Work-Based Learning/Youth Apprenticeship Program

WBL Student of the Month Academy Sports and Outdoors New Ace

Ava Hollis, a senior at Houston County High School, has completed her first semester of Work-Based Learning. Throughout this time, she balanced work with many other school commitments such as three college classes, community service requirements for all three of her clubs, and managing HCHS's yearbook staff as editor-in-chief. Ava is an experienced employee and is currently settled into a position at Academy Sports and Outdoors in Warner Robins, Georgia. She is currently employed at the sporting goods store as a cashier. Despite having no previous experience in retail, Ava has done an outstanding job picking up and applying the customs necessary to work in customer service. Academy Manager, Chad Stithem, says "Ava is a great addition to the team! She brings a sense of zeal to the job, and despite her youth, she is quite mature and thoughtful when it comes to interacting with the Academy community." Ava says that she is glad to be at Academy and is pleased to work with such an amazing group of workers, team leads, and managers.

After graduating from Houston County High School this May, Ava plans to enjoy her summer with friends and family before heading off to start her next step at Berry College in Rome, Georgia. There, she plans to major in Communications. She says this decision in major is largely driven by her Work-Based Learning experience. Ava says, "After working in customer service, I truly realize how important good communication is. My experience in this program has allowed me to discover what I value in life, and that is to be able to establish connections with others!"

Congratulations to the WBL Student of the month, Ava Hollis.
