NYC church arson suspect allegedly plotted more attacks, had violent notes like 'murder them' and 'rape him'

A homeless man accused of an arson attack on a historic New York City church admitted to burning the religious site, and prosecutors said he kept disturbing lists of targets of violence with categories such as "kill them" and "rape him" as he mapped out more fire attacks.

Texas Meteorologist Speaks Out After Viral Prayer: 'The Spirit of God Came Over Me'

The first time Bill Taylor prayed live on air happened six or seven years ago.

"I do remember in the hallway the next day, my boss was walking and [we] crossed paths and he said, 'Great job last night; I've gotten a lot of positive feedback,'" the San Antonio meteorologist recalled. "And I said, 'Thank you. Thank you very much.' And that was it."

New York nuns will not be forced to comply with assisted-suicide law while case progresses

A federal judge ruled this week that orders of nuns will not be forced by local state law to recommend medically assisted suicide to their patients while the case is pending in court. Four orders of Catholic nuns and several Catholic healthcare ministries sued the state of New York in late June regarding a new law that would force them to help terminally ill patients kill themselves, a severe violation of their Catholic faith.

An Arkansas family sues Grok

The artificial intelligence program is being blamed for helping spread child pornography. The Arkansas mom and dad say a photographer used Grok to turn innocent photos he took of their 10-year-old daughter and other kids into child porn with the help of Grok. The photographer has been arrested and charged with 200 counts of making indecent images of kids, but the parents say the AI company shares responsibility and should be punished.

We are debtors, to proclaim the Gospel by the electronic media, as trustees of our stations. God has given us influence beyond anything our natural abilities or personal goals would suggest.

Highlights from Letters to Power 88

My life had been a roller coaster of relationships, drinking & mostly drugs. When I accepted Jesus Christ into my life, I had to change radio stations because (it's true) old songs bring back old memories. I'm glad that your team is so positive and informative. My children and I will continue to support this station because of the positive emotionally uplifting message you bring
