Exciting Updates from Elmore County Board of Education

The Elmore County Board of Education has launched a YouTube channel where we will share captivating short videos that highlight the enjoyable learning experiences and activities happening in our schools. Our aim is to spread the positive news about Elmore County Schools. We hope that this new format will serve as a resource for you to discover more about our schools and to connect with the dedicated individuals who work with our children every day.

In addition, we are thrilled to introduce a podcast titled "The Heart of the School," which will be available on YouTube and on all major podcast platforms. The first episode is set to premiere in February, introducing our host, Susanne Goodin. This podcast will provide valuable insights for families within Elmore County Schools, covering topics such as attendance and truancy, STEAM opportunities, career exploration, scholarship information, and much more.

We plan to include guests from various roles within our schools to help parents, students, and the community become acquainted with the wonderful individuals who support our children daily. A special thank you goes out to the Television Production class and Mr. Goodin at Wetumpka High School for partnering with us on the podcast. They are generously providing studio space and equipment, while the students are responsible for editing the podcast and preparing it for launch.

We invite you to subscribe to our channel and follow us on Facebook and Instagram!
