	A1.09	The school expects students to participate in activities to develop skills outside of the classroom (e.g., service learning, clubs, athletics, enrichment opportunities, internships).(5090)	Implementation Status	Assigned To	Target Date

Initial Assessment:	Currently, only students involved in the sports, Beta Club, Diamond Painting, and Wildcat Media are members of a group. The staff understands the importance of students belonging to a group such as an athletic team, Wildcat Media, Beta Club, or Diamond Painting. The staff members of Southeastern Randolph Middle School also believe they should sponsor more groups so students will have more opportunities to become a member of a group. Currently, the staff is exploring different opportunities for students and locating staff members to sponsor groups.	No Development 09/20/2020
How it will look when fully met:	All students will be members of a group. These groups will include: Athletic Teams, Beta Club, Diamond Painting, and Wildcat Media. Other activities may become routine as staff could create a club based on interest. Due to the number of Clubs offered, all students could not be a member of these clubs as space is limited. The development of a house system would allow for members to be a part of a group and have a sense of belonging. The houses would consist of students across grade levels who have their own meetings, pep rallies, celebrations, and awards. Once a student enters the house, they will remain in the house for all years they are enrolled and attend Southeastern Randolph Middle School. Six houses will exist with multiple staff members being members of a house. Each year points will be awarded based on PBIS guidelines for students. Initial Assessment:

In some classes, teachers place students in groups and provide time for "turn and talk" or sharing during the class period. Students have limited time to work cooperatively to gain an understanding of the subject material. Often while in groups, students are still expected to complete work independently with no help from classroom peers. Typically, Science classes promote cooperative group work during lab situations.

	A3.07	Instructional teams and teachers use fine-grained data to design for each student a learning path tailored to that student's prior learning, personal interests, and aspirations.(5116)	Implementation Status	Assigned To	Target Date
Initial Assessment:		Teachers currently use data to group students and remediate or enrich based on group placements. Data is used for class placements at the conclusion of each school year. Students are not a part of this conversation with the exception of AVID. Students complete assessments and classwork. Conversations with students on the impact of their performance are rarely conducted. Furthermore, future implications are not shared regularly or universally.	Limited Development 09/08/2022
How it will look when fully met:		Teachers utilize data beyond the scope of "did not/met grade level" data to determine remediation and enrichment group opportunities. The student performance data from these groupings are tracked and discussed to monitor and adjust the instruction. The discussions shift from the student did not perform to the instruction was or was not impactful. Based on student data, the instructional approach is adjusted and promote a new way to approach the material.		Alyson McNamara	10/30/2023

Initial Assessment:		2016-2017: The current level of implementation is limited. Although some teachers use data to differentiate for student needs, few know how to differentiate and tier instruction. Our need to address this indicator stems from various data points such as quantiles. More than 58% of our students are not proficient in reading and math. Achieve 3000 and EOG lexiles from 2015-16 indicate that students who are not proficient range in reading grade equivalent levels from second to fourth grades. Think Through Math and quantiles reflect our needs in Math. These data tell us that there are students on varied levels that require multiple instructional approaches within the same classroom. Because of this great need, we are contacting those who may be able to come to our school to hold professional development on the topic of tiered instructional strategies. 2017-2018: Teachers are currently using the DuFour questions to drive Professional Learning Team discussions and implement differentiated tasks based on common assessment data to meet student needs. 2023-2024: Teachers are currently using the DuFour questions to drive Professional Learning Team discussions and implement differentiated tasks based on common assessment data to meet student needs.	Limited Development 09/12/2016
