Michigan Law requires: During the first three years, a new teacher must receive at least fifteen days (90 hours) of intensive professional development induction into teaching, in addition to the five days of annual PD offered to all staff. The Tri-County New Teacher Academy will allow teachers to earn up to 18 hours toward this requirement each school year.

How do you know if a course will “count” toward your 90 hours of New Teacher Induction into Teaching hours? Ask yourself, does it/is it:

1. Serve the purpose of increasing student learning
2. Align with your school improvement plan
3. Planned, ongoing, and intensive
4. Supported in some way by the school or district, such as through released time or cost.
AND, most importantly,
5. You can explain how the training is relevant to your classroom role as a new teacher.

What does “District Provided” mean?

- Your district hosted the training.
- Your district paid for you to attend a training somewhere else.
- Your district allocated time and technology for you to attend a training.
- Your district paid you a stipend to attend.
- OR, they purchased training materials for your use.

What documentation should teachers keep?

New teachers should keep a copy of the flyers or certificates from any professional learning event they attend. This is true for the 150 hours needed to renew the certificate as well as the 90 hours of New Teacher Training. In an audit (done randomly and when there are red flags) by MDE, you will want all your documentation on hand. Keep your PIC number in a handy place such as your cell phone and log into MOECS to complete the SCECH/DPPD evaluations periodically.
