ANNOUNCEMENTS

Yearbooks: Last chance to order your 2025 Chemic Yearbook!

Don't know if you ordered one already?

Check the list outside of room 325 next to the elevator & if you don't see your name, order online at www.yearbookforever.com

This is the only written record of the 24-25 school year & you don't want to miss out!

PARKING:

Attention Students!

We've had ongoing issues with students sharing parking spots. Please be reminded that parking spots are assigned to individual students only-one student, one spot.

Sharing spots creates problems, especially when both students are on campus and one ends up parking in someone else's assigned space. This leads to confusion and complaints we're working to avoid.

If you're currently sharing a spot with someone, stop immediately. Continued violations may result in parking privileges being revoked. Thank you for your cooperation.

POSITIVE THINKING

Embrace What Is

When 'what-if' thinking sets in, you might start making up scenarios that aren't true. Those scenarios that play out in your thinking may cause increased anxiety and fears and often involve imagining the worst possible situation. "If" is a very small world that can take up a lot of our brain space and time. But what-if never does anybody any good. All any of us ever have is What Is...and we need to make the most of it while we can.

SPORTS ACTION

Varsity Golf: The Boys Varsity Golf team placed 2nd in a field of 16 teams Monday at the Clio Country Club, one stroke short of 1st place. Of 96 golfers we had 3 golfers place in the top ten - Izaak Ringold, Landon Bartlett, and Jacob Lampi, all of them shooting in the 70's in tough, windy conditions.

JV Baseball: The Chemic JV baseball team came up short in a doubleheader against Mt. Pleasant on Tuesday night, falling in both games. Despite the losses, there were some bright spots at the plate. Maks Terrill led the Chemic offense with three hits across the two games, while Jaxon Arnold chipped in with a hit of his own. The Chemics will look to bounce back on Thursday as they travel to take on Grand Blanc.
