Trojans of the Week

6th Grade

Team 6A is pumped to announce their TOW! This student is academically driven and works with a quiet diligence each day to excel in all of their classes. As 6A teachers have gotten to know this student better, we have seen a kind, sweet spirit and a witty sense of humor emerge. This student is involved in the DMS Choir, Junior American Citizen Club, and is a student in Plus One. We expect to see BIG things from our TOW. Go be great, CHARLI! You make 6A proud!

6C's Trojan of the Week shows a strong work ethic in his studies as well as his extracurricular activities. He doesn't seek after the spotlight but prefers to let his work speak for itself, always striving for excellence. He's well mannered, a friend to everyone, and never has an unkind word for anyone. It has been said to "Run when you can, walk if you have to, crawl if you must; just never give up." Whether in the classroom or running at a cross country meet, this young man keeps pushing through. That's why we're proud to announce Rhett as our 6C Trojan of the Week.

My Trojan of the Week is a young student that has impressed me (which is hard to do for me as most of you know) with his work ethic as a 6th grader this far. He has gotten better as a player on the grid iron as well as done his diligence in the classroom. I have observed his efforts in my classroom as well as his hub area. His teachers have praised him for his effort and persistence for working to excel with his school work. On the field, as this is his first year of football, he has grown leaps and bounds with his play and understanding of the game. I look at him as being a leader among his peers. His character is what has stood out. To me, he has represented our school with pride. Coach Al's Trojan of the Week is Silas.

7th Grade

Our TOW always does the right thing even when no one is watching. This says a lot about his character. He greets us with a smile every morning, gives us his best effort, and asks questions when needed. We love his positive attitude. He is on the DMS football and track teams as well as a member of DMS choir. We are so lucky to have Devanti as our 7A TOW!

Congratulations to Team 7C's Trojan of the Week! She is a model student and an extraordinary individual who excels both academically and athletically. As a straight-A student and a dedicated member of Beta Club, she consistently demonstrates a strong commitment to her education. Beyond the classroom, she is a talented athlete in both basketball and volleyball, and her drive and teamwork are truly inspiring. This 7th grader is also an asset in the school choir, 4-H Club, FFA, and Energy Club and is known for her kindness, responsibility, and positive citizenship, being a friend to all and always being seen doing the right thing. We are so proud to have Katherine as part of our school community!

This week's Trojan of the Week is a student who leads by example in every way. He works hard in class and always strives to do his very best. He isn't afraid to ask questions, volunteers answers confidently, and serves as a positive role model to those around him.

His creativity and determination especially stood out during a recent 3D design project, where he custom-designed and printed his own creation to help him on the golf course with impressive skill and persistence. He is dependable, shows strong leadership qualities, and is the kind of student others can look up to.

Mrs. Roy is incredibly proud of your effort, attitude, and excellence! Congratulations, Bentley! You truly embody what it means to be a Trojan!

8th Grade

This week, we're proud to recognize Jaslynn Thompson, a student who leads with quiet confidence and steady dedication. While she may be soft-spoken, Jaslynn's intelligence, kindness, and strong work ethic stand out in everything she does. As a member of the basketball team, she brings the same teamwork and commitment into the classroom, always ready to support others during group work. She is very responsible and ready to jump in and help whenever she sees the need.

Jaslynn is not only a great student but also a thoughtful friend and a positive presence in our school community. With her calm and mature demeanor, she sets a great example of how to handle any situation that may arise throughout the day. Her teachers truly enjoy having her on our team, and her classmates know they can count on her. We're lucky to have Jaslynn on team 8C, and we're excited to celebrate all that she brings to our school.

Our Trojan of the week is involved in tennis, Trojan dance team, and FCA. She is a leader in the classroom by always staying on task, helping others stay on task, and going the extra mile. She is always willing to participate in class discussions and lead the discussions at times when no one else is willing to. She is kind and respectful to her fellow classmates and teachers. We are proud to announce Brooklyn as 8C's Trojan of the Week.
