Campus Evaluation

The 3rd grade teachers used MAP (Middle Of Year), formative assessment results, class work, and observation to predict which students will be on grade level on Spring STAAR. The predictions are very conservative. The All Student group and Continuously Enrolled group are slightly below the target at this time. The predictions for the White and Economically Disadvantaged groups are on track.

Plans Moving Forward

Two certified teachers working with reading intervention students daily and monitoring performance data
 Teachers worked in content area teams to determine the highly tested TEKS and student expectations of those TEKS at each grade level. FES is continuing to dedicate time for teachers at each six weeks workday to work on this.
 PLC time every day for thirty minutes to collaborate, look at student data, and plan.
 Disaggregating six weeks formative assessment data by student groups and populations to ensure we are addressing all learner needs.
 Support from the dyslexia, special education teachers, and admin to work with struggling students.
 All K-3 reading teachers will have completed the reading academy, learning best practices and implementation in the science of teaching reading by the end of 22-23.

3rd grade after school tutorials twice a week second semester
 Data from STAAR Interim assessments to adjust instruction daily and during school tutorials
 STAAR countdowns begin 5th six weeks
 STAAR level homework starting to go home and return weekly to go over in class on Fridays
 Parent conferences on February 10th to address ways to support at home with Progress Learning

- After reading our novel A Long Walk To Water, students created motivational posters to hang in our classroom to encourage them to keep going even with things get tough, just like Salva Dut. We continued to learn about Salva's journey through his TED talks and nonprofit organization Water for South Sudan. Students were inspired and humbled by his story and journey of his life thus far.
