Wasting their potential is something I am afraid of. Not every student is the same. classes. Allow excellence to excel. Our society keeps trying to hold the brightest back out of some sort of misguided social justice.

31	Not Sure	2/23/2021 10:56 AM
32	Teachers need to communicate with parents. It is unacceptable to fail any child without parental contact. Don't ever assume that a student doesn't have parents. Reach out. Also, dont give children anxiety. My child hates going to one class. Feels bullied about everything from wardrobe, facial expressions, etc. from the teacher. That is not okay ever. If there is ever a problem (because there are always two sides to every story) the teacher should contact the parent. No matter how big they act or look, they are still minor children who need the adults of the building to guide them. I also want to point out that I recently did have a teacher to contact me to tell me how great my child was doing in her class. I really appreciated that and I rewarded my child. Calls home should sometimes be for good news. Especially with the stress of the world. It is nice to hear good news. All administrators have been wonderful. I have no complaints or suggestions for them but for teachers, parental contact and don't hurt the self esteem of students ever.	2/23/2021 9:22 AM
