A Note from the teacher:

Just a few reminders of parent expectations: Please be sure to be checking your child's red take home folder DAILY. You should be reviewing with them everything they take home from that day. Please read with them every night and don't just read, but also have discussions about what has been read. Our reading and comprehension tests will continue to get harder as the year goes on, this is where students who are not reading at home will begin to struggle.
