

English/Language Arts • Unpacked Content

For the new Common Core State Standards that will be effective in all North Carolina schools in the 2012-13 school year

This document is designed to help North Carolina educators teach the ELA Common Core State Standards.

NCDPI staff are continually updating and improving these tools to better serve teachers.

What is the purpose of this document?

To increase student achievement by ensuring educators understand specifically what the new standards mean a student must know, understand and be able to do.

What is in the document?

Descriptions of what each standard means a student will know, understand, and be able to do. The "unpacking" of the standards done in this document is an effort to answer a simple question "What does this standard mean that a student must know and be able to do?" and to ensure the description is helpful, specific and comprehensive for educators.

How do I send Feedback?

We intend the explanations and examples in this document to be helpful and specific. That said, we believe that as this document is used, teachers and educators will find ways in which the unpacking can be improved and made ever more useful. Please send feedback to us at feedback@dpi.state.nc.us and we will use your input to refine our unpacking of the standards. Thank You!

Just want the standards alone?

You can find the standards alone at http://www.corestandards.org

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Reading Literature
Anchor Standards for
Reading
	,	and Details
1. Read closely to determine what the text says explicitly and to make logical inferences from it; cite specific textual evidence when writing or speaking to support conclusions drawn from the text. 2. Determine central ideas or themes of a text and analyze their development; summarize the key supporting details and ideas. 3. Analyze how and why individuals, events, and ideas develop and interact over the course of a text.	1. Cite strong and thorough textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text, including determining where the text leaves matters uncertain. 2. Determine two or more themes or central ideas of a text and analyze their development over the course of the text, including how they interact and build on one another to produce a complex account; provide an objective summary of the text. 3. Analyze the impact of the author's choices regarding how to develop and relate elements of a story or drama (e.g., where a story is set, how the action is	As students cite strong and thorough evidence to support their claims, they need to recognize where an author purposely leaves events open-ended or vague or to judge where a text is inconclusive. Students are required to find more than one theme or central idea in a text. Many students are accustomed to finding a single controlling idea, so this concept might be new to students in grade 11. Once they are able to determine more than a single theme, they also need to understand the inter-relationship between multiple themes and recognize how this creates a richer understanding for the reader. Students should be able to track the development of multiple themes throughout a text. As students examine key ideas and details in a text, they need to understand how an author's choices when developing a story impact the story as a whole. From choosing a setting to developing a character, students should begin to understand how an author crafts an idea into text and develops story elements into plot.
	ordered, how the characters are introduced and developed).

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Reading Literature
Anchor Standards for
Reading		G
4. Interpret words and phrases	4. Determine the meaning of	As students continue to determine figurative, connotative, and as they are used in a text, including determining technical, connotative, and figurative meanings, and analyze how specific word choices shape meaning or tone.	words and phrases as they are used in the text, including figurative and connotative meanings; analyze the impact of specific word choices on meaning and tone, including words with multiple meanings or language that is particularly fresh, engaging, or beautiful. (Include Shakespeare as well as other authors.)	denotative meanings of words and phrases in a text, they should relate the author's word choice to the overall effect of the story. Students need to examine an author's craft as it relates to word choice - specifically considering multiple meanings of words and language that is descriptive, creative, or original. Students at this grade span are asked to closely examine specific parts of a text in order to understand how an author structured and crafted that particular part so that it would contribute meaning or artistic effect.
5. Analyze the structure of texts, including how specific sentences, paragraphs, and larger portions of the text (e.g., a section, chapter, scene, or stanza) relate to each other and the whole. 6. Assess how point of view or purpose shapes the content and style of a text.	5. Analyze how an author's choices concerning how to structure specific parts of a text (e.g., the choice of where to begin or end a story, the choice to provide a comedic or tragic resolution) contribute to its overall structure and meaning as well as its aesthetic impact. 6. Analyze a case in which grasping a point of view requires distinguishing what is directly stated in a text from what is really meant (e.g.,	When determining point of view, students should be able to recognize a case when an author says one thing but means another. This would imply that students are familiar with terms such as sarcasm and irony. Students need to reflect on what meaning this type of point of view brings to the text or distinguishes about a character.

satire, sarcasm, irony, or understatement).

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Reading Literature
Anchor Standards for
Reading
		owledge and Ideas
7. Integrate and evaluate content presented in diverse formats and media, including visually and quantitatively, as well as in words.	7. Analyze multiple interpretations of a story, drama, or poem (e.g., recorded or live production of a play or recorded novel or poetry), evaluating how each version interprets the source text. (Include at least one play by Shakespeare and one play by an American dramatist.)	Students are to examine many interpretations of a single work and determine how each venue interprets that text. This would indicate that a student would have knowledge of the source text and be able to analyze how each author interprets and uses that source. Teachers should note that a Shakespearean play and an American play should be taught at each grade level. The RL 9 Standard specifies the type of literature that should be studied at this grade span and includes requiring students to examine how authors from the same time period deal with a
8. Delineate and evaluate the argument and specific claims in a text, including the validity of the reasoning as well as the relevance and sufficiency of the evidence.	8. (Not applicable to literature)	particular theme. Though a more in-depth study of American literature will occur in grade 11, students will continue to learn about American literature in grade 12 as is relates to Western European culture and perspective.
9. Analyze how two or more texts address similar themes or topics in order to build knowledge or to compare the approaches the authors take.	9. Demonstrate knowledge of eighteenth-, nineteenth- and early-twentieth-century foundational works of American literature, including how two or more texts from the same period treat similar themes or topics

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Reading Literature
Anchor Standards for
Reading
		evel of Text Complexity
10. Read and comprehend complex literary and informational texts independently and proficiently.	10. By the end of grade 11, read and comprehend literature, including stories, dramas, and poems, in the grades 11–CCR text complexity band proficiently, with scaffolding as needed at the high end of the range.	Students should encounter appropriately complex texts at each grade level in order to develop the mature language skills and the conceptual knowledge needed for success in school and life. Effective scaffolding should allow the reader to encounter the text with minimal clarifications. It should not replace the text by translating its contents for students. Students will be able to determine when they are not comprehending and making meaning, and they will be able to apply appropriate strategies in order to increase comprehension when faced with difficult text. "Standard 10 defines a grade-by-grade 'staircase' of increasing text complexity that rises from beginning reading to the college and career readiness level. Whatever they are reading, students must also show a steadily growing ability to discern more from and make fuller use of text, including making an increasing number of connections among ideas and between texts, considering a wider range of textual evidence, and becoming more sensitive to inconsistencies, ambiguities, and poor reasoning in texts." "Students also acquire the habit of reading independently and closely, which are essential to their future success."

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Reading Informational
Anchor Standards for
Reading
	Key Ideas	and Details
1. Read closely to determine what the text says explicitly and to make logical inferences from it; cite specific textual evidence when writing or speaking to support conclusions drawn from the text. 2. Determine central ideas or themes of a text and analyze their development; summarize the key supporting details and ideas. 3. Analyze how and why individuals, events, and ideas develop and interact over the course of a text.	1. Cite strong and thorough textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text, including determining where the text leaves matters uncertain. 2. Determine two or more central ideas of a text and analyze their development over the course of the text, including how they interact and build on one another to provide a complex analysis; provide an objective summary of the text. 3. Analyze a complex set of ideas or sequence of events and explain how specific individuals, ideas, or events interact and develop over the course of the text.	By the time students are in grade 11, they should be accustomed to citing evidence formally and informally to support their ideas. Along with being able to determine if evidence is sufficient and convincing, students need to be able to judge where an author purposely (or unintentionally) leaves information openended or vague. This would mean that students would be able to recognize a gap in understanding and that their comprehension would be such that they could question the text. In grades 11 and 12, students are required to find more than one central idea in a text and be able to explain how they are developed. They also need to understand the inter-relationship between multiple ideas and recognize how this relationship creates a richer understanding. Students should examine a set of ideas that are multifaceted or look at a sequence of events and determine how specific individuals, ideas, or events relate to one another and develop throughout the text. This would require that students not only look at key details or ideas in isolation but also be able to piece together what their role is in the bigger framework of the text. They should recognize how the elements evolve throughout the text.

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Reading Informational
Anchor Standards for
Reading
		Structure
4. Interpret words and phrases as they are used in a text, including determining technical, connotative, and figurative meanings, and analyze how specific word choices shape meaning or tone.	4. Determine the meaning of words and phrases as they are used in a text, including figurative, connotative, and technical meanings; analyze how an author uses and refines the meaning of a key term or terms over the course of a text (e.g., how Madison defines faction in Federalist No. 10).	Students should be comfortable and confident with determining figurative, connotative, and technical meanings of words and phrases by grades 11 and 12. Students also should consider how authors perfect or cultivate the meaning of key term(s) throughout a text, bringing readers to a deeper understanding or a clearer picture of what that word means in that particular context. This means that aside from using resources to define a term, students need to review the word(s) in light of context. Students at this grade span should be able to go beyond just
5. Analyze the structure of texts, including how specific sentences, paragraphs, and larger portions of the text (e.g., a section, chapter, scene, or stanza) relate to each other and the whole. 6. Assess how point of view or purpose shapes the content and style of a text.	5. Analyze and evaluate the effectiveness of the structure an author uses in his or her exposition or argument, including whether the structure makes points clear, convincing, and engaging. 6. Determine an author's point of view or purpose in a text in which the rhetoric is particularly effective, analyzing how style and content contribute to the power, persuasiveness or beauty of the text.	recognizing the structure of a text. Students should examine the structure an author uses and judge whether or not it is effective for the purpose. Is it clear? Does the author convince you as a reader? How did the structure contribute to this? Using a text that is rich with effective language, students should establish what the author's purpose is and study how the style and content contribute to the power and beauty of the text. This would mean that students are able to recognize effective language. They would need to identify instances where text was indeed beautiful and which words contributed to this beauty.

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Reading Informational
Anchor Standards for
Reading
		owledge and Ideas
7. Integrate and evaluate	7. Integrate and evaluate	When students in grades 11 and 12 are asked to answer a content presented in diverse	multiple sources of information	question or solve a problem they should be able to use formats and media, including	presented in different media or	information from multiple sources and various formats. They visually and quantitatively, as	formats (e.g., visually,	should determine the value or importance of that information in well as in words.	quantitatively) as well as in	light of the question or problem and be able to combine all of the words in order to address a	information gathered from the various formats into a succinct question or solve a problem.	understanding. Students must be able to make a sound evaluation
8. Delineate and evaluate the	8. Delineate and evaluate the	of informational texts. They need to make the connections and see argument and specific claims in	reasoning in seminal U.S. texts,	the correlations between information presented as visuals,
a text, including the validity of	including the application of	numbers, and/or words.
the reasoning as well as the	constitutional principles and	Students need to describe in detail and examine the thought relevance and sufficiency of the	use of legal reasoning (e.g., in	processes in influential U.S. texts. They need to determine how evidence.	U.S. Supreme Court majority	the constitutional principles (checks and balances, limited opinions and dissents) and the	government, separation of powers) were applied. They also premises, purposes, and	should consider the use of legal reasoning in these documents arguments in works of public	such as:
	advocacy (e.g., The Federalist,	1) Issue - What specifically is being debated?
0. 4. 1. 1.	presidential addresses).	2) Rule - What legal rule governs this issue?
9. Analyze how two or more	9. Analyze seventeenth-,	3) Facts - What are the facts relevant to this rule?
texts address similar themes or	eighteenth-, and nineteenth-	4) Analysis - Apply the rule to the facts.
topics in order to build	century foundational U.S.	5) Conclusion - Having applied the rule to the facts, what is the knowledge or to compare the	documents of historical and	outcome?
approaches the authors take.	literary significance (including	Students should be able to assess the principles and basis of
	The Declaration of	arguments in works of public advocacy. They should be able to Independence, the Preamble to	explain the author's purpose and argument. (Advocacy is the act
	the Constitution, the Bill of	of influencing decision makers and promoting changes to laws

Rights, and Lincoln's Second Inaugural Address) for their themes, purposes, and rhetorical features	and other government policies to advance the mission of a particular organization or group of people.) Students need to examine and evaluate significant foundational U.S. documents from the seventeenth-, eighteenth-, and nineteenth-century to consider their themes, purposes, and language.
--	--

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Reading Informational
Anchor Standards for
Reading
	 	evel of Text Complexity
10. Read and comprehend complex literary and informational texts independently and proficiently.	10. By the end of grade 11, read and comprehend literary nonfiction in the grades 11–CCR text complexity band proficiently, with scaffolding as needed at the high end of the range.	Literary nonfiction includes the subgenres of exposition, argument, and functional text in the form of personal essays, speeches, opinion pieces, essays about art or literature, some biographies, journalism, and historical, scientific, technical or economic accounts (including digital sources) written for a broad audience. The Standards emphasize arguments and other literary nonfiction that contain informational text structures rather than narrative literary non-fiction that tells a story such as memoirs and biographies. Students should encounter appropriately complex texts at each grade level in order to develop the mature language skills and the conceptual knowledge needed for success in school and life. Effective scaffolding should allow the reader to encounter the text with minimal clarifications. It should not replace the text by translating its contents for students. "Standard 10 defines a grade-by-grade 'staircase' of increasing text complexity that rises from beginning reading to the college and career readiness level. Whatever they are reading, students must also show a steadily growing ability to discern more from and make fuller use of text, including making an increasing number of connections among ideas and between texts, considering a wider range of textual evidence, and becoming more sensitive to inconsistencies, ambiguities, and poor reasoning in texts."

ENGLISH LANGUAGE ARTS COMMON CORE STATE STANDARDS ENGLISH III-IV
		"Students also acquire the habits of reading independently and closely, which are essential to their future success."

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Writing
Anchor Standards for Writing
		and Purposes
1. Write arguments to support	1. Write arguments to support	The CCSS emphasize students' ability to produce strong claims in an analysis of	claims in an analysis of	arguments on significant topics or texts. Students in grades 11 and substantive topics or texts,	substantive topics or texts,	12 should write argumentative papers that support their analysis
using valid reasoning and	using valid reasoning and	of a text or topic using enough relevant evidence to legitimately relevant and sufficient	relevant and sufficient	support their claim(s). Students in grade 11 understand how evidence.	evidence.	much evidence is needed to satisfactorily support a point. They
	a. Introduce precise,	should be comfortable with introducing their argument(s) clearly knowledgeable claim(s),	and accurately with regard to counterclaims. They should establish the significance of	establish the importance of their claim and make a distinction the claim(s), distinguish the	between their claim and opposing claims. Students should create claim(s) from alternate or	an organization for their argument that provides a logical opposing claims, and create	sequence to claim(s), counterclaims, reasons, and evidence.
	an organization that	Students in grades 11 and 12 should also consider their audience's logically sequences	values and possible bias. As students develop their arguments, they claim(s), counterclaims,	should treat their claims and counterclaims equitably, taking into reasons, and evidence.	account what their audience knows as well as what concerns they
	b. Develop claim(s) and	might have. Students at this level should develop unity and counterclaims fairly and	consistency in their text with their words and structure, paying thoroughly, supplying the	attention to the relationships they create between the claims, most relevant evidence for	counterclaims, evidence, and reason. In the grade 11 they should each while pointing out the	become more aware of syntax and vary it in their writing to assist strengths and limitations of	in creating strong cohesive writing. They also should maintain an appropriate style and tone for the task – omitting personal bias.
	both in a manner that	Students should conclude with a statement that supports the anticipates the audience's	argument.
	knowledge level, concerns,	argumon.
	values, and possible biases.

	ENGLIS
	c. Use words, phrases, and clauses as well as varied syntax to link the major sections of the text, create cohesion, and clarify the relationships between claim(s) and reasons, between reasons and evidence, and between claim(s) and counterclaims.
	d. Establish and maintain a formal style and objective tone while attending to the norms and conventions of the discipline in which they are writing.
	e. Provide a concluding statement or section that follows from and supports the argument presented.
2. Write informative	2. Write explanatory texts to examine	informative/explanatory texts and convey complex ideas and	to examine and convey information clearly and	complex ideas, concepts, and accurately through the effective selection, organization, and analysis of content.

- cts ıd information clearly and accurately through the effective selection, organization, and analysis of content.
- a. Introduce a topic; organize complex ideas, concepts, and information so that each new element builds on that which precedes it to

Students are expected to write informative texts that examine and communicate complex ideas, concepts, or information clearly and accurately. They should effectively select, organize, and analyze their content.

In selecting content a student should:

- use relevant and sufficient facts, definitions, details, and quotes
- use sources that are appropriate to task, audience, and
- choose precise words and domain-specific vocabulary as well as metaphors, similes, and analogies

When organizing content a student is expected to:

- introduce a topic
- arrange ideas, concepts, and information to show interrelationships
- build the elements of the paper one on the next to create a unified whole
- format effectively
- develop a topic
- organize graphics
- provide multimedia when useful
- use transitions and syntax to link together the major sections of the text.
- write a concluding statement that supports the information presented.
- choose a formal style and objective tone

When analyzing content a student should:

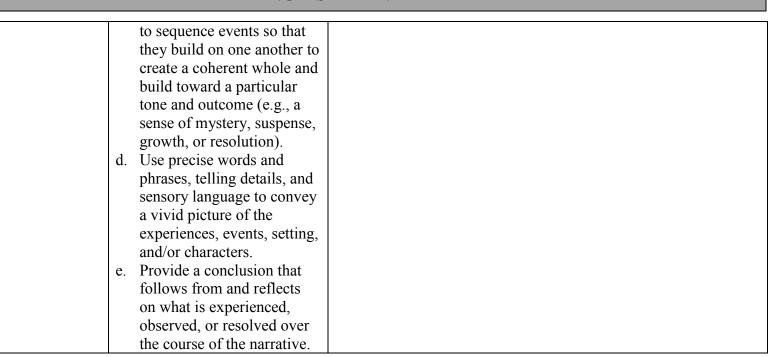

- decide what organization is most effective for purpose, audience, and task.
- determine what facts are the most significant
- determine the most effective way to integrate multimedia

- create a unified whole; include formatting (e.g., headings), graphics (e.g., figures, tables), and multimedia when useful to aiding comprehension.
- b. Develop the topic thoroughly by selecting the most significant and relevant facts, extended definitions, concrete details, quotations, or other information and examples appropriate to the audience's knowledge of the topic.
- c. Use appropriate and varied transitions and syntax to link the major sections of the text, create cohesion, and clarify the relationships among complex ideas and concepts.
- d. Use precise language, domain-specific vocabulary, and techniques such as metaphor, simile, and analogy to manage the complexity of the topic.
- e. Establish and maintain a formal style and objective tone while attending to the norms and conventions of

To be college- and career- ready writers, students must take task, purpose, and audience into careful consideration, choosing words, information, structures, and formats deliberately. These skills work in tandem with reading expectations – as expressed in the reading standards for informational texts – so that students are examining authors' craft and style and applying what they have observed to their own writing. As students become more skilled with writing informational texts, they should pay more attention to the words they use to communicate ideas. They should develop a strong formal style appropriate for their task. They should be able to maintain a tone that is free of bias.

- 3. Write narratives to develop real or imagined experiences or events using effective technique, well-chosen details, and well-structured event sequences.
- the discipline in which they are writing.
- f. Provide a concluding statement or section that follows from and supports the information or explanation presented (e.g., articulating implications or the significance of the topic).
- 3. Write narratives to develop real or imagined experiences or events using effective technique, well-chosen details, and well-structured event sequences.
- a. Engage and orient the reader by setting out a problem, situation, or observation and its significance, establishing one or multiple point(s) of view, and introducing a narrator and/or characters; create a smooth progression of experiences or events.
- b. Use narrative techniques, such as dialogue, pacing, description, reflection, and multiple plot lines, to develop experiences, events, and/or characters.
- c. Use a variety of techniques

Students are expected to write narratives – conveying an experience that is real or imagined – and using time as its deep structure. The writing should have form or structure based on a progression of events that build on each other. As with all good writing, students should select effective details using precise language. They should establish point(s) of view, introduce a narrator, provide characters, and present a situation. Students should be aware of and apply narrative techniques including dialogue, description, and plot in order to develop experiences, events, and/or characters choosing words that create vivid pictures. Students should provide a conclusion to the events they set out at the beginning of their narrative. In grade 11, along with introducing a problem or situation at the beginning of the narrative, students should establish the significance of that situation. In grade 11 students should build toward a particular tone and outcome

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Writing
Anchor Standards for
Writing	Production and Dis	tribution of Writing
4. Produce clear and coherent	4. Produce clear and coherent	High school students are expected to produce writing that is clear writing in which the	writing in which the	and understandable to the reader. Task (type of writing development, organization, and	development, organization, and	assignment), audience (the intended reader), and purpose (the style are appropriate to task,	style are appropriate to task,	writer's designated reason for writing) should be reflected in the purpose, and audience.	purpose, and audience. (Grade-	student's style, organization, and development of a topic.
	specific expectations for writing types are defined in	Students should plan their writing, develop strong revising and standards 1–3 above.)	editing skills, rewrite or try a different approach always mindful
5. Develop and strengthen	5. Develop and strengthen	of the audience and the purpose for the writing. They need to writing as needed by planning,	writing as needed by planning,	determine what details or information is most important for a revising, editing, rewriting, or	revising, editing, rewriting, or	particular audience and specific purpose. They need to understand trying a new approach.	trying a new approach, focusing on addressing what is	writing as a process rather than solely as a product. Writing as a process requires thinking and being able to articulate those most significant for a specific	thoughts.
	purpose and audience.	thoughts.
6. Use technology, including	6. Use technology, including	CCSS recognizes that students need to be able to use technology
the Internet, to produce and	the Internet, to produce,	strategically when creating, refining, and collaborating on writing.
publish writing and to interact	publish, and update individual	Students should not only use technology for producing and
and collaborate with others.	or shared writing products in	publishing writing but also to collaborate with others.
	response to ongoing feedback,	Collaboration in grades 11 and 12 includes responding to ongoing including new arguments or	feedback from others, including new arguments or information.
	information.

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Writing
Anchor Standards for Writing
		d Present Knowledge
7. Conduct short as well as more sustained research projects based on focused questions, demonstrating understanding of the subject under investigation. 8. Gather relevant information from multiple print and digital sources, assess the credibility and accuracy of each source, and integrate the information while avoiding plagiarism.	7. Conduct short as well as more sustained research projects to answer a question (including a self-generated question) or solve a problem; narrow or broaden the inquiry when appropriate; synthesize multiple sources on the subject, demonstrating understanding of the subject under investigation. 8. Gather relevant information from multiple authoritative print and digital sources, using advanced searches effectively; assess the strengths and limitations of each source in terms of the task, purpose, and audience; integrate information into the text selectively to maintain the flow of ideas, avoiding plagiarism and over reliance on any one source and following a standard format for citation.	In the CCSS, research—both short, focused projects (such as those commonly required in the workplace) and longer term in depth research—is emphasized throughout the standards but most prominently in the writing strand since a written analysis and presentation of findings is so often critical. High school students need to learn how to synthesize information by combining parts from a variety of sources into a unified understanding, achieving a new insight. To accomplish this, students need to be able to recognize what is important in a source, how it supports the topic, and how it relates to other source information. They need to find information that is relevant from reliable and authoritative sources. Students should be adept at using advance searches and finding print and digital sources that answer their research question. They should know how to integrate the information effectively, avoiding plagiarism and using a standard format for citation. In grades 11 and 12, students should determine the strengths and limitations of the sources they find in terms of task, audience, and purpose. They should not rely heavily on a single source.

- 9. Draw evidence from literary or informational texts to support analysis, reflection, and research.
- 9. Draw evidence from literary or informational texts to support analysis, reflection, and research.
- a. Apply grades 11–12
 Reading standards to literature (e.g.,
 "Demonstrate knowledge of eighteenth-, nineteenth- and early-twentieth-century foundational works of American literature, including how two or more texts from the same period treat similar themes or topics").
- b. Apply grades 11–12 Reading standards to literary nonfiction (e.g., "Delineate and evaluate the reasoning in seminal U.S. texts, including the application of constitutional principles and use of legal reasoning [e.g., in U.S. Supreme Court Case majority opinions and dissents] and the premises, purposes, and arguments in works of public advocacy [e.g., The Federalist, presidential addresses]").

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Writing
Anchor Standards for
Writing
	Range of	f Writing
10. Write routinely over	10. Write routinely over	CCSS expect students to have the flexibility, concentration, and extended time frames (time for	extended time frames (time for	fluency to produce high-quality first draft texts under tight research, reflection, and	research, reflection, and	deadlines, as well as the capacity to revisit and make improvements revision) and shorter time	revision) and shorter time	to a piece of writing over multiple drafts when circumstances frames (a single sitting or a day	frames (a single sitting or a day	encourage or require it.
or two) for a range of tasks,	or two) for a range of tasks,
purposes, and audiences.	purposes

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Speaking and Listening
Anchor Standards for
Speaking and Listening
	Communication	and Callah anation
1. Prepare for and participate	1. Initiate and participate	By the time students are in grade 11, they should be effectively in a range of	effectively in a range of	accustomed to initiating and participating in group discussions conversations and	collaborative discussions (one-	that are persuasive and effective.
collaborations with diverse	on-one, in groups, and teacher-	view with photosumous or constitution partners, building on others'	led) with diverse partners on	Often, teachers have to take an opposing view in order to ideas and expressing their own	grades 11–12 topics, texts, and	promote different perspectives to help students engage in clearly and persuasively.	issues, building on others' ideas	conversations of diverse viewpoints. Eventually, after the and expressing their own	teacher models these questions, students in grade 11 and 12
	clearly and persuasively.	will be able to pose the questions themselves.
	a. Come to discussions	V prepared, having read and researched material under	Very often, students formulate ideas while their classmates are speaking—thus, not hearing their classmates' viewpoints. At this study; explicitly draw on	point, students should be able to establish the rule that prior to that preparation by referring	stating their own opinion, they must first comment on the ideas of to evidence from texts and	the previous speaker. This will promote the synthesis of evidence other research on the topic	from all sides of the issue.
	or issue to stimulate a thoughtful, well-reasoned	Students need to be able to identify when more information is exchange of ideas.	needed to fully understand ideas and viewpoints. Instead of just
	b. Work with peers to promote	accepting what they have heard or others have told them, they civil, democratic	need to know when to investigate further and take the initiative discussions and decision-	to do so.
	making, set clear goals and deadlines, and establish individual roles as needed.
	marviduai roies as needed.

2. Integrate and evaluate information presented in diverse media and formats, including visually, quantitatively, and orally.	posing and responding to questions that probe reasoning and evidence; ensure a hearing for a full range of positions on a topic or issue; clarify, verify, or challenge ideas and conclusions; and promote divergent and creative perspectives. d. Respond thoughtfully to diverse perspectives; synthesize comments, claims, and evidence made on all sides of an issue; resolve contradictions when possible; and determine what additional information or research is required to deepen the investigation or complete the task. 2. Integrate multiple sources of information presented in diverse formats and media (e.g., visually, quantitatively, orally) in order to make informed decisions and solve problems, evaluating the credibility and accuracy of each source and noting any discrepancies among the data.	CCSS integrates research throughout every domain. The Internet has accelerated the speed at which connections between speaking, listening, reading, and writing can be made, so students need to be able to utilize these modalities concurrently. Therefore, students in grades 11 and 12 should integrate multiple and diverse sources of information for problem solving and informed decision-making.
---	--	---

3. Evaluate a speaker's point of view, reasoning, and use of evidence and rhetoric.	3. Evaluate a speaker's point of view, reasoning, and use of evidence and rhetoric, assessing the stance, premises, links among ideas, word choice, points of emphasis, and tone used.	In grades 11 and 12, students will begin to listen beyond simple reasoning. They will begin to ask, "What do I think of this speaker's stance?" "What other tools does this speaker use to convince me of his/her point?" This is the continuation of the movement from a passive listener to an active participant.
---	--	--

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Speaking and Listening
Anchor Standards for Speaking and Listening
		owledge and Ideas
4. Present information,	4. Present information,	Students in grades 11 and 12 should be accustomed to purpose, findings, and supporting	findings, and supporting	audience, and task in both speaking and writing. Therefore, the evidence such that listeners can	evidence, conveying a clear and	focus should be for students to present information in a clear and follow the line of reasoning and	distinct perspective, such that	unmistakable point of view.
the organization, development,	listeners can follow the line of and style are appropriate to	reasoning, alternative or task, purpose, and audience.	opposing perspectives are addressed, and the organization, development, substance, and style are appropriate to purpose,	In smaller 11 and 12 students will build up on their skills to audience, and a range of formal	In grades 11 and 12, students will build upon their skills to and informal tasks.	strategically use digital media at the highest level to demonstrate
5. Make strategic use of digital	5. Make strategic use of digital	understanding of findings, reasoning, and evidence. Presentations should be professional looking, of varying types, in many media and visual displays of	media (e.g., textual, graphical,	formats, and multi-layered.
data to express information and	audio, visual, and interactive	Tormats, and muni-rayered.
enhance understanding of	elements) in presentations to enhance understanding of presentations.	findings, reasoning, and evidence and to add interest.	Students will continue to learn to speak to a variety of audiences and adapt speech as necessary. The discussion of
6. Adapt speech to a variety of	6. Adapt speech to a variety of contexts and tasks,	formal English should continue so students understand/are contexts and communicative	demonstrating a command of	reminded that IM (Instant Messaging), text abbreviations, and tasks, demonstrating command	formal English when indicated	slang are inappropriate in most cases when presenting knowledge of formal English when	or appropriate.	and ideas.
indicated or appropriate.	от арргориате.	and ideas.

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Language
Anchor Standards for
Language
		Standard English
1. Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing or speaking.	1. Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing or speaking. a. Apply the understanding that usage is a matter of convention, can change over time, and is sometimes contested. b. Resolve issues of complex or contested usage, consulting references (e.g., Merriam-Webster's Dictionary of English Usage, Garner's Modern	An understanding of language is essential for effective communication. The inclusion of language standards in their own strand should not be taken as an indication that skills related to conventions, knowledge of language, and vocabulary are unimportant to reading, writing, speaking, and listening; indeed, they are inseparable from such contexts. To be college and career ready in language, students must have a strong command of the grammar and usage of spoken and written standard English. Beginning in grade 11, students should be able to apply the understanding that language is ever-changing. Students need to investigate choices in language and usage by using reliable references.
2. Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English capitalization, punctuation, and spelling when writing.	American Usage) as needed. 2. Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English capitalization, punctuation, and spelling when writing. a. Observe hyphenation conventions. b. Spell correctly.	Students at this level should be aware of how to properly use a hyphen.

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Language
Anchor Standards for
Language
	Knowledge	of Language
3. Apply knowledge of language to understand how language functions in different contexts, to make effective choices for meaning or style, and to comprehend more fully when reading or listening.	3. Apply knowledge of language to understand how language functions in different contexts, to make effective choices for meaning or style, and to comprehend more fully when reading or listening. a. Vary syntax for effect, consulting references (e.g., Tufte's Artful Sentences)	Students in grades 11 and 12 will continue to apply what they know about language to understand HOW language will function in various forms—how a student comprehends when reading and listening and how a student uses style when speaking. Students at this level will also vary the combination of words in a sentence for effect as well as apply an understanding of this syntax to study complex texts when reading.
	for guidance as needed; apply an understanding of syntax to the study of complex texts when reading.

CCR ANCHOR STANDARD	CCSS STANDARD	UNPACKING - ENGLISH III-IV
College and Career Readiness	Language
Anchor Standards for
Language
	Vocabulary Acquis
4. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases by using context clues, analyzing meaningful word parts, and consulting general and specialized reference materials, as appropriate.	 4. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases based on grades 11–12 reading and content, choosing flexibly from a range of strategies. Use context (e.g., the overall meaning of a sentence, paragraph, or text; a word's position or function in a sentence) as a clue to the meaning of a word or phrase. a. Identify and correctly use patterns of word changes that indicate different meanings or parts of speech (e.g., conceive, conception, conceivable). b. Consult general and specialized reference materials (e.g., dictionaries, glossaries, thesauruses), both print and digital, to find the pronunciation of a word or determine or clarify its precise meaning, its part of speech, its etymology, or its standard usage. 	CCSS expect that students will grow their vocabularies through a mix of conversations, direct instruction, and reading. Students will determine word meanings, appreciate the nuances of words, and steadily expand their repertoire of words and phrases—preparing them for both college and 21 st -century careers. This will be accomplished through use of the following: • context clues • patterns of word changes • dictionaries and thesauruses

	c. Verify the preliminary determination of the meaning of a word or phrase (e.g., by checking the inferred meaning in context or in a dictionary).	Students at this level should also be able to explain figurative language, word relationships and subtle differences in word meanings. As well, students should be able to explore the subtle differences in words that have similar literal meanings.
5. Demonstrate understanding of word relationships and nuances in word meanings.	5. Demonstrate understanding of figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word meanings. a. Interpret figures of speech (e.g., hyperbole, paradox) in context and analyze their role in the text. b. Analyze nuances in the meaning of words with similar denotations.	Students at this level should be comfortable incorporating appropriate vocabulary into their modes of communication while showing the ability to take the initiative to gather vocabulary that is necessary to understand while reading, writing, speaking, and listening. To be college and career ready in language, students must come to appreciate that language is as much a matter of craft
6. Acquire and use accurately a range of general academic and domain-specific words and phrases sufficient for reading, writing, speaking, and listening at the college and career readiness level; demonstrate independence in gathering vocabulary knowledge when considering a word or phrase important to comprehension or expression.	6. Acquire and use accurately general academic and domain-specific words and phrases, sufficient for reading, writing, speaking, and listening at the college and career readiness level; demonstrate independence in gathering vocabulary knowledge when considering a word or phrase important to comprehension or expression.	as rules and be able to choose words, syntax, and punctuation to express themselves and achieve particular functions and rhetorical effects. General academic words are more likely to appear in written text rather than in speech. They often represent subtle or precise ways to say relatively simple things" (saunter instead of walk). They are highly transferable. Domain-specific words are specific to a domain or field of study. Because of their specificity and close ties to content knowledge, they are more common in informational texts. (CCSS, Appendix A, p.33)