Look Who's Here

FEBRUARY 21, 1941

Director: MRS. GRACE NORTON

Those of you who were the "dear public" remember a thrill, a laugh a minute, and several members of the Senior Class in their play, "Look Who's Here."

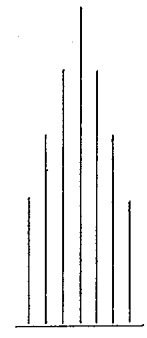

The interesting plot centered around the country home of Dilson Petrey and his extravagant wife, Wanetta Koestline. A surprising climax and happy ending was brought about when invalid Aunt Alice, Evelyn Kelly, was finally brought around to approve of marriage and to decide to leave her entire estate to Dilson.

The romance was supplied by Pete Ellis and Bobbie Bennett portraying a typical lover's quarrel. The plot thickened when Mary Vogt and Elsie Curtis entered the scene lending their bits to make everything seem right and also complicating matters. "Whitey" Whitehurst was a grocery boy and provided many laughs while Imogene Wiseman was the only person who could be Jenny, that maid extraordinary.

With a climax pleasing to all those concerned and Aunt Alice quite happy about the whole thing, the curtain went down on a very happy ending and successful play for the Seniors of 1941.

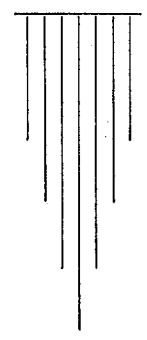

Compliments and bouquets to the set committee consisting of John Longfield Smith, Stage Manager, with the help of Snowden Long, Property Manager, Virginia Akers assisted by Vivian Roberts and Carol Sherman, Prompter, for handling the lights, sounds, stage, and prompting so well.

Senior Class History

ACT I Scene I

Time: September, 1930

Place: Lake Wales Public School

First Teacher: My, such small children! We'll have our hands full this year with Evelyn Kelly, Elsie Curtis, Pete Ellis, and Harold Phillips around.

Second Teacher: When you see such a fine group of youngsters, it makes you wonder what the world has in store for them.

Scene II

Time: June, 1937

Place: Junior High Building

Mary Vogt: Just think, Pete, I can scarcely believe that we've been going to school eight whole years.

Pete Ellis: Yes, and you know, Mary, I really thought sometimes that I would just give up and not try anymore. Gosh, I'm glad I didn't.

Mary Vogt: Look, here comes Harold Phillips. I'll bet he's glad he tried now that he has won the American Legion Award.

Scene III

Time: June, 1938

Place: Senior High Building

Evelyn Kelly: Well, Thelma, how do you like high school after the first year?

Thelma Wright: I've had loads of fun, especially with Mrs. Norton as our class sponsor, but we've certainly had to study harder than ever.

Evelyn Kelly: Wasn't the picnic at Kissingen Springs fun?

Thelma Wright: I'll say, and oh, what food!

ACT II

Time: June, 1939

Place: Campus

Roy Chastain: So long, everybody, I'll see you next year.

Bob Collier: Guess I will, too.

Darold Cherry: Here's hoping.

Roy Chastain: By the way, Bob, you're so quiet, I haven't heard you say anything about all that's happened.

Bob Collier: I may be quiet but that's no sign I didn't enjoy that class picnic at Eagle Lake this year. It's lots of fun to have the juniors and seniors together.

Darold Cherry: Say, don't you wish you could have been chosen as Charter Probationers of the National Honor Society just organized like Evelyn Kelly and Mary Kenney?

Roy and Bob: I'll say! Who doesn't?

ACT III

Time: March, 1940

Place: Wales High

Pete Ellis: Hasn't this year started off with a bang?

Dilson Petrey: You mean by winning the Ridge Championship?

Pete Ellis: Yes, and wasn't the class swell about trying to earn plenty of money for the junior-senior banquet?

Dilson Petrey: By the way, have you heard where it's to be held?

Pete Ellis: No, where?

Dilson Petrey: At the Lake Shore Hotel. But I wonder what the theme will be?

Pete Ellis: Here comes Putt; maybe she knows.

Dilson Petrey: Do you know how we're going to decorate for the banquet?

Putt Boucher: Yes, in colonial style, but we have more important matters to think about right now. The class play, "Little Miss Fortune," for instance!

Marion Hamburg: What's the matter with those two?

Dilson Petrey: Oh, it's something about a play. Don't you have a part, something about a "brat"?

Marion Hamburg: Yeah, they always pick on me!

Dilson Petrey: Cheer up, here's more news: Mary Vogt and Harold Phillips have been chosen to represent our class in the May Court.

ACT IV

Time: June, 1941

Place: Backstage after graduation

Irece Chelette: Look, girls, isn't my diploma a beauty?

Marion Hamburg: So is mine. I really feel like a queen tonight.

Irece Chelette: You were an attendant in the May Court.

Marion Hamburg: Didn't Mary and Harold make a grand-looking couple for the May Fete?

Irece Chelette: Not only that, but this whole year has been a great success, with Willard Wiseman and Pete Ellis chosen to play on the All-Polk football team.

Marion Hamburg: And Harold Phillips winning the Polk County Supply trophy for being the most valuable member on the team.

Irece Chelette: Then there was the senior play, "Look Who's Here" with Wanetta and Dilson making oh—what-a-couple!

Marion Hamburg: Don't forget that Pee Wee and Harold made the Honor Society.

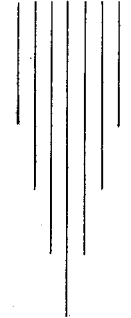

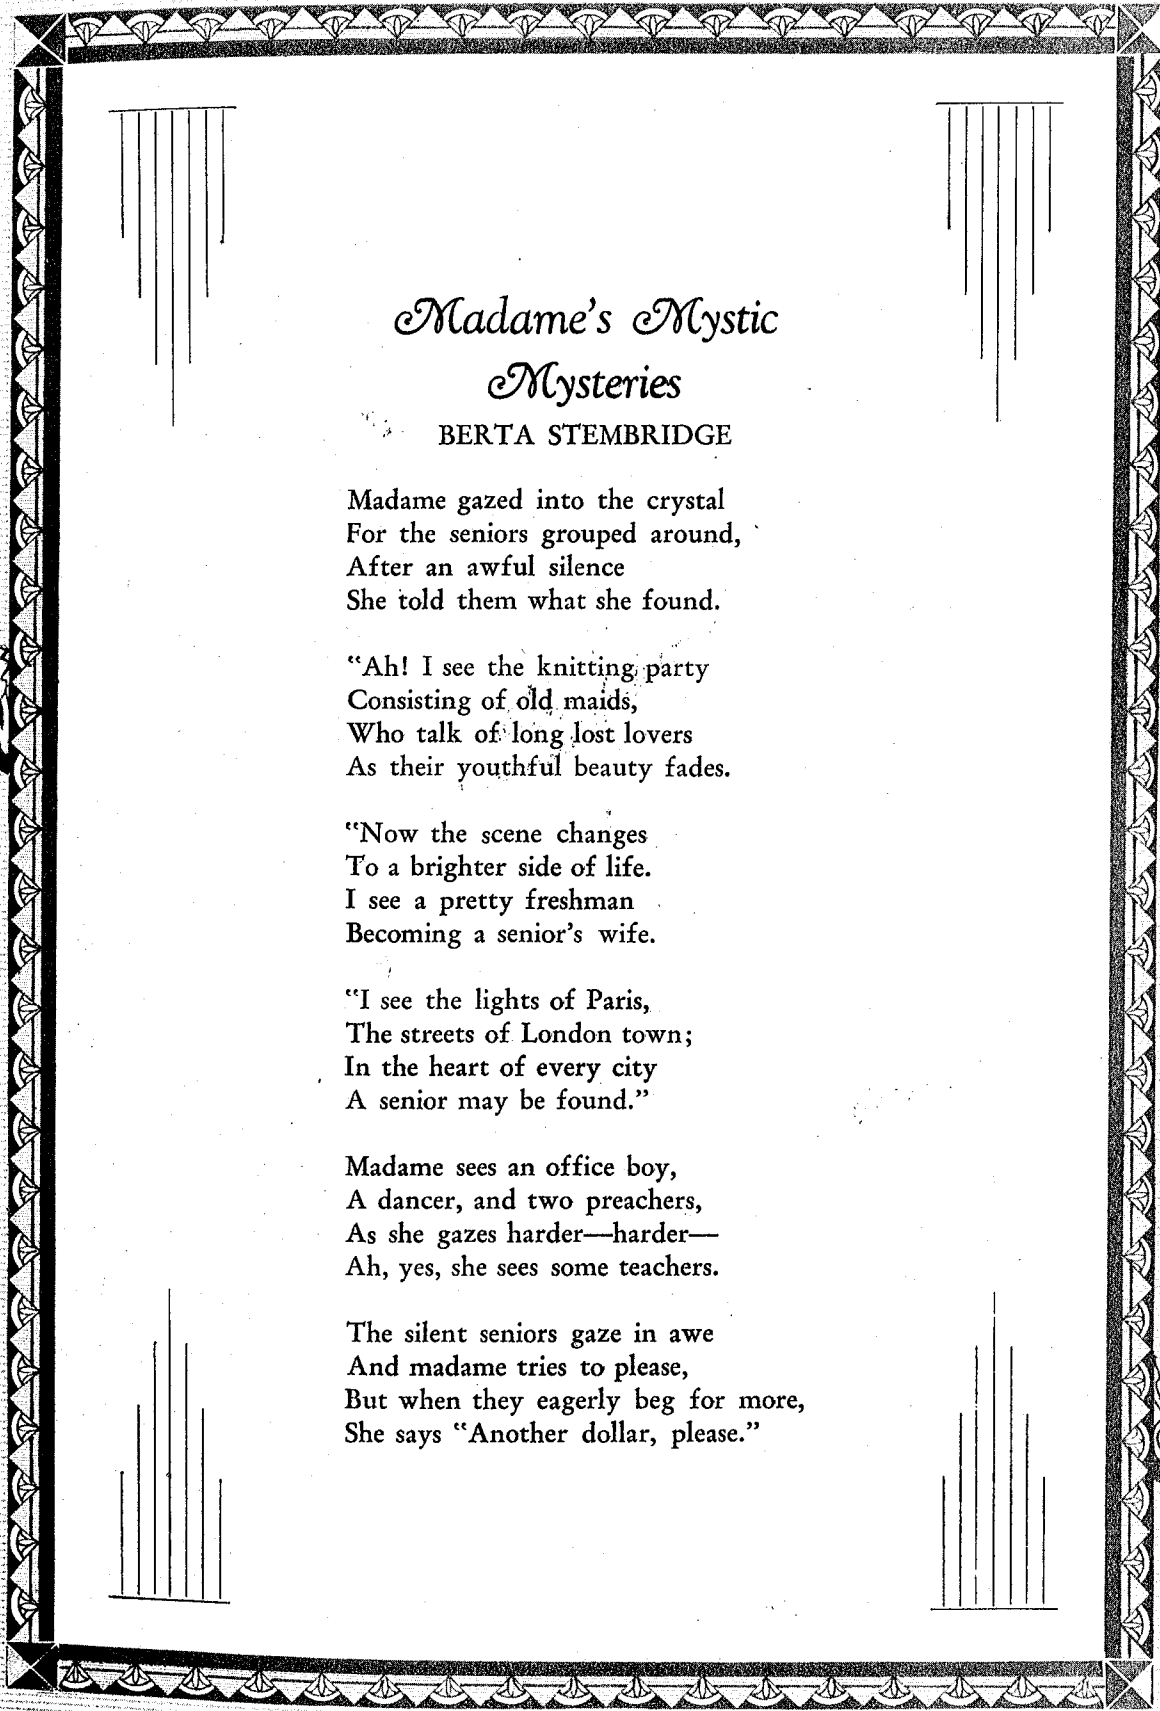

Irece Chelette: Mustn't overlook that memorable day at Sanlando Springs.

Marion Hamburg: After that everything passed so fast until—here we are!

Evelyn Kelly: Hello, girls, it's over, at last.

Marion Hamburg: That's just what we were talking about. I wish we could do something that would show the faculty our appreciation.

Irece Chelette: Let's just say: "Thanks for everything."

Madame's Mystic Mysteries

BERTA STEMBRIDGE

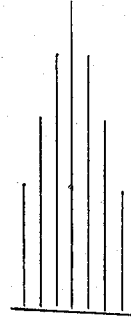

Madame gazed into the crystal
For the seniors grouped around,
After an awful silence
She told them what she found.

"Ah! I see the knitting party
Consisting of old maids,
Who talk of long lost lovers
As their youthful beauty fades.

"Now the scene changes
To a brighter side of life.
I see a pretty freshman
Becoming a senior's wife.

"I see the lights of Paris,
The streets of London town;
In the heart of every city
A senior may be found."

Madame sees an office boy,
A dancer, and two preachers,
As she gazes harder—harder—
Ah, yes, she sees some teachers.

The silent seniors gaze in awe
And madame tries to please,
But when they eagerly beg for more,
She says "Another dollar, please."

Itsy Bitsy Seniors

Time: When lot o' changes was made!

Place: Close ter Mama

Cast: Thirteen

"Baby's brain is tired of thinking
On the Wherefore and the Whence;
Baby's precious eyes are blinking
With incipient somnolence."

Gayln: "Stuck in his thumb, pulled out a plum
And said 'What a good boy am I!'"

Howard: "I ist love to make mud pies."

George Leon: "Georgy Porgy, puddin' and pie
Kissed the girls and made them cry."

Wanetta: "Roses are red, violets are blue" . . .
says Don.

Annette: "A majorette in the making."

Willard: "Come on, le's splash."

Imogene: "Patty cake, patty cake."

Marion: "With a bit o' the de'il in her eyes."

Margaret: "Doa way! Me want to pay ruff; girls ith thithies."

Pete:
Pee Wee: } "You're seein' double!"

Elsie: "I take my dolly for a walk every day!"

Lawrie: "I'm a bad boy."

Senior Matches

Betty Cooke—Tom and I have parted forever.

Elsie Curtis—What? But I thought you said he was one in a thousand.

Betty Cooke—He was, but he found out about the other 999.

Wanetta K.—“Whitey” calls on me twice a week.

Snowden L.—But I thought Pee Wee was your steady?

Wanetta K.—He is. “Whitey’s” only his understeady.

Gerald S.—Since I met you, I can’t sleep.

Evelyn (tearful)—You mean I’m not the girl of your dreams?

Howard T.—Honey, will yo’ all marry me?

Marion—Oh, this is so southern.

Mary V.—Pete, wouldn’t it be better if the coach had two halfbacks carry the ball through the line?

Pete—Huh, what’s the advantage of that?

Mary V.—Well, two halves make a whole, don’t they?

Snowden L.—How do you like my new auto horn?

Olene R.—Oh, it’s toot, toot divine!

Berta S.—Honey, is it true that the moon affects the tide?

Horace W.—No, “Bee,” just the single people.

Excerpts From My Diary

April 1, 1941

Skip Day

8:30—Seniors of '41 said goodbye to lower classmen and left for SANLANDO SPRINGS

10:30—Arrived in "City Beautiful," Orlando, to begin a day of fun and frolic.

11:00—Continued trip to SANLANDO SPRINGS.

11:20—Pee Wee appeared in Wanetta's skirt.

11:30—Many were swimming, dancing, and exploring.

12:00—Gayln and Horace caught "shooting crap."

12:15—Irece, Marion, Martha, and Imogene danced on the grass barefooted.

12:30—Dilson caught some fancy diving and sliding with Putt's camera.

1:00—"Come and get it" was the call from Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Thullbery, and Mrs. Cooke (chaperones).

2:16—Evelyn and Gerald were "discovered" by the brook.

2:45—Some danced; some slept.

4:00—Cars headed back for Orlando.

5:00—Few of the girls were sight-seeing and shopping down town.

6:00—Time to eat again: a turkey dinner with all the trimmings.

7:15—Went to Beecham Theatre and saw "The Bad Man."

9:30—Show was over and all were homeward bound (or were they?)

3:00 A. M.—Ho! Hum! I'm just too sleepy to write more; you'll just have to guess the rest.

Senior Class Will

We, the Senior Class of Lake Wales High School, of the city of Lake Wales, County of Polk, City of the Carillon, United States of America, being of feeble mind and memory and broken down spirit do make, publish, and declare this our first and last stab at a will and testament, in such form as we see fit, as follows:

FIRST: We, the Senior Class, bequeath our honored places in assembly and all the privileges and rights that have been so graciously bestowed upon us to the seniors-to-be. May you fit into our shoes, such as they are, and follow in our footsteps to the top. And so—hats off and good luck to you—you'll need it!

SECOND: I, Cleo Ellis, alias Pee Wee, as president of the Senior Class, leave my gavel, the symbol of authority with which I have directed the misguided steps of the carefree Seniors, to the future president.

THIRD: The individual members of the Senior Class leave the following:

I, Betty Cooke, will my hope chest to Kathy Jackson before the termites take it over!

I, Imogene Wiseman, leave my ability to get a ring on my third finger, left hand, to Margaret Sikes.

I, Elsie Curtis, leave my height to Jeanne Tillman.

We, Margaret Pennington and Bobbie Bennett, leave our reserved places at the Scenic to Betty Brinkworth and Jeraldine Bridges.

I, Pete Ellis, leave my ability to stick with the same girl for four years to Buck Bradley.

I, Dilson Petrey, leave my "line" which is long enough for the Dionne quint's clothes to Johnny Brown.

I, Annette Edwards, leave my basketball shoes to Mary Rachel Griner (who perhaps will fill them).

I, Calvin Gilbert, leave my physique to Burton Ashley.

I, George Whitehurst, leave my varied collection of girls' hair ribbons and what-have-you to Glen Sanford.

I, Lawrie Jackson, leave my well-loved name of "Beowulf" to Tom Nelson.

We, Wanetta Koestline and Evelyn Kelly, leave our ability to act to the cast of the 1942 senior play.

I, Gerald Singleton, leave my ability "to lure" the women to Charles Capps.

I, Berta Stembridge, leave my "super-snooper" ability at digging in the dirt to next year's cubs.

I, Howard Thullbery, leave my art of jumping hurdles to Talmadge Jones with the hope that he doesn't try to neck with the horse.

I, Carol Sherman, leave my ability never to keep a date waiting to Betty Jean Linderman.

I, Snowden Long, leave my nick-name of "Eagle Beak" to Pug-nose Draper.

I, Andrew Horton, leave my eight ball in the hopes that I will be able to stay from behind it to Pinky Zipprer.

I, Virginia Akers, leave my beloved expression of "Honey" to Peggy Cody.

I, Harold Phillips, leave my technique for wooing dogpatch style to Louie Lamb.

I, Vivian Roberts, leave my secret love and admiration for Snowden Long to Mildred Turner.

I, Mary Vogt, will my curly black hair to Iva Parker. Long may it wave!

I, Mary Kenney, leave my Winter Haven boy-friend as an exchange for a new one to Clara Jo Warner.

I, Willard Wiseman, do bequeath my ability to be a ladies' man and never a hen-pecked steady to Clarence Kelly.

I, Marion Hamburg, "just" leave———!

To all our fellow hi-school students we do bequeath all the privileges we never got, the gum we couldn't chew, the low grades we didn't want, the chemistry classes we couldn't skip, the cafeteria lines we couldn't break, the messy lockers we kept and the great athletes they wouldn't let us be.

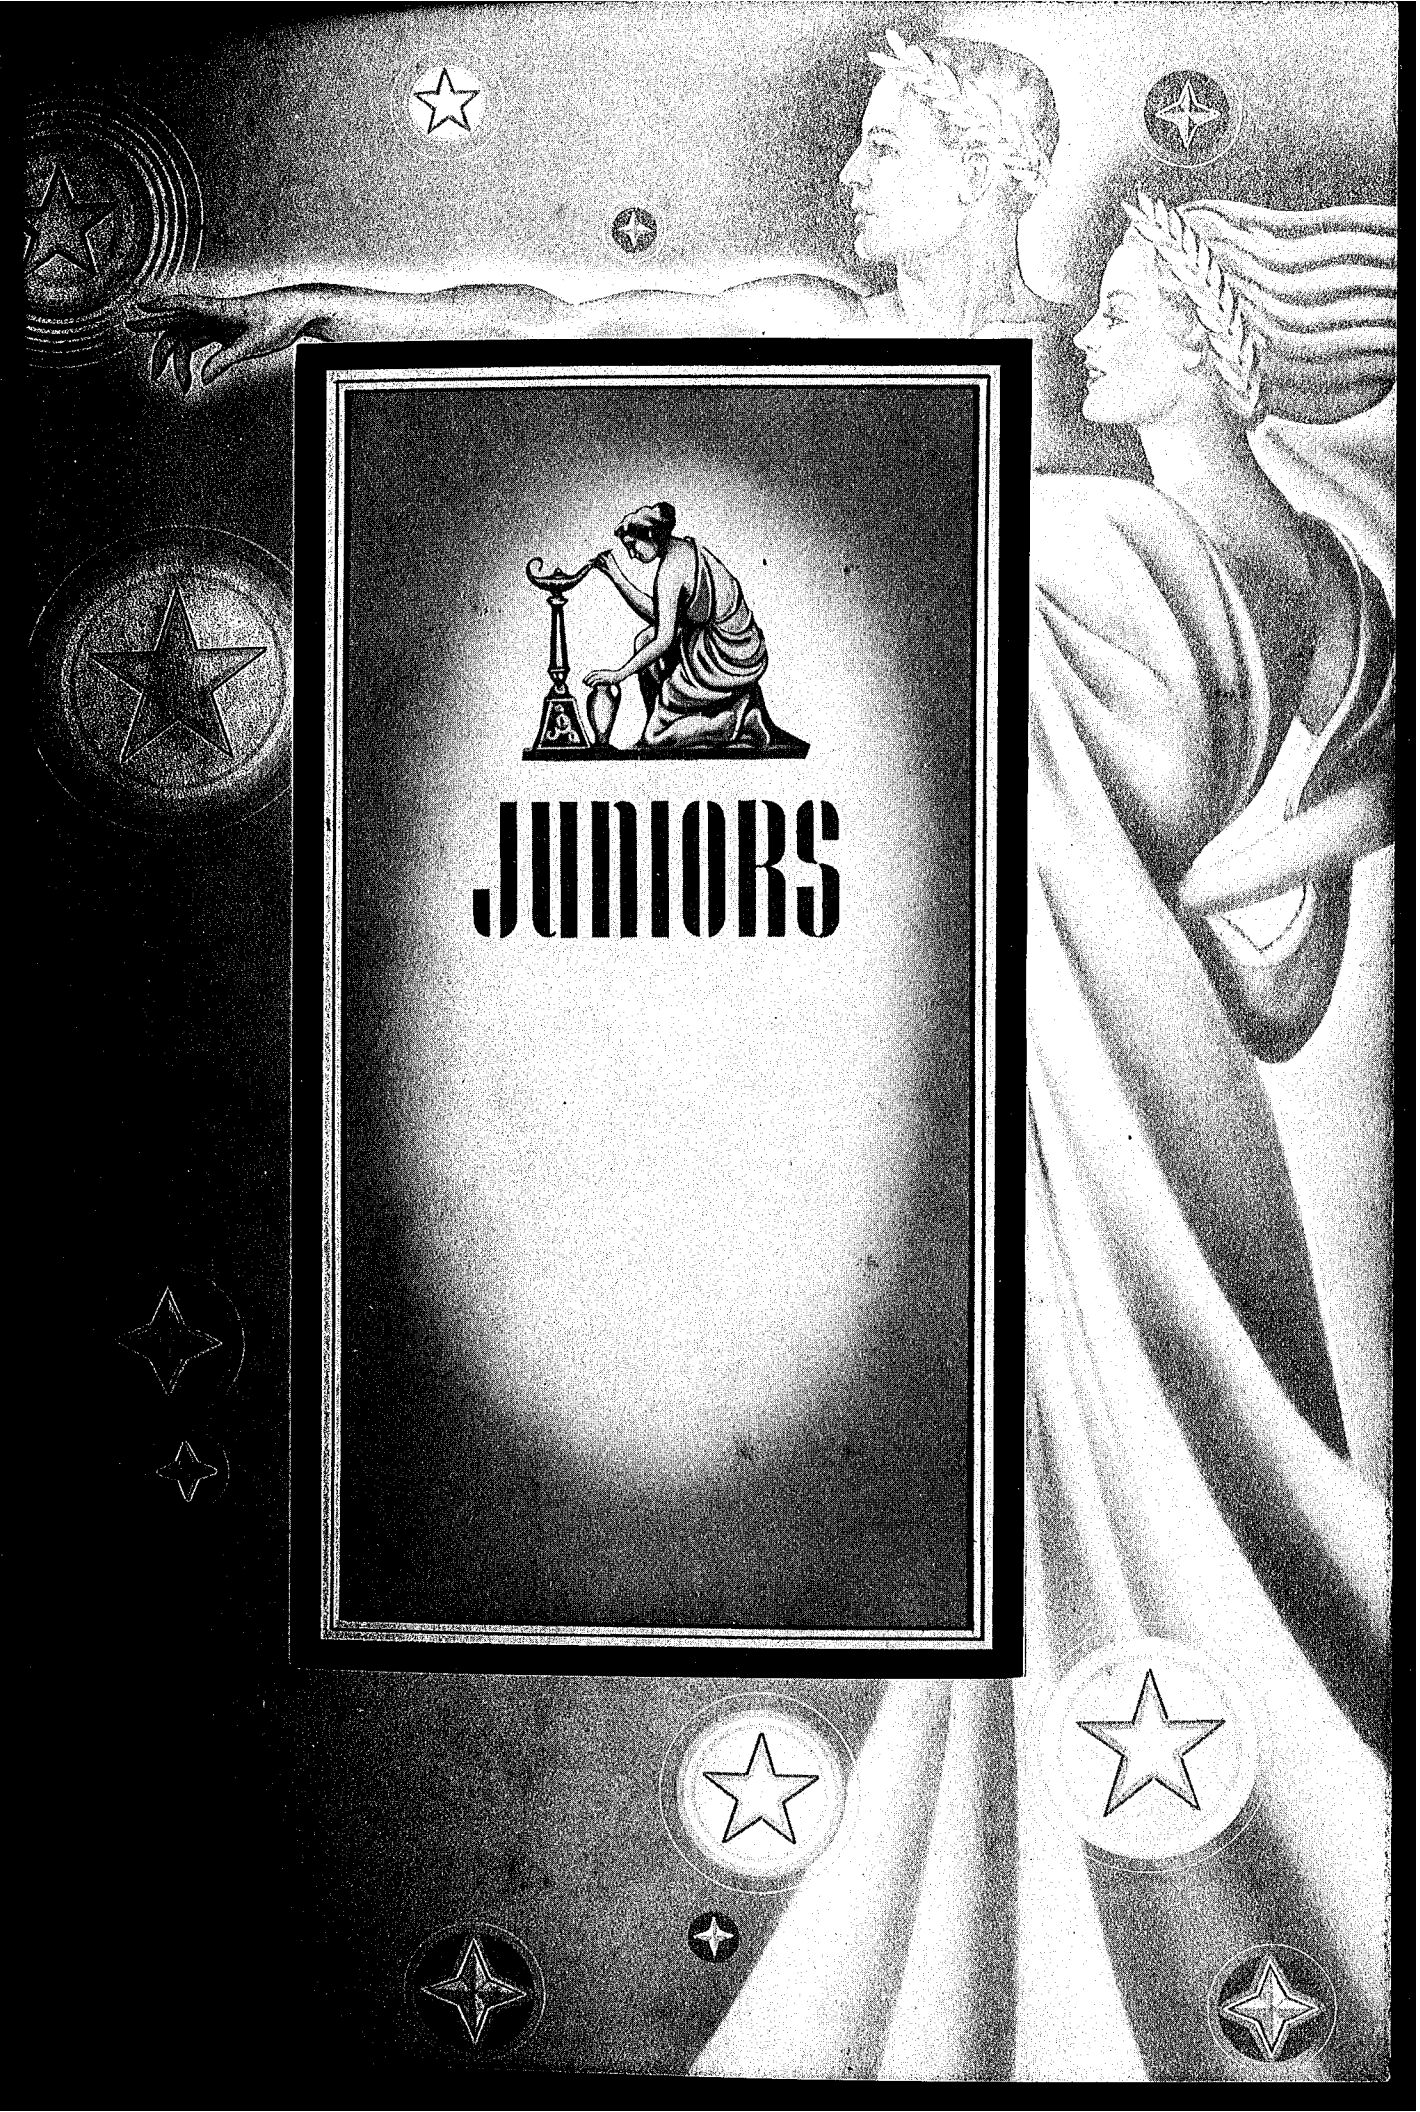

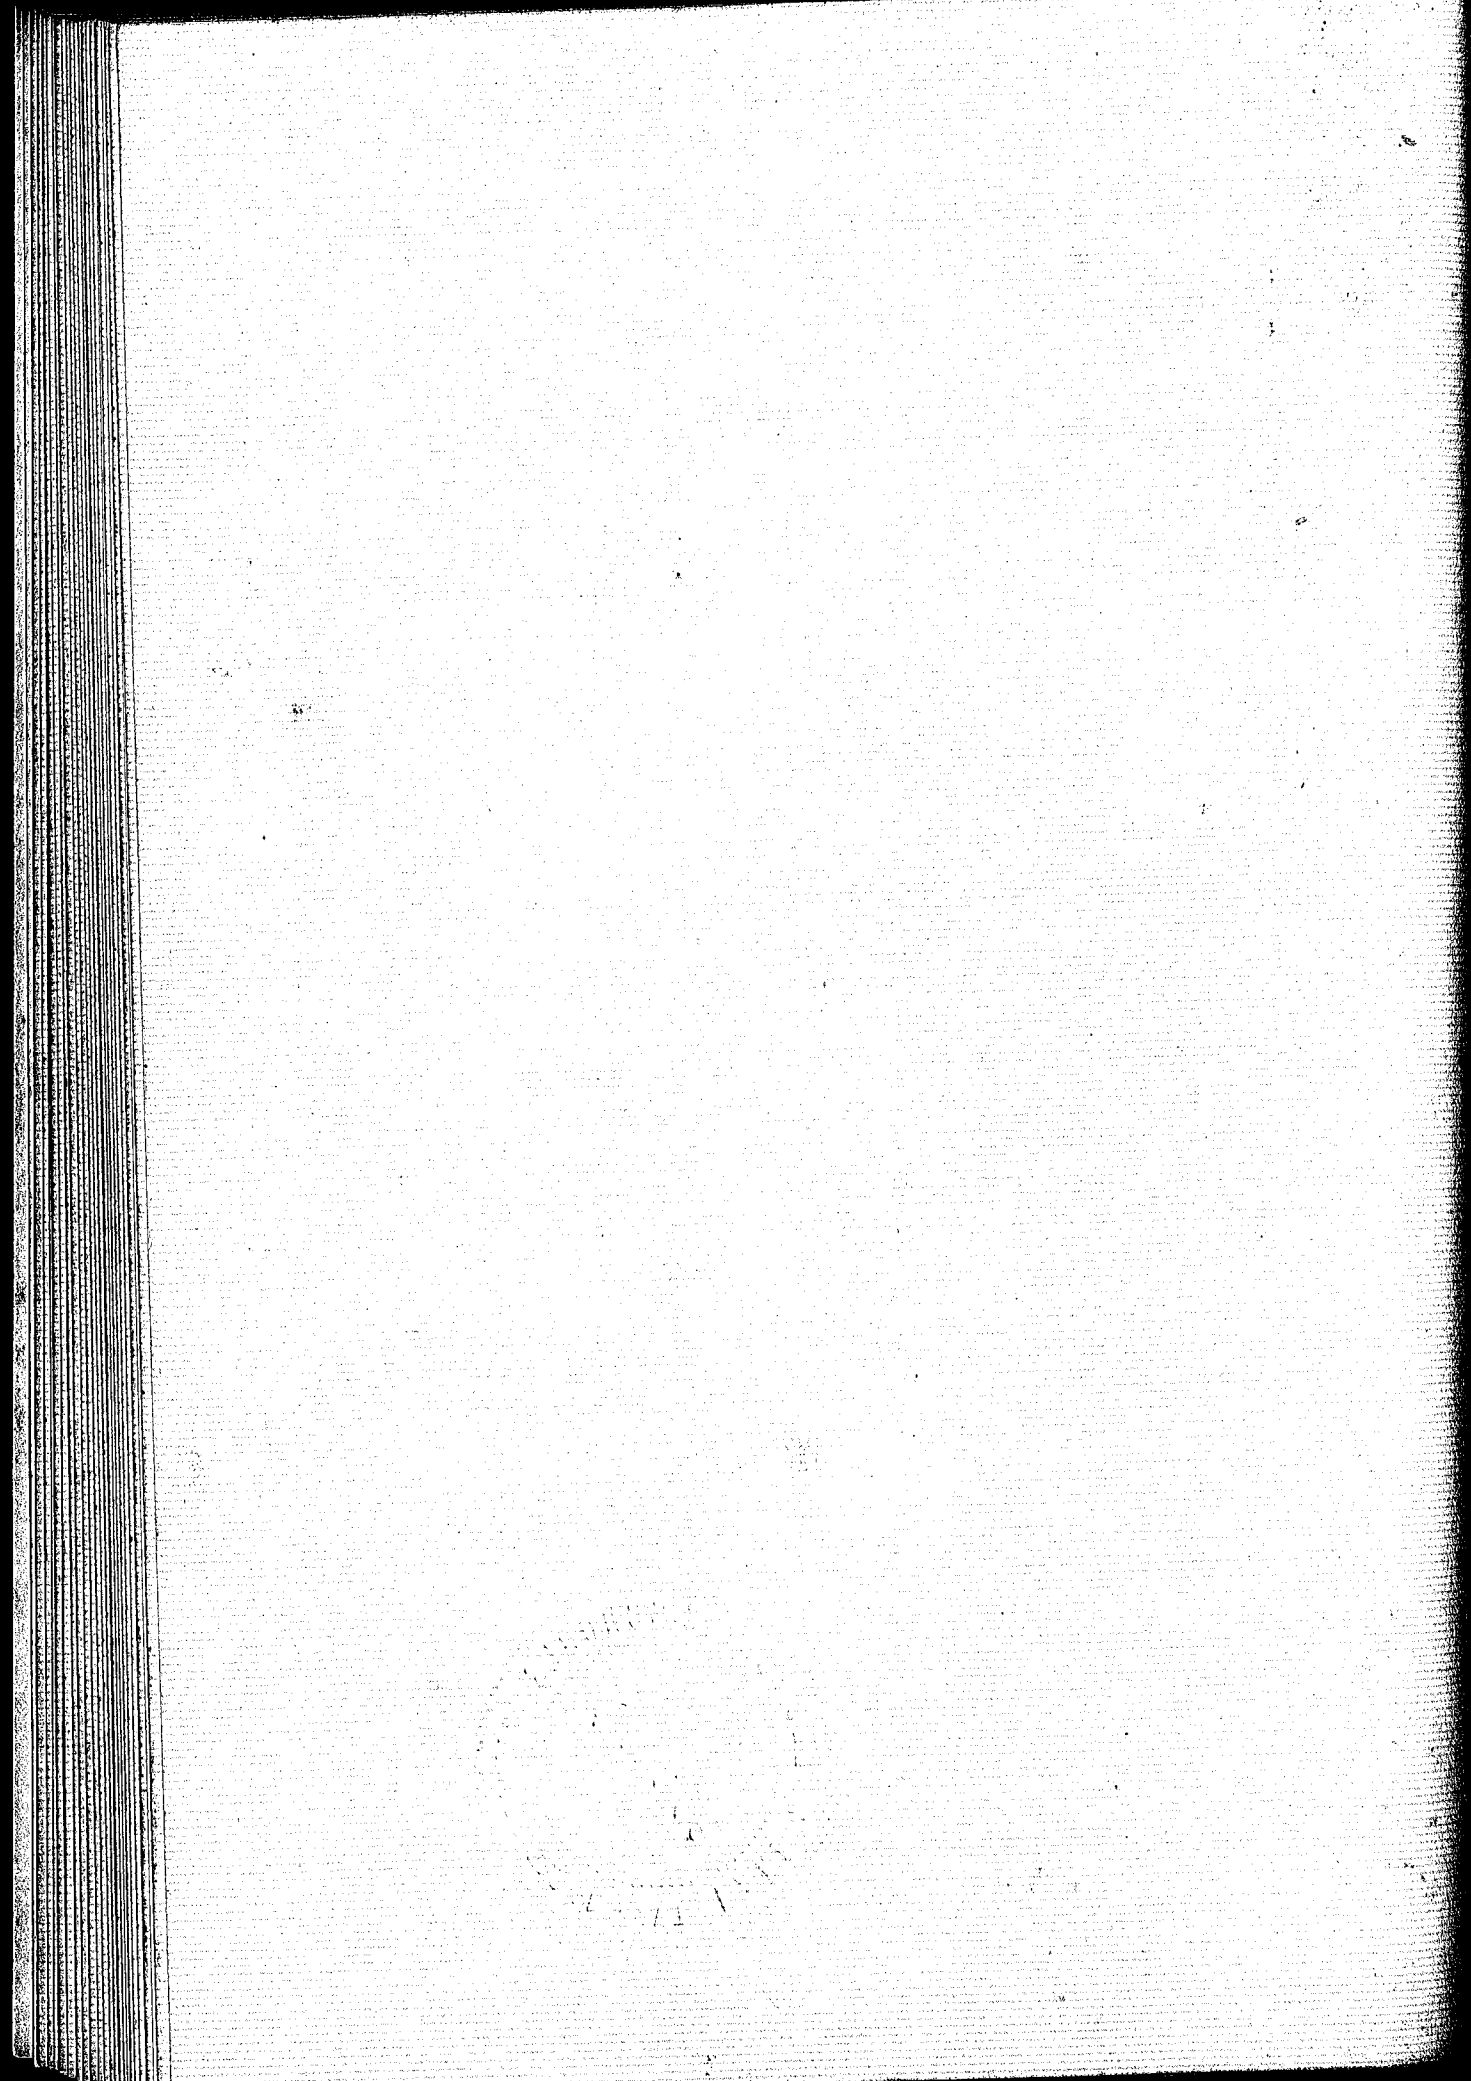

Revoking and annulling any and all will or wills by us heretofore, we do publish this to be our last will and testament. In witness whereof we have hereunto put our hand and seal this day and year of our Lord, the fifteenth of May, nineteen hundred and forty one.

"Springtime
for Susie"

Director : Mrs. Sarah Davis

March 20, 1941

8:00 P. M.

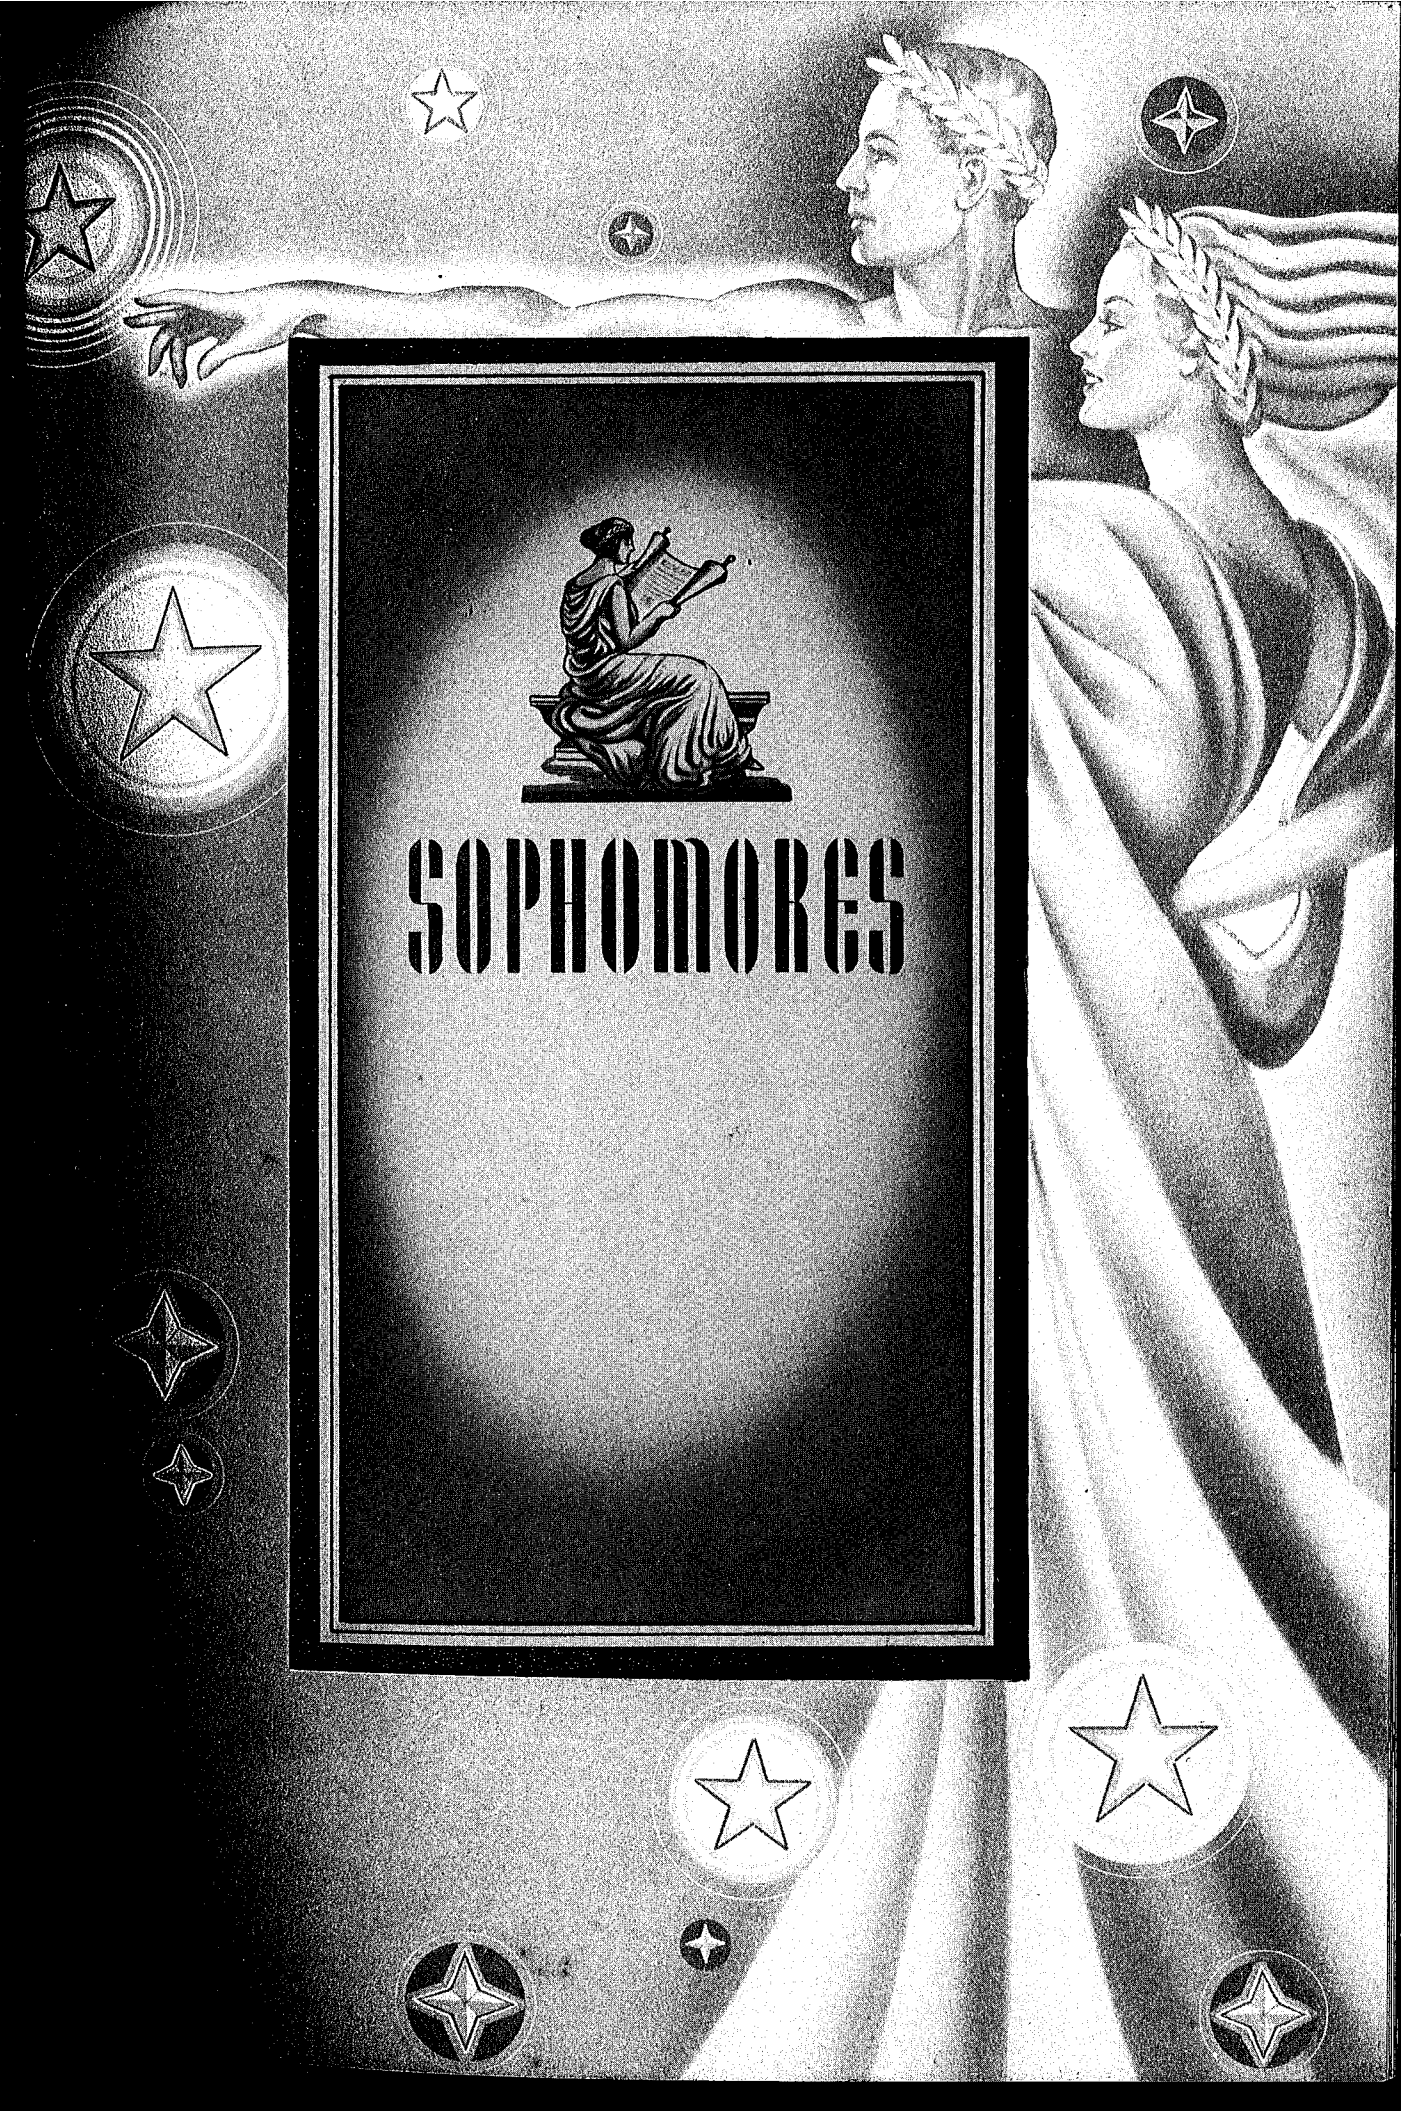

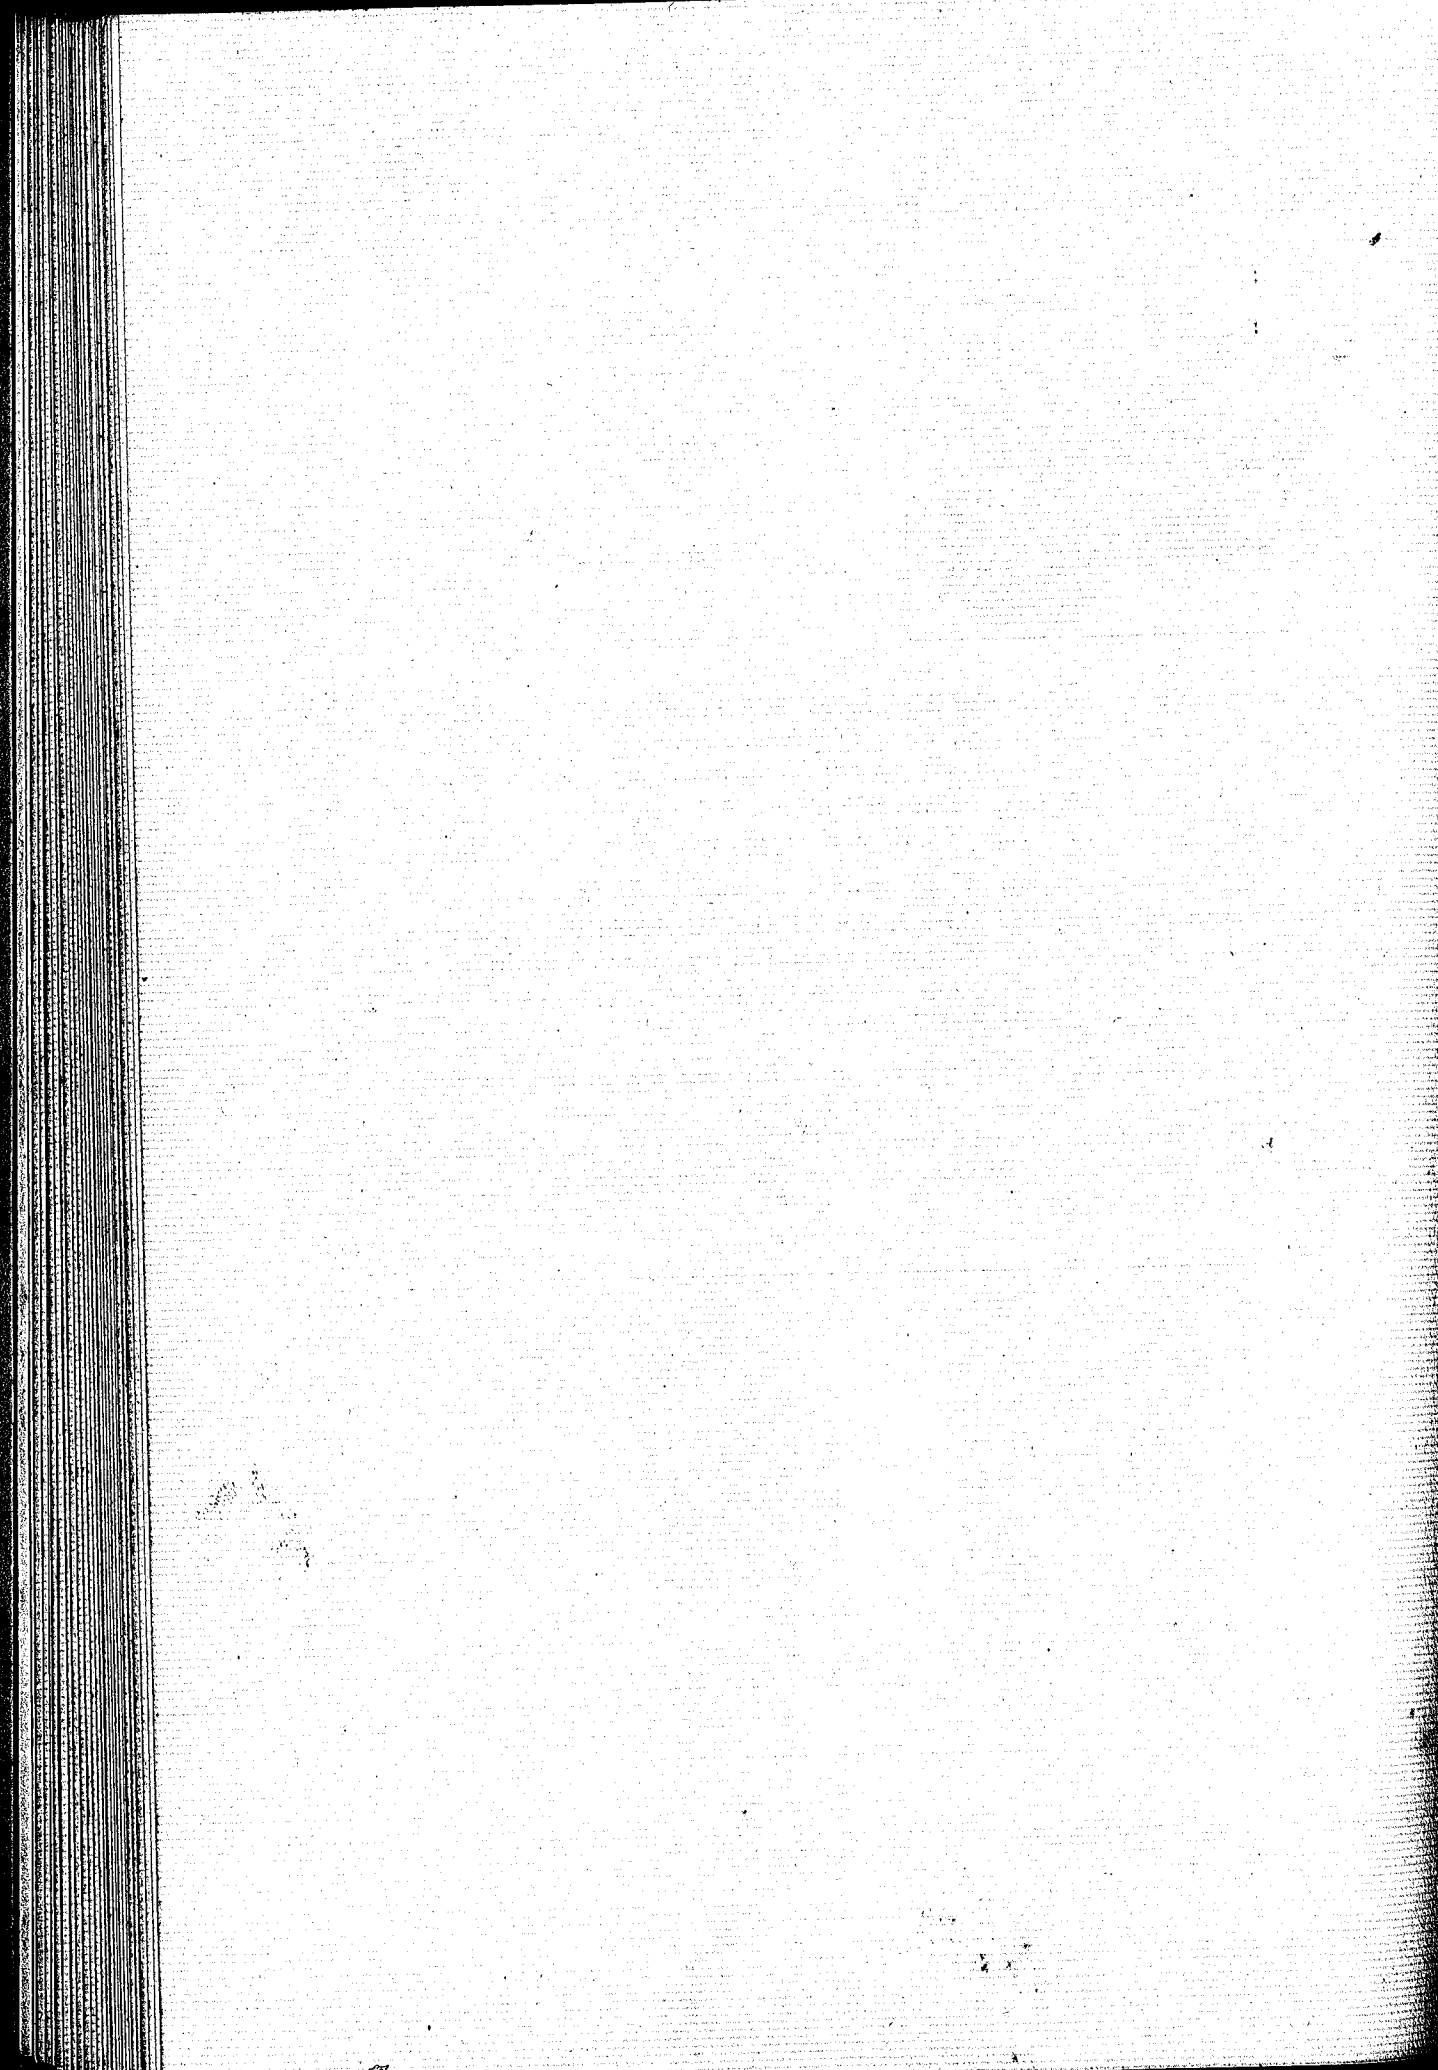

High School Auditorium

Paul White as the hero and Ruth Sprott as a Texas cowgirl were the central figures of this comedy with a cast of fifteen characters. Mildred Turner and Tom Nelson, as man and wife, had their quarrels but Clara Jo Warner, their maid, always tried to straighten things out. From the time of the arrival of Louise McLean, Susie's colored girl, more laughs were added to the play.

The humor was created by the artist, Lee Draper, who was supposed to have all the trouble and did! (He forgot whether he should be in the trunk or under the table, and so he ran from one place to the other.) His difficulties were his fiancée, Mollie Mae Albritton, her aunt, Jerry Bridges, and two models, Jennie Thompson and Barbara Brantley.

Pinky Zipprer, the bashful boy-friend, had his sweetheart, Rebecca Smith, fainting frequently because of his mistaken identity as the new butler of the household. Neil Sims, the straight-faced Englishman with his corny jokes, and his girl friend, Jeanne Tillman, with her "Oh, Bunny, you just slay me!" kept the audience roaring.

SOPHOMORES

We predict that the sophomores, like the proverbial tortoise will go places and do things. As proof we offer: Bobby Metzker, class president for two years (maybe he's trying to be another Mr. Roosevelt); Richard Strickland, vice-president, who has an Eagle Scout Badge to his credit; Laura Davis, secretary of her class and probationer in the National Honor Group; Joan Kingsbury, who fills the bill of both treasurer and cheerleader, besides being cute as the mischief; and last but by no means least, their sponsor, Mrs. Mary Peck--"Silence is more eloquent than words."

Did I say "last"? No, there's Robert McDonald, who rode his bicycle all the way from Boston, Mass., to Lake Wales, as well as the other probationers in the Honor Society: Doris Martin, Doris Sherman, Joyce Benton, Gloria Hall, Flora Loop and Bobby Metzker.

FRESHMEN

To Whom It May Concern:

I'll have you know that this is a record-breaking class, and I'm proud to be the sponsor! Go ahead and say it's just a Proud Mama Act, but the freshmen do have more get-up-and-go than any other class in school.

Just lend an ear! Weren't they the first freshmen to sponsor a dance in the gym? Didn't they lead on the Honor Roll time after time, and weren't almost all the dues collected before the end of the first semester?

And as the annual goes to press, plans are already underway to stage one of the biggest and best picnics ever for the junior class.

In short, they are good! May they keep up the good work!

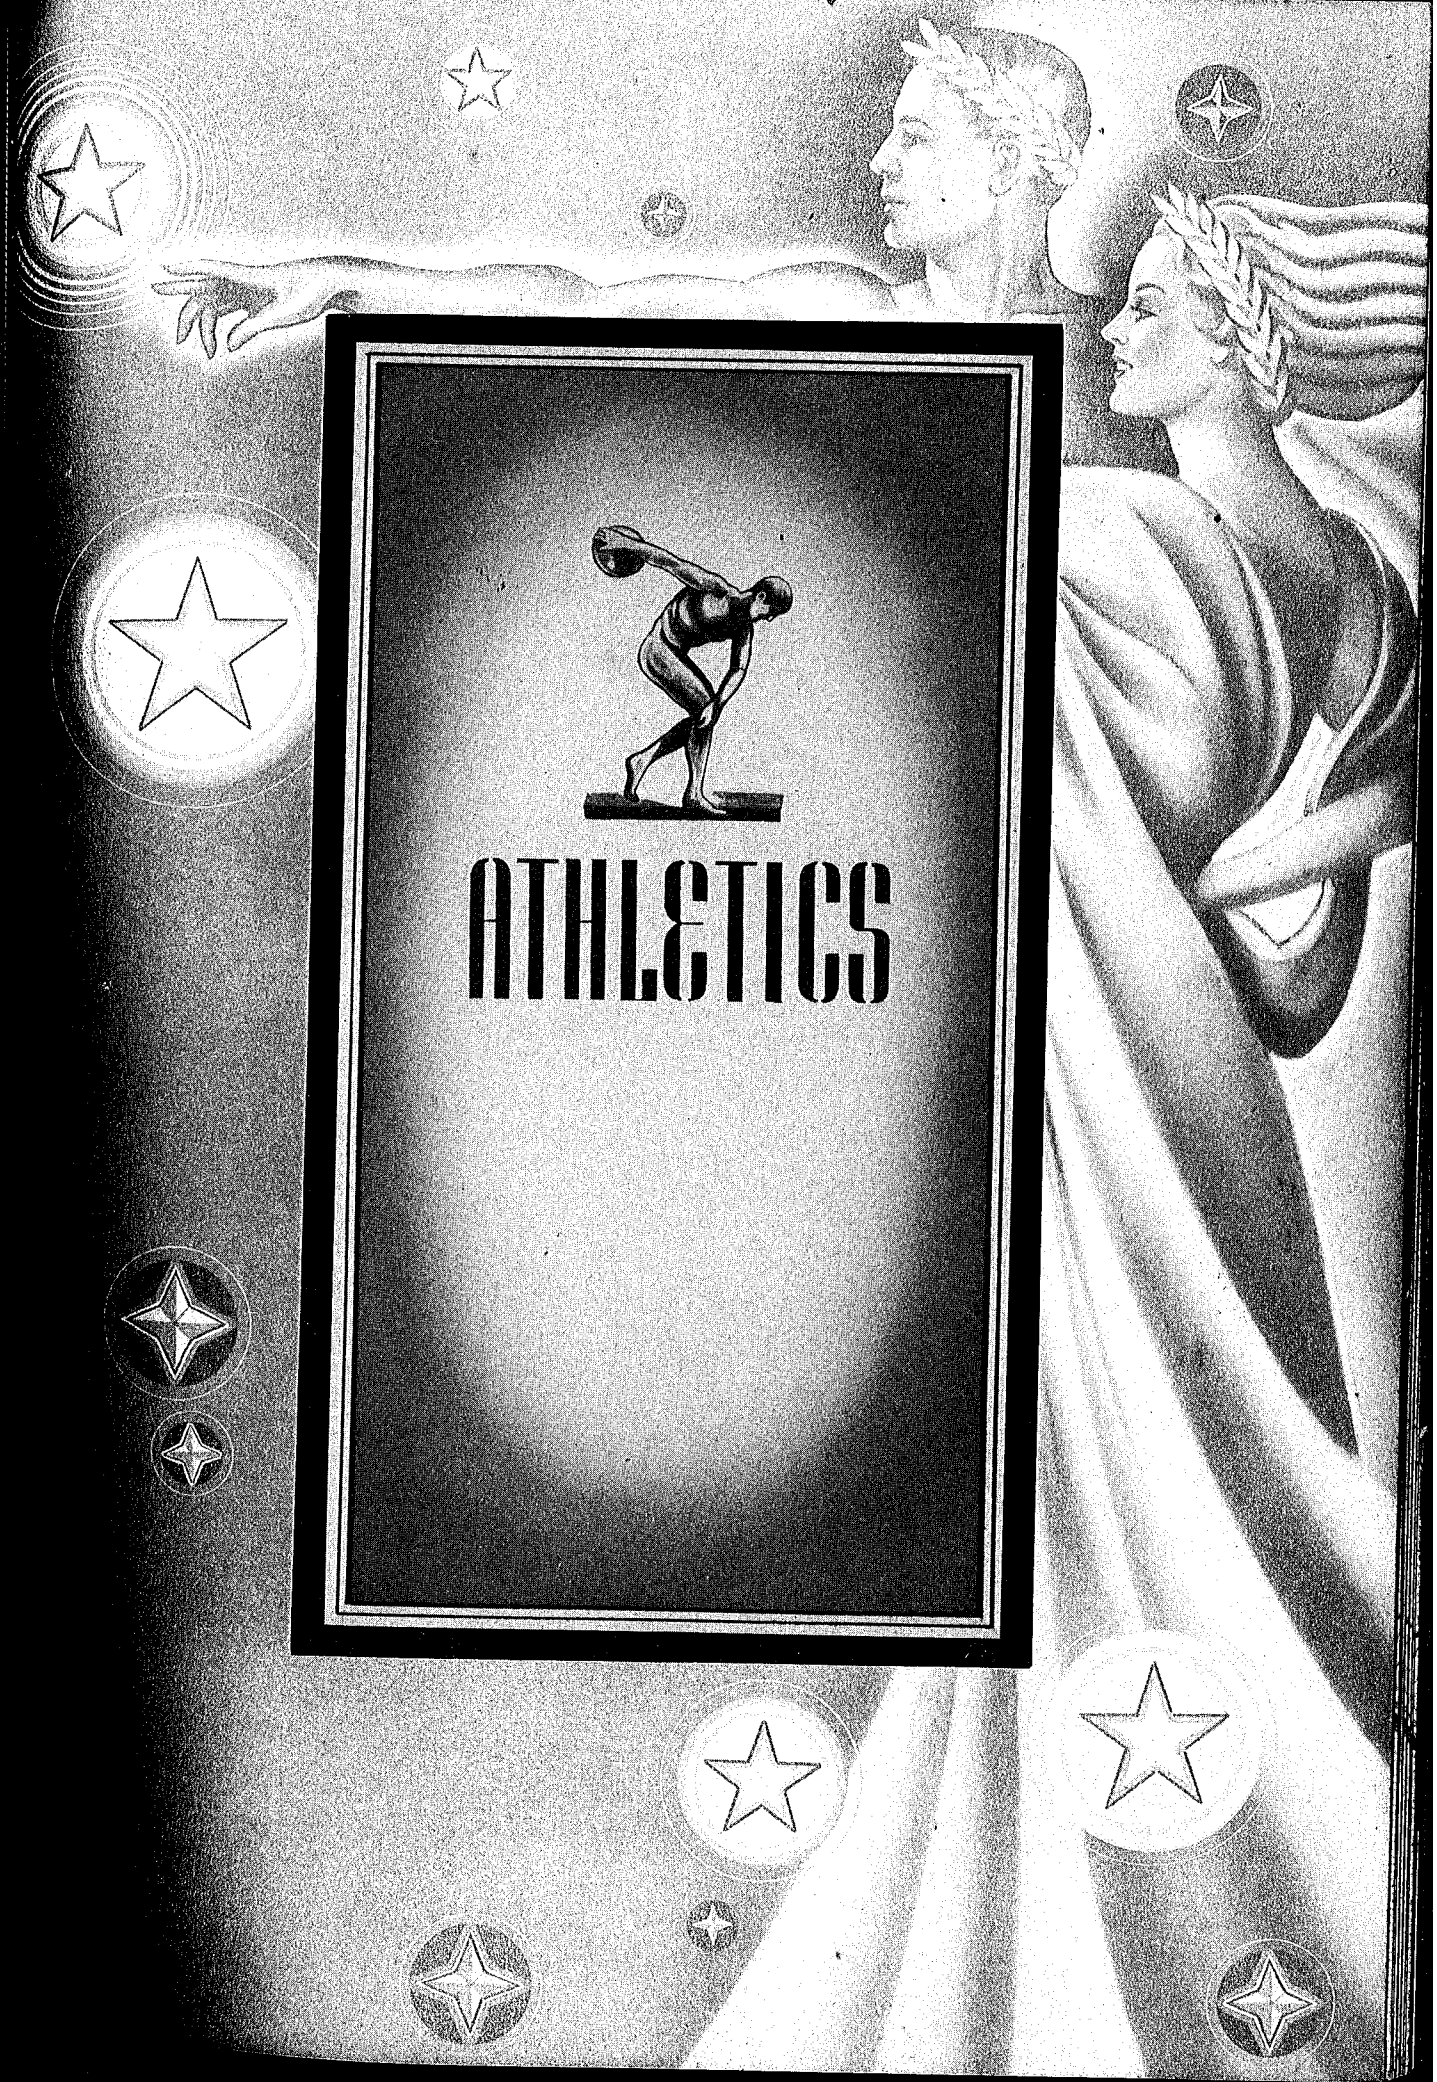

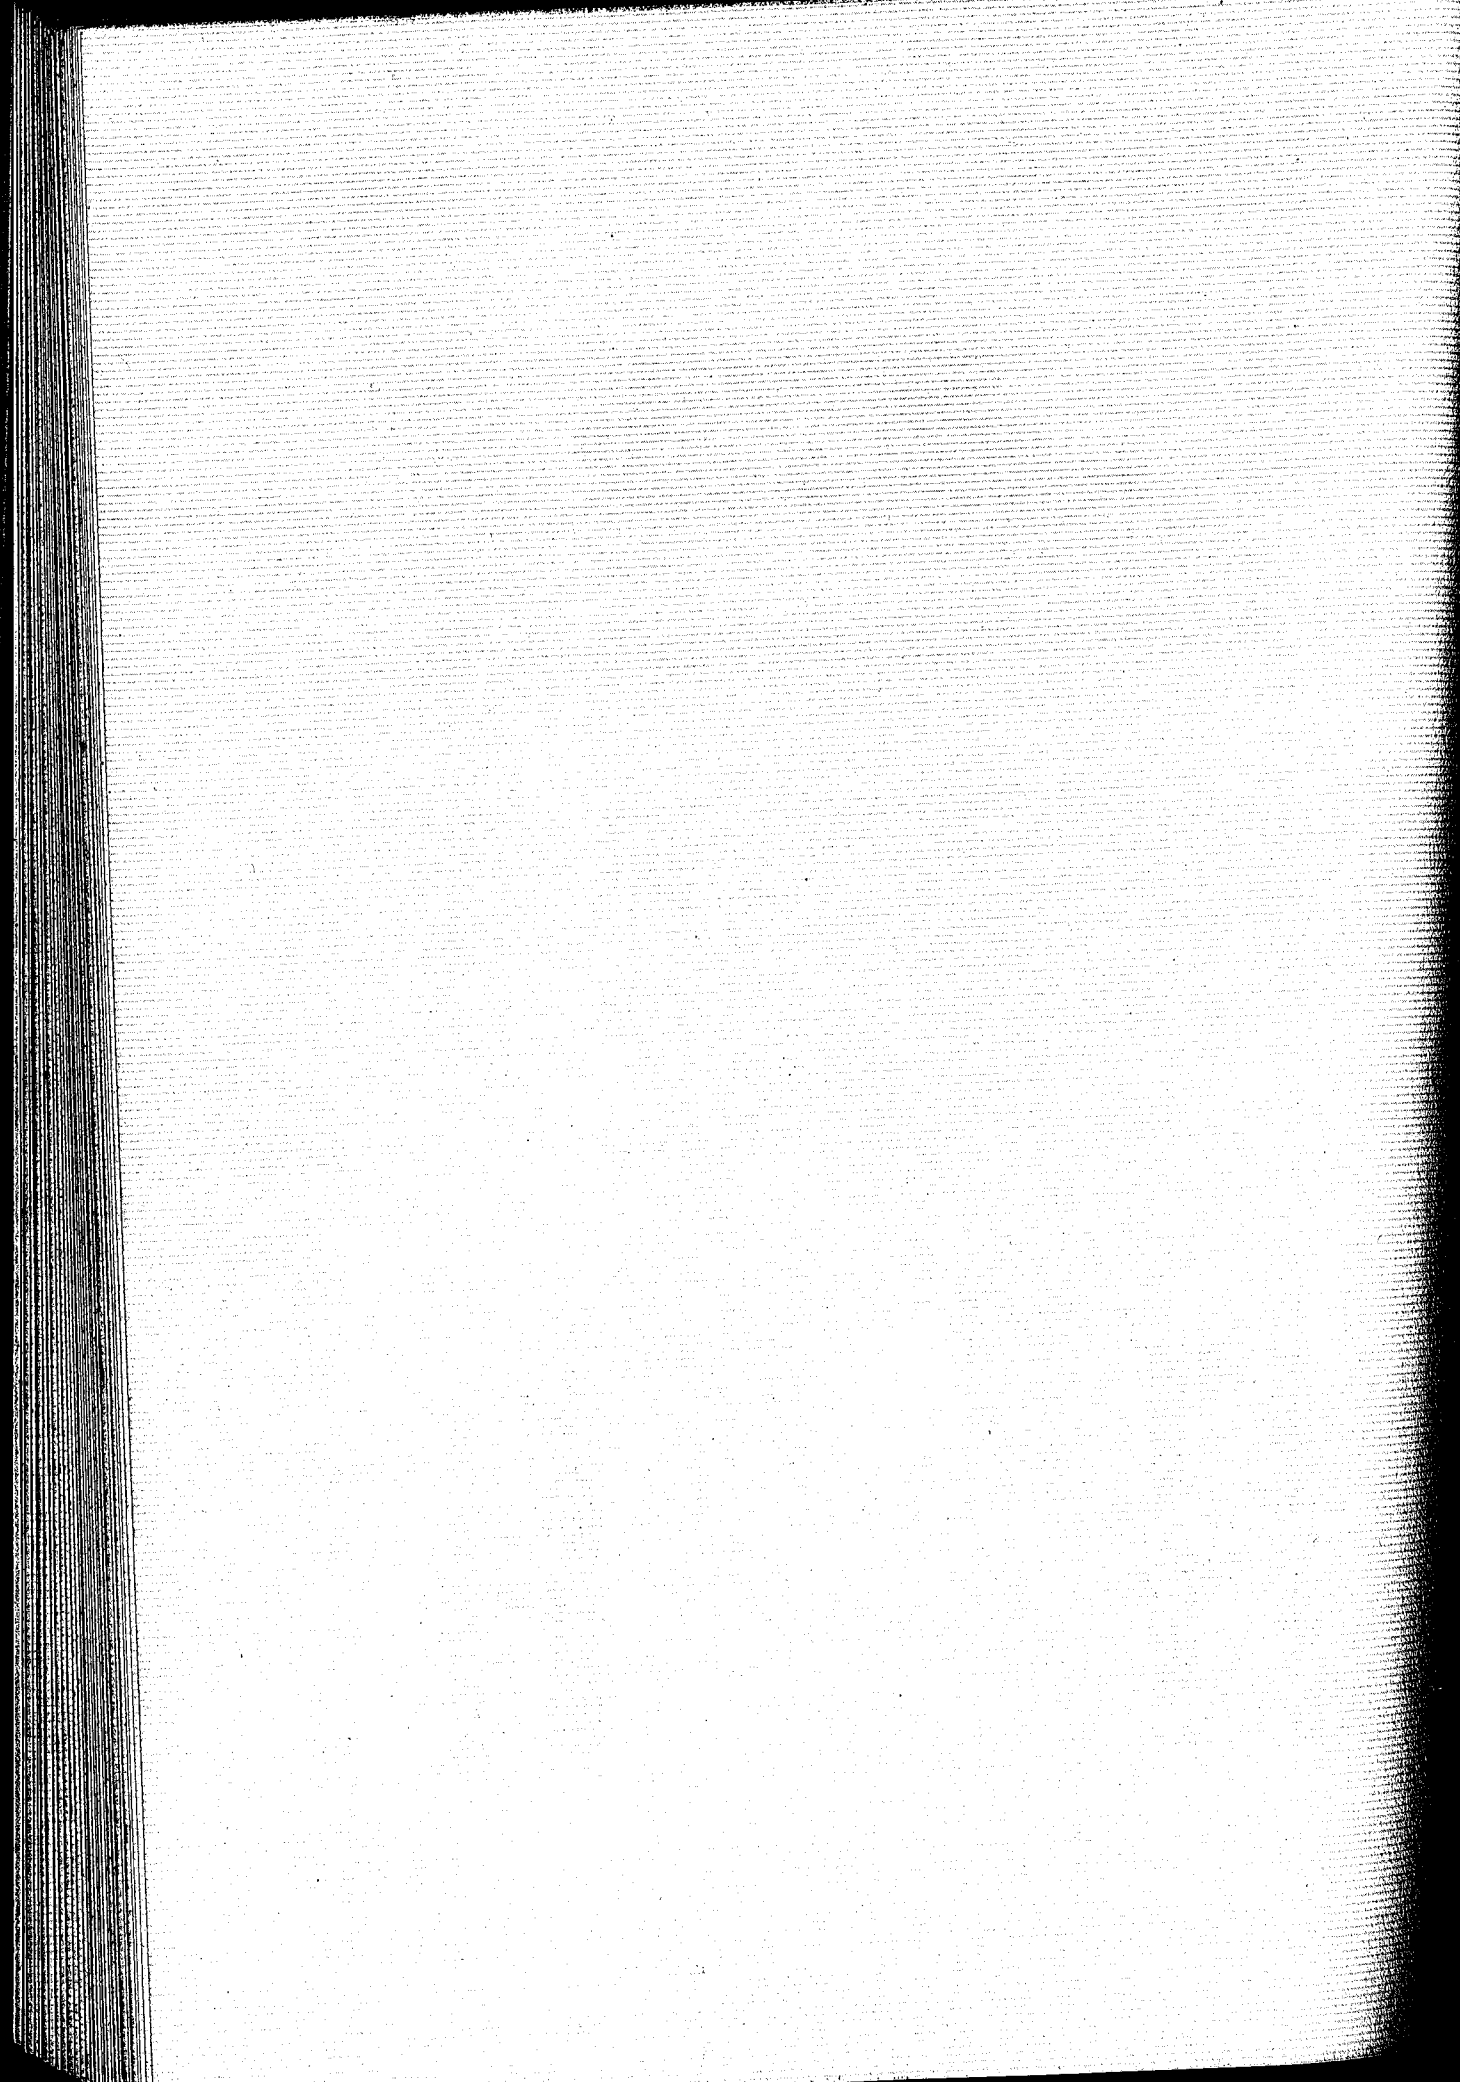

Sincerely,

Mrs. "Alice"

Cheers for the Cheerleaders

"Vim, vigor and vitality—that's what it takes to be a cheerleader," say Snowden Long and Lawton Richardson, seniors; Katherine Jackson, junior; Joan Kingsbury, sophomore; and Harry Bennett, freshman.

Displaying their ability both at home and abroad, they kept their team in the best of spirits. Even after the Highlander schedule was ended they went to Tampa and during the Polk-Hillsboro County game, helped to cheer Polk County to a smashing victory.

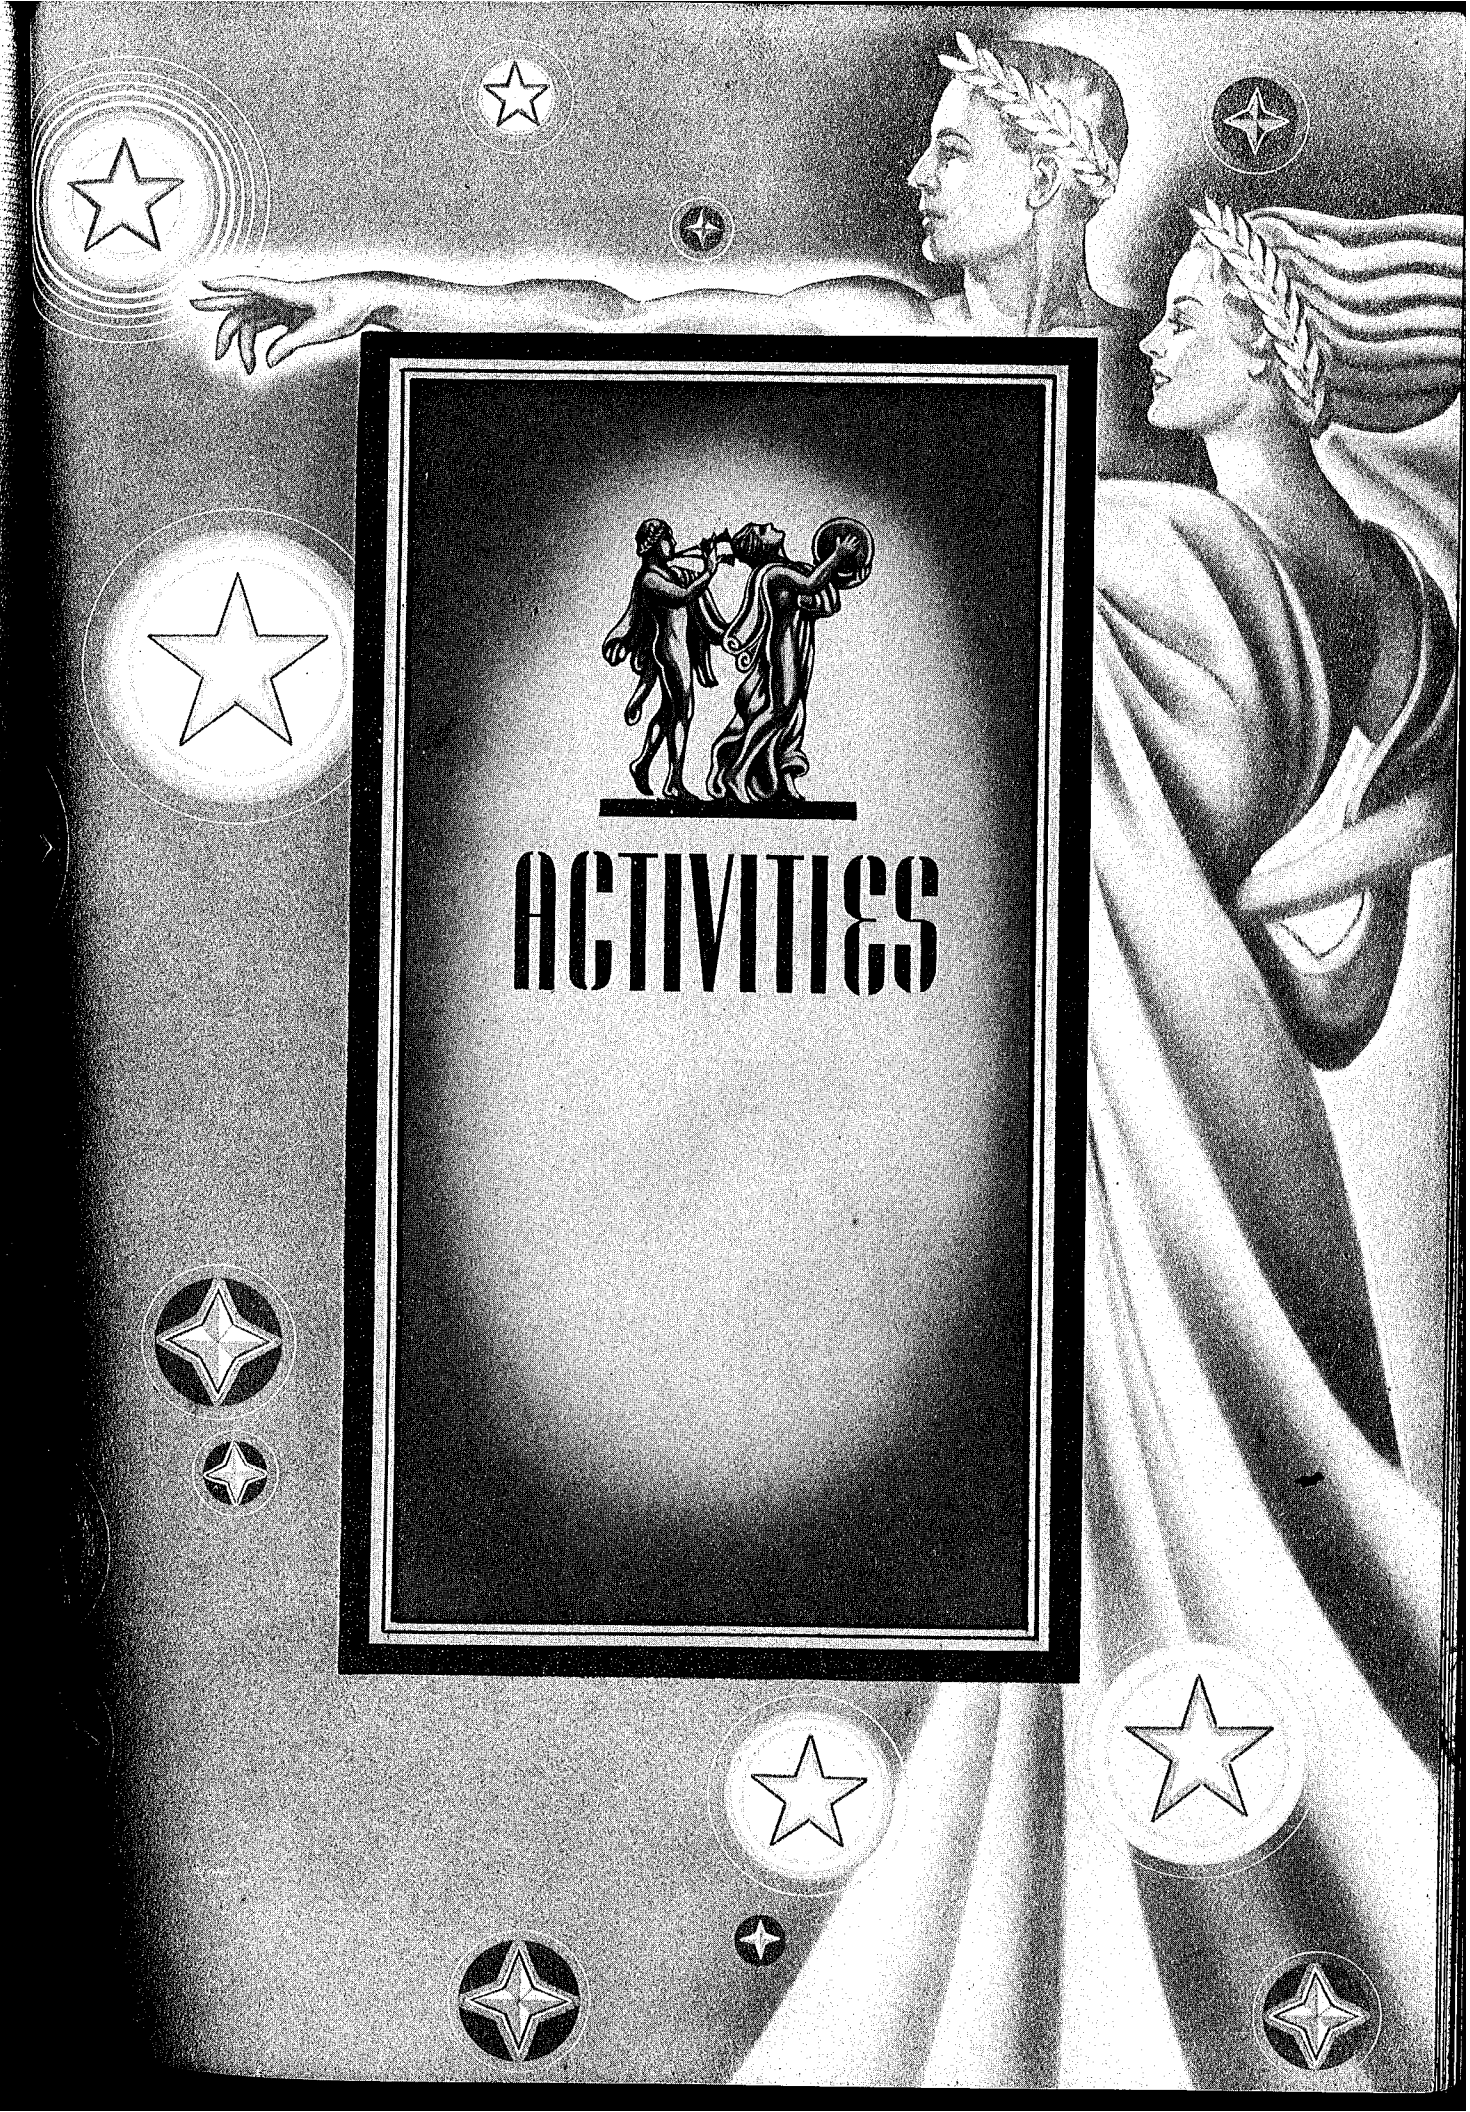

April 22.—(Special)—Lee Draper breaks Johnny Wiseman's pole vault record of 11 feet by a jump of 11 feet 2 inches during the Polk County Invitational Meet.

Louie Lamb—shot put, javelin, pole vault, relay; Pete Ellis—100 yd. dash, 220 yd. run, broad jump, relay; Harold Powell—100 yd. dash, 440 yd. run, relay; Cople Gilbreath—half mile; Billy Crews—half mile; Earl McClure—discus, javelin, shot put; Bobby Hamburg—high jump; Howard Thullbery—100 yd. dash, 440 yd. run, relay; Lee Draper—pole vault, mile; Kuehl Blocker—high jump; Thaddius Davis—discus; Harold Phillips—440 yd. run, relay.

The Lake Wales chapter of the National Honor Society was organized on March 14, 1939, with ten charter members. Juniors and seniors only whose scholarship, leadership, character, and service are higher than average are eligible to membership. Probationers are students of the sophomore class who are adjudged on the same basis.

During the year '40-'41, the following projects were undertaken by the group: (1) data on college requirements, (2) orientation of new students, (3) candy sales, (4) aid to pupils absent on account of illness, (5) substitute teacher work, and (6) helped create interest in a Torch Society in the junior high school.

Manual Arts Department

G. E. TURNER, JR., B. S.—Clemson

To prove itself a valuable asset to Wales High, the Manual Training Department has cooperated with the school by doing repair work, by building benches for the grounds, by lettering signs for the Christmas Parade and May Day Fete, by making posters for the Band Rummage Sale, and by building stage scenery and equipment for the Central School Primary Play and the junior and senior dramatic productions.

Under the able supervision of their instructor, Mr. Turner, the classes have assisted in community affairs by building necessary stands, mangers, etc. The constant din of power tools at work is ample evidence that someone has called upon the department for some sort of manual art work.

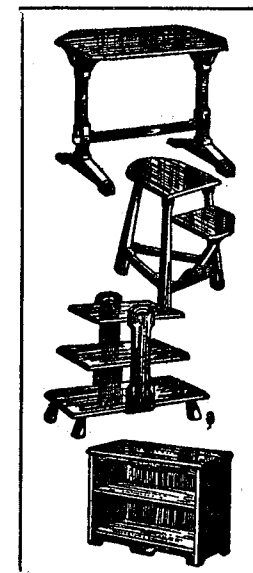

Courses Offered:

Manual Training I, II
Mechanical Drawing
Free Hand Drawing

Well Equipped Shop Contains:

2 lathes	1 drill press
1 band saw	1 emory wheel
1 sander	plus ordinary
1 joiner	tools such as
1 circular saw	chisels, etc.

PUTT BOUCHER has made outstanding contributions through her work as cartoonist for the Orange and Black, in designing numerous pages for the annual, and by printing innumerable placards, signs, and posters for school groups.
