

Culinary students from RCSS had a chance to shine at two recent NCStar professional development events – one for middle/high school on September 8 in the Eastern Randolph High School (ERHS) media center and one for elementary school on September 14 at Randolph Community College.

NCStar is a web-based tool that guides a district or school team in charting its improvement and managing the continuous improvement process. Attending the events were school principals, process managers, school improvement team chairs, and teachers from school improvement teams. For the first event, a marvelous breakfast and lunch were provided by ERHS Foods 1 students and their teacher, Ms. Tiffany Luck. For the second event, a wonderful breakfast and lunch were provided by Southwestern Randolph High School Culinary Arts students and their teacher, Ms. Kelly Biggs.
