CUMBERLAND COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

Foreword

A remembered strain of our Alma Mater, a certain shade of blue or gold, a picture of an old classmate, or the name of a teacher we have known, and no matter how many years may have passed, we will be once more students at C.C.H.S.

We will always be a part of the history of the school, and it will always be a part of us. We will never forget a special game, or a certain day, or a very special person. Even small happenings will never vanish from our memories. Acquaintances we have made will always be as close to our hearts as our reminiscences as we go through life into the future started when we were in high school.

The Plateau Staff has tried to portray the life of the student, showing the making of memories.

Dedication

Sallie Lanquist

Sallie Lanquist, the wife of Tennessee's Outstanding Young Farmer, Mr. Edward Lanquist, is seldom seen at her desk during a class, because she is almost always working individually with her students. In her "free" periods, she is busy organizing In-Service meetings, co-ordinating the work of the English Department, working with the journalism students, or doing something to improve the curriculum. She is business and literary advisor of Jetstream and Jet Contrail. Because her influence on the school has been so far-reaching, and because she has meant so much in our individual lives, we of the Plateau Staff are proud and happy to dedicate our 1969 Plateau to Mrs. Lanquist.

Cumberland County Board of Education

The Board of Education has every right to be proud of its new headquarters in the great new stadium. Pictured at a recent meeting are seven members of a nine-member board and the Superintendent, Mr. Gibson. Seated with Mr. Gibson are Mr. J. E. Parrott, Mr. Beecher Frazier, Mr. Hubert Tollett, Mrs. Dorothy Kindred, Mrs. John Bristow. Standing are Mr. John Bristow, Mr. Alvin Hamby, and Dr. Donathan Ivey. Below are the names of members and the districts they represent:

Member at large	Dr. Donathan R. Ivey
First District	Ralph Strachn
Second District	J. E. Parrott
Third District	Hubert Tollett
Fourth District	John Bristow, Chairman
Fifth District	Vernon Austin
Sixth District	Dorothy Kindred
Seventh District	Andrew Hamby
Eighth District	Beecher Frasier

Mr. Everett Gibson, B. S., M. A.

Superintendent of Cumberland County Schools

Mr. Everett Gibson is no stranger to Cumberland County High School. For several years he was our Principal, and he is now the Voters' Choice for the office of Superintendent of Cumberland County Schools. Mr. Gibson is a capable farmer in his spare time. He teaches a Sunday School class in the Presbyterian Church of Big Lick, and he is never too busy to befriend a child or to do his share of civic and community duties.

A Principal's work is never done. Mr. Potts comes early and works late. Under his leadership the curriculum has expanded, innovations have been introduced, and new equipment has been added. Yet the Gentleman in the Office has not lost the human touch. In the midst of planning sessions, in-service meetings, conferences, and the pressures of living, Mr. Potts keeps his friendly smile, gives us time to discuss our own problems with him, and helps us work out a solution. Yet there were times when some of us wondered how he could just look at us and know whether or not we were telling the truth.

Mr. Thomas E. Potts Principal

Mr. Thomas J. Upshaw Assistant Principal

In order to give Mr. Potts more time for the administrative duties of an ever-expanding curriculum, the Board employed Mr. Thomas J. Upshaw as Assistant Principal. Instead of imposing new rules, he set about trying to help students see their own short-comings and correct their own mistakes. By enforcing the rules already in effect, by being alert to danger signals, and by maintaining a watch over ourselves as individuals, he and Mr. Potts believe that our discipline problems will never be very large.

In the front office Mrs. Burrell Harris and Mrs. M. W. Chadwell are in charge of the business as bookkeeper and secretary respectively.

The area in front of the building was a good place to meet with friends while waiting for the car or the bus. Other friendships had their beginning here. Whether we called it "the prison" or "the jail" or "our dear school," we loved it and were lonely for it when we could not be there, even if we denied the fact.

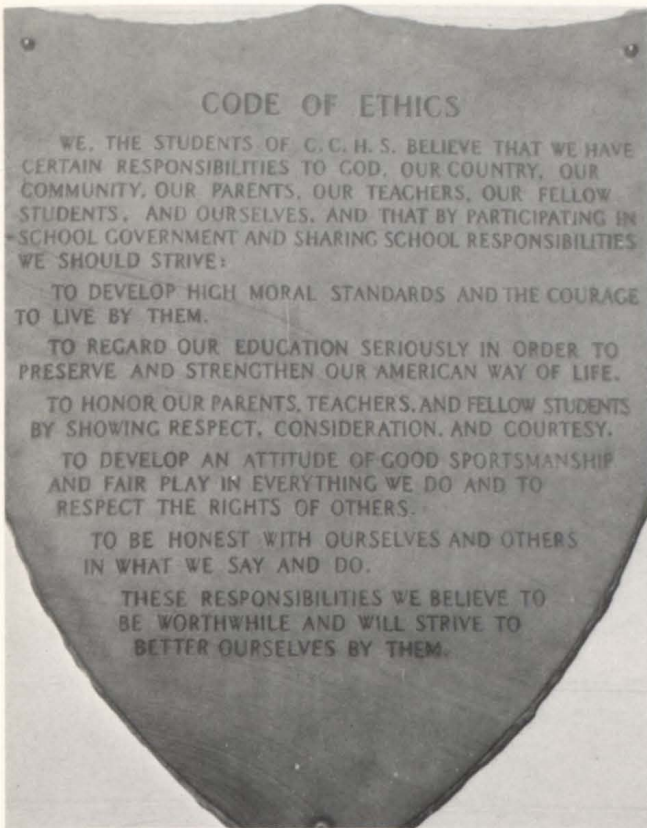

There were those memorable times, too, when we marched in school parades, with the flag waving before us, our majorettes leading us, and the sound of our band playing martial music.

It's the Small Things We'll Remember...

There were those proud moments when we saw our rings for the first time, and realized all they meant to us. That pale blue stone, that gold mounting, and twelve years of memories..

Among the things that bound our student body together in the memorable school year of 1968-'69 were these: The Crab Orchard stone shield with our Code of Ethics engraved on it. It reminded us that as responsible young people, we had a duty to our school – the duty of making it the best. We knew that its quality was, in a large measure, up to us;

*... For They Are
The Ties That Bind
Us To Our School.*

... and we were proud of our band, especially when it came home with a big trophy. Much of the credit went to our new director, Mr. Robert Stepp.

The Jet that Senator Albert Gore helped us to get was another unifying factor, for we were all proud of it, and liked to think of it as "Our Own Private Jet."

At noon we are served delicious, wholesome meals, quickly, efficiently, and courteously. The lunch program is constantly improving and becoming more effective. More than a thousand meals are served daily in less that two hours.

Everyday Needs-1968-'69

The Card Catalog is kept up to date and is used daily by a large number of our students, and we will always remember how helpful were the people of the library force.

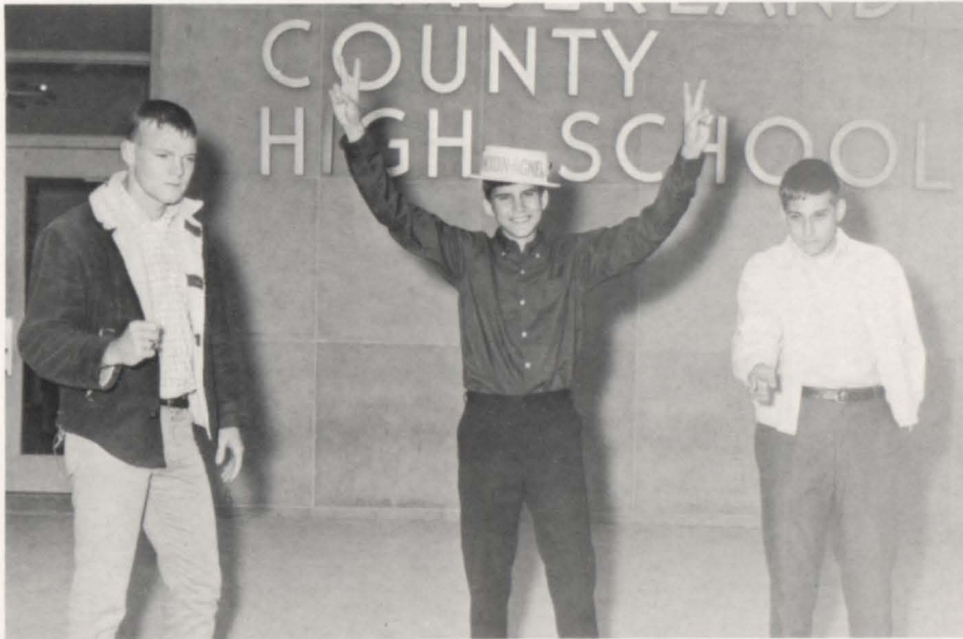

Every day finds us needing something from the school store. The paper for that theme, the paperback book for that report, the folder for that term paper all can be obtained here.

Election, 1968

Election Day became very real when Mr. Woodrow Wilson sponsored a school election. Katherine Kirkemide was one of the election workers who assisted students in casting their ballots. Most students and teachers voted.

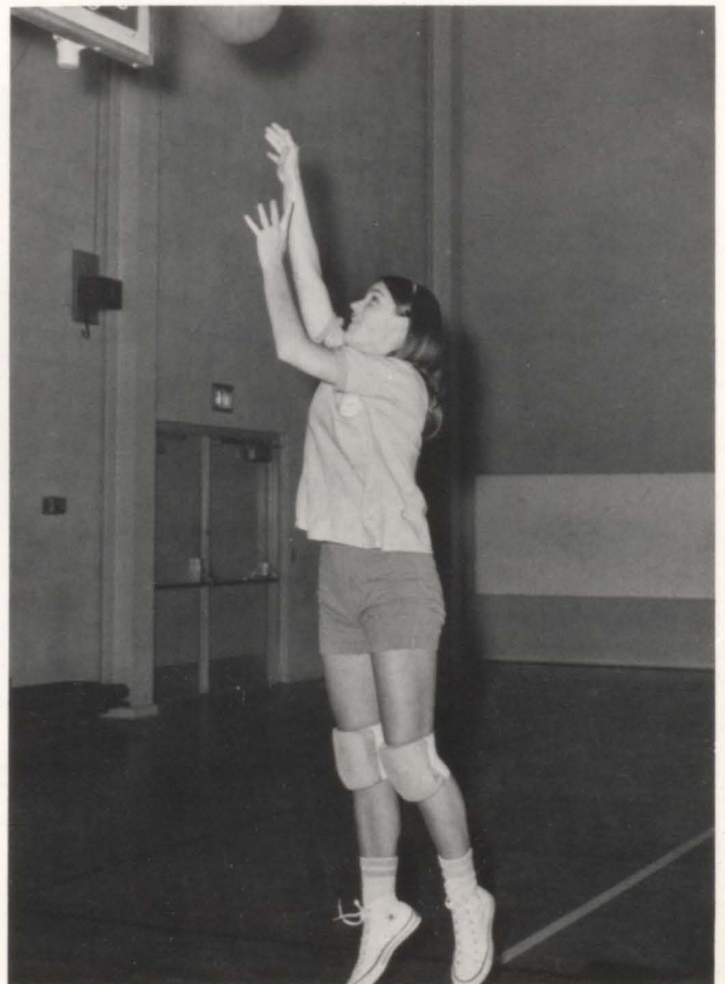

Earl Taylor as George Wallace, Johnny Simmons as Richard Nixon, and Fred Fekete as Hubert H. Humphrey pose for the camera. Wallace won in the student precinct, but Nixon won in the teachers precinct, as well as in County, State, and Nation.

Our life included pep rallies and practice sessions...

It's not all grandstand performance. To be something requires long hours of faithful practice, day after day whether it is playing the big Sousaphone or becoming a star in basketball, football, baseball, or cheerleading.

Our life is controlled by bells that send us into the classrooms, jingle-jingle-jingle; out into the halls, jangle-jangle-jangle; out for a fire-drill, bong-bong-bong; and back again to the classrooms, ding-ding-ding.

Our lives are controlled by report cards, too, such as these pretty salmon-colored ones Mrs. Lanquist is checking.

Our lives are controlled by machines such as projectors, computers, and gadgets—in the classroom and out of it.

CCHS cooperates fully with Tennessee Technological University in the Student Teaching program. Thus we come into contact with new and interesting personalities such as Miss Anne Cameron, Miss Louise Duncan, Miss Carol Condor, Mr. Dan Parker, Mr. David Mulkie, Mr. Roger Scott, and Dr. Robert DuBey.

Miss Louise Duncan was assigned to Mrs. Lanquist. We came to know her, not only in the classroom, but through our contacts with her in the lunchroom, at ball games, and in other school activities.

The Student Teachers Arrive

Miss Anne Cameron taught with Miss Bertha Evelyn Wilson during the first quarter. Sometimes it seemed puzzling to us how they found so much beauty and so much humor in Hamlet where we saw mostly "Words, words, words!"

STOREHOUSE OF KNOWLEDGE—What would a school be without a library? This is one of the most useful places in the school, because it is here that we go for information. Yet here, too, we receive inspiration from the seasonal displays that always brighten the room, whether it be Christmas, Easter, a famous birthday, or an almost-forgotten holiday.

TRAINING CENTER—The library is not only our storehouse of information, but our training center. Here many students get training in library work, in self-discipline, and many other valuable experiences.

Campus Personalities

Important to all students is the assurance that someone is available to give "aid and comfort" in their special needs. Someone must be available to help find "that book," or inform them about that job, or sell them a pack of paper. These special people make the way of the student easier and do it with a smile.

ENGLISH IV—C.P. Report card time is happy time for those who have faithfully followed Mrs. Lanquist's instructions, written their themes, and read their books. If there are those who haven't . . .

Senior English

ENGLISH IV pauses in the busy world of Chaucer, Shakespeare, Goldsmith, Dickens, Tennyson, and Churchill, to sing Christmas carols. Dick Lowery is the volunteer song leader in homeroom exercises before class begins.

Miss Bertha Evelyn Wilson, A.B., English IV, Plateau Advisor

ENGLISH II gives the student a background in basic facts of grammar, composition, and rhetoric. Mrs. Betty Jo Davidson takes a new approach to a new subject.

Mrs. Betty Jo Davidson, A.B.
English II

Sophomore and Junior English

Mrs. Joan Bean, A.B.
English III

ENGLISH III, taught here by Miss Amanda Uffleman, A.B., whose picture was not available, is much the same course, as any good Junior English course. American literature is a valuable part of the year's work.

ENGLISH II gives students additional fundamentals in the use of language that is both beautiful and socially acceptable. Mrs. Crowder tries to impress upon her students the importance of learning correct usage in order to become more well-adjusted, more efficient, and more interesting.

Mrs. Lou Crowder, A.B.

Sophomore English

Mrs. Kaye Amos, A.B.
English II, III

Personal instruction is extremely important in the teaching process. Mrs. Amos enjoys this individual instruction and spends much of her class period in helping students with their problems in sentence structure, paragraphing, and theme writing.

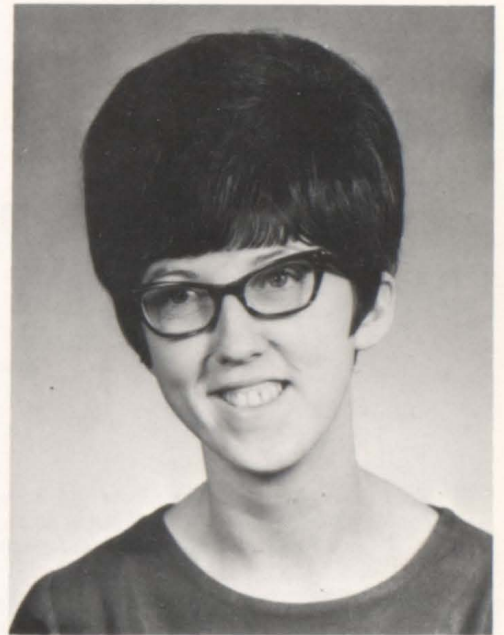

Miss Barbara Taber, B.S.
Business English, Typing I,
General Business

BUSINESS ENGLISH is a new course in our school. As a part of our expanding curriculum, it is an effort to prepare the student for the business world.

Business English and Journalism

JOURNALISM has expanded so that it carries on more and more of the process of "putting out the paper" right in the classroom. Mrs. Sallie Lanquist, the teacher, is assisted by Mr. James Robertson, a new member of our faculty.

Miss Brenda Taber, B.S.

When Miss Barbara Taber left us in January to work on her Master's degree at the University of Tennessee, her sister, Miss Brenda, took her place. The transition was orderly, and allowed work to continue uninterrupted.

RADIO is one of the innovations in this year's curriculum. In addition to her training in this field, Mrs. Kirkeminde has had several years of practical experience with a local radio station.

Mrs. Patricia Kirkeminde, B.S., M.A.
Radio, American Literature

Radio, Drama and Speech

Mrs. Eileen Sims, A.B., A.M.
Speech, Drama

SPEECH AND DRAMA have been more important this year because of the fact that they are not limited to one-period courses. Mrs. Sims' classroom becomes a little theater or a senate chamber, as the case requires.

ART has made remarkable progress in the two years that CCHS has had a serious art program. Not only are art students painting with confidence, but they are having opportunities to show their work as well as see the works of outstanding artists.

Mr. Joseph E. Hodges, A.B., A.M.

Art and Music

MUSIC as a means of vocal expression is probably as old as the human race. When Mr. Wheaton resigned, the Chorus was fortunate in securing Mr. Mason Smith to continue with them. Interest is high and morale is excellent and so, also, is the music.

No picture of Mr. Smith was available.

Mr. Edwin White, B.S., M.A.
English I

ENGLISH I can never be dull with Mr. White in the classroom, because of his Puckish sense of humor and his use of his many talents.

Freshman English

ENGLISH I under Mrs. Fox emphasizes the importance and the pleasure of reading. Students learn that reading can be fun.

SPANISH I "Feliz Navidad!" is a pleasant time for Dr. Paz's Spanish students who combine work and pleasure as they learn the basics of a second language.

Mr. Herman Rozolsky, B.S.
American History, Sociology

AMERICAN HISTORY students find that history is not all dates and presidential administrations and wars. They find that it relates to their daily lives.

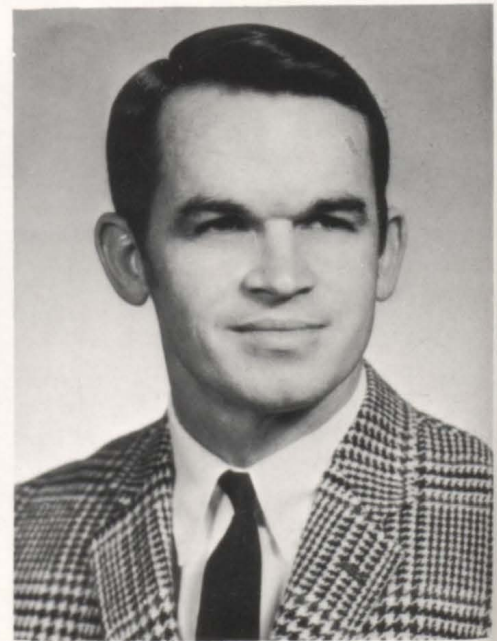

Ancient History and American History

ANCIENT HISTORY becomes modern under the guiding hand of Mr. Paul Strunk, as he shows how the culture of the present grows out of that of the past.

AMERICAN HISTORY provides students with a look at the past as well as a view of the future.

Typing I

TYPING I gets off to a good start and will become very important to these students in their high school careers, as well in after years. By learning first things first, they will be better qualified for the work of the future.

Typing I

TYPING I begins, of course, with the typewriter. Mrs. Raper wants each student to understand the machine itself before he begins to write. In this way correct habits can be established and nothing will have to be unlearned.

Mrs. Wilma Raper, B.S.

BIOLOGY II "Do I have to stick my finger in here?" asks Margaret Miller as the class studies the human body. This is an advanced course, designed for superior students who already know the first principles of Biology.

Mrs. Sue Thompson, B.S.
General Science

GENERAL SCIENCE students learn from their mistakes. Mrs. Thompson carefully reviews their tests to show them their errors, and to impress on their minds the correct scientific facts.

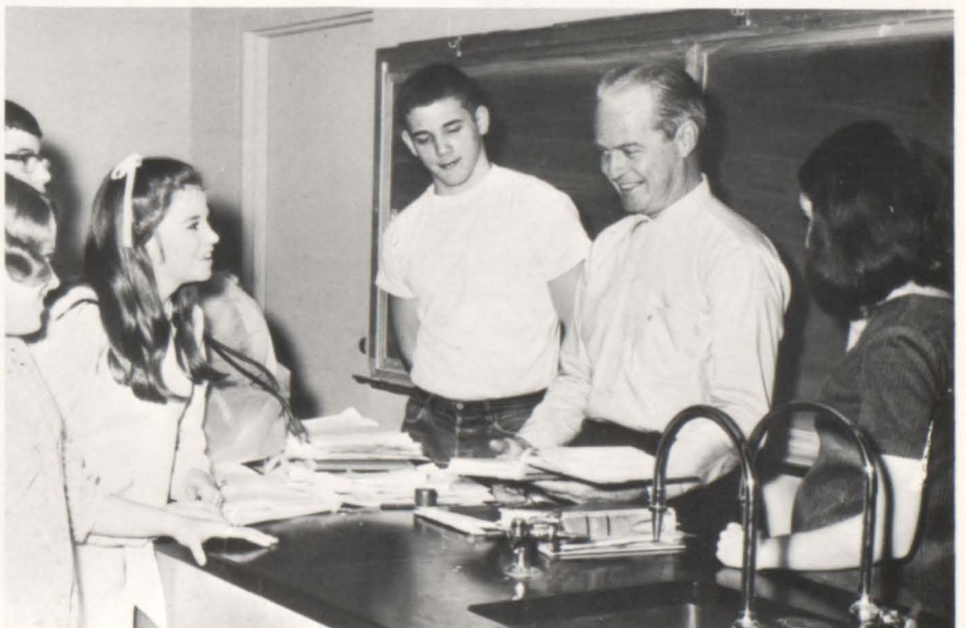

GENERAL SCIENCE students learn from observation. Mr. Bell's students have made careful observations and recorded the results of the experiments they have performed. Each student in every class has his chance for improvement.

MR. AND MISS SCHOOL SPIRIT

School Spirit

School Spirit is like the weather—everybody talks about it, but relatively few do anything about it. Horace Burgess and Vivian Warner, however, are determined to do more than talk about the need for it. As Miss and Mr. School Spirit, they are very vocal.

Clubs and Activities

The Plateau Staff

Staff members prepare to box up their work and get it off to the publishers. Hovering about for a last look at their handiwork before it goes are the staff. Peggy Campbell Editor, and Frances Burgess, Assistant, inspect the final copy. Miss Wilson holds the box for mailing.

Preparing a yearbook is a long year's work. Few realize the hours that go into the making of such a book. The staff attempts to involve every student in the life it portrays.

Jetstream

JETSTREAM produces the literary art magazine of the school. Members are Cathy Smith, Marsha Tarbell, Regina Warner, , Connie Braddock, Teri Tuck, Nancy Hyder, Margie Hale, Susie Wilson, Jan Rogers, Jan Beyer, Laura Brookhart, Barbie Strachn. Newspaper sponsors Mr. Robertson and Mrs. Lanquist offer suggestions to Gary Cotter, Shirley Polson, and Kay Hamby on the articles for that week's paper.

What's happening? CCHS students always know what is going on because of the good news coverage of the JET CONTRAIL staff.

Best All-Around

Wayne Keyes

and Vivian Warner

To be the Best-All-Around, a student must have participated in a variety of activities. Vivian Warner is a member of the Beta Club, President of the Student Council, a basketball player, and winner of the DAR Good Citizenship pin. Wayne Keyes, an active Future Farmer of America, is the material of which good farmers, good community-leaders, and good citizens are made.

Most Co-operative

Robert Marlow

and Susie Wilson

Robert Marlow and Susan Wilson are the Most Cooperative because they enjoy doing their part. They enjoy working with others. They are alert for ways to work with others in causes for the betterment of the group.

Most Likely to Succeed

Eddie Neal

and Kathy Frank

Eddie Neal and Kathy Frank succeed so well in their undertakings that they were elected Most Likely to Succeed. Miss Kathy has been class president, Jetset editor, Youth Optimist Award winner, Beta Club member and a Jet Contrail contributor. Eddie is a perfectionist. He has the determination to be a real success.

Most Studious

Andrew Lewis

and Margaret Miller

Most Studious Andrew Lewis and Margaret Miller may not actually study more than some of their classmates, but they have learned how to do it effectively and efficiently. Both have chalked up enviable scholastic records for their entire four years. Andrew won the DAR medal for citizenship this year.

Best Looking

Tony Noland

and Mary Sue Adams

Tony Noland and Mary Sue Adams do not need to ask, "Do I look all right?" because they always do. Besides having physique of an athlete, or the figure of a model, each has features that appeal to the eye. Enhanced with personality and charm, they were easy winners of their superlative titles.

Best Dressed

Reb Ivey and Sharon Carey

Reb Ivey and Sharon Carey could probably look well-dressed even in a hippy out-fit, simply because they have a manner that makes them look well-groomed in anything they put on. But because they are this kind of people, they will probably continue to be well-dressed people all their lives.

Most School-Spirited

Connie Ledford

and Horace Burgess

School spirit, like Mark Twain's weather, is something everyone talks about, but does little. Not so in the case of Connie Ledford and Horace Burgess. They are ardent supporters of our teams; they are faithful attendants at our games; they are enthusiastic fans for our school. They are not content with having it alone. They want to share their enthusiasm for their school with others.

Most Athletic

Wally Stewart

and Sandy Bilbrey

The names Wally Stewart and Sandy Bilbrey automatically bring to mind many of the successes that we have enjoyed in sports. Both "inherit" an interest in athletic activities, and have participated in our athletic programs during most of their high school careers. Sandy's specialty is basketball and Wally's is football.

Most Courteous

Diana Hennessee and Alfred Robertson

Few qualities are more to be desired than courtesy. Their classmates are convinced that among them the most courteous are Diana Hennessee and Alfred Robertson.

Most Individual

Robert Safdie and Annette Henderson

Robbie Safdie and Annette Henderson are distinct individuals. They are also non-conformists. They do things their own way, express their own opinions, and have every intention of living their own lives. This is why they were voted Most Individual.

Most Talented

Butch Sutton and Jan Rogers

When one thinks of talent, one automatically thinks of art, music, drama, literary achievement. Butch Sutton and Jan Rogers possess most of these talents.

Wittiest

Bill Smart

and Linda Tollett

Wit and humor seem to be natural assets of Bill Smart and Linda Tollett. No party can be dull when they are present to liven it.

Friendliest

Eugene Tollett

and Kay Sherrill

Eugene Tollett has a big, friendly grin that does not recognize strangers, and Kay Sherrill could smile her way into the Iron Curtain, if she chose. Back of these gestures of friendship are hearts that transplant their warmth and kindness to all around them. Smiley and Kay are nice people—pleasant people—to know.

Most Popular

Linda Bowen

and Earl Taylor

Linda Bowen and Earl Taylor have personalities that draw others into their aura. Their good nature, their friendliness, their readiness to do their part, are all factors in making them the most popular members of the Senior class.

Band Sweetheart

Enchanting Barbara Strachn was our Band Sweetheart. Mr. Robert Stepp, our new band director appraises the choice of his musicians.

Mr. and Miss School Spirit

Horace Burgess and Susie Miller were chosen Mr. and Miss School Spirit because of their loyalty to the teams and their enthusiastic expression of it.

Zacky Day Activities

Competition was keen as the racers tore away from the starting line. Wayne Keyes and John Thompson were running almost neck and neck—or wheel and wheel.

Any race can have an upset. Dauntless Joyce Couch did not remain long on the ground.

What will it prove? The superiority of men, the superiority of machines? The power of man over the machine? Who knows!

Sandy Bilbrey decided that it wasn't much like basketball.

Katherine Kirkemide crossed the finish line with a shout of triumph.

Homecoming Parade

Streamers flying, kids cheering, voices ringing with laughter and fun—This was of a parade that triggered off a gigantic weekend.

All through the town, the color guard in the lead, follows the band providing lively music.

Walking, riding, the students came behind the class floats.

A Hero's Reward

A hero's reward awaits the senior players at Homecoming.

"Give 'Em A Merry Go Round"

Color and originality characterized the Junior Class Float which was awarded the honor of being first choice of the judges.

Junior Class Float is named the winner.

Cheering the team on to victory, the CCHS Band out does itself to make a band show to be remembered.

"End of the Line in '69"

Although the theme of the Senior Class float was "End of the line in '69," every senior knows that every line has two ends, and while they may have reached the finish end of one line, they are at the beginning end of another very important line. This peppy little engine is carrying them symbolically to a great future.

Football Queen is Miss Margie Hale

Pretty Margie Hale began her reign when she was crowned by Captain Jerry Graham and Co-captain Jeep Goodwin.

The school year of 1968-1969 saw the Athletics Department making important gains in the athletics world. The naming of Larry Majors as new Head Coach suggested great things ahead for the Jets. They expanded their activities and dropped their bombs in new territory for bigger and better gains, winning over some of the strongest teams in their area.

As the Jets end a great season, no one, especially the team dare say our football varsity is not worth the name "The Mighty Jets." Co-captain Jerry Graham and Captain Jeep Goodwin look back over the games and see that it was not all knocks, bangs, and work—even though these did play a big part—but it was all worth being a part of the great Jet team.

Majors and Pemberton have the last word before the team goes onto the field.

Determined that no scalp of theirs should dangle from a Cherokee belt, the Jets zoomed to victory.

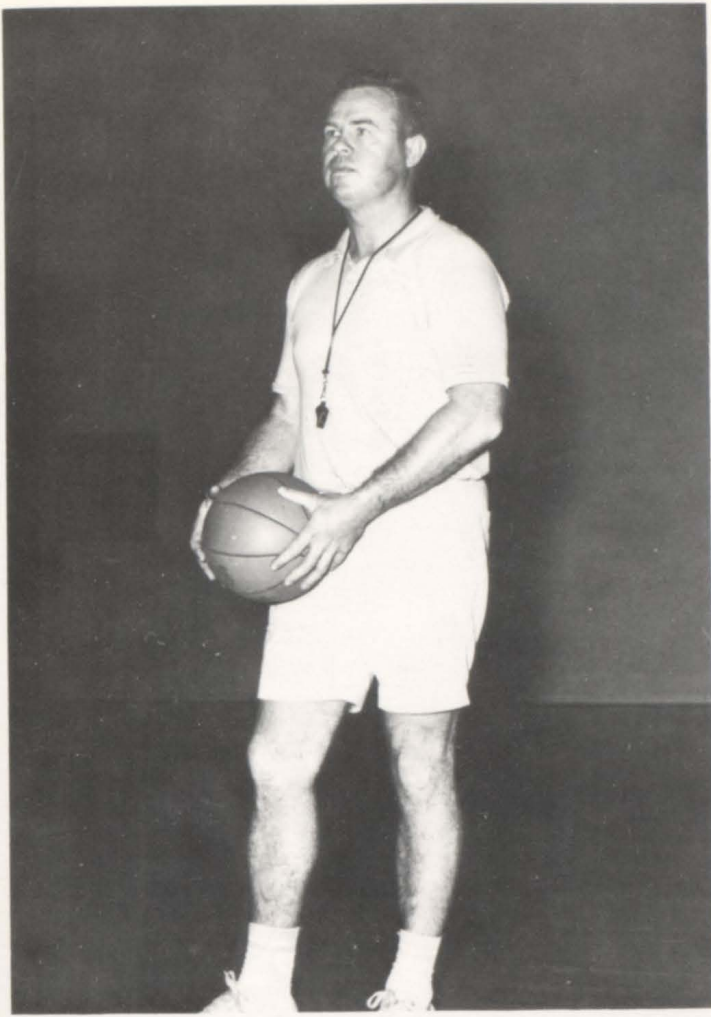

Homecoming: beautiful playing, beautiful score, beautiful victory. That's why Homecoming is special.

At the end of the season everyone looks forward to next season's prospects. Judging from these Freshmen, prospects for '69-'70 should be good.

Another step in the victory over Cookeville is taken by Martha Kemmer.

Kay Sherrill, Ruth Ann Smith, and Martha Kemmer symbolize the fact that team effort leads to victory and a great season.

UP, UP, AND IN. For one brief moment the world stands still and then the scoreboard tells that the mighty Jets have scored again.

TAKE THAT BALL AWAY! The backbone of any good team is how good the guards are. Jets proved their good guardsmanship in the Tournaments, as is showed here.

IT WAS A HARD FIGHT. Jettettes had a good season, they fought hard and won many games. In the tournaments, they reached the semi-finals, but no one can deny they are one of the best Tennessee teams and still should have our utmost trust and support.

Winona Hassler dodges a Jackson County player and scores two points for Jettettes.

SHERRILL ADDS TWO. The block failed and Vickie Sherrill scored two points, as Jackson fights to overcome her. Plays such as this show us why they went to semi-finals.

LIKE AN ASTRONAUT inside his spacecraft, Steve Hamby looks out from the Senior float, and views the rest of this orbiting world.

Steve Hamby and Terri Smith pose beside a potted rhododendron in a moment of relaxation from the busy cares of the school day world.

BANNER JOB—Public spirited students, some of them seniors, made this banner for National Education Week's Open House.

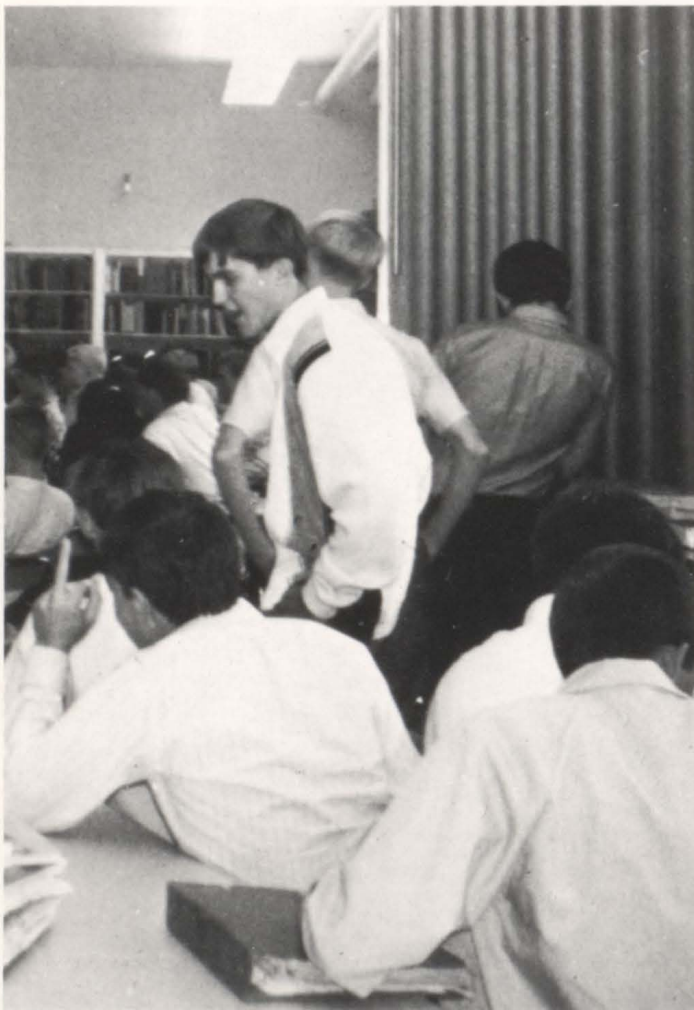

SHOE SHINE GIRL

Senior Future Teachers get a free shoe shine from lower class members of FTA during Initiation Day.

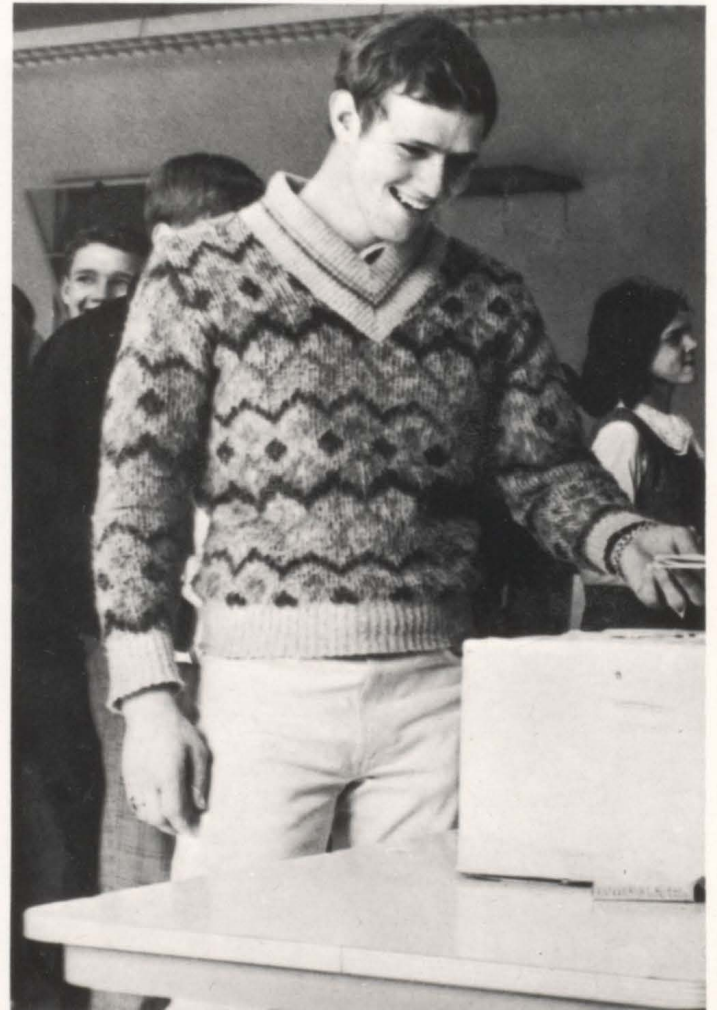

Senior Static

Seniors enjoy being heard. On the telephone, in the classroom, wherever they are, they enjoy expressing their opinions. Lou Ann Taylor, Linda Gore, and Vivian Warner use the Alexander Graham Bell system of communication; a group of Mr. Wilson's students air their views to each other; Leslie "Red" Goss expresses his opinion by ballot.

GAB SESSION

THE POWER OF THE BALLOT

GO, TEAM, GO! Fred Fekete cheers his team on with a mighty roar in the battle of the student team against the faculty team. Mr. Holloway and Mr. Way are showing less excitement . . . because their team is winning anyway.

MRS. LANQUIST and STANLEY MAYNARD work at the endless job of reading manuscripts for Jetstream.

To Our Readers

With gratitude for your continued support, we present our students and patrons with another pictorial record of our ever-expanding school plant. We are proud of our fine student body, and we are happy to tell their story. Through the facilities our people have provided, and the many opportunities for character building, which our plant offers, we believe that many of those whose life is pictured here will go out into a world that needs truly great leadership and fill that need.

The Plateau Staff.
