Players Give God the Glory in Prayer-Soaked College Football Championship

The Indiana Hoosiers are celebrating their first college football championship today. The undefeated team won 16 games this year, beating the Miami Hurricanes 27 to 21 in the National Championship last night.

The game began with quiet prayers as God-fearing athletes from both sides knelt beforehand to seek God on the field. Multiple videos show Indiana QB Fernando Mendoza and Miami QB Carson Beck and many other players praying publicly, their faith on display for the world to see.

A Maryland jurisdiction abandons prayer

(SRN NEWS)-The Wicomico County Council says it will no longer open meetings by reciting the Lord's Prayer for fear of being sued. The Freedom From Religion Foundation has been threatening the council and a spokesman for lawmakers says "Legal counsel advised that any challenge would likely require litigation through the U.S. Supreme Court level, with no reasonable expectation of success." Many small counties cannot afford a lengthy legal battle.

'Special Move of the Holy Spirit' Something unexpected happened at a roofing convention in early January. Scores of men and women passionate about their trade gathered together to forge business connections, gain industry insights, and sharpen their skills. Yet, ministry leaders tell CBN News that in the last moments of the conference, more than 200 responded to a Gospel presentation and dozens were baptized.

A Pennsylvania church is fighting for its right to build a chapel on its own property, alleging township officials are imposing unreasonable restrictions on the church and refusing to grant permits to allow them to build.

Highlights from Letters to Power 88

- I love your Christian music. I do not listen to any other station. I will be 82 years young this year.

- Thank you and your staff for the work of your radio stations. But honestly, the glory belongs to God! I believe He has great things in mind for your stations. I enjoy listening to the programs on your AM station, and more recently, I have begun listening to the music on your FM station. I will pray that God will give you wisdom and discernment to keep up the work.
