Ohio State Football Team Leads Huge Revival Moment on Campus with Scores of Baptisms

A huge revival broke out at The Ohio State University over the weekend with hundreds of college students showing deep hunger for God as the new school year kicked off.

'Chicago for Jesus': These Street Ministers Were Able to 'Slice Through the Lies' at DNC Protests

While speeches and applause took place inside Chicago's United Center during the Democratic National Convention last week, chaos often erupted outside. In the midst of it all, a group of Chicago street ministers boldly shared the gospel just outside the security perimeter.

Texas school forbids Bible verse in employee email

Officials at Wellborn Middle School in College Station, Texas have forbidden an employee from using a Bible verse in his email, under threat from the Freedom From Religion Foundation. The prominent atheist group took issue with the school's athletic coordinator for ending his emails with a reference to Romans 1:16.

Highlights from Letters to Power

There was nothing "wrong" with my regular station; no inappropriate messages. I didn't have to flip away too often because of a song I knew had words I didn't particularly want to hear. I listened to Power 88 on the way to church every Sunday, but never during the week. One Monday I just felt like I needed something just a little bit better than my usual stuff. So all of my Monday commute time was spent with Power 88. I found that the artists on Power 88 are VERY close to those on my "regular" station, and I really liked that. But in the past three weeks of listening almost exclusively to your station, I'm finding more of my thoughts directed toward our Savior. What a difference it makes! Little things don't bug me so much; I am more attentive to my work AND to my family. Great job! Thanks for all you do.
