Description	Research into how young children learn mathematics supports a learning trajectories approach. In a learning trajectories approach, teachers look at where a child is developmentally within a math strand and engage the child with play-based, age-appropriate activities to move the child to the next level. This session is based on research developed by Douglas H. Clements and Julie Sarama, authors of the Pre-K curriculum Connect 4 Learning. The session will allow extensive time for teachers to collaboratively explore Learning and Teaching with Learning Trajectories [LT]². [LT]² is an open-access, web-based tool for early childhood educators. Visit LearningTrajectories.org for interactive games and practical tools that support classroom learning. Teachers are encouraged to bring a laptop; contact Vicky Erdman if you will need to borrow one from the ISD. You may wish to create a free LearningTrajectories.org account ahead of time.
