Gifted FAQ: Frequently Asked Questions about Gifted Services and Opportunities

How does the Shippensburg Area School District identify gifted students?

Parents or teachers may start the gifted identification process at any time by requesting gifted evaluation based on student achievement scores, reading and math assessments, curriculum based measures, surveys, or other performance data. Parents can make this request in writing by emailing the k-8 Gifted Teacher (amanda.kirkpatrick@shipk12.pa.us).

The Shippensburg Area School District utilizes a 4-tiered gifted universal screening and identification process. This process begins at Tier 1 with an analysis of already implemented diagnostic, standardized test scores. If the student meets the threshold requirements, the parent will be emailed a permission to screen form that will cover screening for both Tiers 2 and 3. The student will then be evaluated in a small group using the Naglieri Nonverbal Ability Test (Tier 2). If the student meets the score requirements from the Ability Test the student will be evaluated by a school psychologist for individual screening (Tier 3). If the student meets the matrix criteria thresholds required, the parents will be sent a permission to evaluate form and the school psychologist will perform a psychological-education evaluation (Tier 4).

What will happen if my child is not eligible for gifted services?

Even students recommended for evaluation based on early screening criteria may not be formally identified once they complete the evaluation process. Extremely bright children who are not eligible for gifted services will have many opportunities for challenge, enrichment, and differentiation without requiring any special services. Communication between parents and teachers can support the decisions about appropriate differentiation within the regular education program to ensure student needs are met. All students who demonstrate the need for enrichment will be offered the opportunity to develop skills at a high level.

What will happen if my child is identified as Gifted?

Following the full evaluation testing, a Gifted Evaluation Report (GWR) will be written; if a child is eligible. Once the GWR is issued to parents, the district has 30 calendar days to have the GIEP meeting. The invitation to participate in the GIEP meeting is sent to parents 10 days before the meeting. Parents will be asked to attend a GIEP meeting to develop a Gifted Individualized Education Plan (GIEP). This will be created at a meeting to be held within 10 days of completion of the Gifted Written Report (GWR).

If my child is gifted, how will my child's program be different from other students?

Students who are identified as Gifted will have opportunities for enrichment during the school day. These times will occur with the Gifted Teacher and will be enrichment in all subject areas. The menu of options may include opportunities to develop critical thinking, problem-solving, leadership, research skills, collaborative learning and independent research and study skills.
