2.6 Data Analysis Questions

Analyze the LEA's data and answer the guiding questions to determine existing trends and patterns that support the identification of demographic and financial needs. Student subgroups with a count of less than 15 are denoted by "TFS" (too few students).

What perception data did you use?
[examples: student perceptions about school climate issues (health survey, violence, prejudice, bullying, etc.); student/parent perceptions about the effectiveness of programs or interventions; student understanding of relationship of school to career or has an academic plan]

2019 School Climate; 2019 Needs Assessment Parent Survey (2021 School Climate data is unavailable but will be updated as soon as it is released to our school).

What does the perception data tell you? (perception data can describe people's knowledge, attitudes, beliefs, perceptions, competencies; perception data can also answer the question "What do people think they know, believe, or can do?")

The 2019 School Climate Star Rating, 93.90, results suggest stakeholders (students, teachers, and parents) feel as though we're a safe school and are on the right path working towards school improvement; students are provided a well rounded education in a setting that promotes a positive learning environment that is clean and safe. (2021 School Climate data is unavailable).

What process data did you use? What does your achievement data tell you?

GMAS data shows that student achievement increased in Reading/Writing, Math, and Science from SY 2021-22. INSERT UPDATED DATA (GMAS)

RCES serves a rural, low income area. Many of our students lack the necessary foundational skills to be truly successful. The implementation of the current curriculum (Bookworms & GSE Math Units) will help build the necessary foundational skills needed for them to be successful. Bulldog Academy (an after school program), and built in intervention blocks in Math and Reading have been implemented in order to close the achievement gap.

RCES currently track Lexile growth in grades 1-5 using MAP Growth data, GMAS data (3-5), HMH Data (3-5), Beacon (3-5), Beacon (K-2), and Acadience Data (K-3).

Deficits in reading and writing greatly impact all other contents areas. After analyzing achievement data across content areas, a curriculum that would allow for a cross curricular approach was implemented. I Deficits in reading and writing greatly impact all other content areas. After analyzing achievement data across content areas, a curriculum that would allow for a cross curricular approach was implemented. Instructional schedules were adjusted to provide adequate time for a self-contained teaching model in K-5th. This model provides adequate time to meet students' needs, and successfully implement the curriculum.

3. NEEDS IDENTIFICATION AND ROOT CAUSE ANALYSIS

3.1 Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Read the trends and patterns summaries from each section of the data analysis process. Use the information in these summaries to complete 3.2 and 3.3. Using the summaries in 3.1 and other local data, describe the strengths and challenges or answer the guiding questions for each program. Include strengths and challenges related to: a) general program implementation, and b) students and adults involved in or affected by the program. Focus on strengths and challenges that will assist in the identification of needs during 3.2. Watch the Identifying Needwebinar for additional information and guidance.

Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Coherent Instructional:Summarize the coherent instructional system trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?

RCES provides a well managed environment that supports learning and implementation of the standards with rigor.

We realize there needs to be a consistent process for supporting and monitoring the new staff with the current curriculum.

Feedback needs to be more specific and timely. 20 day instructional learning plans (Math) and 45 day instructional plans (Reading) have been developed to improve the current practices in all content areas. Science and social studies standards are embedded through literacy. Adequate time has been provided for teachers to plan, practice, and perfect the curriculum expectations, as well as the expectations for the School Improvement Plan (SIP). Our SIP needs to be monitored with specific and timely feedback.

Effective Leadership:Summarize the effective leadership trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?

Having the ripple effect process in place for monitoring and providing timely feedback to address students, teachers, and the school will continue.

Because of high instructional expectations, administrators should provide teachers with instructional resources to meet the needs of the students. Data digs will be pivotal here as we target and provide instruction and conversations around our students. This will be a time for the learning expectations to be shared, what the learning should look like, how the learning is going to be measured, and once assessed we would shift to the reteaching/enrichment planning process.

Professional Capacity:Summarize the professional capacity trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?

Based on our trends and patterns observed from the data, we have fine tuned our professional learning to focus on reading, writing, and math. RCES is building capacity as well. We are receiving support from the following:

- Bookworms Consultant University of Delaware
- Chatt-Flint RESA Math Consultant
- R. Temples Leadership Consultant
- B. Geeslin Lead, Learn, Serve (training coaches)
- Chatt-Flint RESA Leadership Support
- D. Hardwick Math Consultant
- D. Gleason ELA/Reading Consultant

Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Family and Community

Engagement:Summarize the family and community engagement trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?

Family Engagement will always be an area of need at RCES. We need the additional support from home to support our school initiatives. Randolph County provides a family & community engagement liaison to work with schools and families. The liaison plans for activities that will enhance parents' ability to help their children. Parents and teachers communicate through the use of ClassTag, Face Book, and oral communication. This year we will be implementing curriculum nights to show the parents what the students are learning and what the expectations are for the work.

Additionally RCSS provides support through bi-weekly visits from the literacy bus (L4GA - Book Mobile) to communities all throughout our county. This has been very successful in getting books into students' hands. This bus removed the book/barrier for our students.

Supportive Learning

Environment:Summarize the supportive learning environment trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?

The data suggests changes in our attendance and this has become an area of focus. Our district has released a new attendance protocol this year because attendance was an area of concern district wide. MTSS Coordinators housed at each school have helped students get the necessary interventions to assist them in their specific areas of deficiency.

The safety plan has been revised using suggestions from the district active shooter trainings and the sheriff's department walk throughs.

Demographic and Financial:Summarize the demographic and financial trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?

Our school needs to take advantage of researching and securing funds through various grants and community & family sponsorship.

Student Achievement:Summarize the student achievement trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?

The data suggests the professional learning opportunities and consistency of monitoring expectations played a vital role in increasing our student achievement in Reading and Math. There is also a need for teachers to understand the standards, their elements, and their intended rigor.

Focus on strengths and challenges that will assist in the identification of needs during 3.3. Watch the Identifying Need webinar for additional information and guidance.

Strengths	RCES will continue Bulldog Academy, interventions and the MTSS/RTI process to support students.

Challenges	Our SpEd population is growing. Securing quality SpEd teachers continues to be a challenge. It appears the candidates who are most qualified are not willing to work in a small rural district. There needs to be a systemic way of monitoring students' IEP goals to ensure they're accurate and are being met.
