NHS FCCLA Students Attend FCCLA Day at the Capitol

Northside High School teachers, Cathy Hoover, Coach King, and Faythe Pollard took 18 Northside High School FCCLA students to the Georgia FCCLA Day at the Capitol. They were able to meet Governor Brian Kemp. It was an honor to see the fascination on the students' faces. Some students were able to sit in on a few legislative sessions and all students were able to participate in the capitol scavenger hunt.

A visit to the Georgia Capitol offers students an opportunity to view first-hand the state government in action and to learn about the judicial and lawmaking processes.

Next year, the goal is to have a one-on-one session with Senators Jon Osoff and Raphael Warnock.

HCHS and HCCA Attend Northrop Grumman STEM Alliance

Houston County High School and Houston County Career Academy students had a great time at the Northrop Grumman STEM Alliance. They were exposed to many types of engineering and computer science careers. Great questions were asked and answered as well as the students being allowed to see airplane radar and laser assemblies. They were able to observe circuit boards being made in the troubleshooting phase and repair phase both by technicians and machines. Their eyes were opened to more options in engineering and computer science broadening the scope of what they could study in college as well as how important it is to be a lifelong learner through education and work. A big thank you to Northrop Grumman for hosting!

Perry High FCCLA hosted a Miracle Minute on February 14th during lunch. A timer was set for one minute during each lunch period. During this minute, Perry High FCCLA Officers came around with a bucket to collect as much change or dollar bills that students and staff felt lead to donate. Officers were able to collect $170.50 during this event.

All the money collected went to Georgia FCCLA's service project, Adventure Bags. These donations will help to give a child in crisis items they can call their own.
