Staff Spotlight: Mr. Andre Atkinson

Career Connections Teacher

1. I have been teaching since September 2010. Rather than saying I chose teaching, I believe teaching chose me. It is a calling that resonates deeply with my desire to shape minds and nurture the seeds of curiosity and knowledge.
2. My favorite thing about teaching is witnessing the “aha” moments when students grasp a new concept. It’s incredibly rewarding to see their confidence grow as they understand and apply what they’ve learned. Oh!! I almost forgot.... I love the holidays. Hahaha.
3. A current goal I have as a teacher is to make teaching and learning a transformative experience. I aim to inspire my students to think critically, explore new ideas, and develop a lifelong love for learning. Additionally, I will pursue my doctoral studies in Counseling Psychology.
4. Something I want my to know is that I am always here to support them, both academically and personally. I believe in their potential and am committed to helping them succeed.
5. A random, fun fact about me is that I love anime. My favorites are Dragon Ball Z and Bleach. I enjoy the action, the characters, and the incredible stories they tell. Also, I have written a few books that are soon to be published, which is a dream come true for me.

Some November Funnies:

- A1: It was a night to November.
 A2: Because the next day is a sadder day.
 A3: Sweater late than never!
 A4: A drumstick.

PRINCIPAL'S CORNER

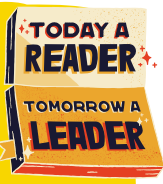

Thank you faculty and students for another great month of teaching and learning. Thank you parents and guardians for your continued support.

I would like to give a special PAW Shout Out to our 5th Grade - 100% of all students met their AR Goals. I also want to give a Paw Shout out to the students who received awards at our recent Honor's Day. Keep up the good work! We are so proud you!
