Show and Tell Zoo means that your child brings all the stuffed animals that can be sorted into the Zoo category. We will be making zoo habitats for our animals and turn our whole classroom into a path leading around the exhibits. See page 2 of this K News!

Last Friday was Manner's Day and I really appreciated the kindness and the response I heard from the students... "I like helping others." Thanks for dressing them up and helping them get excited for a formal learning day.

Today we signed our name to the back of each Kindergarten Graduation Invitation and put them in an envelope to take home. Each graduate received 5 invites and if you need more -just let me know. As it gets closer, I will ask how many chairs to set up for your family in the music room for this ceremony.

Charlotte's Web is just getting to the part where Wilbur meets the spider, his new friend. The voices in the barn are fun for me to read aloud. Especially the goose who stutters and repeats herself. I am happy with the way this class is writing notes and visualizing the story. This week I will ask for sentences about what is happening. If we don't finish it, I will pass it on to you as a Summer activity to read aloud at home.

Our Math Graph is with zoo animals. The business of running a zoo will teach us about estimating, counting and taking responsibility. We talk about mammals and make a zoo passport.

The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not be in want. He makes me lie down in green pastures, and leads me beside quiet waters. He restores my soul, He guides me in paths of righteousness for His Name's sake. Even though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for You are with me. Your rod and your staff they comfort me. You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies. You anoint my head with oil. My cup overflows. PSALM 23

There are life lessons in this passage and with this week being zoo week we will talk about being zoo keepers. Jesus is an excellent example of one who takes care of animals. We can be sure they have food and water, we can make them feel safe and comfort comes with care. The joy of doing a job well is overflowing! I see happy zookeepers as we work. God made the animals for you and me!
