I like art and being creative. My favorite part about art is painting." Though some students may not realize it, art gets their creativity flowing and may help them in other classes.

On Fire to Learn About Tomorrow's Opportunities

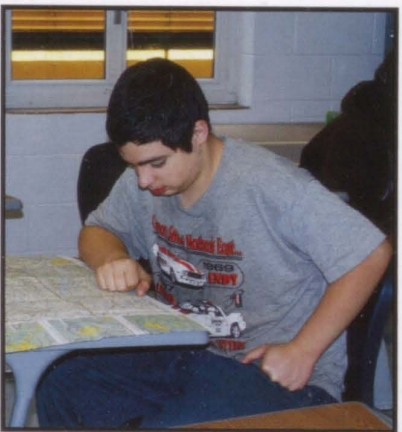

Heads Up!

When asked what her favorite thing to do in aviation was, Karri Netherton replied, "It's fun to fly on the simulator. Don't fly ever with me, though, because I'll crash."

In Flight

Josh Smith, using the flight simulator, tells us that the best part about aviation is, "Flying high! I like trying to learn the systems of an airplane." John Marinello said, "The best part is keeping Jason off the flight simulator."

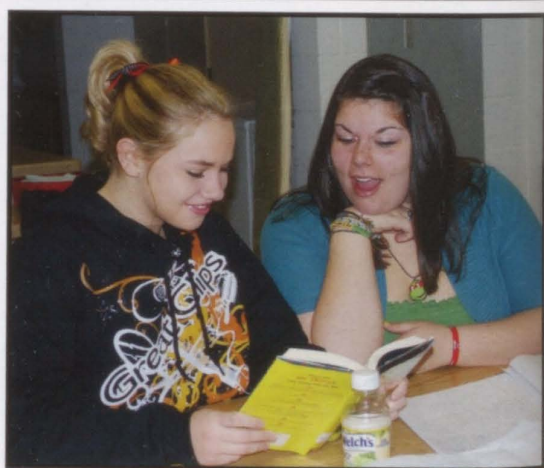

Outside the Box

Emily Hurley, on the right, caring for the Christmas poinsettias in the greenhouse said, "We really enjoy Mr. Lowe's class because we like going outside, and we learn stuff about the plants and things and have fun at the same time." Tyler Selva is in the greenhouse as well. He says, "I like to go outside and plant flowers, and I like to hang out with Phillip Rollins and with girls." It sounds like a fun class to be in. Agricultural science helps take care of the plants in the greenhouse and maintain the chickens here at school.

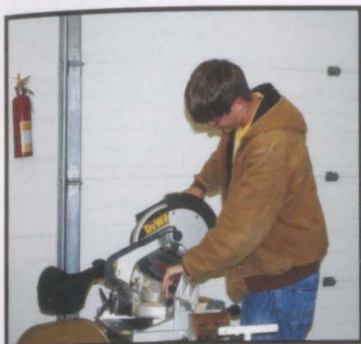

Look What I Made!

When asked about child development class, Breanna Lewis replied, "I love Mrs. Shoemakers class. It's so amazing. We do so many hands on activities and that's what makes it awesome!"

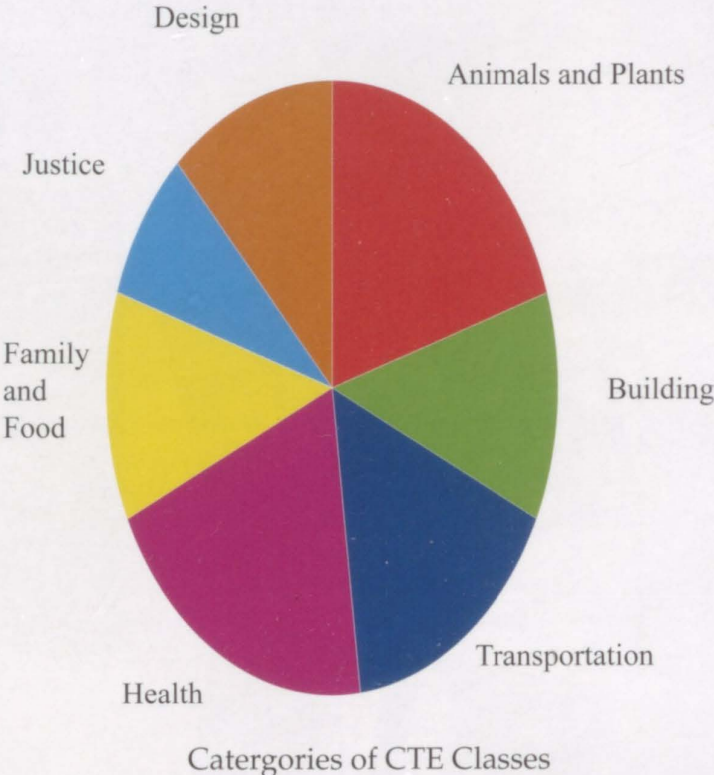

By the Book

Cassie Judkins, with a book in hand, was asked why she was reading. She replied, "Apparently the only time I'm quiet is when I read, so Mrs. Shoemaker told me to get out my book!" Rachel Geer was asked about the book she was reading over Cassie's shoulder. She said, "Ooooh plot line! It ain't tricking if you got it! And she's got it!"

Do Not Try This at Home
Brett Phillips (pictured on the bottom left) in Mr. Freeman's class says, "I have learned many things in Core Construction. I am helping fix the shot put ring today." Hayden Cox (pictured on the top right) says, "I learn a lot of good things in this class. It was fun doing stuff to fix Miss Nettie." TJ Potter (pictured on the top left) says, "I have had fun and learned a lot of traits in Core Construction this year. I learned how to use a miter saw."

Sew Much Fun
Kate Vanlandingham, on the far left, is in Mrs. Kington's family and consumer science class. She is sewing a Christmas stocking. When asked about the class she replied, "Family and consumer science was tons of fun. Getting to sew and cook in class was such a great experience." Alyshia Styles, in the middle, said, "I loved making my cute pillow! It turned out to be really cute. I think that I want to make some more." Liz Christ is also shown here making a camo Christmas stocking. When she was asked about sewing, she replied, "With sewing, I messed up a lot but was the first one done! Mrs. Kington is the best!"

Scrambled Eggs?
Josh Sanders is in Mr. Lowe's agricultural science class. He is putting the unhatched eggs into the incubator. When he was asked about Mr. Lowe's class, he said, "I enjoy Mr. Lowe's class because of all hands on stuff we do with farm animals and plants. I have learned a lot about taking care of animals and plants this year. It's great to get to work with them." In this class, students learn how to properly care for and maintain animals and plants.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes (Blue Club)

Fellowship of Christiian Athletes is open to anyone (not just athletes) who would like an environment to express his/her Christian faith at school. Every month FCA sponsors Bible studies, social events, recreation, service projects, concerns, etc. There are opportunities to serve others and develop leadership in a Christian context.

Garden Club (Blue Club)

The Garden Club is a service organization open to all students who want to help beautify our school by planting and maintaining flowers, shrubs, and trees on our campus. Our club's goal is to promote the appreciation of our surroundings and to learn how to improve the environment by creating and caring for the landscape. We take yearly trips to Biltmore House and Gardens, present a senior scholarship, and participate in homecoming. We have regular club gatherings at local restaurants and parks.

Young Republicans (Blue Club)

This club is open to any student who has the basic beliefs of the Republican Party. The members of this club will have the opportunity to participate in several different activities. The only two requirements are: 1) we want people who are willing to help and work and 2) we want people who want to have fun.

Jet Theatrix (Blue Club)

The drama club offers an abundance of opportunities to work on student productions and theatrical outreach, as well as competitive events. There is also the possibility of various field trips and workshops. Even though this is a blue club, most meetings will take place after school, usually on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays. All members must be available on a regular basis after school, for rehearsals and technical meetings. Required dues are $10.00 per year.

Anime Fan Club (Blue Club)

Anime is a new age form of entertainment that gets closer to the Japanese culture. It teaches good morals and it provides good reading. Club members are encouraged to watch anime and anime.

Bible Club (Gold Club)

The Bible Club is a student led organization to study the Bible and discuss it.

Chess Club (Blue Club)

For chess enthusiasts, this club provides a great opportunity to celebrate cultural and intellectual achievements. Activities are meant to be fun and educational. Community service includes the annual pet food drive for local shelters.

Future Business Leaders of America (Blue Club)

FBLA is now open to all business/vocational students. The club's primary goal is to create more interest in and a better understanding of American business enterprise.

Health Occupation Students of America (Gold Club)

HOSA is a service organization. We have fundraisers and multiple events during the year. Students must be enrolled or have had a health science class to be an active member. Students can join as associate members if they plan to take a class at a later date.

Future Teachers of America (Gold Club)

FTA is open to all students with an interest in the teaching profession. By participating in the FTA convention, radio spots, and job shadowing, we learn everything possible about becoming a teacher.

Interact Club (Gold Club)

Interact is a service club sponsored by Rotary International. A student must fill out an application and go through an interview process in order to become a member.

Spanish Club (Gold Club)

The Spanish Club was established to enhance the learning experience that takes place in Spanish classes. The sole purpose of the club is to introduce its members to avenues of Hispanic culture such as cuisine, theater, and arts, which are not accessible in the regular classroom setting. Membership in Spanish Club is open to anyone who is currently enrolled or has been enrolled in a Spanish class.

Q: Why do you like Bible club?
A: I like Bible club because it's a good place to be spiritual. There aren't as many people in Bible club as there are in FCA so it's easier to feel more connected to God and the scriptures we're going over.
Name: Michael Brady
Grade: 9th

Q: Why do you enjoy Bible club?
A: I enjoy Bible club because it's a time to fellowship with other Christian students. And I love the Bible!

Hot Off The Press!

Jennifer Cox

Ask any student at CCHS what they like about the end of the school year, and many answers will include getting the yearbook. This was what the staff of The Plateau worked for the entire year to achieve. The yearbook is a publication of memories for every student, and teacher. Marshall Pickard described the privilege of being on the yearbook staff as a way to "capture the good times, meet great kids and find out more about them."

This achievement was not without stress and hard work, however. Anything can happen, and usually does, during the year-long endeavor. The enormous responsibility to produce a great yearbook was shared by everyone on the staff. The commitment to selling a set amount of ads in order to keep the price low, was only slightly less stressful than meeting deadlines. Then there were the times when pictures were missing, pages got deleted, and editors could not be appeased. "It's hard to get all the names, the quotes, and everything right", said Leanne Branan. "Not to mention keeping the editors happy."

Selling ads was the most difficult job for most staff members, and the slow economy did not help. "Some businesses that have always bought in the past have not bought ads this year," said Sydney Delves. Then there was the tense moments when a staff member thought they had accepted counterfeit money from a local business. Britanni Allen said, "It turned out to be an old twenty dollar bill, and none of us had ever seen one!"

Each section of The Plateau contains a record of the lives of different groups of students at CCHS. It is the job of the staff and ultimately the section editors to get the pictures, stories, and quotes of these students. They have chronicled the important events and times of the year. That's why a staff member could always be found in the hall, at ball games, the county fair, and just about any place that high school students hang out. They were looking for the story. Missy Bargayo said, "These will make you laugh or cry, but you will always have the yearbook to cherish and remember."

With all the stress, responsibility, long hours, and pressure to make the best yearbook ever, there had to be a bright side to being on the yearbook staff. According to Amanda Server, there were many perks. "We have field trips to do photo shoots, assist professional photographers, run down students for quotes and pictures, and get to use our personal creativity." Kayli Dorsey found the part of creating pictures for the yearbook theme to be a literal experience. "Being an average seventeen year old, I really liked setting paper on fire." Kristin Selk said she "enjoyed putting up flyers" to remind students to purchase their yearbooks. Read it and enjoy it for yourself! The Plateau - Hot Off The Press!

EEK! School Pictures!

BY KOREENA LAWSON

Every year, school pictures become a bigger and bigger concern with teens in high school. "I didn't like how my hair looked", "My mom thought my face looked silly". These comments are more common than you would think, and every year, students come back for a retake, after retake, after retake, after retake. For the past two years, I have helped out with Lifetouch doing these. Whether I am filling out files for photos, or putting capes on the female seniors, and the classic half-a-tuxedo-shirt on senior males, I've been helping out with this, because I do. It's not that I don't like help, just that throughout this, I realized how serious the students here at CCHS are about these pictures in the yearbook.

Working with the student pictures in the yearbook this year has been a lot of fun, and yes, very challenging.

The people section of the yearbook is a lot of fun to work with, and you get to know some of the kids whose photos you work with—kind of. Once, I worked on a student's school picture one day, and then I saw the girl whose photo I had been working with, and told her that I really liked the shirt that she had worn in her school photo. Indeed, that may have been the end of that conversation...

However, it is true, you do feel like you know many more of the school's students after working with this section. I would definitely recommend people who like these kinds of things to try to get into yearbook for a semester or two. It's a great experience, and you learn a lot about one thing—it's called a deadline. Also, you will have a very great teacher. The student section is a lot of fun. Tons of fun. Indeed, it is 907.18474 kilograms of fun.

Long Lasting Memories

BY MISSY BARGAYO

The people who make up the people section of the yearbook are very unique. We all get along very well. We are all very hard working students who strive for perfection. It has taken a lot of time and effort to make our section, but capturing a special moment from every student in CCHS is definitely rewarding. Whether this section makes you laugh, cry, or gasp, you will always have this to cherish. Even if we forget our high school years, these pictures will always be here for us to remember.

The people section is my favorite because I get to work with everyone. I get to take pictures and get quotes from teachers and students. When these get put into the yearbook, students will learn things about other students that they could have possibly never known. Many of the kids make friends because they find that they have many more things in common with other kids that they usually never talk to. The students in this class that make up the people section of the yearbook are great, too. We are all very hard working students.

We strive for perfection when we do anything. Taking pictures is the easiest, but making the pages is a different story. It takes a lot of time to get everyone's memories placed in the right places of the yearbook. Even though it is hard work, it is always worth it. We will always have our high school days to remember.

played... partake... throughout... could anyone forget about the delicious cookies on Fridays?! CCHS is the place to be.

It's A Hard Knock Life

BY BRITTANI ALLEN

The CCHS yearbook staff has been working hard to make this year's yearbook the best it can be. We do run into a few snags here and there, but nothing that can't be fixed. The people section has had issues with links and missing pictures. We have had to fix our pages a couple of times, but we did it to make a deadline so that students will have a good looking yearbook. We go out and get pictures, quotes, and polls from students. We do this so that we can capture the good times that you had in high school. Even if it does not seem like a good time right now, when you're looking back through your yearbook, you will notice that it really was fun.

This class isn't all fun and games, but when we do have fun, we do it the right way.

- Caleb Parsons

Early morning statistics gets you up and thinking every morning. Mrs. Buck makes learning easy and fun.

- Sydney Vanwinkle

Wittiest

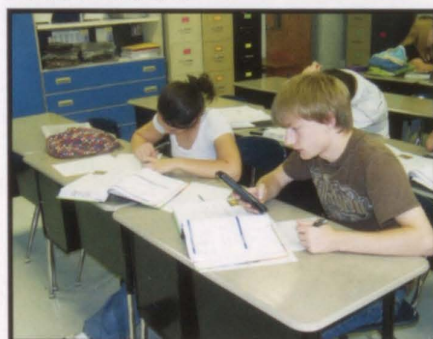

Meagan Morris

Travis Turner

Chemistry 2 was challenging but we got the work done and had fun with cool labs.

- Jazmine Dearing

Some trig. problems take a lot of trial and error to do, but when you get the right answer you feel accomplished.

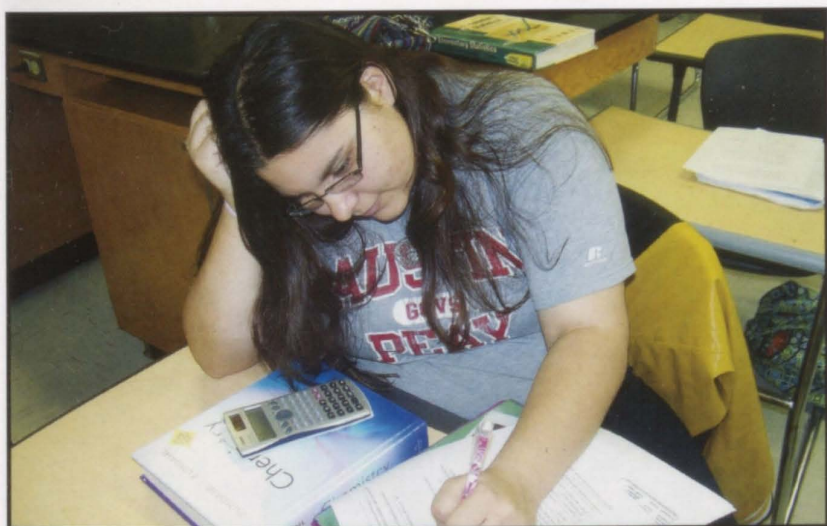

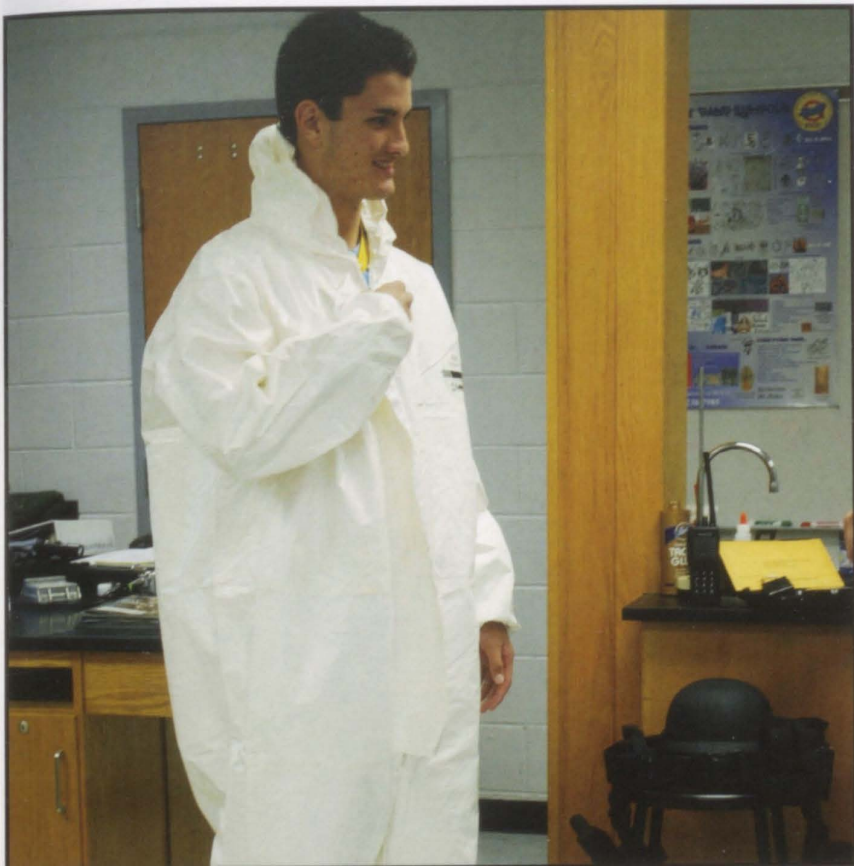

- Stafford Burton

Most Individual

Koreena Lawson

Nick Caughron

It was fun to get to see what it was like to walk around in the white protective suits. I don't know how people do it for a living.

- Brandon Lindsey

Chemistry 2 is difficult, but in the end it's very rewarding especially with Mrs. McDuffee, who is an excellent teacher.

- Mia Madrid

I wish I could've seen the SWAT instructor in a SWAT uniform and dress and make it look as good as I did.

- Kristin Galloway

My Ad Story

BY SYDNEY DELVERS

Selling ads is a requirement for the staff at Cumberland County High School. In fact, the students sign a contract in the beginning of the semester agreeing that we will sell $600 worth of ads. The selling process is stressful, but satisfying in the end. There is a bit of competition between the yearbook staff for places to sell ads, too. Sometimes a business refuses to buy an ad even though they had bought ads from us in the past. To the yearbook staff seller, this is very disappointing, and sometimes what discouraging.

Although the economy is at it's best, some businesses give the seller happiness by purchasing an ad. The ads range in size and price accordingly. Also, the business may choose, within reason, what they would like their ad to look like. The creative process can be challenging, but is memorable.

Ad Selling

BY MISSY BARGAYO

Ad selling is one of the most difficult jobs to do in our yearbook. Because our economy is not at it's best, not many companies want to buy ads. There are still some companies though, that supported us with ads.

The money from the ads helps us pay for our yearbook. It is also a plus for companies too, because it is cheap advertisement, and every student who gets a yearbook will see their ad. Making the ads is also very complicated. It takes a lot of time and perfection to make the pictures just right on a page. We have a great team for the ads that consists of Mia and Kathy.

The Epitaph

BY SKYLAR G...

Selling ads this year was a horrible right now. Not of the tunnel. Not businesses that are to stand on advertisement. We are really of the yearbook staff.

economy is at the end and the money. High for the profit off the ads. The ads in the stores.

My Ad Experience

BY KRISTIN SELK

One day back in September I went on my first ad selling adventure. Once I got there it was so much more difficult than what I had expected. I've definitely had my fair share of complicating businesses that I've tried selling ads to. Some people from businesses ignore you, or act like they're busy which makes you pretty unmotivated at times. However, sometimes you will find a business that is very cooperative, and nice. Those... those are the ones that are awesome.

Ad Selling = Not So Much Fun

BY TIA KRING

Ad selling is not fun. It's very difficult to get out to businesses and actually find people who are willing to buy them. We are through tough economic and we have to sell a minimum of $600 throughout the year. No pressure, right? Ad selling is not the most fun that we do in yearbook class. However, in the ad selling process, you do meet new people and even make some new friends. The ads make our yearbook possible, and we are very much appreciative of the people who do buy ads, and let us create the yearbook that everyone in the school will be cherishing for many years to come. In yearbook class, we sell so many ads it's crazy. Most businesses will at least consider buying one ad. Some lucky people can get the managers to buy a full page... lucky. I try all my might to sale, but it is tough.

BY

Selling ads is a stressful to... like to purchase... professional. You are... shows that you have respect. Ads are a good thing, because they benefit both us and the business.

My View

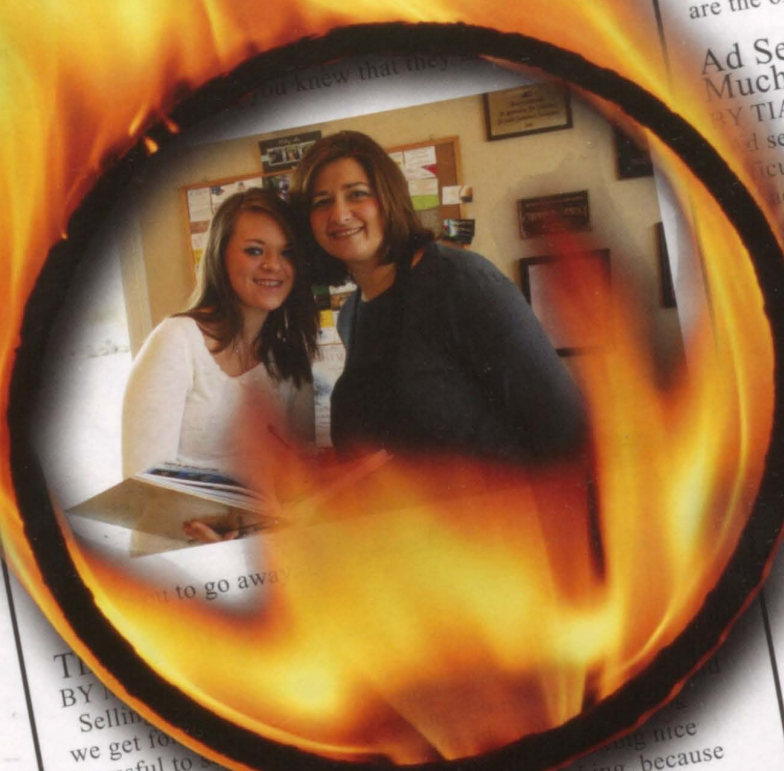

BY KAYLI DORSEY

Selling ads is a huge part of our yearbook. Once you're in yearbook, you are responsible for six hundred dollars worth of ad sales. Selling ads seems really easy, but it's not. With the state of the economy, less businesses are in a position to be able to help the school out. If the yearbook class doesn't manage to sell their own part in ads, then the yearbook goes up in price. The more ads the staff sells, the cheaper the yearbook gets. The yearbook editor, Jennifer Cox, is always working on perfecting the senior ads as well.

Hair is already gray What's next?

BY ART SANDERSON

My hair is gray, I'm not how to balance my check yearbook is insane... but God for His mercy.

How did it get so late so soon? It's hard to believe that you're a senior this year. It seems like just yesterday that you were reciting a poem, with a British accent, in your first grade Christmas program. You've made us so proud of you. Your intelligence, sense of humor, and caring personality will take you far in this world. you have the absolute best parts of us. We love you and know that you'll be successful in anything you do.

Thanks

BY ART SANDERSON

We start our mornings by thanking God for health, wealth, and a chance to be a blessing to others.

After the decision has been made concerning whether it is blue jean day or not, breakfast is eaten, teeth are brushed and it's off to CCHS. Upon arriving at school, determination is made as to what can be accomplished without the stuff that was either left at home, in the other car, or other school.

Some days begin with the ever-present drama of cheating, or unfaithful boy-friends. With the wisdom of a grandpa, the standard speech goes something like, "What are you doing with a boy friend, have you graduated from college yet, has he graduated from college yet, when do you turn 35? If he's not making six figures forget it! What color is his Porsche?" Then we get to work.

Sometime during the period we go to the ladder only to discover that there are four unfinished multiples before the next deadline is complete. A quick phone call is made to Anissa to remind Jostens that we have missed 15 days for snow, and it's still February and to beg for mercy: it worked. Each section editor is asked how their pages are progressing. We go back to the ladder and determine if moving pages from one multiple to another will help complete the deadline. A few minutes of class is used to plan for the next day. The next day it snows, and it is too bad to ask them to come in. We usually have donuts or pizza on snow days, but it will have to be another day. Thanks to the

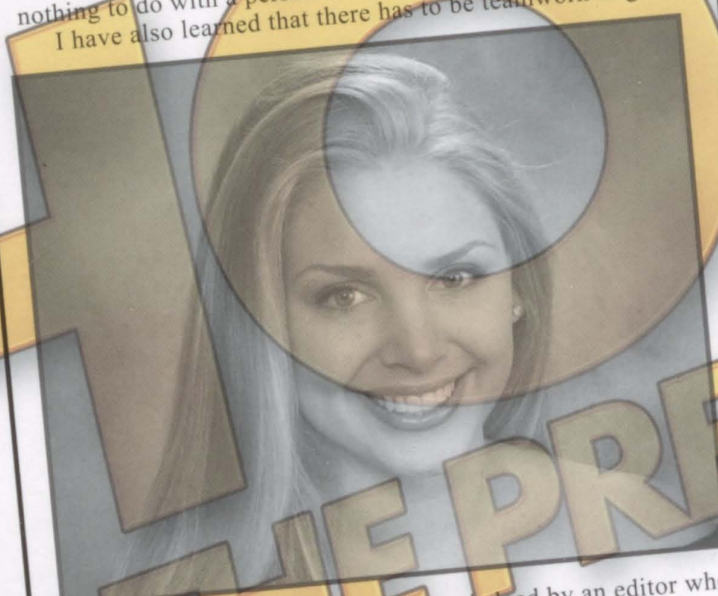

Ladders, Deadlines, and Doughnuts

BY JENNIFER COX

This year I had the opportunity to be the editor of the yearbook. I never would have dreamed that I would EVER be the editor of anything, but I said sure, why not? It can't be that hard, right?

I'm sure my fellow classmates would agree that this has to be the most stressful class we have ever taken. The idea of deadlines took on new meaning as we worked against time and snow days to get finished pages in on time. And, even though I was pulling my hair out trying to make those deadlines, I wouldn't trade this class for any other. Where else could I learn about signatures and multiples that have nothing to do with a person's name, or a math problem.

I have also learned that there has to be teamwork to get the yearbook finished. Each section is lead by an editor who is responsible to get signatures and multiples finished.

Mr. Sanderson has to be the greatest yearbook teacher ever! What kind of teacher would bring their class doughnuts all the time? I will never forget the good times I had in yearbook, or all the great people who were in it. From day one, the yearbook staff has tried to make this book the best it can be, and has worked long hours to make it happen. Being an editor-in-chief, I need help from everyone, especially my "flunkies". A "flunkie" is a member of the staff who had their pages done, and could help at any other job. Two great flunkies were Meagan and Sydney. They did jobs I didn't have time to do, and almost quit on me due to my crazy demands. I love my flunkies, especially Meagan's zebra obsession and Sydney's love for the outdoors. So, thank you for letting me be the editor of this great book. I wish the best of luck to next year's editor, and challenge you to continue our tradition of making The Plateau the best yearbook ever. It's the hardest job you will ever love!!

cell phones, students are texted and quotes are acquired, preparing for the next day they can get to school. The following day, roads are clear enough to make it in. The first decision made is the type of pizza, and whether or not to have it delivered. Staffers come and go throughout the day. Some have what they need for the next day, others have to wait until school is back in session.

The staff's writing skills have been put to the task this year with the newspaper theme. With their who, what, where, when, why and how, they set to work writing their stories. Many times an individual sports team member writes the stories leaving the staffer to only edit and fit it to size. Thank God for athletes with good writing skills. You will find that many of the top students are sports stars also.

Then there is the myriad of e-mails to be answered each day. All pertinent messages must be discussed with the staff, from ads to be placed to name lists from club sponsors. We get an e-mail from Jostens about the spring workshop. Two multiples behind, the cancellation of spring sports photos, and making time to plan for next years book, we are the masters of multitasking.

Back to the ladder again, we realize that with all the snow, we missed the 3rd deadline. Now time is spent moving pages around to make the last deadline. Now you know why at times the pages don't seem to be in order. It's the never-ending balance of multiples and signatures. It's one of those Graphic Arts things. The last thing accomplished before class is over is for each students make a deposit in the donut money jar. As our heads are pillowed we thank Him again for the blessings of the day.

Valedictorian Anthony Lentscher

Has it always been a goal to achieve the highest honor of your class?

My only real goal in high school has been to do my best in all my classes and learn the information and skills that I will need in college as well as my life after college.

How does it feel to be Valedictorian?

It feels pretty great to be Valedictorian. It is always an amazing feeling to have your hard work recognized, and I have worked extremely hard in High School to achieve all of the goals and accomplishments that I have here at CCHS.

How are you going to use your skills to affect your future?

Knowledge is definitely one of the greatest assets a person can attain. With all the knowledge that I have accumulated in high school, as well as the knowledge I plan to gain in college, I hope to become a doctor.

Without my experiences here in high school and the help of all my teachers, friends, and family, this dream would not even be remotely possible.

Honors

Front Row: Destiny Young, Bailey Burgess, Mia Madrid, Ashley Aperans, Kelly Miller, Amanda Server.
 Second Row: Bethany Norris, Kara Huffaker, Jennifer Cox, Kayli Dorsey, Jennifer Phillips, Chelsea Jones, Caitlin Evans, Chelsea Jones, Meagan Holtcamp, Julia Wood. Back Row: Spencer Rogers, Anthony Barnes, Matthew Johnson, Cody Smith, Luke Upchurch, Andrew Swafford.

Salutatorian Charley Threet

Has it always been a goal to achieve the highest honor of your class?

Being salutatorian has not always been my goal, when entering high school four years ago, my only goal was to do my very best.

How does it feel to be Salutatorian?

It is such an honor and blessing to be salutatorian of the class of 2010. I have worked very hard, and I feel like it has finally paid off.

How are you going to use your skills to affect your future?

After working hard for this success in high school, I will be equipped with the many skills I've learned that will be necessary to have as I strive for excellence in college and eventually in my future career as a pediatrician.

Hot Off the Press

BY JANET GRAHAM

Extra-Extra Read All About It!-- was always the mantra of newspapers all over America. My how times have changed! No longer do we have to wait for paper delivery by the local paperboy, nor do we have to rush to the nearest newsstand to buy our daily--hot off the press newspaper. We now have the ability and means to go online and read any newspaper from any city with the push of a button.

Even with all the technology today there is still the thrill of seeing ones name or picture in print. This year's yearbook is hot off the press and you are enjoying perusing the pages to see pictures, names and quotes mentioned of you and your circle of friends.

Much of the history recorded in this book, you will relate to and remember with fondness years from now. I look back with fondness to the 1974 yearbook and remember stories from my "generation". I had the opportunity to study my yearbook closely this past year, as we prepared for our 35th class reunion. The pictures and stories recorded in the 1974 yearbook were all new and fresh once more as our classmates gathered to reminisce. You will be amazed at how time will march on and how quickly those incremental dates roll around for your own reunions.

As those of you who are members of the class of 2010 look forward to the completion of high school, you are already looking back and remembering the good times. So many special times are still ahead for you and the memories made while here at CCHS are precious and will certainly be remembered with fondness. You will soon be the newest alumni, the 47th graduating class from Cumberland County High School. You carry a tradition of Jet Pride that will not be dimmed by the passing of years, but your level of appreciation will grow for what you have been a part of with the passing of time.

This group of seniors is my first four-year group since becoming principal at CCHS in January of 2006. It is hard to believe that as this class leaves, I look at next year and realize I will not have a child of my own as a student in Cumberland County Schools. I have been an administrator MOM for over 20 years. This graduation brings a bit of sadness because one of my girls will no longer pop in to my office for lunch money or just to say I love you and have a good day.

Enjoy this HOT OFF THE PRESS yearbook and your remaining days at CCHS while remembering who you are and whom you represent. Jet Pride runs deep and that NEWS is always Hot On the Press!

COLOPHON

The 2010 volume 47 edition of the Plateau was published by the yearbook publication class of Cumberland County High School. The Plateau was printed by Jostens Publishing in Clarksville, Tennessee. The 208 page full-color book, including candid photos, was submitted digitally for a press run of 500. The Plateau sales representatives were Harold McGehee and Jason McGehee, and the account executive was Anissa Coleman. Senior, underclassmen, faculty, and group photos were taken by Prestige/Lifetouch Studios at no charge.

We would like to thank Mrs. Graham, the entire CCHS faculty and staff, for all the donations and support they gave us. All pages were produced by Adobe Photoshop CS4 and InDesign CS4. Both business and senior ads were sold by the yearbook staff.

Book specifications are as follows:

Cover: Lithocote with four-color process, UV coating was designed through Photoshop CS4 with the help of the Jostens artists. Endsheets: designed and created by yearbook staff through Photoshop CS4. Inside pages: 9x12 100# Enamel with Smyth-sewn binding. Fonts: Times New Romans, and Diploma.

Yearbook staff included: Advisor: Art Sanderson. Editor-in-Chief: Jennifer Cox. Section Editors: Ashley Aperans, Summer Brown, Kayli Dorsey, Mia Madrid, Marshall Pickard, Amanda Server. Yearbook Staff: Brittani Allen, Missy Bargayo, Leanna Branam, Sydney Delves, Cassie Dick, Kristin Galloway, Skylar Goodwin, Meagan Holtcamp, Tia Kring, Koreena Lawson, Raschel Lee, Amilia McCoy, Kara Marr, Kathy Scroggins, Kristin Selk, Kaitlyn Shenesky, Charon Sutton, Karli Threet, Kyle Underwood, and Cassie Wyatt.
