Are you a parent, teacher, or provider who cares for children or adults with autism? Are you frustrated and overwhelmed with navigating behavior issues? Do you want to learn about the root causes of behavior that other providers have overlooked? If you answered yes, then this event is for you!

Holistic approaches to behavior are essential to address the root causes of behavior. During the training, we will discuss the functions of behavior and the root causes and dig deeper into what questions we should ask to determine if underlying medical issues cause behavior. You will also walk away from the event with practical strategies and information about additional resources in your area.

Act 48 credit approval should be discussed with your district prior to the event
