Vaccination Clinic at NCES on Thursday: We will be hosting our next free vaccination clinic at NCES with Griffin Health for students ages 5-11 on Thursday, February 3rd, from 3:30-7:30 pm in the school gym. Note the following:

- You might consider printing the following sheet and bringing it completed to the clinic: Pediatric Intake Form \(en espanol.\) You may also call the school office (860-824-5149) and we will send a blank form home with your child for you to complete prior to coming to the clinic. The following form is also being shared: Prevaccination screening form \(en espanol.\) Forms will be available at the clinic.

Library News: Each January, the Randolph Caldecott Award is awarded to the most outstanding children's book of the year. I'm sure you'll recognize some past winners: Where the Wild Things Are by Maurice Sendak, Make Way for Ducklings by Robert McCloskey, Jumanji and The Polar Express by Chris van Allsburg. This year's recipient of the Caldecott Award is the book Watercress by Andrea Wang. For a read aloud of the book, click here: Watercress. Happy Reading!

February Lunch Menu: Click the link for the February lunch menu.

The Douglas Library Invites You: Join your local library on Saturday, February 5th, at 10:30 AM for stories with Cindy, snacks and a goody bag. Come and visit your hometown library!

Trivia Night: Click the link for additional details to benefit the Rotary Club of Salisbury.

Be well,
Dr. Roy
