DEDICATION

From a supplement to English classes on Friday, art at CCHS has developed into a full scale program under the skilled guidance of Mr. Joe Ed Hodges. Equipment and room space have been expanded to satisfy the needs of students in four levels of art. In 1970 the first art majors of CCHS were accredited, and this year five senior art students went on to a fourth year. Their main project was the creation of colorful murals to decorate the walls of F-Wing, pictured below. First, second, and third year students explore the faces of line, color, texture, and movement in various media, as shown on the left, and elementary and advanced sculpture.

The Plateau recognizes Mr. Hodges for his outstanding efforts in developing this program, geared to the individual, and for his concepts and contributions in visual language and expression.

“People who need people
Are the luckiest people in the world.
We’re children
Needing other children
And yet letting pride
hide the need inside
Acting more like children
than children.”

(From Funny Girl)

As we are all together
Then we are whole
And without any part of us,
We become less.
For where would students be Without teachers to guide?
And of what use teachers
With no one with whom
To share their knowledge?
And consider the bond between us all—
Our school pride—
Making us as one.
People united.

FACULTY

A familiar face in his cubby hole on F-wing is Mr. Robert Stepp, CCHS band director. He not only keeps the stage, concert and marching bands in line, but also in charge of the choir. In addition, Mr. Stepp teaches music theory and two periods of elementary school band.

CCHS marching band was led by three girl drum majors this season. At right they are: Rita Sherrill, Pat Warner and Kathy Bond.

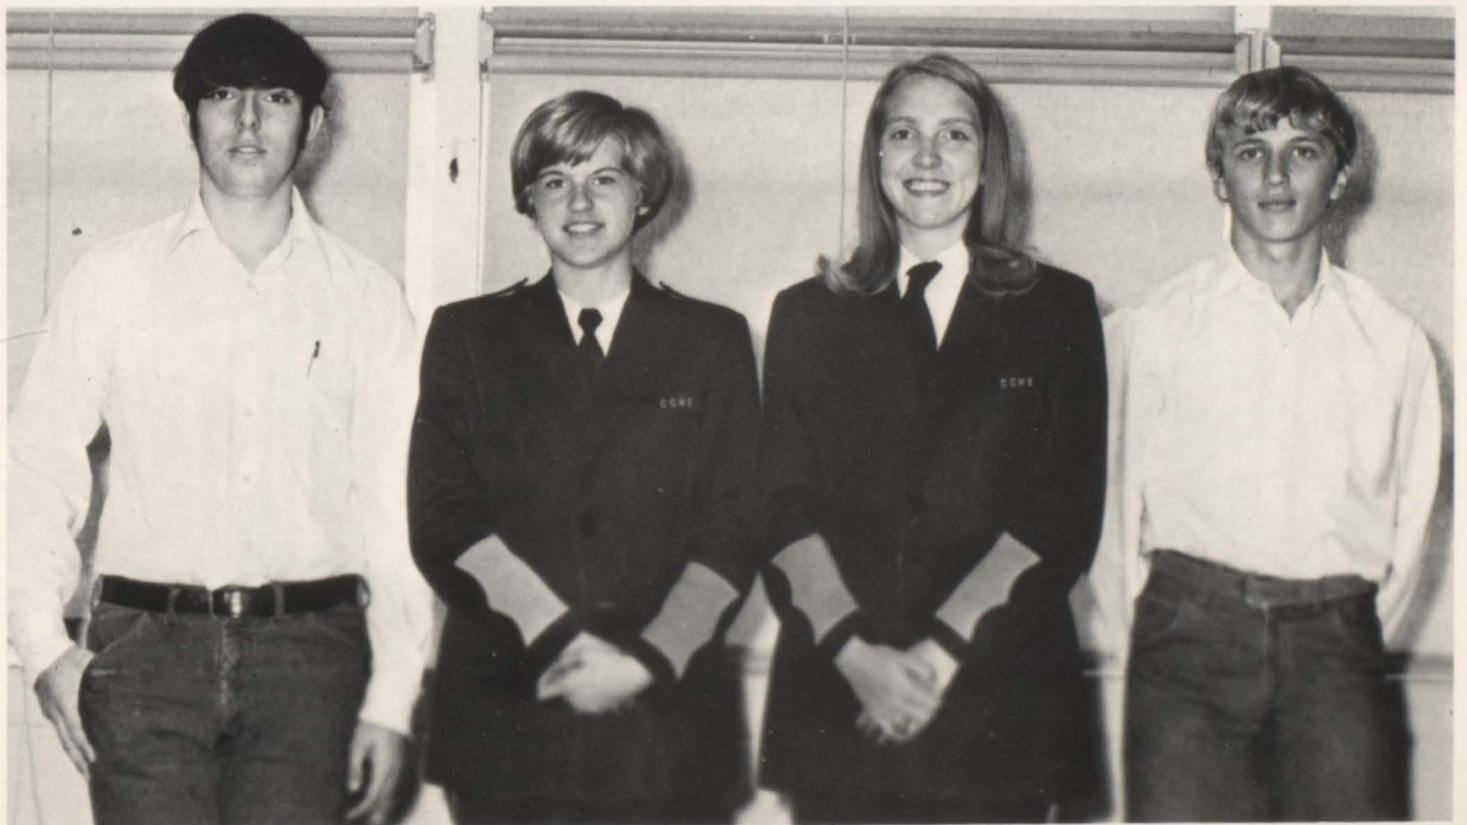

Miss Ann Lay, (left) was elected Band Sweetheart for the 1970 marching season. She was crowned by band president David Goforth during half-time activities at the Jet homecoming game with Choctawhatchee. Ann, a member of stage, concert and marching bands, plays the saxophone.

At the bottom of both these pages is the 1970-71 CCHS Jet Concert Band.

The scene above was captured at a rehearsal of the choir for their presentation in the Christmas concert. Theirs was a homespun skit with Grandma and Grandpa and all the neighbors and kids gathered to sing carols.

If a woman's place is truly the home, as many anti-Women's Lib believers say, then the many girls at CCHS enrolled in Home Economics classes cannot be accused of being unprepared. Courses range from elementary to advanced home ec and ½ credit allied classes in foods and family relations are available.

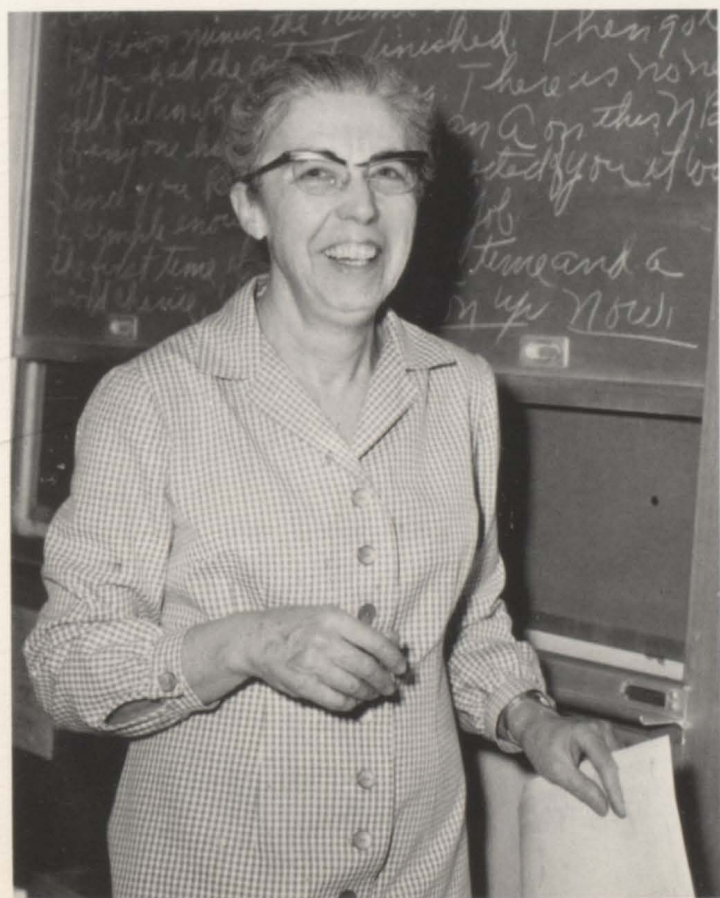

The Home Ec Department also boasts the Teacher-of-the-Year from Cumberland County and Cookeville District and a runner-up in the state, Miss Celia Cummings, (below) who has taught at CCHS for 18 years.

Mrs. Glenda Bond, (right) is associated with the advanced and family relations classes and is a former graduate of CCHS. The other department member is Mrs. Julia Bilbrey who teaches Home Ec II.

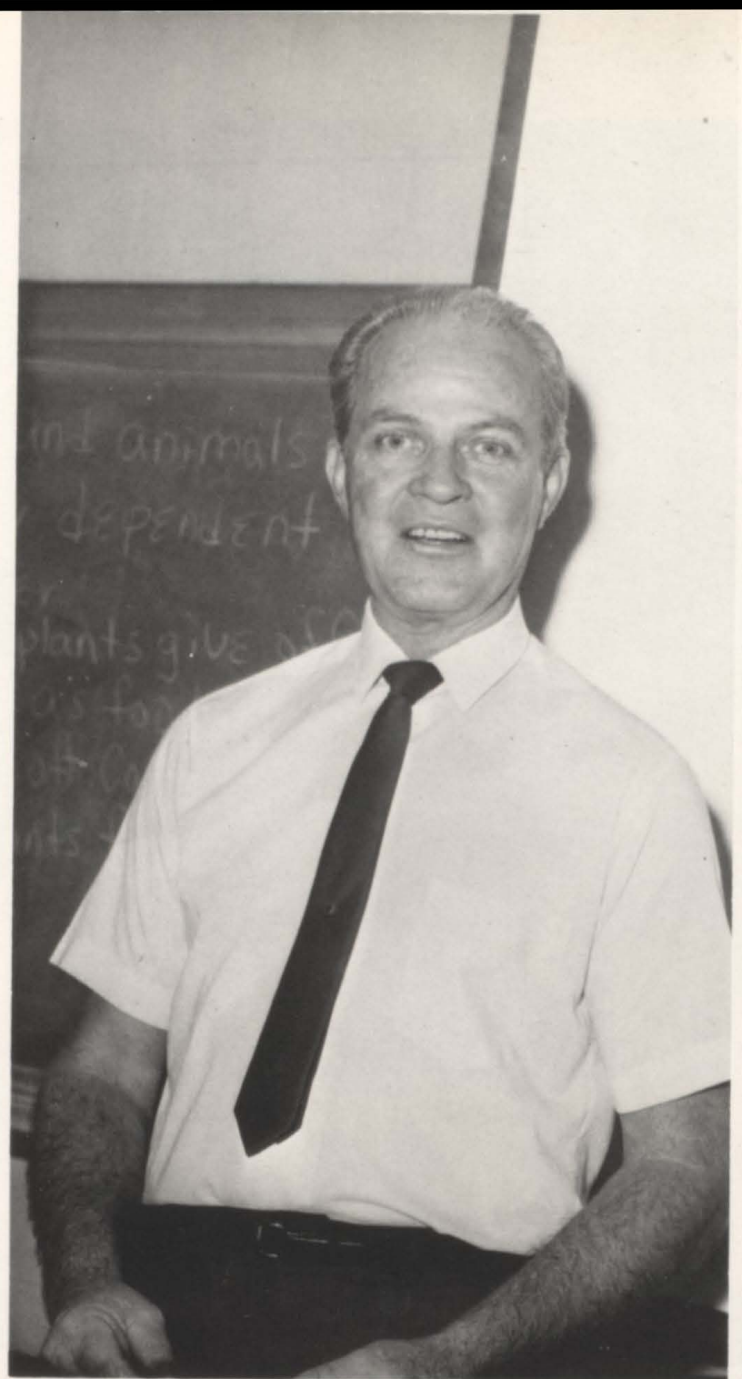

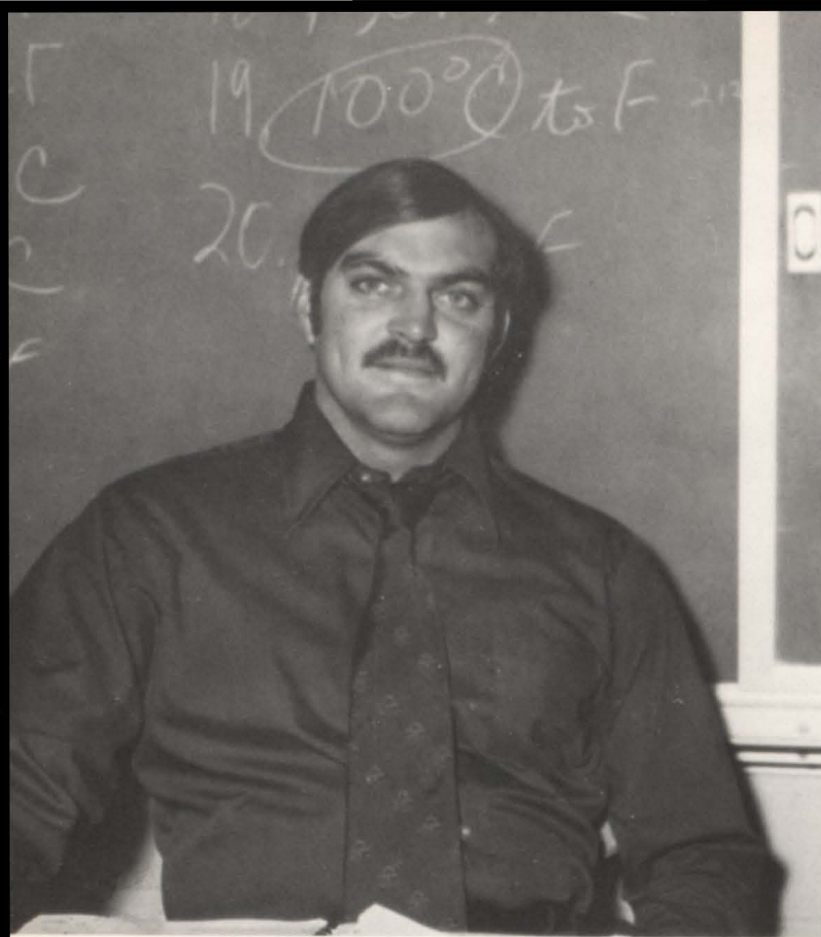

One new and well received idea this winter was a fashion show (far top right) held in the drama room where minis, maxis, pantsuits and even wedding gowns were modeled by their creators.

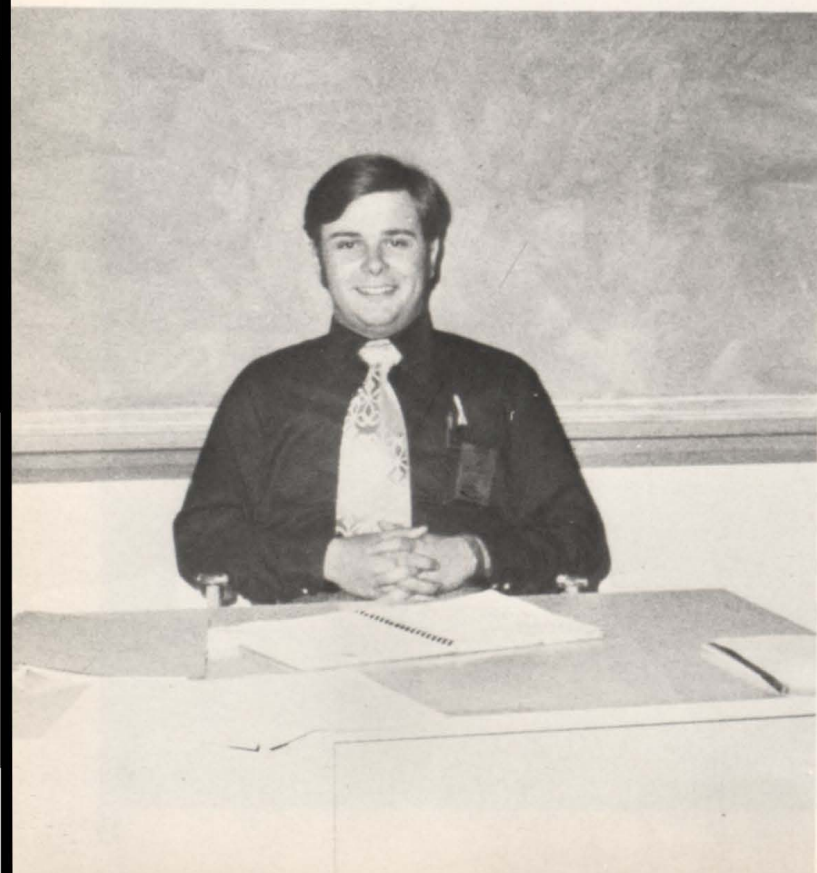

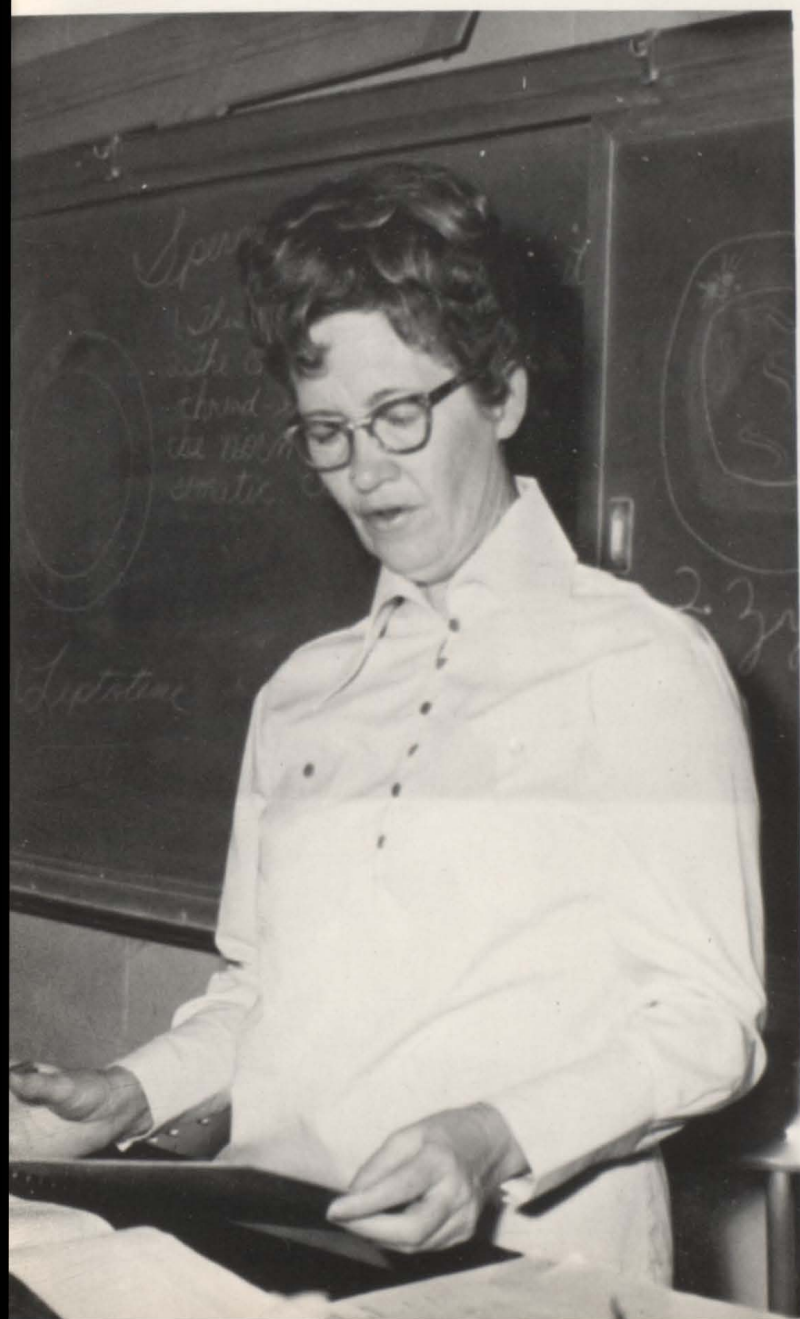

Science is more than dissecting, formulas, and microscopes. It is a study basic to life. At CCHS studies in the various fields are available.

Most freshmen take general science under Mr. Gary Draper (above) or Mr. Gene Carney. (far right corner) Mr. James Bell (above right) and Miss Drucilla Qualls (bottom left next page) teaches biology I and Mrs. Mary Nina Davis, (right) chemistry and physics. When Mrs. Davis left at mid-term, Mr. Nixon (below) joined the CCHS faculty to replace her.

Famous for his unique grading system, and work with the FFA and DeMolay Clubs, is Mr. Rozolsky, (bottom). Sometimes referred to as the "cool man around school", he teaches modern history and sociology.

Miss Bonnie Ferrill (below) was a student teacher under Mrs. Raper in shorthand first semester.

Mrs. Sarah Suttle (below right) thoroughly prepares her typing students for the business world through a broader knowledge of skills and professional techniques demanded in today's complicated life.

Elusive is often the word for Mr. Neil Holloway, (below) for his duties keep him on the move. Finding him may take you to E-wing where he teaches Drivers Education or to the Stadium but for sure results, try the gym during sixth period where he coaches boys basketball.

The wave of emphasis on Physical Education created by President Kennedy in the early 60's brought reforms and additions to P.E. programs across the U.S. At CCHS Miss Wanda Whittenburg (above left) and Miss June Brunett (right top and bottom) control programs in tumbling, tennis, volleyball and basketball as well as the routine calisthenics. During fall intramural programs Miss Whittenburg was in charge of tennis and Miss Brunett, girl's football.

First place in the Christmas decorations contest went to Mrs. Paz's homeroom with its Felices Pascuas theme.

Mrs. Paz (above) a native of Cuba, speaks fluent Spanish and teaches three courses in it besides sponsoring the Spanish club.

Mrs. Sharon Graham (left) is the latest addition to a long line of French teachers that have passed through CCHS in the last three years after the retirement of Miss Corinne Black.

With extremely well-conducted discussions, interesting metaphors, and, often, little-known facts, Mrs. Diane Brown (below right) conducts relevant classes in journalism and American history. She works closely with the JET CONTRAIL which has this year emphasized quality rather than quantity. The heredity-environment controversy sparks class participation in Mr. Wilson's psychology classes. Mr. Wilson (below left) also teaches American history and is actively involved with the Cumberland County Teachers Association, of which he is president. Government, an institution understood by few but criticized by many, is often a topic dealt with in civics classes conducted at CCHS by Mr. Sewell Givens. (above)

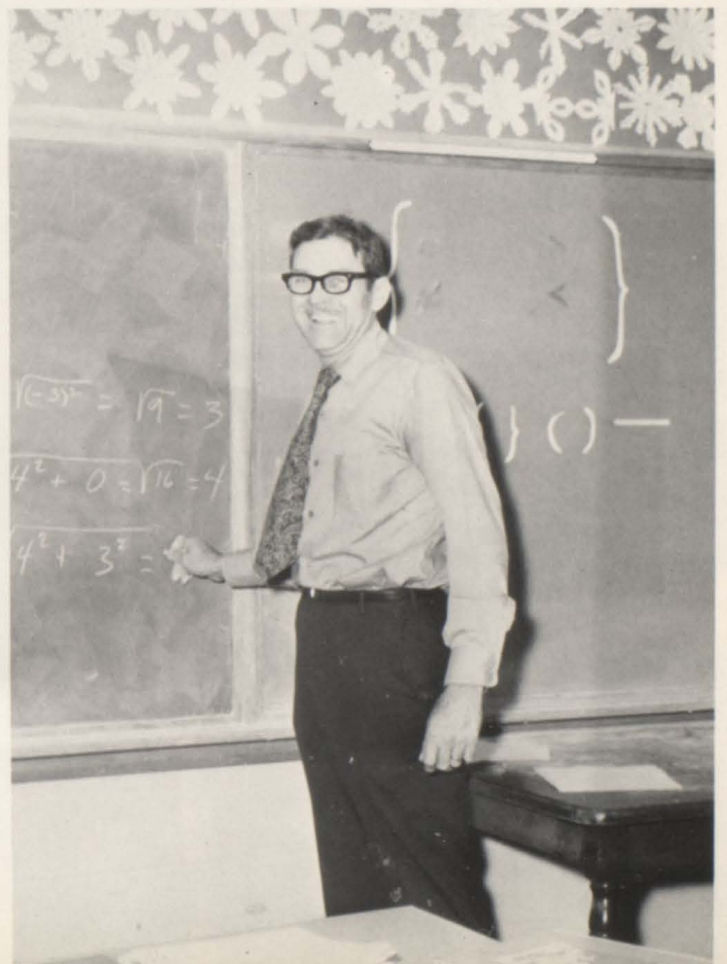

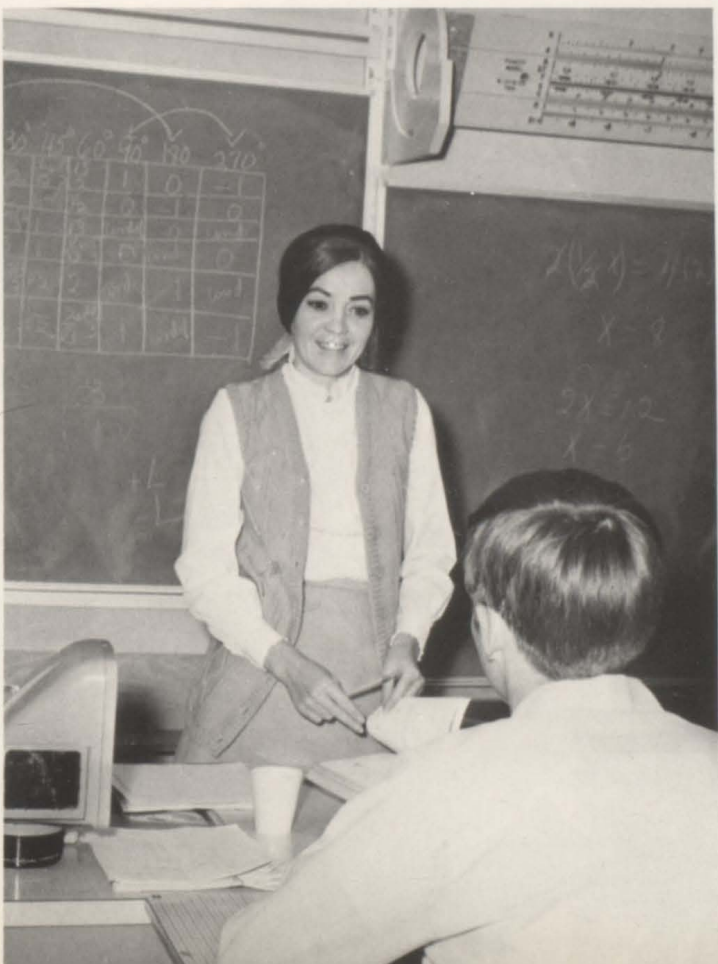

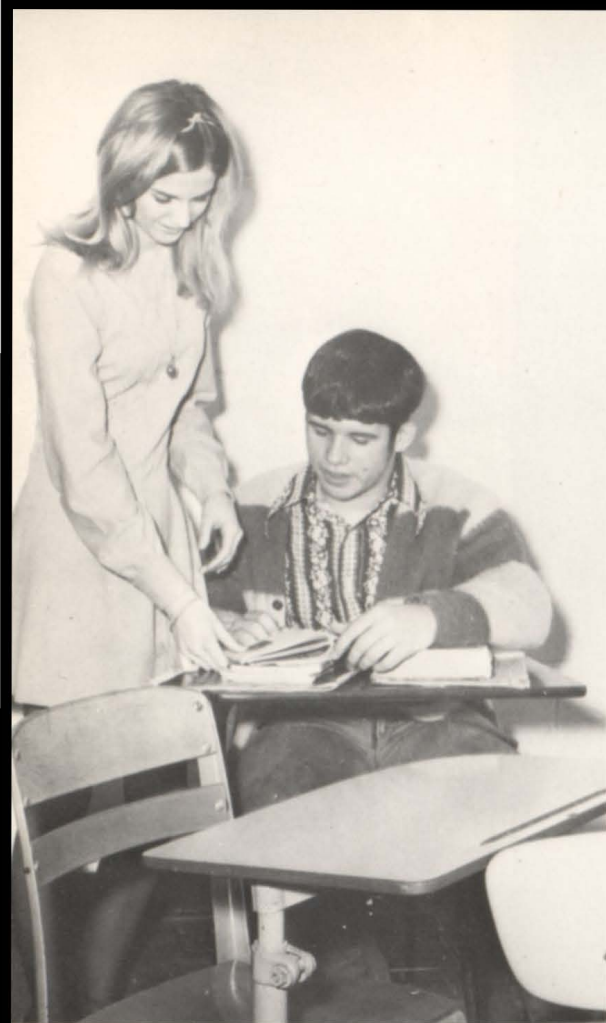

Perhaps no one has actually analyzed her technique, but students are unanimous in their agreement that Mrs. Buck (below left) has a knack of presenting her subjects thoroughly and interestingly. Daily repetition is important and geometry and algebra students are also responsible for notebooks and an annual project.

Students first confronted with concepts more complex than  $2 \times 2$  are often relieved to find Mr. Sorrell always willing to explain and re-explain any problem. Mr. Sorrell (below) teaches algebra, electronics math and sponsors both the math and TE clubs.

Mrs. Hieronymus (left) believes in daily classwork and notebooks to understand the fundamentals of algebra.

Contrary to rumor, wearing purple will not get one an "A" in Miss Bertha Evelyn Wilson's English IV classes, but a little honest work and a desire to learn can do wonders. A well rounded literary background, she believes, is essential not only for the college bound, but for every student, and should include the works of such literary giants as Shakespeare, Chaucer, Goldsmith, Churchill, Toynbee and many others. Miss Wilson (below) is also Plateau adviser. Mrs. Tucker (above right) teaches English and is the Environmental Action club sponsor.

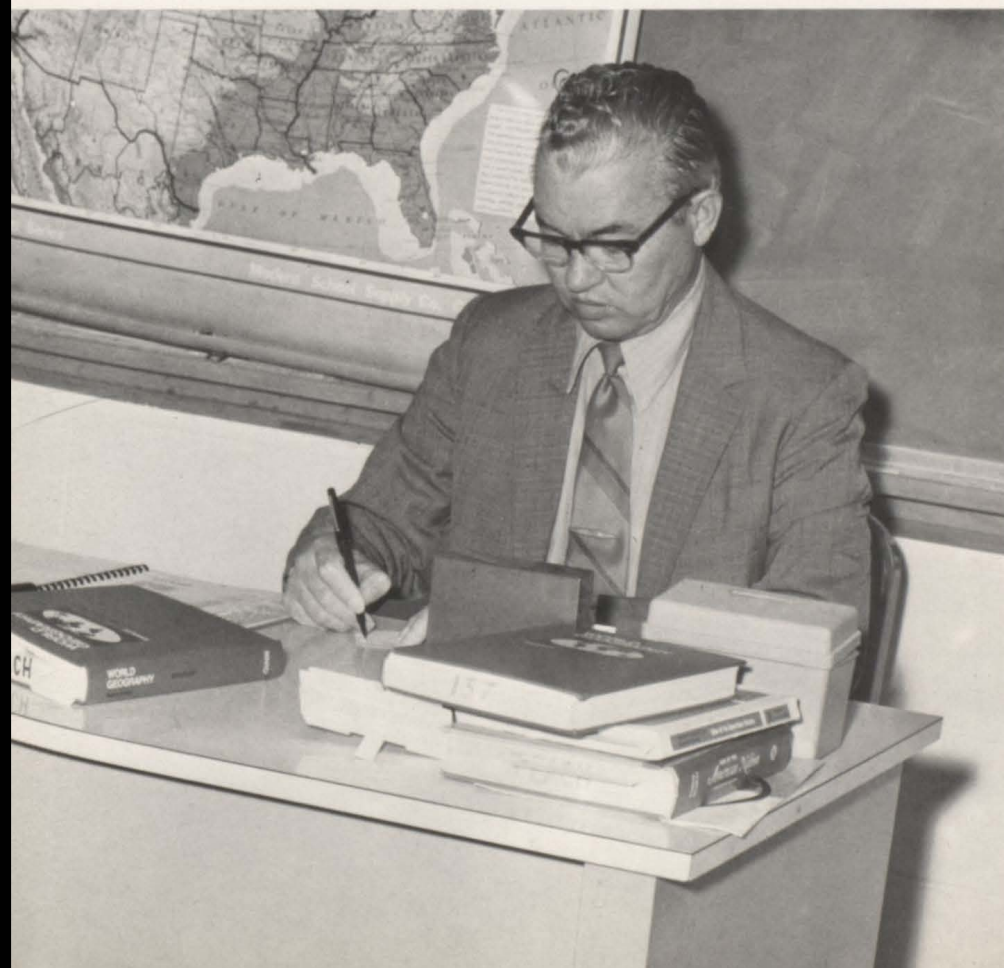

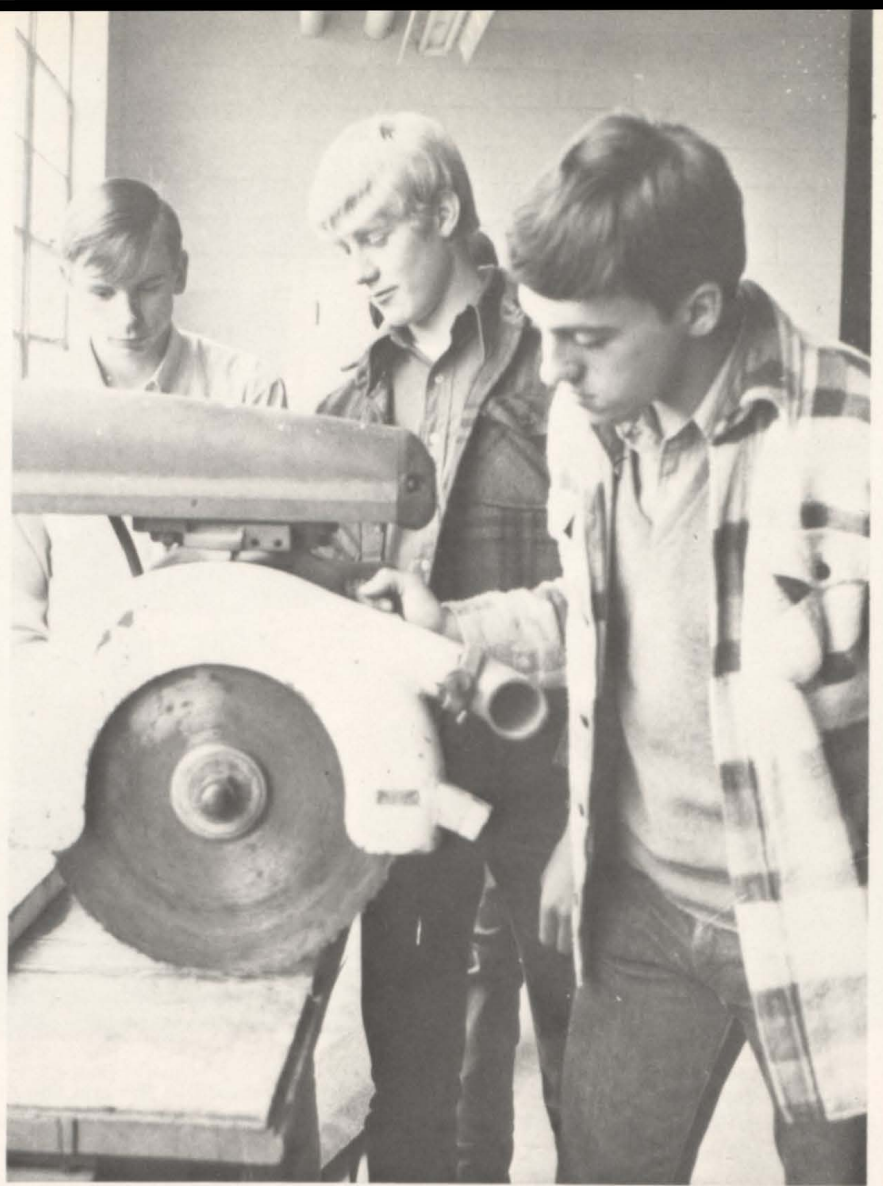

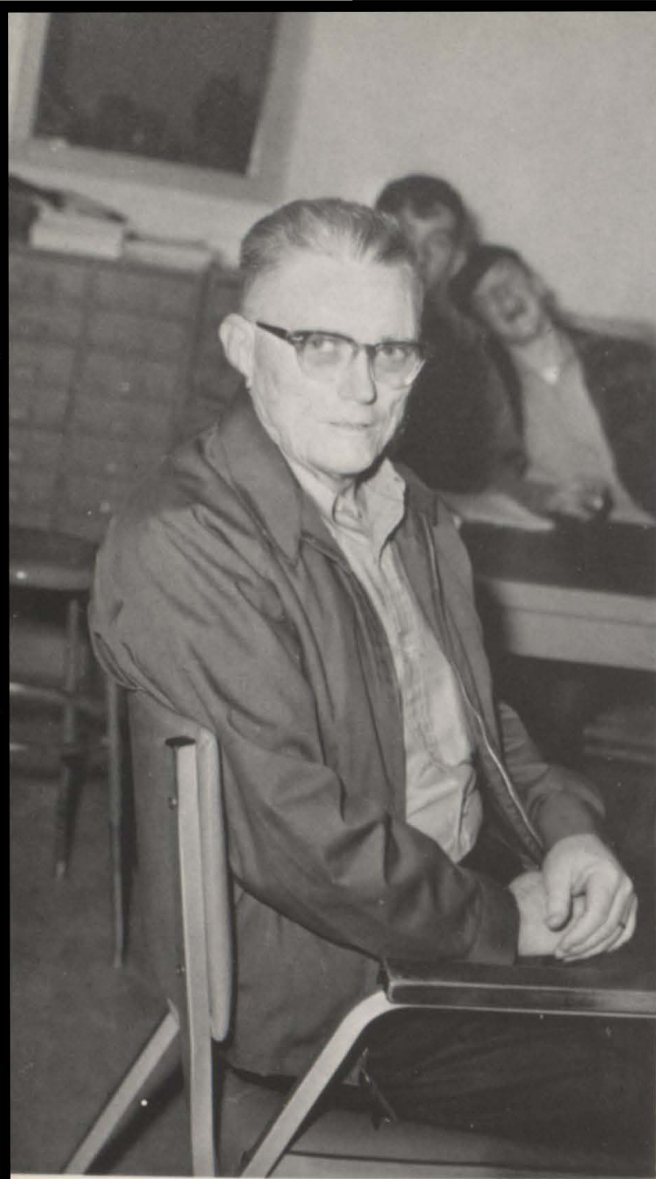

Ancient Greek and Roman civilizations were highly developed in the arts and literature, which any one is already aware of if he has been in Mr. Paul Strunk's ancient history classes. Mr. Strunk (above) also teaches general math.

Mr. Maynard might attribute his job to a fellow back in 1492 who supposedly is responsible for our American history. Mr. Maynard (below left) also teaches World History and geography.

Mrs. Mildred Hall, (below right) utilizes her bulletin boards to help her present concepts related to her general mathematics classes.

Any student of Mrs. Pat Kirkemide (above right) will tell you her CP IV classes are not the usual drudgery. Instead she is concerned with the individual and wants the individual to be aware of himself and others. Her students did a special "Who AM I?" project which resulted in collages, poems, and paintings, all expressions of themselves. She also conducts speech classes and works with the National Forensic League and debate.

A librarian must first have a love for books, for she must check them in, plead for overdues, alphabetize and show at least a student a day the card file and how it's used. Mrs. Cate (left) also helps teachers with films and special information relevant to their classes.

Look under the B's for busy people and you will find Mrs. Gladys Chadwell (right) surrounded in the Front Office by absentee slips, pink tardy passes, and school registers. And if it's cough drops or senior proofs or just a big smile—cheaper but definitely nicer—you need, just pause at the bookstore where Mrs. "Shug" Swafford can help you with just that.

The Youth In Government Club, under the supervision of Mr. Woodrow Wilson, organized and carried out a mock state election in November. ### Long Way Baby

A note of interest for all fashion buffs is the latest trend in the attire of feminine faculty members at CCHS. On Friday, January 15, Mrs. Sims arrived at school dressed in a pants suit, and on Monday, Mrs. Bean and Miss Speir followed "suit."

Is this only the beginning? Will these daring pace-setters be followed by other ladies who dare to do their "thing?"

The Contrail hastily conducted a poll concerning students' attitudes toward this new look for faculty women. Strongly approve 90%, disapprove 5%, undecided 5%. Apparently the students greatly approve of the pants suit trend. Women's Lib has ordered a JET FOOTBALL situation became jeopardized last March when former coach Larry Majors resigned. Among those considered was Phil Watts from Castle Heights Military Academy, who was the Board's choice, and was hired as a teacher in math and science as well as head coach.

THE 1970 Jet football squad faced the toughest schedule in years classified in a AAA division, where, especially with the loss of senior power and inexperienced young Jets, the competition was stiff.

CLINTON returned the season's first kick-off for a score and the pattern was set that saw the Jets held to sixteen yards on the ground and through the air. The experienced Dragons proved to be too much and thwarted all Jet offensive efforts in handing the Blue a 34-0 loss in the first game.

THE JETS traveled to Sparta and showed their determination by holding the Warriors to a 7-0 lead at the half. However, a defensively weak third quarter allowed Sparta to increase this margin to a final 20-0 win.

GALLATIN came to Crossville and, remembering their upset in '69, rolled a game that held the Jets scoreless for the third consecutive week. The Jets were in the game until a shakey 4th quarter, when the Green Wave swelled their lead to the final 25-0.

THE JETS, behind the accurate leg of Jimmy Rogers, took out their frustrations on an unsuspecting group of Bradley Bears and came away with a 15-14 upset. An exchange of fumbles gave the Jets the ball deep in Bradley territory and Joe Caruthers drove across the goal line for the first score of the season. In the fourth quarter of the Bradley game John Munroe blasted over from the one yard line, bringing it up to 14-12. With fourth down and two minutes to play, Jimmy Rogers kicked a 31 yard field goal, good for three points as the Jets nipped the Bears, 15-14.

AFTER an early 9-0 lead, the Jets were worn down by the Red Bank Lions' superior size and man power before succumbing finally in a game that showed greater effort by the Jets than perhaps the final 51-9 indicates. Sam Quarles' pass was completed by Donnie Whittenburg for six points and later Jimmy Rogers again successfully made the field goal, this one from the 21 yard line.

OCTOBER 9, the Big Blue traveled to Oak Ridge and came away with their fifth loss, 49-0. Tremendously outweighed in the line, the Jets could not contain the Wildcat rushing attack, but displayed keen competitive spirit in refusing to give up in the face of superior forces. A HOMECOMING CROWD went home disappointed after seeing the Jets defeated by an outstanding Florida aggregation, 56-0. The Jets were able to slow the visitors attack, but the offensive found the going rough against the big Choctawhatchee linemen.

THE JETS played determined ball for three periods, but were again worn down by the superior size and experience of the McMinn County Cherokees. As in earlier games, the Jets were plagued by an inconsistent attack and by occasional lapses by the young defensive unit. This made the third consecutive game the Blue was held scoreless. McMinn used a strong fourth quarter to send their hosts to their seventh loss of the season, 48-0.

Jet pass defense is evident in this shot during their conflict with Sparta.

1970 Jet Captain—Buggy Hale

THE MURFREESBORO Tigers ran their record to a perfect 9-0 with an easy victory over the outmanned but game band of Jets. The Tigers, ranked as one of the state's top three teams, triumphed over the Jets, 62-13. Donnie Whittenburg scampered 69 yards for the Jet TD and Jim Rogers kicked the extra point. The second score came on a fifty-five yard strike from Mike Sullivan to John Munro. However, it was a little too late as the visitors continued to play, and the Jets 1-9 season ended.

COOKEVILLE CAVALIERS sent their homecoming crown home happy by defeating the Jets behind an effective air attack. The teams battled through a scoreless first period, but the Jets got on the board with a TD toss from L.A. Fox to Donnie Whittenburg and earned six more points by Sam Quarles in the last quarter, to bring the final effort to 35-12.

STUDENT

Senior CP English Classes, under the direction of their student teacher, Miss Lynda Hudgens, (far left) presented for a project, short skits based on Canterbury Tales. The students read and studied the background of Chaucer as a class, then divided up into groups of five, where they compounded their efforts to rewrite a selected tale on a modern theme. From this a script evolved and rehearsals began on a stage version of their story. Sets were built, costumes searched for frantically, and finishing touches added before the final presentation. The plays were filmed for television as visible evidence of the students work.

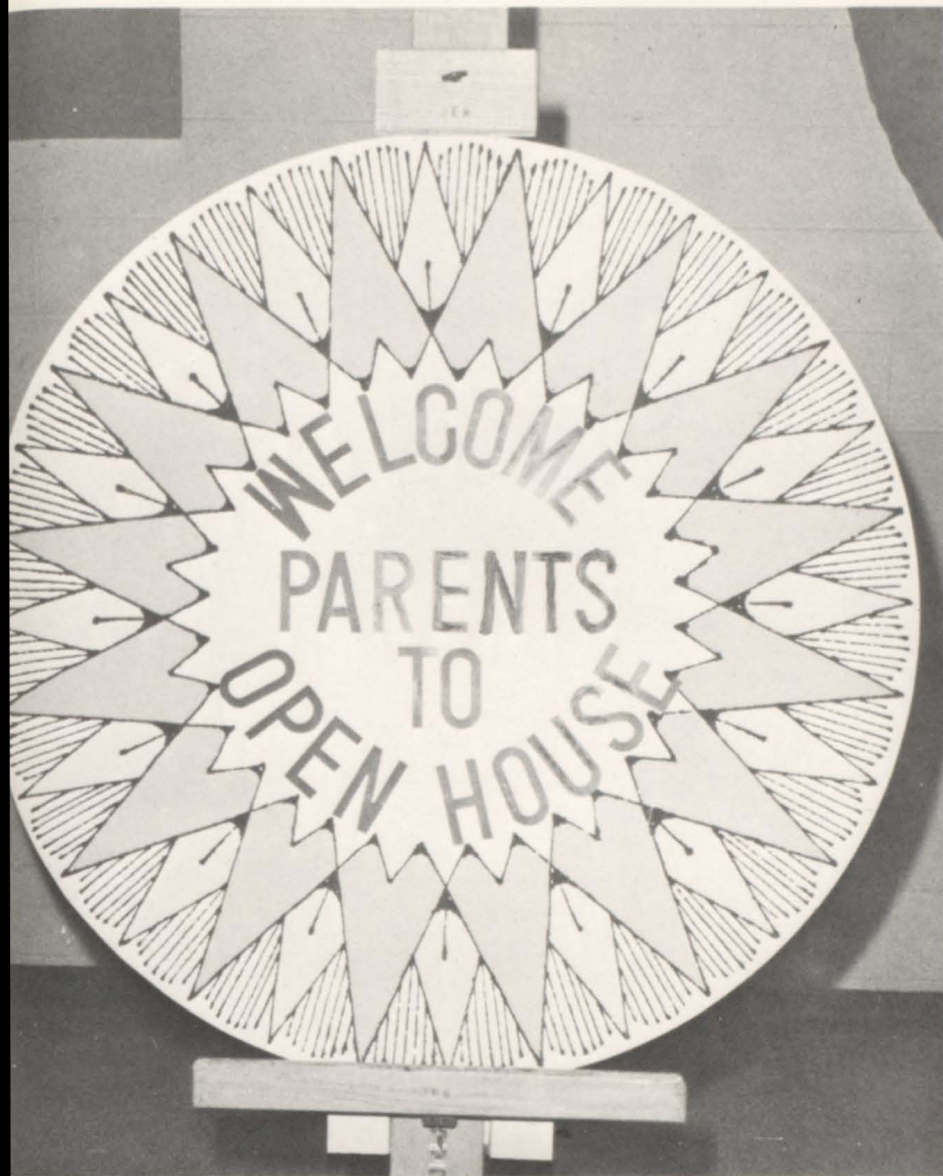

The new arrangement of class schedules left free a half hour period at midday for activities. Intramural programs in tennis, volleyball and football were set up and students joined their preferred activity. The boys football intramural was won by a team made up of Wiley Smith, Hoss Eller, Rip Purser, Dale Houston, Al Wilson, Donny Taylor, Leroy Phillips, Ronnie Stone, Pete Bradley, Charlie Davis, Wendell Wilson, Johnny Burgess, and Mike Cole. Playing in the final girls tennis matches were Annette Smiddie, Teresa Hill, Laura Brookhart and Natalie Winningham. Brookhart-Winningham won the pro set, 8-1. Miss Whittenburg (center left) was in charge of this phase of the intramurals.

Each year, soon after the beginning of the school year, CCHS opens the doors to the parents of its students. Parents are free to circulate about visiting the classes their children are in and talk to the teachers.

Entertainment is provided in the gym by the music department and refreshments are served in the cafeteria. To the left is the welcoming sign that greeted visitors to Mr. Hodges art classroom. Below Lois and Vic show Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zamata the latest edition of the JET CONTRAIL and Mrs. Cate and Mr. F. L. Hall examine our well stocked library.

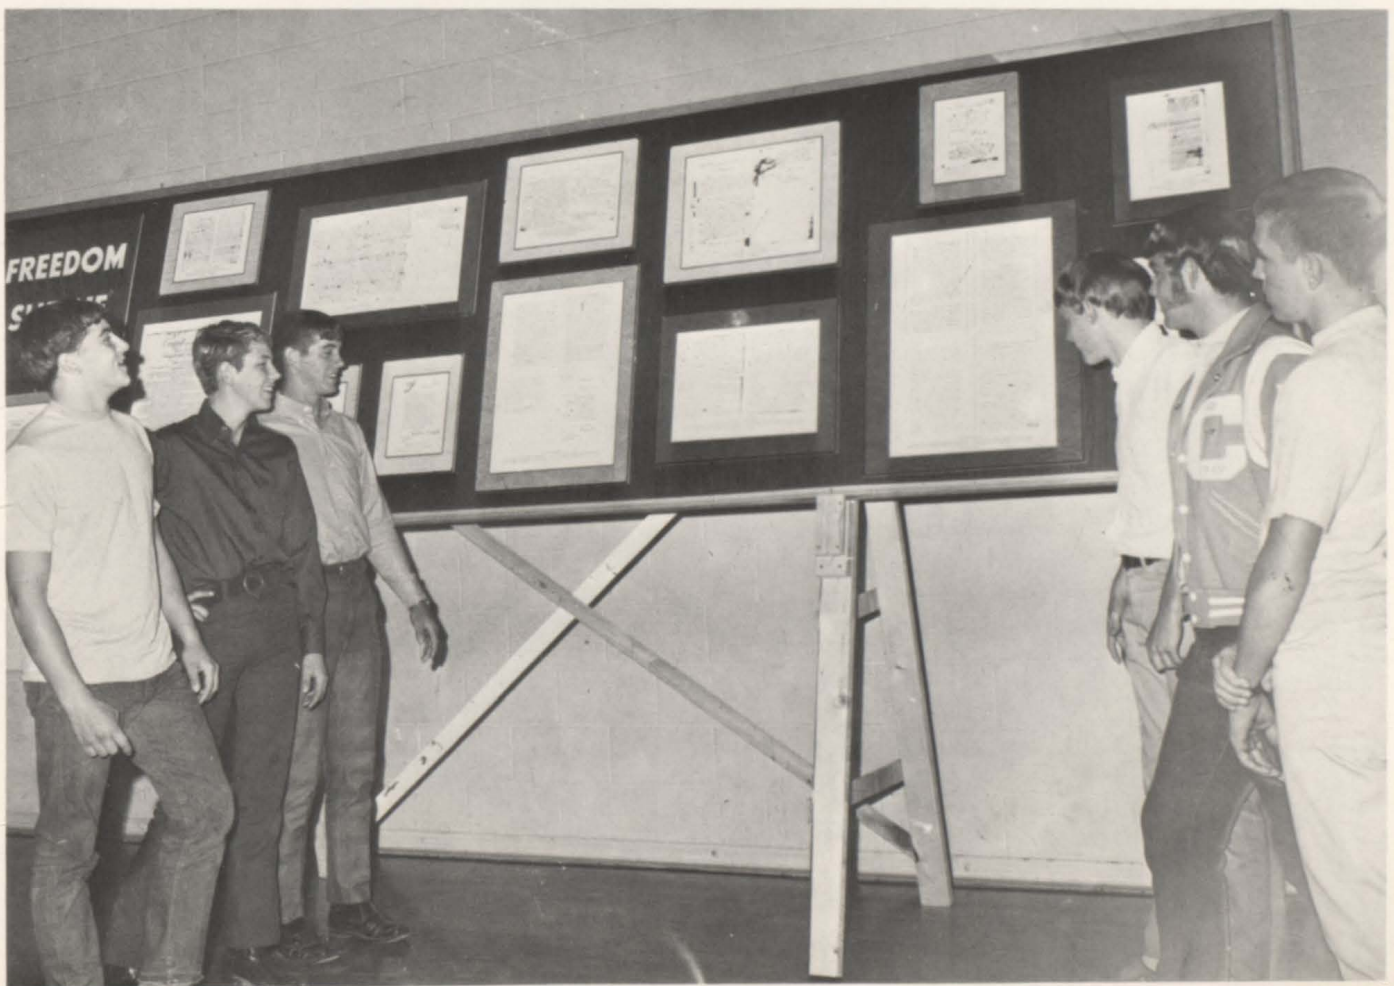

The Freedom Shrine, a display of historic documents vital to our American history, was presented and dedicated at an assembly last fall. Students and interested citizens gathered to hear the Honorable Joe L. Evins, 4th Congressional District, guest speaker. Mr. Evins is at the far right of the above picture. The Shrine is now mounted in the CCHS lobby. (below) At the programs conclusion, Rick Isenberg (left) received a certificate recognizing his obtainment of honorable mention in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test from Mr. Eberhart.

is more likely to be found in a corner engrossed in a chess game than out trying to impress society. Carol has a major in science taking biology, chemistry and physics and won the biology I Award as a freshman. Carol is a member of the chess and Beta clubs and active in the girl's FTA. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leon James.

DIANA TROWBRIDGE

25 Science and history have been Diana's

majors and she has excelled in both. She was a member of the Spanish club for two years and has won certificates in both biology and Spanish. She is also in the Beta club and has been an active candystriper. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Trowbridge.

Pregame festivities included the senior squad members being pinned with blue and gold by a favorite young lady. Above, Miss Jo Shadden pins Donnie Whittenburg, and below, Captain Buggy Hale is pinned by Miss Pam Dyer.

UNDER-CLASSMEN

Here they are—the most integral part of every school—the students. From the now not-so-new freshmen and sophomores to those who will soon cease to be “just juniors” and begin their climaxing year of high school, we now picture the underclassmen.
