3. NEEDS IDENTIFICATION AND ROOT CAUSE ANALYSIS

3.1 Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Read the trends and patterns summaries from each section of the data analysis process. Use the information in these summaries to complete 3.2 and 3.3. Using the summaries in 3.1 and other local data, describe the strengths and challenges or answer the guiding questions for each program. Include strengths and challenges related to: a) general program implementation, and b) students and adults involved in or affected by the program. Focus on strengths and challenges that will assist in the identification of needs during 3.2. Watch the Identifying Need webinar for additional information and guidance.

	Elementary is the Georgia Teacher Keys Effectiveness System. One component of TKES is the Teacher Assessment on Performance Standards (TAPS). Three of the TAPS standard pertain to instructional practices and standards are monitored through walkthroughs and formative assessments

Strengths	In years past we have seen a decline in performance on the GMAS in all

	Teachers communicate with parents on a daily basis regarding their child's behavior through Class Dojo. This pro-active approach allows parents to know in real time how their child is behaving in school, since the parent receives a text notification if a student has a Dojo point lost for behavior, and also if a student gains a point for good behavior. Students are motivated to do their best not only for the points they earn towards incentives, but also because their parents receive good news when they display positive behaviors.
	Teachers also regularly send messages through Class Dojo regarding school activities, projects, and homework, strengthening the bond between home and school, which leads to better school behavior.
	The School Counselor is a vital part of our effective discipline program.
	Teachers will refer students to the Counselor for conflict resolution before the situation builds to where students must be removed from the classroom. The Counselor also works with individual students on strategies for anger control and appropriate social interaction so that they can stay in the classroom. For students consistent behavior issues, the Counselor assists the teacher with Tier 2 and Tier 3 behavior interventions to manage the behaviors so that students can remain in the classroom. For students with persistent behavior issues, the teacher, counselor, and student work jointly to develop a Behavior Intervention Plan, so that undesired behaviors can be addressed in a positive, systematic manner with the goal of the student remaining in the classroom.
