OUR NATION'S HISTORY

The first Earth Day took place 55 years ago this month on April 22, 1970. Wisconsin Senator Gaylord Nelson, a Democrat, and California Congressman Pete McCloskey, a Republican, co-chaired events at schools, colleges, and parks across the U.S. that drew 20 million Americans outside on a Spring day to make a commitment to care for the environment. Earth Day is now celebrated in nearly 200 nations around the world.
