Although we are the youth and students of today, within tomorrow's world we will claim the leadership in making our communities better places in which to live. Our clubs help to develop our growing leaders. Participation in these clubs of our school helps us to form better human relations as we learn to work and cooperate with others. The satisfaction we gain from worthwhile projects is our reward for the many hours of hard work. With the privilege of sharing as a member of a club of L.W.H.S. comes the opportunity of not only serving our school, but also the community of which we now are a part.

Student Council Represents LWHS

Under the leadership of president Tim Kenney and the sponsorship of Mr. Wilson and Mrs. Smith, the Student Council completed another highly successful year. Among the projects completed this year were the Monday morning devotions, the lunch chimes, the Student Directory, the Homecoming activities, and the Highlander Fling. As a climax to a big year the new officers were elected and four of them attended the state convention in Miami Beach.

Flag dedication.

Let's get down to business.

A mighty leap for Interact.

Our School

A thinking man's club.

Throughout the year the Interact Club has given its time and service to the school. Among the projects for the improvement of our school were the building of benches out front and the painting of the press box in the gymnasium. As a community project the Interact Club boys participated in the benefit basketball game to raise money for Operation Bookstrap.

Service within the school and community is the main objective of the Beacon Club. Through such projects as painting and redecorating the teachers' lounge and conducting hall duty during lunch hours, the Beacon Club provides invaluable service to our school. By assisting at several elementary school carnivals and raising money for Operation Bookstrap, the Beacon Club girls are recognized as an important part of our community.

The Junior Red Cross is the means by which teenagers take an active part in the activities of the National Red Cross. By attendance at leadership training centers, many of the members are made aware of how effective youth can be in the Red Cross. This year our Red Cross chapter provided flower arrangements for the hospital and nursing homes in our area at Christmas and Easter. As an end to the year's work several members were chosen to attend leadership training centers in the summer.

Joyce Kimbrel gives a speech on one of her experiences at the leadership training center.

The knowledge we gain from a year of study prepares us for the future we face. Learning is the most important phase of our school life. Our teachers give to us the basic facts, allowing us to think and reason for ourselves. Not only do we learn from our books, but we also gain much from the everyday experiences of life. We learn to be a good sport, to be proud of our school and what it stands for. We learn to lead and, also, to follow. We develop our minds so as to be more alert citizens of our community and nation. We become able to make the decisions which we as young adults must make wisely.

1965 - - Now A Wonderful Memory

A year's work, a lot of tears, a pressing deadline, those extra hours spent were all part of attaining our goal of producing the '65 Crown Jewel for you.

With a new sponsor, Miss Janice Jones, we began our year of work. We say a special thank you to Miss Jones for accepting the challenge of the sponsorship of the annual. Our staff consisted not only of seniors, but also of juniors and sophomores, in hopes that with their experience our future annuals could be even more special.

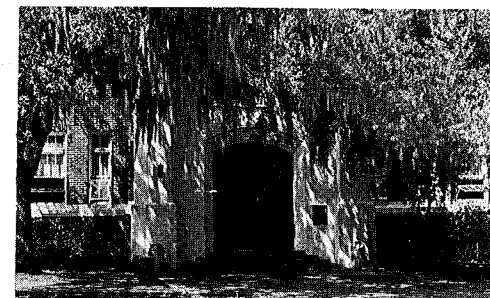

Photographers are irreplaceable, for a picture is worth a thousand words. Mere thanks are hardly enough to express our deep appreciation to our Terry Walden.

To Darlene Cherry and Charlotte Martin we say thanks for a job well done on the senior and advertisement sections. Sara Beth Wethersbee and Dianne Vogel, "Geech" to us, worked hard to bring alive those precious memories of the activities of L.W.H.S. The art work was done by our "Rembrandt," Susan Adams. Together, Susan and Edith Darty spent many tedious hours in preparing the class sections. Clubs and organizations are an important part of our high school. It's a hard job, indeed, to present them in an interesting way. Much gratitude we give to Ann Cruze and Sandra Morris for handling this section so well. Many thanks go to Terry Story for producing a fine sports section and for handling the business end.

You, the students, now hold the result of our year of work in your hands. We hope it has captured those special moments of the 1965 year, which is now to us a wonderful memory.

Your editors,
Gail Gill
Pat Stephens
