MEMORANDUM

TO: Randolph County Board of Education
Dr. Stephen Gainey, Superintendent

FROM: Amber Ward, Public Information Officer

DATE: March 18, 2024

RE: Battle of the Books

Congratulations to Coleridge Elementary School, Randleman Middle School, and Providence Grove High School on winning the Randolph County School System's 2024 "Battle of the Books" competitions.

The elementary school "Battle of the Books" teams across our district competed virtually in the preliminary competition on February 20-21 to determine which schools would advance to the final district competition. The final round took place on March 6 at Randolph Community College.

Our middle school and high school "Battle of the Books" competitions were held at Randolph Community College on March 4.

Coleridge Elementary School advances to the elementary school regional competition, with the date and location to be announced.

Randleman Middle School advances to the middle school regional competition in Winston-Salem on Saturday, March 23.

Providence Grove High School advances to the high school regional competition at Southern Guilford High School on April 6.
