WILLIAMSBURG COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICT SCHOLARS ATTEND PRESTIGIOUS FBLA NATIONAL LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE IN ANAHEIM, CALIFORNIA

Williamsburg County School District is proud to announce that a group of exceptional student leaders represented the district at the Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) National Leadership Conference (NLC) held in Anaheim, California, this summer.

These outstanding scholars earned their place at the national level by excelling in statewide competitions earlier this year. At the conference, they joined thousands of high-achieving students from across the country to compete in business-related events, attend leadership workshops, and engage in networking opportunities designed to prepare them for future academic and career success.

The FBLA National Leadership Conference provides high school students with an opportunity to test their knowledge and skills in areas such as entrepreneurship, marketing, finance, and emerging business technologies. In addition to competitive events, students took part in motivational sessions and met industry professionals who shared real-world insights and career advice.

The experience not only expanded the students' horizons but also reaffirmed WCS D's commitment to College and Career Readiness and leadership development through extracurricular programs like FBLA. Williamsburg County School District commends these scholars, their FBLA advisers, and the families and staff who supported them throughout their journey.

The following scholars and staff members attended the FBLA National Conference in Anaheim, CA.

Kingstree High School- Malcolm Salters, Landon Hannah, Dariana Gallishaw-Brown, and Cameron Stacker.

Hemingway High School- Marlana Hanna, Chanie Williams, and Azoriah Cunningham
