

You are invited to help shape the future of literacy at our school!

Our school is hosting family listening sessions to inform our future literacy work and we can't do it without you!

Register for a family listening session to help Lin-Wood Elementary gain a better understanding of the following:

- Your perspectives on literacy and its impact on your child's success.
- How school communication about literacy can be meaningful and effective.
- The information you need or want to support and monitor your children's literacy development at school and home.
- How you want to be engaged in our future efforts.

Discussions will be led by The Parent Information Center in a comfortable environment where everyone feels heard and valued.
