★ SUPPORTING YOUR STUDENT AT HOME

Vowel teams start THIS week! I am so excited to go deeper into long vowel words! It will be confusing for students to spell words with long vowels because there are so many ways to make the sounds. When giving them a word to spell, give them clues to avoid confusion. For example, "spell the word laid; it doesn't have a silent e, but it has a vowel team".

★ OUR LEARNING

- Reading- I can make connections while I read. I can understand the central message (moral) of a story. I can describe a character using key details.
- Phonics- I can read and write words ai and ay. I can review words with silent e at the end.
- Writing: I can write an opinion text. I can use conjunctions to produce compound sentences.
- Math- I can count and write numbers 1-120. I can add and subtract within 20. I can find the missing part in equations. I can identify tens and ones in numbers to 50. I can determine if equations are true or false.
- Science/Social Studies- I can discuss MLK and other historical figures.
