POSITIVE THINKING

Feel the Love

Let your family and friends love you. Teens are often told to or want to be independent, especially with school and meeting personal goals. This message is usually intended to inspire responsibility. But humans are not meant to go it alone. When someone loves you and cares about you, breathe it in. Soak it up. Feel grateful knowing that others are there to help you up when you fall, to celebrate the wins and to enjoy the day to day.
