

Everyone Needs A Little PRIDE!

What exactly is Pride? Well ... it is one of the hardest working groups of students in our school. Urging students to "just say no," this club stays terribly active. This year they and the Peer Facilitating Class were responsible for bringing Craig McFarlane, a motivational speaker; the annual blood drive; and many special programs to our school. Under the leadership of Mr. Mike Cambell, this club has really grown over the past few years.

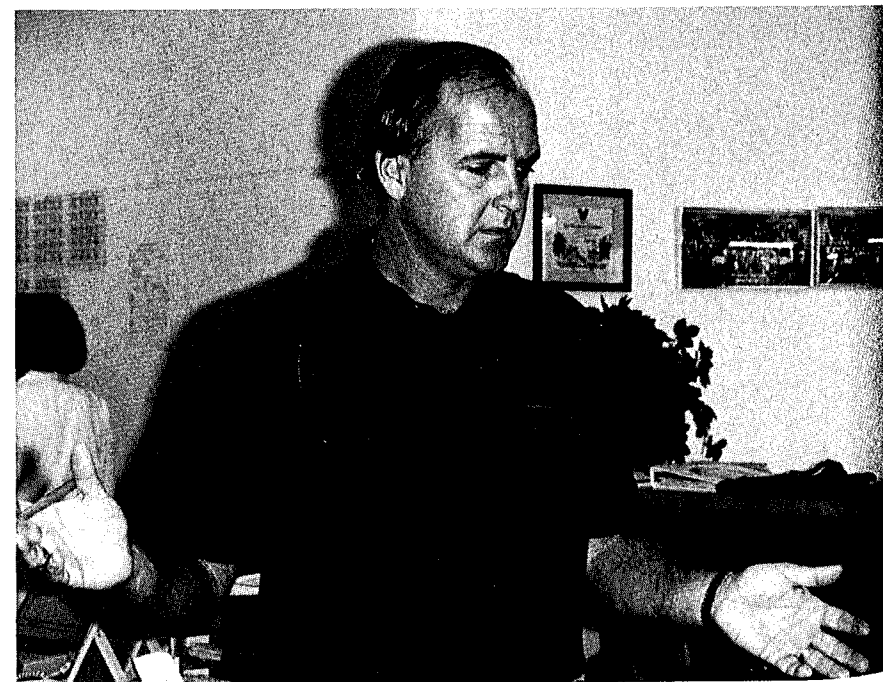

— Mary Garcia

Officers: Nikki Weaver, Pres.; Kelly Kovach, V.P.; Charlotte Cooper, Sec.; Carrie Gonzalez, Treas; Tiffany Liles, Choreographer.

Carrie Gonzalez, Amanda Bennett, and Shay Lewis fight peer pressure by dancing.

Pride's fearless leader, Mike Campbell, can't find a reason for taking a break from the blood drive.

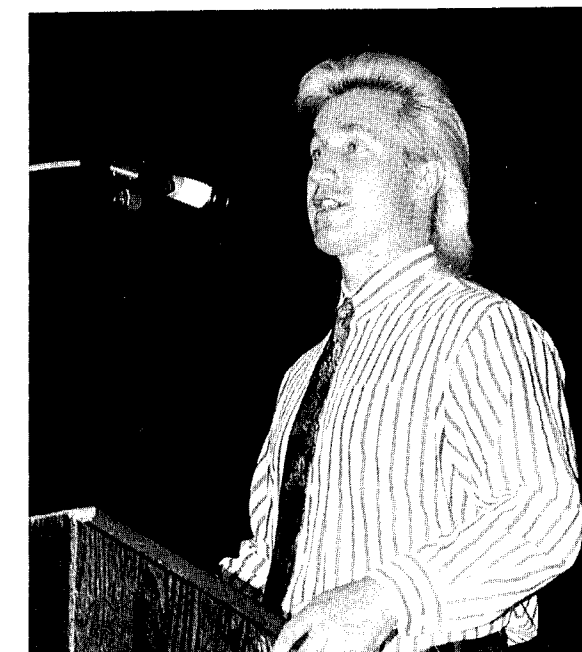

Chris Hannah thinks that it's better to give than to receive, at least when you're talking about blood!

Though this wreck wasn't real, the peer facilitating class simulates life and death to teach a valuable lesson.

Pride's guest speaker, Craig McFarlane, proved to be truly inspiring.

In Step and In Line

R.O.T.C. has proven to be more than just a class this year. Members were trained for their futures. Most students plan to join the military.

The Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps attended parades, rifle matches, and color guard performances. The Rifle Team competed at Universities all over Florida. Also, parades were held every six weeks.

Everyone did an excellent job and each deserved to win their colorful ribbons.

Congratulations, JROTC!

— Marlina Carter

Major Neff checks to see that the Army pilots are on time, or in time, or some time, while Sgt. Chavuzzi makes sure they haven't lifted his wallet.

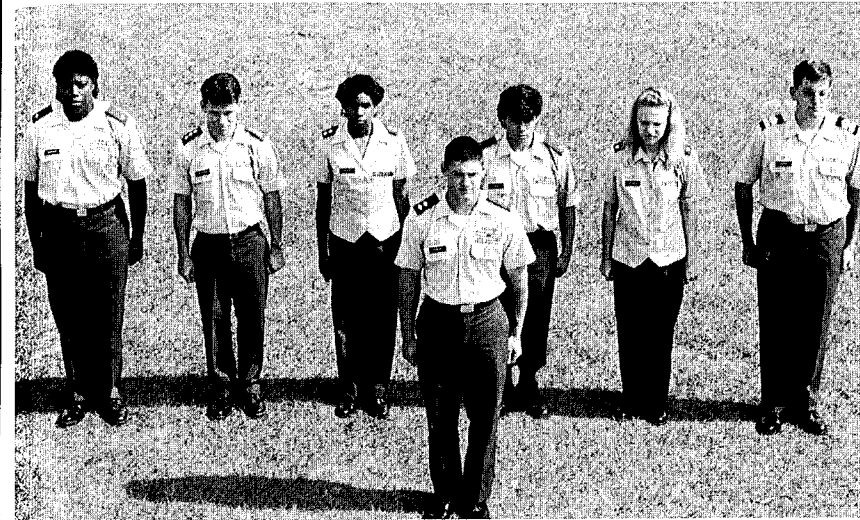

Some members march to the beat of a different drummer.

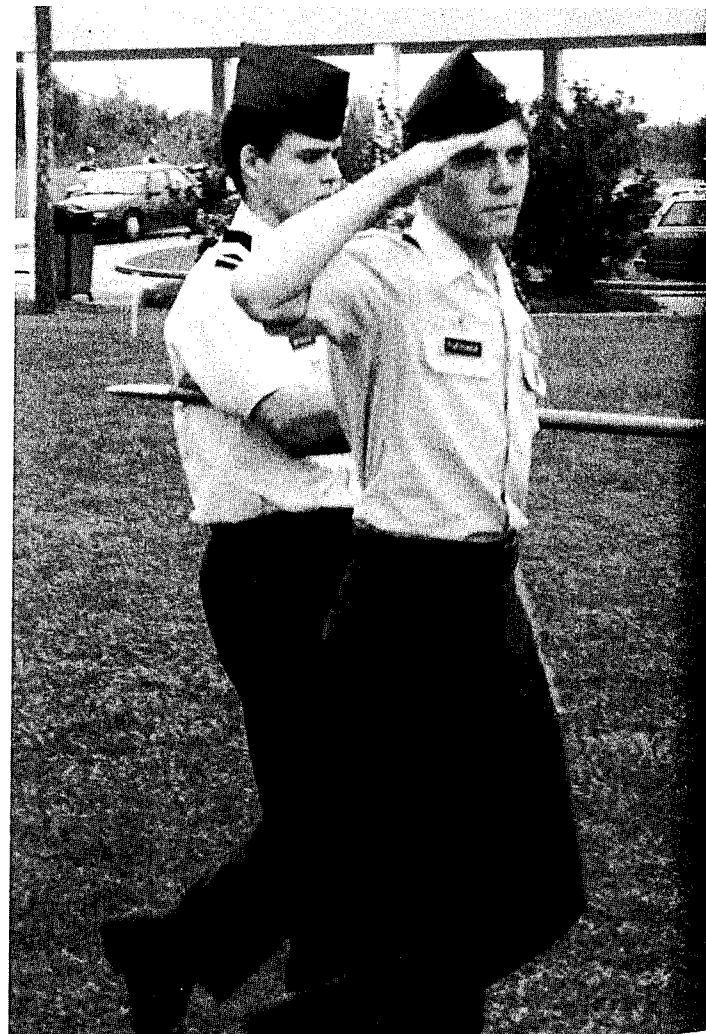

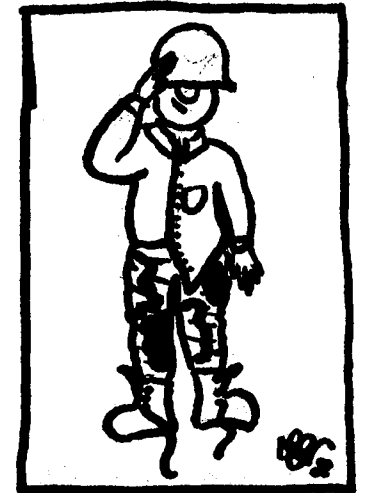

Major Neff, who's never at a loss for a good gesture is commander of the LWHS JROTC unit.

They Kept Us in the Lines

Mr. Windham makes our job easier because he is so supportive. He is seen here signing a Bryn Alan contract.

Mrs. Smiley helped us fill out forms and keep our finances straight and this always with a smile!

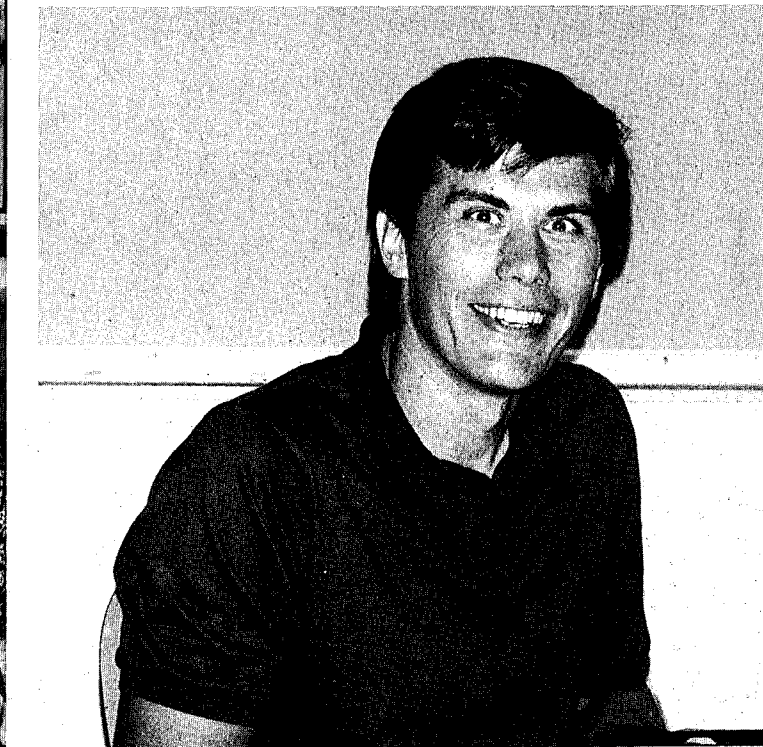

Trevor Moseley was always willing to help the yearbook even though he wasn't officially on the staff. He took pictures for us, and was our liaison with Precious Memories, the one-hour photo shop in town.

Mrs. McCullough kept us out of trouble with the county finance policies, and ran interference with Mr. Windham.

Mrs. Wells graciously allowed us to keep our financial records on her computer and spend much time in her room, all with her help.

Mr. Webb helped us with our photo developing, went to athletic events to capture the action, and often generously shared his team shots with us.

Mrs. Fugate actually helped us out with senior pages and supplied all of our class rolls, names, and answered grade status problems.

Headlines, Red Lines, & DEADLINES

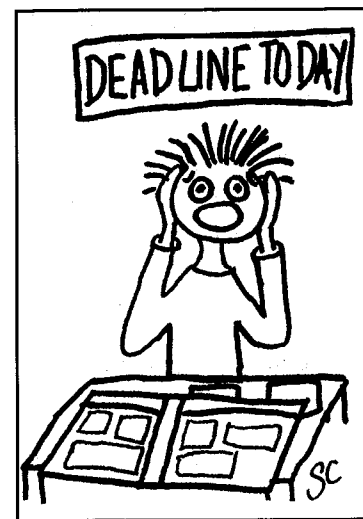

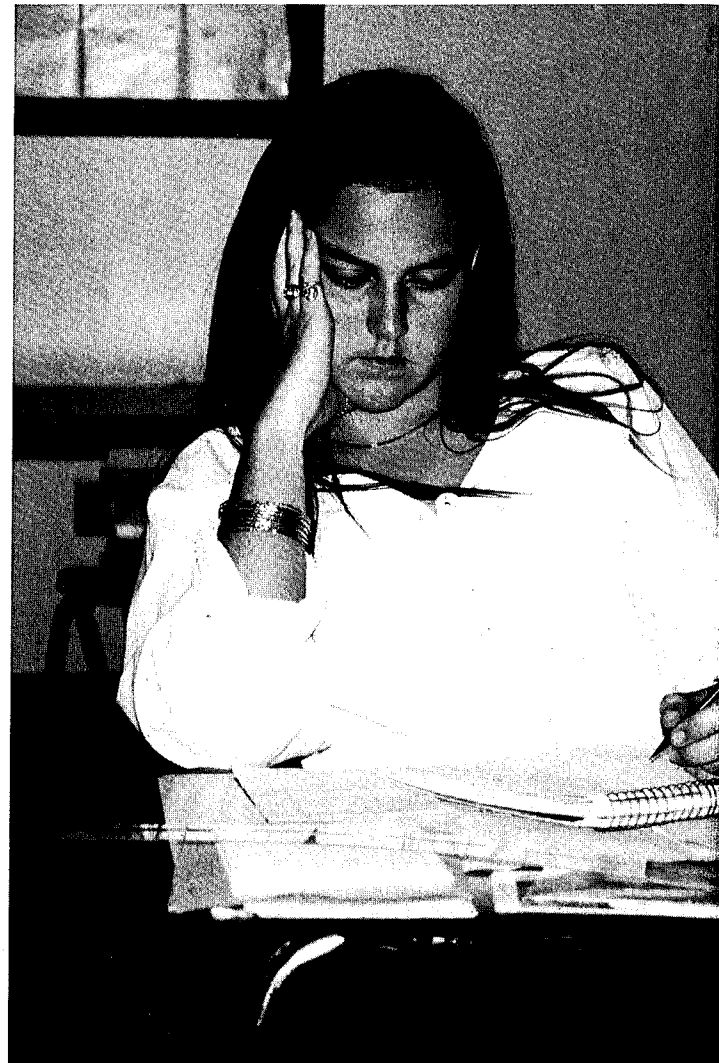

For many years the yearbook staff has helped make memories last forever. The annual staff for this year is certainly no exception. Many long hours were spent in the "staff headquarters" after school and even on WEEKENDS! Teacher, sponsor, and very hard worker, Mrs. Coburn, helped members produce the (once again) wonderful Crown Jewel. The Sec. Editors spent days trying to agree on a title for the 92-93 yearbook. Finally an agreement was made, and

"Sometimes we're just the blind leading the blind." Mat Snyder after much work, you now hold the finished product in your hands. Filled with original cartoons, bright colors, and cheerful students, Stay Within the Lines was truly worth all of the effort and every staff member hopes you agree. Always remember "stay within the lines" for "the lines are our friends!"

— Marlina Carter

Gloom, doom, and deadlines! The joy radiates from Marlina Carter's face as she labors after school.

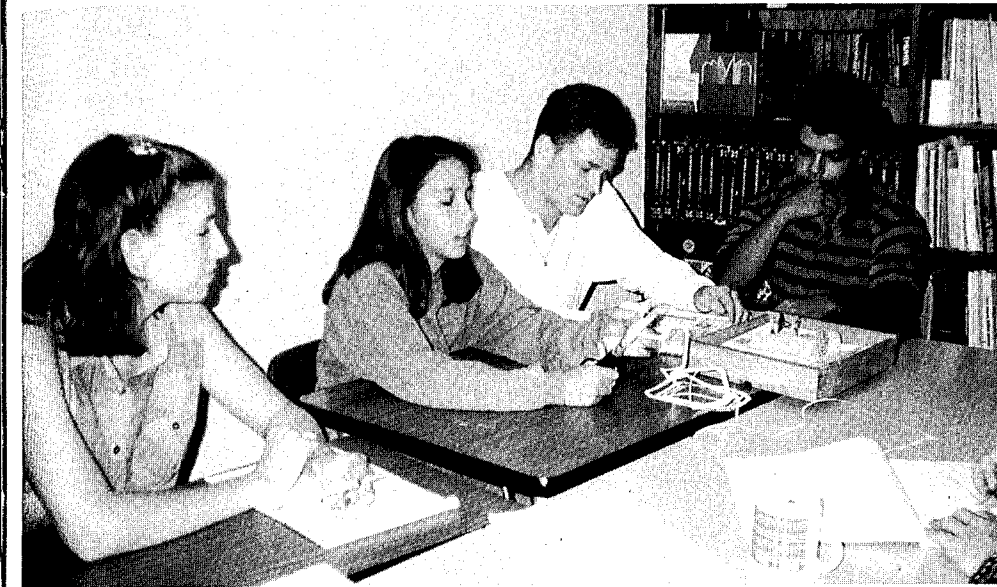

Jennifer Beasley learned the true meaning of teamwork when Bobbie Smith helped her with the Sophomore pages.

Christie Elmendorf slaves away on another typesheet while John Maggard, her section editor, offers friendly advice.

The early days: Michele Hoag, Mary Garcia, Matt Snyder, and Manuel Medina throw around ideas for the yearbook's theme.

Jennifer Acreman and Mark Lettman confer on picture selections.

Editorial Line-up: Mary Garcia, Reema Samhan, Matt Snyder, Tasha Taylor, Lara Meacher, Jennifer Acreman, Manuel Medina, Angela Holbrook, and Michele Hoag.

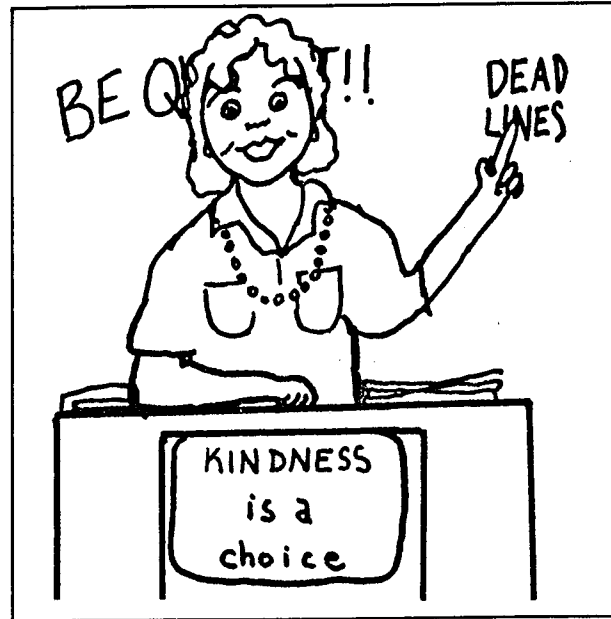

Sara Fasel, Tori Joyner, Chris Salud, Tasha Taylor, Kim Wasson, Manuel Medina, Christie Elmendorf, Matt White, Mark Lettman, Angela Holbrook, Bobbie Smith, Matt Snyder, Jennifer Beasley, Michele Hoag, Marlina Carter, Stephanie Ryland, Sarah Christoph, Jennifer Acreman, Lara Meacher, Reema Samhan, Jakhui Duren, Sharon Ceranic, and Mary Garcia make a point of staying in line.

Angela Holbrook shows spirit for both Homecoming and Journalism.

Keeping the Line!

Like last year, a book of this quality is no accident. We have tried to give special recognition to a few who helped us this year, but there are others whom I need to thank. At the head of my list is our executive editor, Michele Hoag. Her dedication to quality was unshakeable and her sacrifices of time and energy seemed endless. She stands tall in a field of exceptional senior editors whom I have had the privilege to advise. I can't thank her enough for her superior execution of the most difficult job that can be given a high school student — Executive Editor of the yearbook!

I want to thank the yearbook staff for their hard work and loyalty. They have made great strides in their mastery of a difficult job. They have shown a willingness to learn, and an unusual readiness to accept the criticism it takes to achieve excellence. I have seen some very special young people attain a high degree of responsibility and maturity.

I need to thank one more large group of students who made this year not only a success, but a pleasure — my English classes! Had it not been for their phenomenal cooperation, sense of humor, patience, and love, I couldn't have made it through the year. You're the BEST 1st, 2nd, 3rd, & 5th Per!

— C.L. Coburn, Advisor

My two years in Journalism was a great experience for me. It taught me to be a leader when I never thought I could. I learned a great deal more about responsibility. I had to organize my time for many unexpected problems which had to be dealt with directly. Journalism is a real eye opener, for it lets you know if you can handle life. It's tough but real.

I was very lucky this year that I had a great, hard-working annual staff. I can't say I didn't have doubts — for everyone does, but they were quickly laid to rest along with some of our handicaps. A unique feature this year was to have section editors to take some responsibility off my shoulders. They guided and made sure the first year staffers assigned to them were working. Our rookies were a tremendous help; they worked just as hard as the second and third year students. Because of the variety of students, many creative ideas were added to this book, like folio tabs (page titles), art, cartoons, and so much more.

Executive Editor

One person the annual staff could not have survived without was Mrs. Coburn, our advisor. She is truly amazing. She spent countless hours helping students with their layouts, pictures, copy, and captions. She let us explore our creative sides, but helped us make this yearbook excellent and rememberable. Two more people I'd like to thank are Echo Bales and Tori Joyner. I was fortunate to have such industrious staffers to work with on my sections.

I hope everyone likes this yearbook, because a lot of time and effort was put into it by everyone. I am proud to have been its Executive Editor.

Yearbook Editorial Staff

Mary Garcia — Faculty

"Being a part of the staff this year was a real experience and thanks to everyone we have a book that I feel proud to have helped put together."

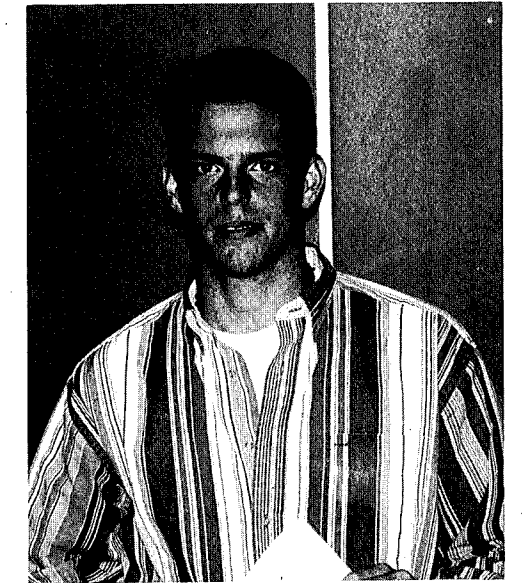

Angela Holbrook — Open., Jr., Index

"Working on the Opening and Junior Class sections taught me more responsibility and thanks to Sara Fasel and Matt White, I learned how valuable team work can be."

John Maggard — Sports

"Journalism is a tough class that demands a lot of extra work and care. A wise man once said, 'One can learn by failing' and believe me I did."

Manuel Medina — Academics

Matt Snyder — Freshman, Clubs

Tasha Taylor — Ads

"Both of my long hard years of Journalism have been a great experience. And the feeling you get when you see the finished yearbook almost makes the pain and sweat worthwhile."

"Journalism is not merely a class but a way of life. However, if a picture is worth a thousand words, why do I have to write so much copy?"

"I've been in Journalism three years. My first year was very hard. I quickly learned that you have to get the work done or suffer the consequences."

Outstanding Rookies

This year the annual staff was truly blessed. For not only were there experienced returning students, but also many new students joined. At first there were some questions. Had they joined only to be with their friends? Did they really want to learn how to do this? Soon all doubts were relieved. What a pleasant surprise! Everyone worked hard to produce a great yearbook, and can't be congratulated enough. The following nine people deserve the extra recognition. They did everything we asked and went beyond the call of duty to find out if there was anything else they could do. They truly know the meaning of the word "commitment". Thanks for your hard work, Rookies!

— Michele Hoag

Sharon Ceranic — Showed the most progress, took constructive criticism, was always working

Sarah Christoph — Interpretive artwork, wrote excellent copy and asked for things to do

Christy Elmendorf — Was dedicated, had drive, and didn't accept impossible odds, she changed them

Sara Fasel — Always worked, was willing to learn, always helpful and did extra work

Echo Bales — (moved away) From day one showed loyalty, intelligence and dependability

Angela Fletcher — Worked against all odds on layouts and took over finances before she had to

Tori Joyner — Jumped right in after Echo left and spent much extra time on Journalism

Bobbie Smith — All pages early, extra work, extra typing, etc. . . overall, great helper!

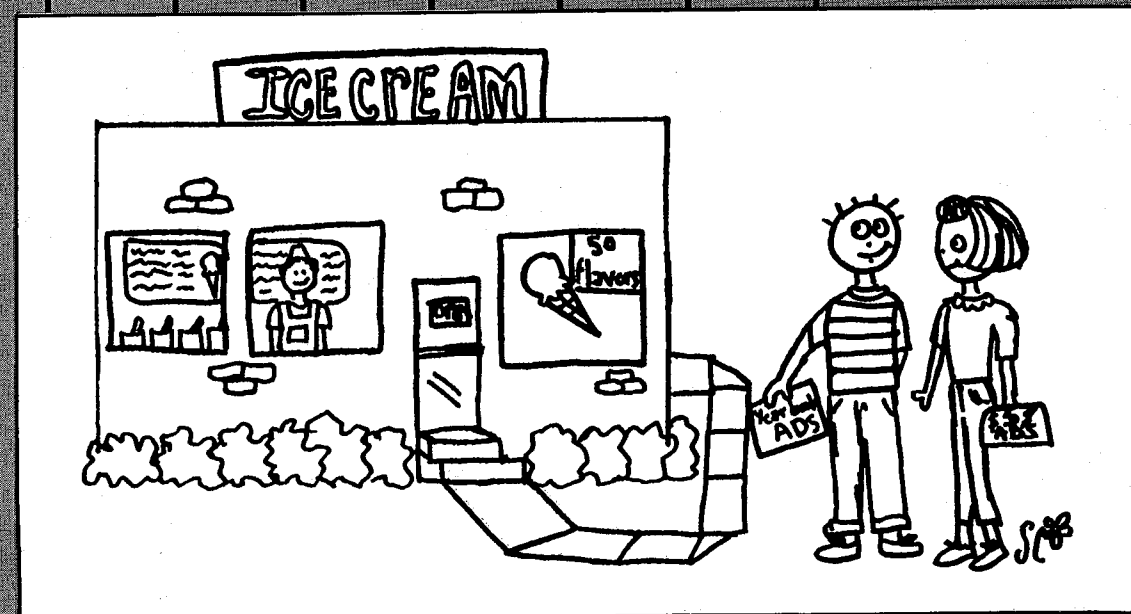

Kim Wasson — Beat a stacked deck and overcame impossible odds to hand her spreads in on time

Tina Goheen, Dawn Baily, Chris Baker, and Susannah Herndon, were dedicated leaders in this year's assortment of projects which started with the relief effort for Hurricane Andrew.

Mrs. Chambers is a very dedicated sponsor. She puts in a lot of extra time with the club, especially around Homecoming. At meetings, she doesn't just stand back, she listens to what all the members have to say and takes the suggestions seriously.

Tina Goheen, Jada Crews, Laura Turnquist, Jamie Koon, and April Caraway worked at the YMCA Halloween Party for 1,500 Lake Wales kids. This was the second year of Student Government participation in this community activity.

We are so proud of you — and love
you very much!

Dad, Mom, Joey, & Jimmy

Ginger,
 Runabouts at pre-school is where it all began,
 With dress up, licky sticks, and a box of sand.
 Then came "Hillcrest, Hillcrest always best".
 With the carnival, patrols, Mr. E and the rest.
 McLaughlin was a world all its own —
 Hair spray, Student Government, and the phone.
 At last a Freshman you became,
 With band, boys, and softball your game.
 The Sophomore year brought more of the same.
 Scottish dancer/majorette were added to your name.
 Your Junior year really flew by!
 With band, tennis, and prom your days did fly —
 You're a Senior now, it's hard to believe.
 Soon Lake Wales High you will leave.
 It's all gone too fast,
 This is true.
 We're glad memories last,
 And, we're proud of you!
 Love, MOM, DAD, RUSTY, BIGGIE, KATIE

With love, pride,
 and respect,
 MOM, DAD, & GREG

The years have flown and my how you've grown — from a little girl into a young lady.

The passing of time will age us all, but to us you'll always be our baby!

We love you,
MOM, DAD, and LANCE

Tony,
You have brought us so much happiness through the years. We have enjoyed it all! We love you and we are proud of you. May your future hold everything you hope for.
LOVE,
MOM, DAD,
KEVIN & STACY

Congratulations
Tracy
We're proud of you

Love,
Mom, Grandma,
Dad,
Barry, Michael,
Troy

Congratulations
on another BIG step! From your proud & Loving Family

From Start . . . to Starting Over
and all your tomorrows,
We are now, and always have been very proud of you, Eric.
Congratulations, Son!

Eric Brant Coburn

We love you very much,
Mom & Dad

Congratulations
Annie Brunt!

Andy,
As you ride off into your future, remember I love you.

Mom

We had to start somewhere!
Just as long as we finish together.
