

SUPER SUMMER BINGO

July 1st is Joke Day and you can celebrate all month! Make up your own jokes or check out a joke book .	Use crayons to draw what life is like under the sea. 	 Sort your toys by size, color, or softness.	Sing 'Where Is Thumbkin' and do the motions.	Ask a librarian for a book recommendation.
Have a grown up write your name, then trace around it with different colors	 Attend a program at the library!	Pick a short word then look for it when you go shopping.	Go bird watching.  Listen to their songs and see how many different colors you can see.	Play a game of musical chairs at home. How many rounds will there be before the music stops?
Sing 'If You're Happy and You Know It' while doing the motions!	When out shopping count the number of blue items your grown up adds to the cart.	It's Anti-Boredom Month Help your grown up make a list of exciting things to do.	Share your favorite summer sounds with your grown up.	Shark week is in July. Can you sing 'Baby Shark' only one time?
Look at family photos.  Share stories of what is Happening in them. 	Take turns humming songs. See if you and your grown up can guess them.	 Draw different zig zag patterns on paper. Practice cutting them	Visit the Library! Count how many steps it is from the door to your favorite area.	Cool off and try to rhyme as many words as you can with ICE.
 Play the 'Silent Game' with your family, who do you think will talk first?	Go on a color scavenger hunt with your grown up and bring a camera!	Read your grown up's favorite book from when they were your age.	Cut out different colors of paper and make a collage 	Share your favorite thing about summer with your grown up.

HOW READING CAN HELP CHILDREN

Stories can stimulate imagination and play

Stories provoke curiosity
and discussion

Books and stories fill a child's mind with knowledge

Sitting down with a book provides children with a time for quiet and calmness in their busy lives.

Reading provides parents with more opportunities to bond with their children

Books provides inspiration, thought and reflection
