

Archdale Elementary School – 50th Day of School

The 50th day of school has already come and gone, but at Archdale Elementary, that day was a blast from the past. First graders read stories from the time period, heard music, and even had root beer floats! They also had fun learning about clothes and making books for the 50's. They discussed some differences and similarities of then and now.

