Work Policy:

*Work Points- no more than 10% of your grade will be based on (responsibility) homework points. Included in these points are class participation, on-time assignments, pre-class assignments (Bell Ringers), and post-class assignments. Post-class work may be done post-lesson, but does not necessarily have to be HomeWork if time is managed wisely.

*Late Work Policy- Assignments are due on the determined date. Students have 3 days to provide written notice documenting an excused absence, which allows for the work to be made up. It is your responsibility to manage your due dates and be timely in your work. You will find your work for the missing day on the Student Table in the back of the classroom. If you fall behind, you need to communicate a plan with your teacher. Work will only be accepted during the unit in which it was assigned. If you consistently miss due dates, your parent and/or administrators may become involved. Bottom line: Stay on top of your stuff.
