This Week's Agenda

- ❖ UFLI at home practice will guide you through the spelling pattern we are learning in class.
- ❖ Read 20 minutes each night and document it on your new November reading log that were sent home today. These are due at the end of the month.
If you need another reading log, please send me an email and I will make another for you.
- ❖ Math Practice sheets will reflect what we have been learning in class so that you can do a little more at home.
- ❖ Practice breaking words apart into syllables to read them piece-by-piece.

Practice At Home

Spelling: Diphthongs (oy, oi, ow, ou)

OY and OW are used to spell their sounds at the end of words. OW can be followed by 'l', 'n', or 'er'.

OI and OU are used to spell their sounds in the beginning or middle of words.

Reading: We will continue learning about what a paleontologist does by reading stories about famous paleontologists and their historical discoveries. We will practice answering multiple choice questions to check our reading comprehension.

Math: We will continue to investigate the efficiency of skip counting, and how it can be used to add or subtract.

Science: We will continue to learn about how seeds are dispersed, and how that affects what plants grow in certain habitats.
