COLLEGE AND CAREER

Today is "Write it Out Wednesday" in the Student Mental Health Spirit Week. As the school year is coming to a close end it can be overwhelming and stressful to study and take finals. NAMI encourages you to write in a journal, write poetry, a letter, or simply write down your feelings and thoughts because it can reduce stress. Having it written down on paper can make things more clearer. You have come a long way and it could have been with the help of friends, families and teachers. (Leal 5/11)

Attention sophomores and juniors, there is a field trip opportunity this Saturday, May 14th to attend EAOP's Education, Leadership, and Careers Conference at UCSB.
