WILLIAMSBURG COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICT OFFICE OF SPECIAL SERVICES HOSTS STAFF TRAINING FOR UPCOMING SCHOOL YEAR

The Williamsburg County School District (WCSD) Office of Special Services is actively preparing for the upcoming academic year by conducting a week-long professional training session at Kingstree Middle Magnet School of the Arts, the week of July 14-17th.

The training brings together special education teachers, support staff, and curriculum implementation consultants to enhance instructional practices, review compliance procedures, and strengthen service delivery for students with disabilities.

“This training ensures our staff is fully equipped to meet the diverse needs of all learners across the district,” said Thelvanesa Murphy-Greene, Executive Director of Special Services. “We are committed to providing high-quality support, fostering inclusion, and promoting success for every student we serve.”

Topics covered during the training include:

- IEP compliance and documentation best practices
- Instructional strategies for diverse learners
- Positive behavioral interventions and supports (PBIS)
- Updates on federal and state special education guidelines
- Collaborative planning with general education teachers
- Curriculum alignment to standards

This annual training reflects WCSD’s dedication to continuous improvement, staff development, and equity in education.
